Science.

There are scientific men whose studies tend to draw them away from the people. This was not the case of Prof. Agassiz. He was constantly diffusing in popular forms the knowledge he acquired. Nor is it the case with some of his pupils and associates. Prof. Alpheus Hyatt, for instance, in the February number of the Atlantic, indicates, in the interest of popular education, the next stage in the development of public parks. Public libraries and museums of art have multiplied. Their educational value is recognized; but natural science cannot be taught from books or pictures—it must be learned from objects. The public park, as Prof. Hyatt shows, may do for the education of people in science what the library does in literature and history. He advocates the establishment of botanical and zoological gardens, natural history museums and aquaria, and predicts the time when loan and consulting collections may be furnished for the use of teachers, these institutions performing much the same service as is now performed by libraries.

At the depth of 3,500 feet waves are not felt. The temperature is the same, varying only a trifle from the ice of the North Pole to the burning ann of the equator. A mile down the water has a pressure of over a ton to the square inch. If a box six feet wide were filled with sea-water and allowed to evaporate under the sun, there would be two inches of salt left on the bottom. Taking the average depth of the ocean to be three miles, there would be a layer of pure salt two hundred and thirty feet thick on the bed of the Atlantic. The water is colder at the bottom than at the surface. In many bays on the coast of Norway the water often freezes at the bottom before it does above.

The Electric Review thinks it a poor place for the telephone in the land of the Arabs. They have no "hello" in their language. The nearest they can come to it is to throw a stone and hit a man in the back, and then ask him as he turns around: "Does it please heaven to give you good health this morning?" There are some unscientific people who say they would prefer the stone in the back to a wrestle with the telephone on some exasperating occasions.

One of the latest inventions in connection with the electric light is a silent cab call. Several clubs and hotels in London have already been supplied with this useful commodity. Two lamps are suspended outside the building, one red and the other green, and by pressing a knob in the entrance hall one or other of the lamps can be lit at will. The red light calls a four-wheeler, and the green a hansom.

The New Orleans Picayune is one of the newest and most reliable papers published. Its Editorials are judicious and timely; it gives all the news without fear or favor; its Associated Press and Special Southern Telegrams cover all important Foreign and Domestic News; its Commercial and Market Reports are complete and are accepted standards; its Letters from New York and Paris, and the Special Contributions of Pearl Rivers, Catharine Cole, Mollie Moore Davis, Jennie June, Marie Pointe and others are unfailing sources of interest and information and are of a high order of literary merit. The Picayune is printed in clear, new type, of size sufficient to be read without straining the eye. To keep abreast of the times and know all worth knowing that a newspaper should tell, send Three Dollars for three months' subscription to the Daily Picayune, or subscribe for its splendid Weekly Edition at One Dollar a year. The Weekly is sixteen pages, and is issued every Thursday morning to reach all subscribers before Sunday.

Books and Current Literature.

Mrs. Barr, Mrs. Burnett, and Historian Bancroft are the three bees in the Easter bonnet of the Easter number of the New York Ledger. Mrs. Barr starts a Sister to Esau, Mrs. Burnett writes Eight Little Princesses, and Bancroft a Day with Lord Byron.

The Northwestern Medical Journal, a worthy journal of medicine, surgery and the collateral sciences, is one of the best publications of its kind published. We cheerfully recommend it to our medical readers. $2 per annum, single numbers 25 cents. Minneapolis, Minn.

The Preacher's Magazine, for preachers, teachers and Bible students is one of the best publications of its kind published in this or any other country. The March number is fully up to the usually high mark of merit that this excellent publication has already attained. W. B. Ketcham, Publisher 2 Cooper Union, New York, single copy 15 cents. Per annum $1.50.

There is all the sunshine of spring and the fragrance of flowers in the Ladies' Home Journal for April; the exquisite Easter cover, designed by W. Hamilton Gibson, is a fair index to the charm of the whole number. An Easter spirit pervades. The clever sketch of Mrs. T. De Witt Talmage, is accompanied by a fine wood cut portrait. Other articles which will be widely quoted are Amelia E. Barr's Mothers as Match makers, and George W. Cable's masterly papers on Teaching the Bible. The number is complete in every part, and richly illustrated throughout. Issued at ten cents per copy, or one dollar a year, by the Curtis Publishing Company, 435 Arch street, Philadelphia.

Rev. Dr. James Mitchell, secretary of the Georgia Conference has just remembered us with a copy of the minutes of the last session of his conference.

Rev. Dr. O. L. Mann, of the Central Alabama Conference will please accept thanks for a copy of his last conference minutes.

The Modern Cemetery is the title of a publication that has made its appearance this month. Its object is the dissemination of modern ideas in cemetery management. The March number contains, among other interesting matter, the following articles: Modern Cemeteries, Preliminary work in laying out Cemeteries, Cemeteries from a Sanitary Point of View, Suggestions to Cemetery Lot Owners, Wearing Hats at Funerals, etc. The Modern Cemetery will be published monthly at $1 a year. R. J. Haight, Publisher, 243 State street, Chicago.

The Easter Double Number of the Youth's Companion, Boston, comes to us this week in a cream white cover, and contains no less than nine complete Easter stories. 500,000 copies of this issue are published.

Men who advertise and need a new idea now and then, or who have not always the time or inclination to prepare their advertisements, will find a valuable assistant in the novel book of Ideas for Advertisers just published by D. T. Mallett, New Haven, Conn., and sent on receipt of $1.00, postpaid. He also publishes a tasty pamphlet called When, (price 25 cents), a treasury of good advice to business men. Descriptive circulars of both these new books can be obtained upon request to the publisher.

The Pocket Church Record with street visiting list, by Rev. O. S. Ferguson, a unique and very comprehensive pastor's companion has been received. It is just the thing needed by every pastor. Hunt & Eaton, New York. Cranston & Stowe, Cincinnati. Price 60 cents. By mail 7 cents additional.

Deeds Worth Telling, by Rev. Edward A. Rand, is another very fine book that has just been published by the Methodist Book Concern. This popular author of many books, seems to have excelled himself in the production of this present volume. Could we review at length the many Deeds Worth Telling which are recorded in this book, no one who reads these lines would want to be without this book. It is a book of 233 pages, printed on the best paper and is fully illustrated. Price $1.50. New York, Hunt & Eaton. Cincinnati, Cranston & Stowe.

The Scripture Selections for Daily Reading, by Rev. Jesse L. Harburt, D.D., is one of the best books that has recently come from our press. It gives an appropriate portion of the Bible for daily reading for every day in the year. Price $1.50. New York, Hunt & Eaton. Cincinnati, Cranston & Stowe.

Popular books by Prof. Daniel B. Williams, A. M., author and publisher: 1. Science, Art and Methods of Teaching. Used in five school courses. "First and only work on education written by a colored man." Price, $1. 2. Outlines of School Management. Useful to teachers and scholars. Price, 25c. 3. Ethiopians, not Egyptians—Pioneers in Civilization. Throws light on the race question. Price, 20c. 4. Freedom and Progress. Full of facts on the colored people's progress since 1865. Sells fast with white and colored. Price, $1. Liberal terms given to ladies and gentlemen agents. Address Prof. Daniel B. Williams, A. M., V. N. & O. I., Ettrick, Va.

SOME weeks ago we requested all the teachers in our territory to write to us, and we would communicate to them something that would be greatly to their advantage. We requested all of our pastors, presiding elders, and readers generally, to call the attention of our school teachers to the notice. In answer to this effort, we have received letters from quite a large number of our teachers; but there are many who have not yet responded. We are anxious to hear from them. Write at once to the editor of this paper, and learn something to your advantage. This has no reference to any canvassing or agency scheme. Write and find out what we desire to tell you.

Many of our readers would gladly possess the pictures of our bishops if they only knew where to get them. In order to accommodate them, we have arranged to supply them with a beautiful cabinet group photograph of all our bishops, for the small sum of 25 cents. Ten per cent of the proceeds will be devoted to the cause of missions. Send at once accompanying every order with the cash. Address

THURSDAY, APRIL 2, 1891.

THE article by Rev. T. Cotton on Calvin Fairbank, in another column, deserves the attention and active sympathy of every one whose heart is not devoid of every element of gratitude. Read it.

NORTHERN and Eastern colored newspaper men, where there are scarcely any Negroes, manipulated the National Colored Press Association at its recent meeting; and the South and West, where the great mass of Negroes live and have their being, were ignored.

THE Senate failed to confirm Hon. James Hill as Postmaster at Vicksburg, Miss., and Jas. H. Young as Collector of Customs at Wilmington, N. C. If President Harrison is made of the same metal as was President Grant, he will promptly appoint them again.

OUR recent article on "Whites and Blacks," wherein the attention of our readers was called to the glaring inaccuracy of the late census, in that it shows an evident dying out of the race, which is not in keeping with the observation of all who know anything of the subject, has caused considerable discussion, and on every side we hear a demand for an honest and intelligent recount.

HIGH up on the Alps, in rock and forest fastness, the Waldenses kept alive the pure flame of Gospel truth when all of Europe was submerged in papal superstition. When like beasts they were hunted and slain by the minions of the Inquisition. But there like heroes and martyrs, as they were, they lived and died. All honor to these reformers before the Reformation—to these Protestant Italians who are the salt of Italy and the prophecy of what it may one day become.

If the Sicilians and Italians who come to our country are as bad as people say—Who is responsible for it? They are all Roman Catholics. The Pope, whom French and Irish, German and American Roman Catholics recognize as the vice-gerent of God, is an Italian. The College of Cardinals, which will elect the next Pope, has a majority of Italians. Sicily is—if possible—more Roman Catholic than Ireland. The Italian brigand will pray most devoutly to Saint Joseph and then cut the traveler's throat. "By their fruits ye shall know them," said the Master. What is the Roman Catholic Church judged by?—its fruits in every country where it has dominion!

WHILE the Western expresses sympathy with every honest expression, North or South, in favor of organic union of the two great Methodisms, it declares that: "There are obstacles in the way. Some of these are serious, others trifling; but none without its share of influence. Chiefest of the former is the presence of our colored membership and conferences. The Church South has set apart its former colored members into a separate Church. As one condition of union, it would doubtless insist that we pursue a similar course. That we never will do. Consistency with our avowed principles and policy would forbid it. But, on the other hand, the Church South, without violating any of its traditions, could adopt our policy with respect to work among the blacks. The only thing in the way is prejudice." Dr. Moore is a Daniel, and reasons well. We say amen to all it says on the subject.

Consecrated and Cultured, not "White Men Needed."

White men are needed at every turn. The Negroes can take care of themselves by and by, but not yet.—Michigan Christian Advocate. This is the mistake that too many of the oracles, that have gathered their information from palace car windows, make in their exposition of a solution of the Negro problem. They go riding through the South at the rate of forty miles an hour, and then return to the North, declaring that this, that or the other, is the thing necessary to the solution of the Negro problem.

Now, here comes Dr. Potts, who has just taken such a trip, and who now declares that the one thing necessary is the presence of "white men at every turn." How absurd the position! Does not the Doctor know that "man is not in color, in fashion nor in dress?" And does he not know that, everything else being equal, one of the same race or nationality is better prepared to advance the people whose progress is sought? Would Dr. Potts insult the French by telling them that the one thing necessary for their progress was to overrun their country with German missionaries, or would he recommend the Samaritan missionaries to the Jews? No, he would rather recommend that cultured and thoroughly prepared Frenchmen, or the same class of Jews, should be employed instead of such other missionaries, as rapidly as they could be replaced by competent people of the same race or nationality. This is as true to human nature as gravitation or the law of chemical affinity. It is not "white men" that "are needed at every turn," but intelligent, well balanced, and thoroughly consecrated Christian men and women, of whatever race, and especially of the race to be helped, whenever available, that are needed at every turn. Whenever any man takes an adverse position to this, he insults the common sense of mankind, and he thereby wrecks his influence for the accomplishment of good to the people whose welfare he assumes to espouse. It is true that the Negro is too poor, and has been wronged too long to be left alone, without help; but it is not true that all that he needs is "white men at every turn." He needs the right kind of "whitemen at every turn" only when equally competent colored men are not available. If not, why is this cry for race recognition in Church and State perpetually heard? Why this constant agitation for colored bishops, etc? When you want to know what the colored people want and are thinking, do not bury yourself exclusively among white men, and in the counsel of the old colored fathers that represent the days of the lash and "nigger dogs," but interview the younger elements of the race, that form nine tenths per cent of the race, its ambitions, purposes and possibilities; and do not tell them that what they need is white men. We know too many white men that are worthless and ignorant. Tell us no more of color. It is only skin deep, and possesses no special merit. It does not follow that because one is white or black, therefore he is a fool, a knave or a saint. Not by any means.

Let us have consecrated and cultured men and women for the work, whether white or colored, all else being equal. If available, the white would be preferable for the white work, and the colored for the colored work.

Wilberforce Disgraced.

The effort of Wilberforce University, the A. M. E. school in Ohio, to pose as an agricultural college for colored people, to claim the proportion the colored population of that State would naturally be entitled to in the recent appropriation from the National Government to the States for agricultural education, had the State a separate school system for the two races, is contemptible. We rejoice to know that the leading colored citizens of Ohio denounce the shameful scheme. In the first place, Wilberforce is not, and never was an agricultural college. In the next place, it is not a State, nor a non-sectarian institution. Lastly, the provision in the law calling for an equitable distribution of the appropriations between State agricultural colleges of each race, was intended only to cover the cases of our miserable section, where the co-education of the races is not tolerated, nor permitted. It was not intended for the thoroughly civilized portions of the country, where mixed schools exist. Ohio does not ask a child what proportion of white or Negro blood courses his veins before admitting him to any of her public schools. This is the proud condition for which the race is contending in every department of life. Why will our A. M. E. friends continue to seek to turn back the index on the face of the dial? To the eternal disgrace of our race, a delegation of the same church went, on their knees, to the Georgia Legislature, and begged for the appropriation, which Atlanta University refused, because the Legislature demanded that not a white child should be taught in the school. The A. M. E. folks in Georgia were ready to renounce every principle of equal rights for the permission to put their hands in the State treasury. Those in Ohio are moving on the same line. They are quite willing that Ohio should step back and take her place by the side of Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana, and the South generally, if thereby they may get the coveted prize. The scheme is base and contemptible, and deserves the emphatic protest and denunciation of every right-thinking man, woman, or child in the country.

Let the colored children of Ohio, that desire to do so, enter the existing agricultural colleges of that State, as they have a right to do under the laws of that State; and let Wilberforce be supported as it has been in the past, by the members of the sect it represents.

"How to Suppress the Saloon."

A recent number of "Christianity in Earnest," among other good things, contains an editorial of considerable strength and clearness, entitled "How to suppress the saloon." It deals with the subject in a manly and straightforward manner, and it offers suggestions in answer to the question, How to suppress the saloon, which it promptly and unflinchingly acted upon by all patriots and Christians in this country, will effectually wipe out the foul ulcer before many more years shall have passed. The article says: "We know full well that this monster is hoary with age. So was slavery, but it is gone; and the republic is still young and stronger than ever—stronger in every state, and in every element of the power requisite for this service than when it arose in its might against slavery."

We can, if we will, slay the saloon and bury it side by side with its twin relic of barbarism before this century shall close; and thousands of men and women, past middle life, are unwilling to die until this result shall be accomplished. Can be done, but how?

The following suggestions are given:

"Let every pastor immediately confer with those of his congregation and community who are in sympathy with the end proposed and submit this brief, simple platform: Object.—The suppression of the saloon. This by

1. The strict enforcement of the suppressive measures of existing laws.
2. The early enactment of more stringent and prohibitory statutes.
3. The final adoption of constitutional prohibition for state and nation.

Declaration.—

1. Primary allegiance to God and humanity, to country and commonwealth. All party affiliation subordinate to these higher claims.

2. Liberty to choose political associations, but freedom from the domination of the liquor power, through whatever political party. Here we stand, and will organize and seek alliance, offensive and defensive with all who will stand with us.

Snarely all who would suppress the saloon can stand upon this platform. It is that of the Union Prohibitory League of Pennsylvania. Let enrollment slips or cards be printed and circulated, inviting signatures. These should include postoffice address for correspondence, subscription to cover necessary expenses, to be paid to the treasurer of the local organization, and political party relations so that relative political power may be known.

Then collect these slips and call together those who have signed them and organize a local alliance or league under such form of constitution, including this platform, as may be desired, as you would a society of Christian endeavor.

Communicate with other pastors or churches reporting your action and inviting co-operation. Secure such leagues in all the churches of your town and county.

Then, through conventions call as usual, town, county and state organizations, and finally a national alliance or league can be constituted at an early day."

We heartily commend the course here suggested to all our readers and bespeak for it, as we hope it will have their most cordial approval and support. Let us profit by looking beyond our own race afflictions as a race sometimes and let us unite in this and other such questions of national interest and strive with all our power to overthrow such evils, and we will thereby be promoting the general good of mankind, who will in turn assist us in the security of all those rights to which we are entitled, but which are unjustly denied us.

Political Review.

There is very little political agitation through the country at present, now that the National Congress has adjourned.

Republicans throughout the country rejoice over the recent reconciliation between Gen. Mahone and the Hon. John M. Langston, of Virginia.

The registration office in this city is now open for the registration of voters. As this is an entirely new registration, all of our readers who are entitled to vote under the laws of this State are urgently requested to attend to the matter of their registration at once. There will be, as there always is, a rush toward the end, and to avert this we exhort our readers to do their patriotic duty and register at once.

THE Indian Rights Association of Philadelphia, Pa., has called the attention of the Attorney General of the United States to the inexcusable murder of Few Tails, a Sioux Indian, who was most brutally murdered while under a safe conduct from Gen. Miles in the vicinity of the Pine Ridge Reservation. True bills have been found by the United States Grand Jury against the Indians charged with the murder of Lient. Casey and teamster Miller. Now let true bills be found against the white men who murdered Few Tails, while under military escort. Every humane and patriot instinct should prompt the Attorney General of the United States to see to it that this practice of white men murdering Indians with impunity is effectually stopped. Unless an example is shown in this direction, we may soon expect to hear of other and frequent Indian outbreaks. Let justice be done, though the heavens fall.

THE Rev. Dr. Joseph H. Mansfield, of Boston, Mass., furnished Zion's Herald with a very graphic and interesting letter on his recent trip to New Orleans.

City Church Notes.

(Brief items of news from the city churches will be welcome either handed us by pastors or laymen.)

A grand May party will be given by the Band Sisters, Saturday night, May 2, 1891, at Union Chapel, for the benefit of the church. Mrs. E. Oscar, manager. All are invited.

Boynton M. E. Church, Gretna, La., has a strong missionary school with nearly forty scholars. Mrs. H. D. Wilson is the teacher. Many of them have expressed a deep desire to accept Christ.

The members and friends of Williams' Chapel agreeably surprised their pastor, Rev. H. Taylor, last Friday night. They visited him with a storming party. After the clearing, he found his tables, safe and wardrobe replenished with some of the choicest presents to be found in this city. The quarterly conference and love feast held during the week by Presiding Elder Landry were seasons of special interest.

The Easter services in all of our churches were well attended all day. The churches were beautifully decorated, the services inspiring, and the missionary contributions liberal. The universal report is that the children acted their parts well. The Equal Justice Society and the Daughters of the Easter Star worshipped at Union Chapel. Rev. J. W. Henderson, pastor, preached with great power.

The Easter services at Pleasant Plains were excellent. The children's exercises especially are deserving of special mention. Much praise is due to Mrs. M. J. Nickerson for the success of the Sunday school portion of the exercises. Misses May Johnson, Louisa Jackson, Louisa McKinney and Louisa Clifton were collectors for the children's services, and took up 60cts. each.

Easter services were observed at Boynton M. E. Church, Gretna, La. The young people in the morning enjoyed themselves with speeches and singing. Miss Nettie Johnson read a very interesting paper on Easter. Much credit should be given to Mrs. A. D. Wilson for the decoration of the church, which was beautifully arranged with flowers. Rev. H. C. Wilson, pastor.

The St. Paul's Episcopal Church burned down on Monday of last week, leaving that society without a place for worship. Several churches were kindly tendered them, among which was the Ames' M. E. Church on St. Charles Avenue. This being large and commodious, and not far from the burned edifice, was gratefully accepted. On Sunday their impressive and beautiful Easter service was held with an elaborate floral decoration. Bishop Adams of Maryland, formerly a member of the parish, delivered an able sermon. Until further notice the church will be used by both societies. It is very fitting and appropriate that our church should cordially welcome the church that John Wesley lived and died a member of. His frescoed portrait on the walls seemed to approve the act with his extended hand, as if offering the right hand of fellowship.

BRO. Chinn gives some valuable and practical directions how to manage a church successfully in his paper on the subject published in another column. Read and heed them. He speaks from an extensive and successful experience.

Personal.

—Rev. B. L. Crump, Presiding Elder of the Brookhaven District (Mississippi) was in the city and called last Monday.

—Rev. Dr. Howard Crosby, the eminent Presbyterian divine of New York, died at his home in that city last Sunday.

—Rev. R. L. Crawford, pastor of Ames Church, who has been in Florida for three weeks, returned on Friday, somewhat improved in health. He was gladly welcomed by his people, for his presence among them is greatly enjoyed. His morning preaching service will be held in the vestry room of the church during the occupancy of our Episcopal brethren. The evening service will be held in the auditorium, as usual, preceded by Bro. Adams' interesting Bible reading.

—Rev. Wm. P. Forrest, has furnished us with lines of sympathy for Father Samuel Armstead, in the loss of his dear wife and commends him to the blessed Comforter, who is able to sanctify the deepest distress to our good.

—Rev. M. C. B. Mason, A. B., of Atlanta, Ga., has been invited and has accepted an invitation to deliver an address at the "Quarter-Centennial Celebration of the organization of the South Carolina Conference and the one hundredth anniversary of the death of John Wesley" at Charleston, S. C. April 2, 5.

—"Ex-Gov." John McEnery, Democratic claimant to the Governorship of this state when ex-Gov. Kellogg was declared elected in 1872, died of pneumonia in this city last Saturday.

—Mrs. Sadie E. Johnson, corresponding secretary of the W. H. M. S. of Louisiana Conference, is now with her husband at their new charge Shreveport, La., their future post office address.

—On Friday night, April 3, at Grunewald Hall, a concert will be tendered by his many friends to Mr. Henri Wehrmann, Jr., of this city. Mr. Wehrmann is a violinist and musical composer of the highest order; and better than this, he is a young man of the purest, noblest character. His father and mother, and the whole family, have the genius of music born in them. Their home life is loving and beautiful, and is one of the highest types of domestic life among our French fellow-citizens.

—Rev. Mack Henson, Anstin, Tex., has our sympathy in the death of his aged father. Bro. Henson had not seen his father in thirty years, until the old gentleman paid his son a visit a few days ago. Soon after his arrival in Anstin, he was suddenly paralyzed. He was speechless for several days before he died.

—The Court of Appeals in Texas, having confirmed the decision of the lower court, ex-Presiding Elder R. H. Harbert, of Houston, Texas, has gone to the penitentiary for two years. "Let him that standeth, take heed lest he fall."

—Rev. O. H. Claiborne, formerly of the Louisiana Conference, is now pastor of the Congregational Church at New Iberia, La.

—Mr. Loretus S. Metcalf, editor of the Forum, has resigned. For fifteen years he has been closely confined to review work, and has been editor of the Forum from its establishment. He is to be succeeded by Mr. Walter H. Page, an experienced newspaper man, who has been the Forum's business manager. The Forum is one of the very best of the monthlies.

—Bishop Grant, of the A. M. E. Church, mourns the death of his only son, aged 17 years. We sympathize with him.

—David Manker, the little son of Rev. J. J. Manker, D.D., of Chattanooga, Tenn., was thrown from the platform of an electric car in that city and instantly killed, a few days ago. We extend sympathy to the bereaved ones.

DAILY BREAD.

O, let our love and faith abound;
O, let our lives, to all around,
With purest luster shine;
That all around our works may see
And give the glory, Lord, to Thee,
The heavenly gift divine.

Charles Wesley.

Shepherd divine, our wants relieve
In this our evil day;
To all Thy tempted followers give
The power to watch and pray.

Long as our fiery trials last,
Long as the cross we bear,
O, let our souls on Thee be cast,
In never-ceasing prayer.

Charles Wesley.

It costs something to tell the truth; it costs still more to practice it.—Pere Hyacinthe.

The humblest occupation has in it materials of discipline for the highest heaven.—Robertson.

It is not the business of virtue to extirpate the affections, but to regulate them.—Addison.

Let no man call himself a Christian who lives without giving a part of life to the duty of prayer.
—Channing.

Responsibility is personal. Before God face to face, each soul must stand to give account.—F. W.
Robertson.

If you do not wish for His kingdom, don't pray for it. But, if you do, you must do more than pray for it; you must work for it.—Ruskin.

How unequally things are distributed here! Some want time, and some want work. But all will be set right hereafter. There is no disorder on that shore.—John Wesley.

Out of darkness God will command light to shine. Be plain and open to all; then, whether they are sincere or insincere, you will have a conscience void of offense.
—John Wesley.

Likewises be temperate in speaking; never too loud; never too long;
else Satan will befool you; and on pretense of being more useful, quite disable you from being useful at all.
—John Wesley.

Have nothing to do with stolen goods. Neither buy nor sell anything that has not paid the duty.
No, not if you could have it at half price. Never think of being religious unless you are honest. What has a thief to do with religion?
—John Wesley.

To try too hard to make people good is one way to make them worse; the only way to make good is to be good, remembering well the beam and the mote. The time for speaking comes rarely; the time for being never departs.— Macdonald.

Nearness of life to the Savior will necessarily involve greatness of love to him. As nearness to the sun increases the temperature of the various planets, so near and intimate communion with Jesus raises the heat of the soul's affections towards him.—Spurgeon.

What folly to fear giving yourself too entirely to God. It merely means that you are afraid of being too happy, of loving the will of God in all things too heartily, of bearing your inevitable crosses too bravely, of finding too much consolation in the love of God, and too much relief from the passions which make us miserable.—Fenelon.

Much depends upon a cheerful start for the day. The man who leaves his home with a scowl on his brow, and a snap at his children, and a tart speech to his wife, instead of a kiss, is not likely to be pleasant company for anybody during the day; he will probably come home with the temper of a porcupine. Wise plans should be laid for every day, so that it be not an idle saunter, or an aimless bustling to and fro. Yet to make good speed on the right track we must not start overloaded; not too many things to be undertaken, lest they prove hasty botch work. The journey is not to be made in a cushioned car, but on foot, and the most galling load is vexatious and worrying care. One step at a time is all that the most busy Christian can take, and steady walking ought not to tire any healthy body or soul.—Selected.

How stands the record? What record? Why the record of soul-saving. How many trophies have you gathered? How many brands have you snatched from the burning to be quenched in Jesus' blood?
How many names registered on high as the reward of your patient, self-denying, persevering work?
Has it been good harvesting? Have you sung the reaper's song again and again? If so, we congratulate you. Is there one of our readers who has no affirmative response to give? What! A year without one soul for Jesus? We hope not. But if it be so, sackcloth would seem to be more suitable than gay, holiday attire.—Guide to Holiness.

Homiletics.
Sermon.

Hymns 379, 391, 415.
Scripture Lesson, Hebrew 3.
Text, Deuteronomy 3, 29: "But if from thence thou shalt seek the Lord thy God, thou shalt find him, if thou seek for him with all thy heart and with all thy soul."

Introduction, The words of the text were spoken by Moses the servant of God and the leader of Israel.

He had just been telling the people what sad and dreadful things would happen to them if they did not remain faithful to God who had delivered them from the power of Pharaoh and brought them out of Egypt.

But God always had thoughts of mercy towards sinners. It is not his will that any should perish in their sins. If any soul goes down to death and is lost forever it will not be God's fault. The sinner that is lost chooses death for himself.

Because of God's mercy he directed Moses to speak the words of the text.

From the text we learn.
First, That the sinner may turn from his sins and seek God.

(a) If God was strict, and prompt to punish sin, there would be no hope for the sinners.

But delays and restrains his wrath.

He does not punish the sinner
as soon as he commits the sin.

(b) God opens the doors of mercy very wide and invites the sinners to come in and be saved.

God sees the storm coming, and he offers the Gospel ark as a place of shelter to every soul that will repent.

(c) It would be a dreadful thing if God should refuse to receive sinners, but he does not.

They said of Jesus when he was upon earth, "This man receiveth sinners and eateth with them."

He is willing to do it to-day.

Jesus said, "Him that cometh unto me I will no wise cast out," that has always been true, and is to-day; so all may come.

Secondly, How shall the sinner come to God?

The text tells us very plainly.

(a) We must seek God now. Today is all the time we have. Yesterday is gone and will never come again. To-morrow is not ours. We may be dead and lost forever if we wait until the rising of another
sun. "To-day is the accepted time," to-day is the day of salvation.
There is great danger in delay, we may drop into hell while we wait.

(b) We must seek God by turning to him, that means we must turn away from all our sins. "If we regard iniquity in our hearts
the Lord will not hear us."

We must stop breaking the commandments of God.

We must break away from all secret sins as well as the open sins against God. It is the case usually, that these hidden secret sins are the hardest to leave. But we must stop sinning, or we can never find peace with God.

A little leak may sink a great ship. A little sin may sink a soul forever. A little spark of fire may burn a great and costly palace. A little sin may send the soul into eternal burning.

(c) We must seek God with all the heart, and with all the soul.
This means that we must make this our chief business. If need be we ought to drop all other matters, and attend to this one thing.
Careless half-hearted people never do anything that is good.

People are very much in earnest about everything else. They must be in earnest in seeking God, or they never will find him.

Christ said "Ye cannot serve God and mammon." God demands the whole heart. No soul ever found God unless time and thought and purpose were all given to the effort.

If a man was sick and dying with fever how earnestly would he beg for water, and medicine. The soul is dying, and in danger of hell, why not then cry out after God day and night till he hears and saves?

Third, If we seek God now, and seek him with all the heart we shall surely find him.

Not only the text but many other passages in the Bible tell us this;
God says by his prophet Jeremiah,
"Ye shall seek me, and find me, when ye shall search for me with all your heart."

Finding God means deliverance from the power and bondage of sin and Satan. We escape from the prison house of Satan.

It means that our sins are pardoned.

It means that we are born again.
We pass from sorrow to peace;
from pain to joy, from darkness to light, from death to life.

It means that we become the children of God and heirs of heaven.
It means that if we are faithful God will take care of us in life and in death.

It means that when we die God will take us to himself, and give us an eternal home in heaven.

Sinners, seek God to-day. Seek him this very hour. The heavenly Father waits to save you. Come while you may, to-morrow it may be forever too late.

Schools and Colleges.

The Wiley Alumni and Undergraduate Association met and organized May 23, 1890, and elected the following officers:

H. B. Pemberton, A. B., president, D. J. Wallace, Esquire, first vice-president, P. W. Wyrick, B.
L., second vice-president, W. F.
Bledsoe, recording secretary, T.
W. Sparks, M. D., corresponding secretary, T. C. Bledsoe, treasurer,
J. D. Dixon, librarian.

Wednesday May 27, 1891, will be the next alumni day; all members, old students and friends are cordially invited to be present.
The program for the occasion will appear later.

H. B. PEMBERTON, Pres.
W. F. BLEDSOE, Sec.

President Gates announces that $100,000 has been given to Amherst College by a friend who is unwilling to have his name known, the same to go into the general fund.
The only condition is that $150,000 additional shall be raised for the college either for general or special funds. The will of the late Mr.
Newton, of Worcester, establishes a Greek chair endowed with fifty or sixty thousand dollars. It is expected that a fine building will soon be erected for a physical laboratory. The Lord raise such friends for our schools in the South.

An especially interesting program for the coming spring and summer has been planned by the Bible Institute at Chicago, of which Mr.
Moody is president. About the middle of April Rev. Dr. W. G.
Morehead, of Xenia, Ohio, whose scholarship and ability as a Bible teacher are well known, begins a three months' course of lectures.
Rev. James Stalker, whose life of Christ is familiar to Bible students, will be at the institute a few days in May. In July and August, Rev.
F. B. Meyer, of Regent Park Chapel, London, will be the leading lecturer. Ministers, evangelists, missionaries, lady teachers and Christian workers of every class will have an opportunity to learn the best plans and methods along aggressive lines. The entire course covers two years, but the school is open the year round and students may enter at any time and stay as long as convenient.

Four dollars per week will cover all necessary expenses in the men's department, and in the ladies' department the cost of board is three dollars and a half per week. No charge is made for tuition. Any who desire to attend should write at once to the superintendent, R.
A. Torrey, 80 W. Pearson street, or Mrs. S. B. Capron, superintendent of the ladies' department, 232
La Salle Avenue, Chicago.

Leland University, the Baptist school in this city is enjoying a year of exceptional prosperity. Rev.
E. C. Mitchell, D.D., president, Prof. Geo. H. Felton, A. M. D.D., principal of Normal Department and the other members of its excellent faculty are happy over the year's work.

The Governor has appointed Major John W. Ooke, of Lake Providence, a trustee of Southern University, vice Hon. Thos. A. Cage removed.

Rev. J. W. Winbush, of Durant,
Miss., requested all the Mississippi Normal students to meet for a reunion, at Holly Springs, Miss., May 1st.

The Wiley University boys, Marshall, Texas, deserve credit for their gentlemanly demeanor toward the young ladies that went out and witnessed their match games which they had with the Bishop College boys of the same town recently.
The Wiley boys each carried chairs for the benefit of their lady friends, while the Bishop boys had their lady friends to carry their own chairs over a mile.

The members of the Gammon Alumni Association will hold their grand Alumni Reunion and Banquet this year during commencement week, in the city of Atlanta.
It is hoped this will be the means of bringing together a large gathering on this occasion, which it is hoped will be a memorable one.
Rev. J. D. Chavie, A. M., B. D., of the class of 1889, is the orator of the occasion. All the alumni are assessed $1 to help defray expenses, and they are all earnestly requested to be present. Remember the day and date, May 12, 7:30 p. m. The call is signed by J. R.
Howard, President Gammon
Alumni Association, Atlanta, Ga., and A. S. Williams, Secretary.

All the year round, you may rely upon Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to purify the blood and invigorate the system. It's not like the sarsaparillas, that are said to be good for the blood in March, April and May. The "Golden Medical Discovery" works equally well at all times, and in all cases of blood-taints, or humors, no matter what their name or nature.

It's the cheapest blood-purifier, sold through druggists, because you only pay for the good you get.

Your money is returned if it doesn't benefit or cure you.
Can you ask more?

"Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol to inebriate, and no syrup or sugar to derange digestion.

It's a concentrated vegetable extract; put up in large bottles; pleasant to the taste, and equally good for adults or children.

The "Discovery" cures all Skin, Scalp and Scrofulous affections, as Eczema, Tetter, Salt-rheum, Fever-sores, White Swellings, Hip-joint disease and kindred ailments.

The Spring Medicine.

The popularity which Hood's Sarsaparilla has gained as a spring medicine is wonderful. It possesses just those elements of health-giving, blood-purifying and appetite-restoring which everybody needs to need at this season. Do not continue in a dull, tired, unsatisfactory condition when you may be so much benefitted by Hood's Sarsaparilla. It purifies the blood and makes the weak strong.

American Citizens' Equal Rights Association.

To the Members of the State
Central American Citizens' Equal Rights Association of Louisiana: Gentlemen:—The people are awakening to the needs of the hour. They see that nearly every Southern State has recently enacted an odious and infamous separate car law, which humiliates and on-trages our rights as American citizens, and they demand that we take speedy action to test it before the courts of the country. In their names, by virtue of the power vested in me as President of the Association, I request that you meet at our headquarters, No. 139 Poydras street, on Saturday, April 4, at 5 p. m. sharp. Signed,

A. E. P. ALBERT,
President.

[Pastors are requested to read this department each week.]

Take Notice!

We cannot make all the transfers on our list because the name of the charge is not a postoffice in many instances. Then those who are on a circuit ought to tell us at which place they get their mail.
All changes desired should be requested, and always mention former address. Don't forget that it is important! The list is about to be put in type for a mailing machine, when we hope there will be no more complaints of not getting the paper. Let requests for all changes that have not been sent in be sent at once! All pastors of churches in the patronizing conferences can have the paper, and pay when Conference meets. All such not receiving the paper, please notify us.

St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Church on Camp street, opposite Margaret Place, and just above the junction of Camp and Prytania streets, was burned about mid-day Monday March 23, just after a len-tenservice. An insurance of $40,000 will soon enable them to arise and build. In the meantime they will worship in Ames church, which has been tendered them.

AN anniversary of the Italian mission work in this city was held at Ames M. E. Church on Sunday last, at which several hymns were sung in the beautiful Italian dialect.
Rev. J. B. Giambruno, P. O., made an address in Italian followed by Mr. Mangano, and Mr. Russo in English, telling the story of their conversion and the growth of the work. Rev. W. P. McLaughlin, P.

Dear Brethren: Our first district conference will be held at Princeton from Thursday June 25 to Monday 29, 1891.
It would be best for all of us if no one leaves before Monday. Lectures to the brethren on "How best Pastor a Charge."
Homiletics and Discipline will be delivered. All local preachers are to be examined in the first year's course of study.
No reports received unless written. District stewards will meet during this session. Supplies of course of study, for local preachers will be brought to district conference. Presiding Elder's salary will be same as that for last year, till district stewards meet. Every pastor, local preacher, and all official members of our churches will be expected to take the "Southwestern" or "Western Christian Advocate." Announcements for our district will be published therein. Write me at points where meetings are held.

Be Sure

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation, curative power superior to any other article.
A Boston lady who knew what she wanted,
and whose example is worthy imitation, tells
her experience below:

To Get

"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me to buy their own instead of Hood's; he told me their's would last longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was. I had taken it, was satisfied with it, and did not want any other.

Hood's

When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla
I was feeling real miserable, suffering
a great deal with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly stand. I looked and had for some time, like a person in consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me so much good that I wonder at myself sometimes,
and my friends frequently speak of it." Mrs.

FAMILY FINANCIERING.

BY S. W. FOSS.

"They tell me you work for a dollar a day; How is it you clothe your six boys on such pay?"

"I know you will think it conceited and queer, But I do it because I'm a good financier."

"There's Pete, John, Jim, and Joe and William and Ned, A half dozen boys to be clothed up and fed."

"And I buy for them all good, plain victuals to eat; But clothing—I only buy clothing for Pete."

"When Pete's clothes are too small for him to get on My wife makes 'em over and gives 'em to John."

"When for John, who is ten, they have grown out of date She just makes 'em over for Jim, who is eight."

"When for Jim they become ragged to fix She just makes them over for Joe, who is six."

"And when little Joseph can wear 'em no more She just makes 'em over for Bill, who is four."

"And when for young Bill they no longer will do She just makes 'em over for Ned, who is two."

"So you see, if I get enough clothing for Pete, The family is furnished with clothing complete."

"But when Ned has got through with the clothing, and when He has thrown it aside—what do you do with it then?"

"Why, once more we go round, the circle complete, And begin to use it for patches for Pete."

LAYER GINGER CAKE.—One cup New Orleans molasses, butter or lard the size of an egg, one tea spoonful of soda in two-thirds of a cup of boiling water, one table spoonful of ginger, a pinch of salt and flour to make it the consistency of jelly cake; bake in three layers and put together while warm; needs nothing between the layers. New Orleans or sorghum molasses must be used or it will not be good.

SOFT GINGER COOKIES.—Two teacupfuls of New Orleans molasses, one teacupful of melted lard, one teacupful of boiling water, four teacupfuls of soda, one table spoonful of ginger; pour the boiling water on the soda, first putting soda in a good-sized dish, as it foams so much; do not knead too stiff; roll thin and bake in a quick oven. They are best if stirred up in a milk crock if possible, as this recipe makes nearly one hundred cookies.

FIG PUDDING.—Three quarters of a pound of grated bread, one-half a pound of the best figs, six ounces of suet, six ounces of moist sugar, one teacupful of milk, and a little nutmeg grated. The figs and suet must be chopped very fine. Mix the bread and suet first, then the figs, sugar and nutmeg, one egg beaten well, and lastly the milk. Boil in a mould four hours. To be eaten with sweet sauce.

COCONUT CAKE.—Beat to a cream one pound of butter and one pound of sugar, add eight eggs beaten separately, half a pound of sifted flour, one grated nutmeg, one teacupful of lemon extract, and half a pound of grated cocoanut, mixed with the white of an egg, and stir in slowly; pour in a well-greased pan and bake quickly. Ice and sprinkle over with grated cocoanut. For the filling beat the yolks of four eggs very light, with two cups of cream, flavor with the lemon extract and spread between the layers of cake.

Ely's Cream Balm is worth its weight in gold as a cure for catarrh. One bottle cured me.—S. A. Lovell, Franklin, Pa.

Our Symposium.

President Harrison on Majority Rule.

"That the majority shall rule is an underlying principle of our institutions. It is what has contributed in the past to our security, and it is the only guarantee in the future for our safety. The minute you pass from that and concede the minority rule you go to chaos and confusion. Some of the fiercest contentions in Congress have been made in the vain attempt upon the part of the minority to control the action of the majority."

The President was asked if he thought the Republicans would make the issues involved in the elections bill prominent in future campaigns.

"You will find therein the same principle—a guarantee of the rule of the majority. It will not do for the people of any section to believe that they must be let alone; that it is a local question to be settled by the States, or whether they shall have honest elections or not. This might be said were it not for the fact that the issue is in effect

IN NATIONAL CONVENTIONS, and the effect upon the floor of the House of Representatives is so great that it cannot be ignored. Whether it shall become a dominant issue in the near campaign, or in the near future, is a question of whether the Northern part of the country will consent to touch administration of national affairs. This attempt upon the part of the minority to rule the majority is constantly appearing in various parts of the country.

"Take my own state of Indiana. There we have such a gerrymander that if we carried the state tomorrow by popular vote of 10,000 majority we could not secure more than two, or possibly three, representatives in Congress, and the Democrats would have control of the Legislature. There the will of the majority is overruled, and by an improper manipulation the rule of the minority is made possible.

These are questions for the people to take up and determine. It is not a question of sectionalism. It is a question of principle and business honesty. The principle of majority representation has to a great degree prevailed in Congress during the last two sessions, and therefore will have a good influence upon the public in calling their attention to the benefits to be derived therefrom."

SORE THROAT

Bronchitis, colds, coughs, asthma, and even consumption, in the early stages, yield to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Singers, actors, auctioneers, public speakers, clergymen, teachers, lecturers, and all who are liable to disorder of the vocal organs, find a sure remedy in this wonderful and well-known preparation. As an emergency medicine, in cases of croup, whooping cough, etc., it should be in every household.

"Two years ago I suffered severely from an attack of sore throat

And Bronchitis

It seemed as if I could not survive, all the usual remedies proving of no avail. At last I thought of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and after taking two bottles of this medicine I was restored to health."—Chas. Gambini, Smith's Ranch, Sonoma Co., Cal.

"There is nothing better for coughs than Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I use no other preparation."—Annie S. Butler, Providence, R. I.

W. H. Graft & Co., Druggists, Carson, Iowa, certify that all throat and lung troubles are speedily

Cured By Using

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It leads all others. "In January, 1889, I was taken down with measles and scarlet fever, and exposing myself too soon, caught a severe cold which settled on my lungs. I was forced to take to my bed and was so ill that the doctors despaired of my recovery, supposing me to be in quick consumption. Change of climate was recommended, but I began to use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and soon found relief. After using several bottles, I was cured, so that I am now as well and rugged as ever."—John Dillander, Cranesman of Steam Shovel, G. S. & S. F. R. R. Co., Justin, Texas.

Ely's Cream Balm For CATARRH
THE POSITIVE CURE.
ELY BROTHERS, 66 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.

Our Children's Legion.
For Our Boys and Girls.
BY UNCLE CEPHAS.

Dear Uncle Cephas: This is my second letter to you. I have been reading the letters from my little cousins, and they encouraged me to write also. We have a nice Sunday school. I go every Sunday. We have a missionary band and we are all soliciting money for the missionary cause. We hope to be successful.

Your Nephew,
HENRY W. GILMORE.
Clarksville, Tex.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I see so very many of the little boys and girls writing to you I thought I would write. I attend Sabbath school every Sunday. I expect to attend day school, which opens March 2.

Your Niece,
TEMPY B. FAYETTE.
Mantua, Ala.

Dear Uncle Cephas: This is my first letter to you. I am a member of the M. E. Church. I am not going to school now. I am in the seventh grade. My father is a school teacher and my grand father is a preacher. I take much pleasure in reading the SOUTHWESTERN. Our pastor is Rev. J. Evans.

Your Niece,
SARAH F. AIMROD.
Mantua, Ala.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I enjoy your paper ever so much. I am going to school every day and to Sunday school. My mother and father belong to the M. E. Church. I don't belong to the church but I want to.

Your Niece,
SARAH PHILLIPS.
Marion, Ala.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I am a little girl 11 years old. I am a member of Farmington M. E. Sunday school, and I attend every Sunday. My father takes the SOUTHWESTERN and I delight in reading our Children's Legion. Mr. Zach Boren is our Sunday school superintendent. Rev. W. Ellison is our pastor. He is loved by everybody. My mother sister and brother belong to the M. E. Church.

Your Niece,
EVA LEE LAWS.
Palmetto, Tenn.

Lost Friends.

We make no charge for publishing these letters from subscribers. All others will be charged fifty cents. Pastors will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report any case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.

Mr. Editor: I desire to find my two sisters, Harriett and Chancy Hartman. I was sold from my two sisters in Louisiana during the war, and came to Texas. For a short name they called me "Mit." Part of us belonged to Hartman, and part to Johnson. My mother and father both died before I left. My oldest sister had two boys, Adken and Hilliard. Any information in regard to them will be thankfully received. Address Polly Johnson, Washington, Tex.

Mr. Editor: I wish to inquire for my mother, who went from Baltimore, Md., to Grand Cane, Va., about 12 years before the war. Her name at that time was Phyllis White, and she belonged to James Street, who sold her to a Negro trader by the name of Campbell. Sister Maria and myself were sold to the same man; also, brother Harris. I was sold by Campbell, in New Orleans, to Needham Raford. Sister's names were Marcab, Dumon, Mahala and Rosa. Brother's names were Harry and Wheeler. Father was named David Limard, and belonged to one, Wheeler. I left brother Harry in New Orleans when I was sold, and have not seen any of them since. My name was Mary Eliza Linard, but now is Mary Eliza Bedford. Address W. M. Bedford, Trenton, Smith county, Miss.

Mr. Editor: I want to inquire for my daughter. Her name is Mealia Fitzgerald. She was taken off by Price Fitzgerald in 1867. She was only 3 years old when she left Warren, Ark. Price is her father. He carried her to Camden, and when he left there he went to Texas. I have not heard from them since. Any information can be addressed to Amanda Wood, New Edinburg, Ark., care Rev. J. W. Burns.

For Over Fifty Years.
Mrs. WISLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for over FIFTY YEARS by MILLIONS OF MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEETHING, with PERFECT SUCCESS. IT SOOTHES the CHILD, SOFTENS the GUMS, ALLAYS the PAIN, CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHŒA. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Wislow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other. Twenty-five cents a bottle. 1891

An Unprecedented Offer!

We have made arrangements with the Chicago Manufacturing Company to supply one of their first-class Singer machines for only $14 cash. We will order a machine like the cut here shown, and send the SOUTHWESTERN a full year besides! It is a handsome oil-polished walnut, of latest design, Gothic cover, with beautiful panels, four end drawers and a swing drawer, nickel-plated, and warranted five years.

Each Machine is furnished with the following equipment: One Foot Hemmer, One Oil Can with Oil, One Gauge, and Screw, One Extra Check Spring, One Package of Needles, Five Bobbins, One Tucker, One Foot Ruffler, One Set of Plate Hemmers, four different widths up to seven-eighths of an inch, One Binder and One Thread Cutter. The Improved Tension and Thread Liberator is used on this Machine. The manufacturers offer to refund the money if purchaser is not fully satisfied with the machine.

We receive many letters inquiring about the sewing machine premium, and how to obtain it. In order that all may understand the matter, we state in addition to the announcement, that remittances should be made to Hunt & Eaton, 139 Poydras street, either by check, money order, or by express, naming the nearest or most convenient freight depot to which it is to be sent. Then we order the factory in Chicago to ship the machine. The company ships it; and receives from the railroad a bill of lading which, with the warranty, is sent to us, and which we send to the subscriber. This bill of lading is good and sufficient evidence that the machine has been forwarded, and holds the railroad company responsible for its safe delivery at the station named as its destination, and in due time, save unavoidable delays. In case of its loss the railroad which caused its loss is responsible, under the laws of the land. If not arriving in due time, show the bill of lading to the station agent and he will look it up. Don't give up the bill of lading, but it may be shown to the railroad agent. All orders are sent the same day as received, and the bill of lading is sent to the subscriber the same day we get it. We started this scheme with a view to helping our patrons, and shall carefully and faithfully carry out our part of the agreement in every case.

I HAVE been a sufferer from catarrh for 20 years. I found immediate relief in the use of Ely's Cream Balm. Since using it I have not suffered a moment from headache, sore throat, or loss of sleep, from which I previously suffered, caused by catarrh. I consider your Balm a valuable remedy.—R. G. Vassar, 56 Warren street, New York.

DONALD KENNEDY
of Roxbury, Mass., says

My Medical Discovery seldom takes hold of two people alike! Why? Because no two people have the same weak spot. Beginning at the stomach it goes searching through the body for any hidden humor. Nine times out of ten, inward humor makes the weak spot. Perhaps its only a little sediment left on a nerve or in a gland; the Medical Discovery slides it right along, and you find quick happiness from the first bottle. Perhaps its a big sediment or open sore, well settled somewhere, ready to fight. The Medical Discovery begins the fight, and you think it pretty hard, but soon you thank me for making something that has reached your weak spot. Price $1.50. SECOND QUARTER.—Lesson 1. Saved from Famine. 2 Kings 7. 1-16. Commit to memory verses 8, 9. April 5, 1891. B. C. 892.

HOME READINGS.

M. 2 Kings 7. 1-11. Tu. 2 Kings 7. 12-17. W. 2 Chron. 20. 14-24. Th. Luke 15. 11-19. F. Exod. 15. 1-12. S. Psal. 76. S. Psal. 107. 1-9.

GOLDEN TEXT.

O that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men. (Psal. 107. 8.)

LESSON HYMN, C. M.

God moves in a mysterious way
His wonders to perform;
He plants his footsteps in the sea,
And rides upon the storm.

Ye fearful saints, fresh courage take:
The clouds ye so much dread
Are big with mercy, and shall break
In blessings on your head.

Judge not the Lord by feeble sense,
But trust him for his grace;
Behind a frowning providence
He hides a smiling face.

Time—B. C. 892.
Places—The city of Samaria and the surrounding country.
Ruler—Jehoram, King of Israel.
Doctrinal suggestion—God's fulfillment of promise.

QUESTIONS FOR HOME STUDY

1. The Lord's Promise, v. 1, 2. What was the Lord's promise? By whom was this promise sent? What doubt was expressed about the promise? By whom was the doubt uttered? What did Elisha say to the doubt-er? What says Peter about the Lord's promises? (2 Pet. 3. 9)
2. The Deserted Camp, v. 3-11. What afflicted men were without the city gate? What question did they ask one of another? In what two places did death threaten them? Where did they resolve to go? At what time did they go to the Syrian camp? Whom did they find there? What had caused the Syrians to fly? What shows that they fled in haste? What did the lepers first do in the camp? What did they finally decide to do? What report did they bear to the city?
3. The Saved City, v. 12-16. What did the king say when he heard the story? What plan did a servant suggest? What did the king do? How far did the messengers go? What did they find by the way? What did the people do when the messengers returned? What promise was then fulfilled? Of what duty does the Golden Text remind us?

TEACHINGS OF THE LESSON.

Where in this lesson are we taught:
1. That God knows the future.
2. That doubt robs us of blessing.
3. That God's word is sure of fulfillment.

HOME WORK FOR YOUNG BE-REANS.

Find why the four lepers were compelled to stay outside the gate. Find the story of another army of idolaters whom God frightened by a "noise." Find what became of the "lord" on whose arm the king leaned.

GENERAL STATEMENT.

For more than a century there was a struggle between Syria and Israel for the supremacy of the lands along the Lebanon range. Ben-hadad, King of Syria, gathered in all his forces and besieged the city of Samaria, hoping by one bold stroke to end the long war. The siege was so close that no food could be brought into the city, which suffered all the horrors of famine. The most disgusting food was sold at the price of luxuries, and at last even mothers slew their own children and ate their flesh. Elisha the prophet had counseled resistance to Syria, and he was held responsible for the suffering. At last the king decided to submit, and as a preliminary to surrender ordered Elisha to be put to death. When the king and the prophet met, the man of God foretold that in one day food should be plenty and cheap. This seemed impossible, and a nobleman at the king's side showed his contempt for the prophet's word. He received the ominous answer that though his eyes should see the plenty, his tongue should not taste it. That very evening the strange prediction was accomplished. The besieging host heard, or thought they heard, the sound of a coming army. A panic seized them, and they fled, leaving their camp and quipage, and made their way down the ravine toward the Jordan and the rivers of Damascus. By morning of the next day there was bread enough and to spare, and in the gate of Samaria a famished and hollow-eyed throng crowded together for the welcome food. One man perished in the press—the unbelieving lord who had doubted the word of the prophet. Thus was Samaria rescued and God's word fulfilled.

Obituary.

Marion, Ala.—Sister Alice H. Moore, daughter of Mr. and Irene Moore, was born in Marion, Ala., Dec. 24, 1872, and died March 16, 1891. She became a Christian in 1888, and joined the M. E. Church the same year. Since that time she has lived a loving and happy Christian life. She was a faithful Sunday school teacher, attended church regularly, and was perfectly devoted to anything that pertained to religion. She was a lover of her Bible. When asked if she wished to get well, she quietly answered, "Which ever way the Lord wills, so be it." She was often heard singing, "Jesus is coming again;" also, "There is rest for the weary." Her funeral was conducted by F. L. Teague, pastor, and Revs. Larkins, Dinkins, and Pollard, at the M. E. Church.

Sister Mary Wood departed this life March 7. She died in full faith. She was a member of the Baptist Church before coming to this place. She has been sick for more than two years, but thanks be to God, she is now "Where sickness and sorrow, pain and death, are felt and feared no more." By request, her funeral was preached in the M. E. Church by the writer. She leaves five or six children, empty-handed, without father or mother. Lord be merciful to such a family.

F. L. Teague.

Alpha, La.—Mar. 12, Sister Josephine Miller died in full triumph of faith. Wm. Ector, P. C.

Kendleton, Texas.—On the 16th of March, Miss Lydia Hubbard, aged 16 years, a member of Mt. Vernon M. E. Church, Richmond, Texas, passed from labor to reward. She had been an invalid for more than twelve months, and suffered intensely. She died in full triumph of faith. She said when asked if she was ready, "I have not waited till now to get ready." The church has lost a member and heaven has gained a saint. G. J. Izard.

Keithville, La.—March 12, Bro. Owen Moseley, died in peace with God and with man. He leaves a wife, four children, a mother, a father, sisters and brothers behind. D. Shelly, P. C.

Griffin, Ga.—Sister Fannie Beck, who departed this life March 20, was the mother of Heck M. E. Church. She lived a soldier and died with victory. W. H. Lovelace, P. C.

Vaiken, Miss.—Sister Early Young departed this life March 10, in the full triumph of faith. She was a good member of the M. E. Church. Age, 69 years. She leaves a husband, one son, and a host of friends to mourn her loss.

Chas. W. Whitehead, P. C.

Reasia Bruce, daughter of Bro. Burley and Sister Sarah Bruce, died March 17, aged 17 years. She leaves a father, mother, four sisters and two brothers to mourn her loss. She died in triumph of living faith. F. G. Wilbon, P. C.

Modern Miracles.

A singer for breath was distressed, And the doctors all said she must rest, But she took G. M. D. For her weak lungs, you see, And now she can sing with the best.

An athlete gave out, on a run, And he feared his career was quite done; G. M. D., pray observe, Gave back his lost nerve, And now he can lift half a ton.

A writer, who wrote for a prize, Had headaches and pain in the eyes; G. M. D. was the spell That made him quite well, And glory before him now lies.

These are only examples of the daily triumphs of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, in restoring health and reviving wasted vitality. Sold by all druggists.

Vitality, exhausted by overwork or disease, is quickly restored by use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

AVOID SICKNESS BY PURIFYING

THE BLOOD AND TONING

UP THE SYSTEM.

Dr. KING'S ROYAL GERMETUER

Does this more pleasantly, more safely and more surely than any other remedy known to medical science.

THESE FIVE THINGS

In which it differs from ordinary medicines, account largely for its wonderful popularity:

1. It does not taste like medicine. It is as pleasant as lemonade, and, sweeter, in refreshing drink. Persons who object to all other medicines, take this with real pleasure because it is good.

2. It never nauseates. The most delicate stomach finds in this a perfect remedy without a single objection.

3. It never escapes off one disease for another. It does not set up one form of disease in order to relieve another, as is the case with so many deadly drugs.

4. It does not patch simply. It cures. It reaches, as nothing else does, to the hidden sources of disease in the blood, and removes the cause. It does this with an ease and power that has never been equaled.

5. It is harmless, and may be safely given to a babe one day old. It is free from Alcohol and Opium.

All persons living in malarial districts should keep this great family remedy on hand. It will break any fever in less time than quinine, and anti-pyrene, and leave none of their unpleasant and hurtful effects.

For Malaria, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Debility, Kidney Trouble, and for Blood and Skin Diseases, there is nothing to be compared with it.

For Ladies and Children it is far the best. Circulars with testimonials, etc., mailed free. For sale by druggists and by Kit Williams, agent, 202 Canal Street, New Orleans.

Price: prepaid, $1 per bottle; six bottles for $5. By permission we refer to the Manager of this paper.

Editorial Notes.

Break off your tears, ye saints, and tell
How high your great Deliverer reigns;
Sing how he spoiled the hosts of hell,
And led the monster, Death, in chains.

Say, "Live forever, wondrous King!
Born to redeem and strong to save;"
Then ask the Monster, "Where's thy sting?"
And, "Where's thy victory, boasting Grave?"

STANLEY lectured on "Darkest Africa" to large audiences in New Orleans. "Distance lends enchantment to the view." The elite take very little interest in the slice of "Darkest Africa" in their own parish.
Isn't it touching to have Mrs. Jellaby howl and weep for the poor heathen abroad, while she gathers in her ecclesiastical skirts so carefully from the contaminating touch of the black heathen at home.

EASTER Sunday was celebrated at Mineola, Tex., by the hanging of a young colored man suspected (?) of having offered some gross insult to two of the white ladies of that town. The lynching parties are said to be well known and
"their act is condemned by our best citizens," but that is the end of the matter. Condemnation.
That's all. No wonder our people are crying all over the country,
"How long, O, Lord, how long!"

THERE has been a big flurry over our Italian relations during the past week. To the uninitiated it even looked like war. But the blood will all be spilt in the newspapers and diplomacy. Italy is too astute to go to war with the United States. In such a conflict she would have nothing to gain and everything to lose. She has her hands full at home, and her people are emigrating because they are already crushed under taxes and military service. The Italian premier has simply been "playing to the galleries." In the meantime the whole incident reveals a glaring weakness at one point in the power of the Federal Government.
It is "State Sovereignty" with a vengeance when an irresponsible mob in one municipality has the power to plunge the whole nation into war.

Easter Gleanings.

Easter was more generally observed throughout our territory than ever before.

Fred H. Bunton, Aberdeen, Miss.
The Sabbath school rendered our Easter programs in splendid style. Missionary collection, $37.60. Our church was beautifully decorated by the sisters and children. At night I preached the Resurrection to a crowded house. We had a glorious time all day.

W. R. Butler, Baton Rouge, La.
Easter Sunday was a high day at Wesley Chapel. Rev. E. Lyon, the Sunday School Agent, was on hand. On Saturday night a grand Easter exhibition was given by Prof. F. C. Blundon, and he spared no pains in making the occasion a grand one. Three o'clock Sunday morning we were at the church in a glorious speaking meeting. At 9 o'clock, 186 scholars were present in the Sunday school, and we had a grand time with the young people. Bro. Lyon addressed the Sunday school, and preached the Resurrection sermon to a large congregation. At 3 p. m., the Sunday school rendered the Easter program, which was done to the letter. The music by the Sunday school choir added greatly to the occasion. Miss Alice Thomas, our Sunday school superintendent, is trying to make our Sunday school the best in the State. Mother Hester is leading the little children to the Saviour's waiting arms. Oh! for a hundred such women. Monday evening Rev. E. Lyon held a Sunday school meeting, at which time he lectured, and many of the scholars came forward and promised to be Christians and not to use any tobacco, whiskey, wine nor beer. The class organized by Revs. Davidson and Lyon in February, for religious instruction, is doing well. In this class we have fourteen converted children, and others who are not converted, under the leadership of Mrs. R. A. Kennedy, one of the prominent teachers of our school. We believe Bro. Lyon to be the right man in the right place. Our Sunday school has been greatly benefited by his visits; also, by Dr. Davidson's.

T. S. McMorris, Bryan, Texas.
The program as printed was nicely rendered. $42 was realized from the congregation and the Sunday school for missions. We had with us the Presiding Elder, Rev. W. H. Logan, who assisted in the music and program, which gave to the people a grand send-off. Our Sunday school superintendent, Prof. G. H. Williams, was very much delighted with the progress of his school.

J. S. Harris, Wiley Memorial Church, Chattanooga, Tenn.
Easter Sunday was a good day. The program published by our Book Concern was beautifully rendered by the young people, and a good missionary collection was lifted.

V. M. Cole, Paris, Tex.
Mt. Zion carried out the Easter program to the letter. Provs. A. F. A. Polk and R. L. Hoffman delivered excellent addresses. Our Sunday school, under the leadership of our pastor and Profs. R. S. Thwait and Hoffman, is the best in this city. Total collection, $102.55. $20 for missions.

Truman Smith, Buford, Ga.
We had a grand time. Our pastor, Rev. F. R. Bridges, was with us and gave us an interesting talk on Easter.

A. J. Ford, Alexandria, La.
Collections from our Easter service far surpassed that of any previous year, it being $20, which is this day sent to the Treasurer, Dr. Hurst. It was a day of fat things for Israel.

W. L. Duncan, Huntsville, Tex.
The church was beautifully decorated with flowers. The exercises of the children were really good. At 3 p. m. the church was well filled to listen to the Resurrection sermon. Good music was furnished by our superintendent, W. H. Baines, and Prof. D. Williams. Rev. F. Parker, Presiding Elder, was with us. Collection, $52.40.

M. C. McEwen, Tupelo, Miss.
Easter will be long remembered in the Sunday school services, the following young ladies read essays and otherwise took part: Mrs. F. Norman, Miss Eddie Stowall, Miss Mabel Stowall, Miss M. A. White-side and Miss Mary Hayes, and Messrs. C. L. Burges, Geo. Baker, H. C. Norman, W. M. Armstrong. The children recited 600 verses from the Bible by heart. As it was a quarterly conference day, Elder J. C. Eckles preached a wonderful sermon. Collection for all purposes, $63.65. We are going to send in our usual number of subscribers for the SOUTHWESTERN in a short time, that is twenty eight cash.
(Send them just as soon as you can.—ED.)

A. C. Culbreath, Columbia, Tex.
We had a good time on Easter. We raised for missions, $16. The following read splendid essays: Misses Lucy Redic, Josephine Roberson, Sarah Vogle, Adelia Scott, R. L. McCullough, Ida Williams, Lottie Williams, B. F. Williams, L. Randen, Pinky Williams, Lizzie Williams, Perlina Rashell, Cora Barrett and L. Barrett.

V. D. Jenkins, Greenville, Ga.
Attendance was large and the services interesting. Collection, $54.42.

J. C. Hibler, Vicksburg, Miss.
Easter was a grand festival day. The program was carried out. A hundred and six scholars were present. A thousand and forty-five verses were recited. Collection, from the Sunday school, $24.70; from the congregation, $10.40; total, $35.10.

Tenola Edwards, Sloan Street, Houston, Tex.
Easter program was carried out with success. Many came forward for prayer and four joined the church. Collection, $60.05. We are in the midst of a revival.

Meadville, Miss., celebrated the day in grand style. Collection taken for education, $3. Speeches were delivered by Rev. N. Applewhite and Messrs. Jackson and Bates.

(The collection, according to our Discipline, belongs to the cause of missions, and not for education. The Children's Day collection, second Sunday in June, belongs to education.—ED.)

A. N. Jackson, LaFayette, Ala.
Easter and Missionary services were observed here in a beautifully decorated church. Large congregations attended. The Sunday school did nicely. A liberal collection for missions was taken.

J. M. Nevils, Kosciusko, Miss.
We used the program, and the children did their part well. Collection for missions, $9. The Elder preached for us at 11 a. m., and at night, it being conference time, his collection was $12.50. Total for the day, $21.50.

Sandersville, Chapel Hill, Rev. R. G. McMillan, pastor, had interesting services the whole day, by the church and Sunday school. Sunday school collection, $3.

A. J. McNair, Shubuta, Miss.
The church was beautifully decorated. Easter sermons by Rev. A. Howze and the writer. The children rendered the Easter program very nicely. Collection for missions, $12.

J. R. Britton, Old Fort, N. C., had a glorious day of it. Collection for missions, $4.60. Twenty-five came forward for prayers.

J. W. Little, Trenton, Miss.
It was carried out successfully under the management of Rev. S. C. Moore, in charge of the Mossy Hill school. He is a faithful worker. Superintendent P. B. Eptings gave him the program of the day. Rev. M. A. Hobson has done a good work here. Missionary collection, $7.45.

K. B. Jamison, Starkville, Miss.
The services were excellent. The church was beautifully decorated. Many of the Sunday school scholars recited verses from the Bible. Some choice papers were read by Messrs. C. E. Moody, B. J. Robinson, M. Bardwell, M. Winn, A. Wilson, Misses M. W. McPhail, L. Moody, K. B. Jamison and others.

Mrs. Fannie A. Clark, Bonchett Village.
The day was sweetly welcomed. The little folks acted their parts well considering the advantages given them in the past. Several essays were read by Messrs. W. M. Lincoln, Rev. A. B. Venable and Mrs. Venable. Collection, $1.40.

A. Moore, Washington, La.
Easter services were grandly celebrated. The church was beautifully decorated by Misses Alice Hudson, Ella Strode, Mattie Strode, Lucia Hatten, Mrs. Loniea Washington, Miss Mary Alfred and others. Mrs. Moore and superintendent Stafford Thomson led the program of the Easter service. Collection for missions, $20. This is said to be the largest missionary collection ever taken up at an Easter service in this church. The money has already been forwarded to the missionary treasury, New York.

(That's business. There is no earthly reason for keeping the money till conference, especially when it is needed for the work as soon as collected; otherwise the society has to borrow and pay interest on the same.—ED.)

Easter Missionary Service.

The reports from Easter services begin to come in. Here is a specimen:

The Rev. J. A. Parsons, of Corry, Pa., Erie Conference, writes: "Easter was a good day for Corry. Beautiful day! Large crowds. Last year $144 was raised for missions—just the apportionment. This year pledged yesterday $362, and we will doubtless get $400. Church happy. Secret of success, World-Wide Missions, monthly Missionary Concerts by Epworth League, sermon by the Rev. S. P. Long, of Burmah, and a quickened spirituality.

ONE of our Louisiana laymen has sent us a letter, for publication, announcing his candidacy for the General Conference. As such things are entirely out of harmony with Methodist economy the letter has plowed its way into the ever-present and servicable waste basket, "where it will not rise to shame our beloved brother in this world, nor condemn him in the world to come."

THE old blue book spelling book used to tell us that "strong drinks will debase a man." The old adage is as impressively true as ever. Don't touch the vile and accursed stuff.

City Church Notes.

From R. Scott, a steward of First Street M. E. Church, we are gratified to learn that after six years' absence, the Rev. T. G. Montgomery comes to that people with great pleasure. He is the man for that church. The people all love him. Their collections are getting better. They raised $14 on Union day. They are paying their preacher $19.25 a week, and the Presiding Elder $20 a quarter. The church is on the increase.

The Sisters of the Mysterious Ten attended services at Wesley Chapel last Sunday. Rev. F. T. Chinn preached their annual sermon.

Pleasant Plains' Class Tribe Rally and Bank Opening Day was a success. Collected, $45.20. The following ministers participated: Revs. H. C. Green, T. A. Wilson, W. P. Forest, A. J. Pickett, Dr. A. E. P. Albert, F. T. Chinn and S. A. Mason.

THE people are awakening, and responses to the appeal of the American Citizens Equal Rights Association, for funds to test the separate car law is having its desired effect. The association is in earnest and means business. All it needs is the united co-operation and financial aid of all our people. Let every organized body, of whatever kind, and individual members of the race, and all the friends of justice, everywhere, send their contributions to J. T. Newman, M. D., corner Canal and Marais streets, New Orleans.

THE Franklin (Ohio) Chronicle in a recent number gives a very interesting sketch of the Thirkield family. It gives in connection therewith an excellent account of M. E. B. President the venerable father of Thirkield, Thirkield, or Gammon Theological Seminary, Atlanta, Ga.

Duties of teachers, paper by Prof. H. A. Reid of Clarksville; discussion by Prof. W. S. Bagby of Clarksville.

Duties of parents to the Sunday School, paper by Prof. J. Smelser; discussion, Rev. O. H. Harris of Clarksville.

Duty of local preachers and exhorters, J. W. Brooks of Bonham. How to organize a Sunday School, Rev. E. E. Brown.

Upon what does the success of a Sunday School depend? Miss Enora Brooks of Bonham; discussion.

What are the advantages of a good Sunday School to the church? A. L. Paterson.

What are the necessary qualifications for a successful Sunday school teacher? Mrs. Mary Lattimer of Clarksville.

What is the best hour for a Sunday school and how long should it continue? Prof. Chas. White of Ladonia; discussion, Rev. W. H. Jackson and J. W. Moore.

Object of a Sunday School Institute, Prof. R. F. Huffman of Paris, Tex.; discussion, Rev. R. S. Taylor.

Importance of young folks attending Sunday School, L. Bagby of Clarksville; discussion, H. Hendrick of Paris.

Every Sunday School on the district is earnestly requested to send a delegate, defraying expenses.

Rev. Wade Hamilton, Presiding Elder of the Marshall District, Texas Conference, was presented with many valuable gifts and a gold-headed cane, by the members of the church and Sunday School at Paris, Tex., the charge which he has just left to take charge of the district.

Austin, Texas, Notes.

P. M. CARMICHAEL.

On our return for a second year here we were met with as much appreciation by the people as when first we came. Our labors last year were everything but a failure; however, there was not as much done as we had hoped for. There was a constant increase during the year, so that at the end of the year we were enabled to report 690 full members and 71 on probation, making an enrollment of 761.

The church seemed to enjoy a high degree of spiritual blessings. The financial condition of the church was not so good. It would seem, looking at the numerical strength, that we should pay more here for all purposes than the ministers will show, and it is true we ought, yet the greater part of the increase are children taken from the Sunday school, out of whom we get nothing much financially. Notwithstanding the hard times, we might have raised at least $250 for all benevolent objects.

There was, however, only $165 raised for all benevolent enterprises of the church. This does not include $418 raised for the Samuel Huston College, nor for the sick, dead, and burials.

The minutes will not show but a little over $300 paid on old indebtedness. The reason for this will be seen when it is known that we paid about $400 or more on the repair of the parsonage and grounds. This is a great people to pay their ministers. The pastor, Presiding Elder and bishops were all paid the estimations, which amounted to $1143. The whole amount raised for all purposes, including the expenses of Sunday school, reached something over $3000.

We returned from the annual conference with a determination to do more and better work this year than last. We realized the fact that if a large church were allowed to lay idle it would do no more than a small one.

There is such a thing as formal doing, or doing well enough; then there is such a thing as living on a large name. In other words, we can do anything we want to do. If we don't want to do a thing and don't do it, we will be respected because of our good or large name (numerical strength). We don't want it to be so with Wesley Chapel, and yet there is danger of it. There is danger too, in overburdening a people. If once they fail at raising a certain amount, it is not good to let the failure be repeated. Every failure makes the next attempt but the harder. This is especially true with regard to old debts, and will be true in other cases if allowed. This can be prevented by well ordered plans.

There seems to be more interest taken in the church among the membership than at this time last year. We are determined to wipe out the debt of the church this year if possible. Aside from this, we want to make some very necessary repairs about the church and grounds.

The Presiding Elder, Rev. Mack Henson, is held in high esteem here by our folks. The quarterly conference just held by him was a success. The reports were all full and encouraging.

Elder Henson made special mention to the conference of a very encouraging letter recently received from Dr. J. C. Hartzell, Corresponding Secretary of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society, respecting the Samuel Huston College, which made all of our hearts glad, for that is an enterprise that lies very heavy on our hearts. We have already seen that unless the school is finished, and finished soon, our church is to suffer here in the Southwest. There are neutralizing influences that are being brought to bear at present, in this city, against us, and only those of us that are on the grounds can know these things the better.

Let us do our pledged duty, and let us have that building completed soon.

The love feast and sacramental services were occasions of great blessing. Elder Henson preached us one of his soul-stirring sermons. The father of the Presiding Elder, whom he had not seen for thirty-two years, arrived from Troy, Ala., March 17, and to-day, March 23, he lies cold in death. The home of joy and gladness can so very soon be turned into one of mourning. Bro. Henson has the sympathy of the entire city in the loss of his dear father.

There is a great interest manifested among our people at present in the purchasing of homes. This ought to be kept continually before our people, for it is a step in the right direction.

A. McGlockin, Pleasant Hill, La.

Presiding Elder S. Duncan was with us March 17 and 18, and preached two edifying sermons. White and colored were glad to welcome again our old and popular Presiding Elder.

W. H. Williams, Fort Smith, Ark.

I was changed from Texarkana to Fort Smith, at the last session of our conference for the purpose of building our church in this growing city of fifteen thousand people. Years ago we had a church which was burned down. Several attempts have been made to rebuild since, but have each time failed. We had one member when we came. We now have ten members. Many of the people of this city are from the North, and a large number of the leading members in the other churches of the city were formerly members of our church but have gone to other churches because we had no church for them to come to. They are anxious for their own church, and have said to me they will come as soon as they see we mean business. They have come to us before, then we have failed, and our preachers have gone away, and they have gone back. So we must give them something to tie to this time. We have now since conference $3,395 on subscription. By a close canvass we can make it $4,000. The subscription which I have taken are largely on the condition that we build an $8,000 church. We need help.

A. Handy, Summit, Miss.

I met a warm reception all over this circuit. My first quarterly conference was held March 14th. The Presiding Elder, B. L. Crump, was on time. We had a very good time.

T. Scott, Prairie Plains, Tex.

The people were glad to receive me as their pastor. I found no parsonage, but we have built one since I have been here. We are moving on nicely. The Elder was with us on the 14 and 15 of March and held my first quarterly conference. After having a good sermon by the Elder we paid him $9; raised $2 on benevolences.

H. C. Watson, Caldwell Circuit, Tex.

We are moving on nicely since the conference. The membership in the town of Caldwell has increased from three to thirteen. We expect to build a new church at Zion Hill this year. Rev. W. H. Logan, Presiding Elder, held his first quarter here March 14 15. Both services were largely attended. The Presiding Elder preached a good sermon, and with his kind words and pleasing smile on his face left many people happy. Collection, $30 75; paid Presiding Elder $17, leaving a balance of $13 75 to be applied to the pastor's salary.

Emerson Hutchinson, Mansfield, La.

March 1st was a high day in Mansfield. Our Presiding Elder, Rev. S. Duncan held our quarterly conference Feb. 29, with credit to himself. Reports showed marked improvements. Pastor's salary was fixed at $400; Elder's $32, Bishop $2; benevolent collection $40. We have made it in our minds through God's help to do more this year than ever. Many good words are heard of Rev. T. G. Montgomery, our ex-Presiding Elder. He was a true and tried friend. May the blessing of God follow him wherever he goes.

J. W. Richmond, McMinnville, Tenn.

I have great soul for the SOUTHWESTERN, the great looking-glass in which I can see the great works of the grandest church in all the world. Notwithstanding our church was burned last year we are at work for the Master. I have had ten additions, done $30 of repairs on the parsonage, raised $117 48, and organized two Epworth Leagues. They are working nicely.

D. Keller, Stark, Fla.

I entered on my work immediately after the conference and found 125 members. When I left there six years ago I left 140. I have had a protracted meeting nine nights, resulting in four taken into full membership and thirty on probation. The Elder was with us on the 20-21 and preached a rousing sermon.

S. Knight, Murfreesboro, Tenn.

I am at my post trying to do what I can for the Master. I was truly glad to see in Dr. Albert's report to the Book Committee that instead of a decrease in the SOUTHWESTERN there was a gratifying increase over last year's report. Elder Price is pushing things and tells his men to do the same.

A. Butler, Waynesboro, Miss.

Our conference convened with J. M. Shumpert, Presiding Elder, in the chair. Reports showed the work alive and prosperous. The Elder gave a talk on the SOUTHWESTERN. At night he preached an excellent sermon. Collection for Elder, $8 10; pastor, $40 15. The sacrament was administered to thirty communicants.

C. E. Goins, Monroe, La.

We are working to put up our church. Everybody is anxious to see it go up. The friends and members are doing all they can toward this grand work. Sister Elberta Boyd is paying us a visit and is also helping us in this work. Mr. Henry Barnes, one of our workers, has given me two excellent presents since I have been here.

C. A. Taylor, Sweet Home, Ark.

I was well received here. I found our new church that was built last year, at the cost of $1,000, wrecked by the storm March 27, 1890. It had not been repaired, and our people had to worship in the school house. Five days after I arrived we met the trustees; they had $144 50 in the treasury. We have since had the work done and paid for. We led our people into the new church March 8. We are in the midst of a kind hearted people that love the old M. E. Church. I was sorry to leave Marianna, Ark., but I am glad to be at Sweet Home where we think we can do more for the church and the SOUTHWESTERN than ever.

Catarrh Cured.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease Catarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy, at last found a prescription which completely cured and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to Prof. J. A. Lawrence, 88 Warren Street, New York, will receive the receipt free of charge.

Letters from the Laity.

Mrs. Lou Davis, Edwards, Miss.

I write to let the readers of the grand old SOUTHWESTERN know that we are doing nicely. We have as our pastor this year Rev. L. J. S. Bell, who is carrying everything by storm. He is gaining ground for our church. He has a nice little family. We all love his wife and children. We are glad that the conference let us have our beloved Presiding Elder, Rev. J. Campbell, another year. He was with us on the 19th of February, and held our quarter and left us all happy. We have received several new members since our new pastor has been with us. Pray for us.

Miss Clara E. Pullen, of Atlanta, Ga., read a very excellent paper on the "Work and Object of the Epworth League," before the Loyd Street Epworth League of that city, on a recent occasion.

Rev. J. R. Howard, of Gammon Theological Seminary, composed and read a poem of high literary merit on the death of Gen. Sherman, before a large and appreciative audience, in Loyd Street Church, Atlanta. We hope to have it in our columns in a later issue.

Our people at Darrowville, La., have given a very profitable union meeting to raise money to pay for the new parsonage which they are building. They have paid out all of their old indebtedness on the church since Rev. Alfred Vincent has taken charge.

The committee appointed by Rev. I. O. Rucker, at Ocean Springs, Miss., to give an entertainment to pay the church out of debt, report a net receipt of $14.60 at a recent entertainment.

Wesley Chapel, Anstin, Texas, Rev. P. M. Carmichael, pastor, has a new bell and is otherwise evidencing great prosperity.

J. W. Little, Trenton, Miss.

Our first quarterly conference was held March 22, 23, by Rev. W. H. Mims, at Shady Grove Elder Campbell could not have sent us a better man to hold the quarter. Reports showed the circuit moving on nicely, under the pastoral care of our worthy pastor, Rev. M. A. Hobson.

J. M. Benjamin, Bee Lake, Miss.

Rev. W. M. Bell, our present pastor, entered this work Feb. 20. The people received him kindly. After an able sermon last Sunday night, three came forward for prayer.

ELECTRIC BELT FREE.

To introduce it and obtain agents the undersigned firm will give away a few of their $5.00 German Electric Belts, invented by Prof. Van der Weide, President of the New York Electrical Society (U. S. Pat. 257,647) a positive cure for Nervous Debility, Rheumatism, Loss of Power, &c. Address Electric Agency, P. O. Box 178, Brooklyn, N. Y. Write to them to-day.

General Church News.

The Pope has summoned Cardinal Gibbons to Rome for a conference on church questions in the United States.

Bishop H. M. Turner, of the A. M. E. Church, will visit Africa in the interest of his church next summer.

THE attention of our readers is invited to the interesting and important article in another column, on motherhood, by Mrs. Mary Haven Thirkield, daughter of the late Bishop Haven, and wife of President Thirkield of Gammon Theological Seminary, Atlanta, Ga. We are glad to announce that Mrs. Thirkield has kindly consented to give us a monthly letter on kindred subjects for our columns.

The only vegetable substitute for Calomel, which acts on the liver, blood, kidneys and stomach, and best anti-bilious purgative, is Maguire's Cundurango. Indorsed by Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia; Rev. McNally, of St. Louis, and a host of prominent people.

We make no charge for publishing these letters from subscribers. All others will be charged fifty cents. Pastors will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report any case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.

Mr. Editor: I want to inquire for my people. My father's name was Tom Brown; mother, Sukey Brown. They were sold in Maryland, by Dr. Tholson to Zacharia Berry. They left Mr. Berry and went to London county, Va., to the Quaker settlement. They had eight children; three boys and five girls: Charles, Agie, Jane, Sallie, Patience, Eliza, Amet and Robert. Father had three brothers: George, Henderson and Richard Brown. They were living in Fauquier county, Va., with a man by the name of Hornor. He had two sisters, Becky Turner and Mollie Mills. She had three children, Henson, Richard and Judy. They were living in Washington City. My mother's brothers were Anthony, John, Paradise, Sandy and Denis Bnrl. Anthony and John Bnrl were living in Prince William, Va., with Lamar Fowler. The other brother was living in Fauquier county, Va. Mother had two sisters: Gracy Whiten, who lived in Washington City, and Patience Brown. She had three boys, Robert, Isaac and Jacob. Any one knowing the whereabouts of the above named persons will oblige me much by writing to Robert Brown, Grenada, Miss.

Mr. Editor: I wish to inquire for my half-brother and sisters. My sisters' names were Beckie, Sallie, Mary Anne and Matilda Fields. My brothers' names were Gabe and Jack Fields. As for sisters Sallie and Matilda, I know where they are. I learned at one time that brother Gabe got killed while on his way home during the late war; and as for sister Mary Anne, she was taken away from home by Mr. John Fields, Jr., some years before the war. Any information of their whereabouts will be gladly received by M. E. Shay, half-brother Rev. W. J. Wade, Jr., care A. McClellan, Inman, Marion county, Tenn. My people all lived at least seven or eight miles above Louisville, Jefferson county, Ky., before the war.

Mr. Editor: I want to inquire for my mother's relatives. She left them about twenty-six years ago in Louisiana, on Beeville creek, about four miles from a town called Liberty. My mother belonged to a man by the name of Alexander Smiley, the son of old Parson Smiley. Her husband was named Ned Dickson. He belonged to a man by the name of Alfred Dickson. She was sold finally to this man Dickson, having five children, Henry, Cornelius, Nancy, Delph and Mac. Her father was named Joe Branch; her mother, Jane Branch; two sisters, Delphy and Lavenia; three brothers, Joseph, Jerry and Wash. She was sold again by a man named Alexander Kinklin to a man in Texas by the name of William Thacher. Any information concerning them will be gladly received by her daughter, Nancy Heard, Richmond, Tex.

Mr. Editor: My mother's name was Charity Blauford, and she was sold to Marsh Moten, a trader, who carried her to Louisville and hired her out to one Pearsol, who lived in Coutsport, Ky. She formerly belonged to Richard Long. She had two children: one, Ellen, went with her, the other, Mary, was left behind. Where are they? Address Mary Modock, Rockport, Ind.

Books and Current Literature.

Littell's Living Age. The numbers of The Living Age for Feb. 28th and March 7th contain American Fiction, Edinburgh; The Education of Genins, English Illustrated; Voltaire and his First Exile, Temple Bar, etc., etc.

For fifty-two numbers of sixty-four large pages each (or more than 3,300 pages a year) the subscription price ($8) is low; while for $10.50 the publishers offer to send any one of the American $4 monthlies or weeklies with The Living Age for a year, both postpaid. Littell & Co., Boston, are the publishers.

Every edition of The Century since the Talleyrand Memoirs were begun, has been nearly exhausted. The March number is entirely out of print.

The Berean Senior Lesson Quarterly, just issued, is full of the brightest and most helpful suggestions for Sunday school workers. Price, 20c. per year. New York: Hunt & Eaton.

Harvard College During the War of the Rebellion, is the subject of a fully illustrated article by Captain Nathan Appleton, which stands at the front in the March number of the New England Magazine. An illustrated article by Geo. H. Stockbridge on the Early History of Electricity in America, deals with the work of Franklin, Henry, Morse, Vail, Page and Farmer. Mr. William Henry Downes contributes a singularly interesting article on the Photographic Illustration of Poetry. The magazine's valuable series of papers on Anti-Slavery subjects is continued by some striking Recollections of Slavery by a Former Slaveholder. New England Magazine, 86 Federal street, Boston, Mass.

Jews and Gentiles, their Relations and Welfare, has just been published by Fleming H. Revell, New York. The book is a compilation of the papers read at the conference of Jews and Gentiles, to consider the past, present and future of Israel, held in Chicago, Ill., Nov. 24, 25, 1890. It is worthy of a place in every library. Price 75c.; pp. 50.

No more helpful book to young men, indeed to any class of men, has recently been published than Moral Muscle and How to Use it. This brotherly chat to young men, full of the most timely suggestions and cautions, is by Rev. J. T. Davidson, an English author. Price 50c. Fleming H. Revell, 12 Bible House, Astor Place, New York.

Secretary J. M. Shumppert, of the Mississippi Conference, has favored us with a copy of his Conference Minutes. It is creditable to him as well as to his conference.

The Year Book of the Sunday School Union, and of the Tract Society of the M. E. Church for 1890, gives much valuable information concerning the work of those two societies. Pastors and Sunday school superintendents would do well to send for a copy. Write to Dr. J. L. Harbit, 150 Fifth Ave., New York.

The Rev. Dr. H. Olaf Trumbull, editor of the Sunday School Times, and the author of several very important books, has recently completed his work entitled Hints on Child Training, which has just been published. From his rich experience, Dr. Trumbull gives in this volume the most wholesome and timely hints on child training. Every parent, teacher, and others interested in the proper training of the young, should possess a copy of this very valuable book. John D. Wattles, publisher, Philadelphia, Pa.

A Tale of the World's Fair, by Tenyson, has been declared by a high authority as a work of art, and as a picture of the imagination which is unexcelled in the English language. Price 25c. F. T. Neely, publisher, Chicago.

Charles Dudley Warner's new book, Our Italy, a superbly illustrated volume describing the climate, physical features, and resources of Southern California, is nearly ready for publication by Harper & Brothers.

Mary E. Wilkins' stories of New England village life have won for her an enviable reputation on both sides of the Atlantic. Her new book, A New England Nun and Other Stories, is announced for early publication by Harper & Brothers, and will doubtless achieve a success similar to that of her first volume.

Renben, a Prince in Disguise, is one of Carlisle B. Holding's best stories. One need but glance at the table of contents to satisfy himself of the value of this excellent work. It is not only a fascinating story, but one that exhibits the highest moral lessons. Price $1. New York: Hunt & Eaton, Cincinnati: Cranston & Stowe.

The magazine which contains the tales of the famous New York Story Club has at once achieved a remarkable success. The first number was the number for February, and the full edition was sold out before the March number was issued. There will appear in the magazine forthwith stories illustrating life in the Confederate States during the war—full of pathos and of tragedy, and stories of American slavery, from the recollections of a stockholder in a slave-trading company. The price of Romance is only 25 cents a number, and a specimen number will be sent on application, for 10c. by the publisher. Address the New York Story Club, 30 E. 23d St., New York.

The Treasury for Pastor and People for March needs no puffing. Those familiar with its monthly issues always feel assured that the Treasury will come to them filled with the finest of the wheat and with well beaten oil. The present number sustains its character as a magazine unexcelled in its helpfulness to pastors and Christian workers in every line of effort. Prof. M. S. Terry furnishes a capital exegetical comment on The Abrahamic Apocalypses. Dr. T. L. Cuyler gives a pen picture of Dr. Thomas Guthrie. The Editorials on Clerical Trimming, All Things to All Men, and Put Yourself in Their Place, are suggestive. All departments full. Yearly, $2.50; clergymen, $2; single copies, 25 cents. E. B. Treat, publisher, 5 Cooper Union, New York.

The second installment of Some Familiar Letters by Horace Greeley, appears in the April number of Lippincott's Magazine. The letters grow in interest and value, and as a revelation of certain sides of Greeley's character, will doubtless be of great advantage to the future biographer or historian. Charles Morris, in an article entitled New Africa, tells how nearly the whole African continent has been taken up by European nations.

We have received from the London Religious Tract Society the following publications: Boys' Own Paper, Girls' Own Paper, Leisure Hour, Sunday at Home. Price, each $1.75 per year. Fleming H. Revell, publisher, 143, 150 Madison street, Chicago, and 12 Bible House, Astor Place, New York. These are excellent publications, and we take pleasure in commending them.

The New York Times of March 8, 1891, says of Harper's Periodicals: "Whether treated, each one as an individual production, or generally as a class, Harper's periodicals represent the highest types of American literary and illustrative work. Never have the publishers of the Magazine, the Weekly, the Bazar, or Young People, lowered that high standard which was assumed in their first numbers. Modifications and improvements have, of course, followed, and to day it is difficult to conceive how they could be bettered. Looking at the literary side alone, the best known writers at home and abroad contribute to these publications. For the proper presentation of subject, pictorially, leading artists furnish their designs to be translated by woodcut, or process, whichever method shows better the illustrative idea."

The Season for April just received. The illustrations are, as usual, of a practicable and seasonable style. Some very handsome jackets, for both house and street wear, of a desirable shape and being coming to all figures, are shown. Also, new and novel designs for Costumes for Ladies and Children, that will commend themselves at sight. Yearly subscription, $3.50. Single copies, 30c. The International News Company, 83, 85 Duane street, New York.

The Baptist Speaker, published monthly at the corner of Willow and Felicity streets, this city, is the name of a Baptist paper but recently launched out. Welcome, Mr. Speaker, and success to you. Rev. H. P. Kelly is editor.

The Columbian Cyclopaedia is the new name and new form of what has heretofore been known as Allen's Manifesto Cyclopaedia, and which has won great popularity by its high merit, combined with its amazingly low price. The Columbian Cyclopaedia will comprise 32 volumes, of about 800 pages each (the Manifesto was 40 vols., of 640 pages each), being about equal in size to Appleton's Cyclopaedia, and about 50 per cent. larger than Johnson's. The entire set will contain about 7,000 illustrations; it is very handsomely printed and bound, and, like the Manifesto, is almost fabulously cheap, the entire set being furnished in cloth binding for $25.00, with easy installment terms to those who want them. Of course, subscriptions to the Manifesto will be completed in uniform style with the early volumes delivered. Whoever is interested in cyclopaedias will do well to secure (free) specimen pages of the Columbian, which may be had by addressing The Columbian Publishing Co., 393 Pearl street, New York, or 242 Wabash Ave., Chicago.

The Illustrated Christian Weekly of March 14 is specially interesting to members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, as it contains a full report of the sermons preached by Bishops Andrews and Hurst at the dedication services of the Sands Street Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church, Brooklyn. It also contains a history of this—the oldest Methodist organization in Brooklyn—together with illustrations of the two old churches, the magnificent new edifice, as well as interior views and portraits of the officiating bishops at the dedication services, pastor, etc. This is an especially interesting number of this very interesting publication. A copy of the edition in question will be mailed to any address on receipt of ten cents. Address The Illustrated Christian Weekly, 149 and 151 Church St., New York.

Beyond the Rents, is the title of a new book, dedicated to young people, by H. C. Lardor just issued by the Methodist Book Concern. The introduction, strong, vigorous and inspiring is by Bishop Mallahan and the Rev. F. E. Clark of the United Society of Christian Endeavor. The book is a real treasure for our young people. It should be in the hands of every one of them and carefully read and digested. Price 60 cents. Cincinnati, Cranston & Stowe. New York, Hunt & Eaton.

Dr. Hartzell, corresponding secretary, has kindly favored us with the beautiful engraving of the eleven honored men whose faith founded and launched on the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society a quarter of a century ago. The members of the first convention were the Revs. Luke Hitchcock, D.D., J. M. Wel den, D.D., sec., Robt. Allen, D.D., Adam Poe, D.D., J. M. Reid, D.D., Bishop Clark, pres't., Judge Goodrich, T. M. Eddy, D.D., B. F. Crary, D.D., R. S. Rust and J. F. Larkins, Esq. How wisely they built, they had no appreciative idea, but time has demonstrated the fact. What the Society has already accomplished is prophetic of what it is yet to accomplish for the poorest of God's poor in all this Southern country. May the faith of the church and the gracious favor of Almighty God still support and enlarge it.

Reese Rockwell has written several very interesting stories, but none of them will delight and elevate the moral tone of their readers more than Ringing Bells, one of his latest productions. It is a work of exceptional merit. Price $1.25. New York, Hunt & Eaton; Cincinnati, Cranston & Stowe.

Peter, the Preacher, or Reaping a Hundredfold, by Carlisle B. Holding, is a book that will attract interest and charm every one that begins to read it. It illustrates in the most impressive manner the words of the Master. "There is no man that hath left house, or brethren, or sister, or father, or mother, or children, or lands for my sake and the gospel, but he shall receive a hundredfold now in this time, and in the world to come eternal life." Price $1.25. New York, Hunt & Eaton; Cincinnati, Cranston & Stowe.

Among the works published for the Epworth Readings for 1890-91, none will occupy a more prominent place than that entitled From the Thames to the Trossachs, Impressions of Travel in England and Scotland, by Mrs. E. H. Thompson with an introduction by Rev. Dr. Jesse L. Hurlbut. Price 50 cents. New York, Hunt & Eaton; Cincinnati, Cranston & Stowe.

Under the Lantern at Black Rocks, by that popular author Rev. Edward A. Rand is a book of splendid parts, and is destined to accomplish much good. It strikingly shows the difference between pretentious daring and modest, resolute doing. The work is of special value to all our young people. Price $1.25. New York, Hunt & Eaton; Cincinnati, Cranston & Stowe.

Official paper for the following Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church: Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas, West Texas, Tennessee, East Tennessee, Little Rock, Central Alabama, Savannah, Florida, North Carolina and South Carolina.

Largest Circulation of any Religious Newspaper in New Orleans.

THURSDAY, APRIL 9, 1891.

A CREVASSE has occurred in the Mississippi river, near Greenville, Miss., which will inundate that whole section.

AN Italian plot to avenge the lynching of the Italians in this city has been discovered in New Castle, Pa. The plot was for 50,000 Italians from all parts of the country to suddenly pounce on this city and avenge the death of their compatriots.

WE heartily commend the following very wholesome advice of the A. M. E. Church bishops to their church to our brethren: "We advise you to see that cool-headed and men of deliberate judgment are elected to the General Conference, as thought is of far more magnitude and importance at the General Conference than clamorous talk."

THE annual report of the Board of Education is just at hand. It is worthy of careful study. Special attention is called to the increase in collections of 24 per cent the last year, and 69 per cent in two years. The report shows 935 students aided during the year. On the whole it is the best report issued by the Board, and commends very highly Dr. Payne's work as corresponding secretary.

OMAHA is raising $25,000 as a guarantee fund for the expenses of the General Conference of 1892. Bishop Newman is keeping close watch over the matter, which is a guarantee of ultimate success. It is a little strange, however, that any western city should be asked to furnish free entertainment when New York City in 1888 only furnished the Opera House free.—Inland Christian Advocate. That's very true, but didn't Omaha make the offer? Shall the General Conference now be blamed for accepting that which was offered it by Omaha Methodism?

THE New York Age offers the following eminent colored lawyers for appointment for one of the nine vacant U. S. circuit judgeships: Hon. John Mercer Langston of Virginia, Hon. D. A. Straker of Michigan, Hon. John P. Green, member of the Ohio Legislature, Hon. Edward H. Morris, member of the Illinois Legislature, Hon. Josiah T. Settle of Tennessee, Hon. Jas. Dean and Hon. Joseph E. Lee of Florida, T. McCants Stewart of New York, T. J. Minton of Pennsylvania, and Capt. Lyons of Georgia. It might have added Hon. M. H. McLeod and D. B. Temple, of Mississippi, Louis A. Martinet and Jas. M. Vance of Louisiana and a host of others. There is no lack of pre-eminently qualified material. The woods are full of them.

THE Cleveland (Ohio) Gazette says: "Recently the M. E. Church South has elected a colored man, Atticus G. Haygood, bishop." Bishop Haygood will not be a little surprised to learn that he is a colored man. It is very true that Bishop Haygood is a good man, and is very friendly to the colored people, but he is nevertheless a white man, and belongs to a church whose boast is that it is "purely a white church." We have a Haygood, a colored Haygood, who would doubtless make a very acceptable bishop but fortunately he does not belong to the Church South, and unfortunately he has not been elected a bishop. There is no telling however what the future may bring him in that direction. He is the popular author of the Colored Man in the M. E. Church which is for sale at this office at $1.25 per copy.

All of the conferences in this section having expressed themselves in reference to the admission of women as delegates to the General Conference, very little is being said in reference to it in this section. In anticipation of the early consideration of this question by the Northern and Eastern conferences, the discussion of the subject continues to wax warmer and more determined in those sections of the church.

Some of the mightiest giants of Methodism are now engaged on both sides of the discussion. Among them, President Warren, of Boston University; Dr. Terry, of Garrett Biblical Institute; Dr. Strong, Dr. Smart, and a host of others of the ripest scholarship in the Church. Dr. Mendenhall in the Review, Dr. Moore in the Western, Dr. Frye in the Central, Dr. Parkhurst in Zion's Herald, and Dr. Potts in the Michigan Advocate, are doing all they can to rally the host for admission; while Dr. Buckley in the Christian Advocate, Dr. Warren in the Northern, and Dr. Smith in the Pittsburgh Advocate, are furnishing the church with unanswerable arguments against the revolutionary, and to a very large proportion of the church, unnatural and unscriptural innovation, that is therein involved.

The Northwestern, the California and the Methodist Advocates have not thus far entered with their accustomed earnestness and ability into the public arena.

The discussion, as was outlined in the speech of the editor of this paper at the last General Conference, is now being fought almost entirely upon the scriptural phase of the question; and has sent more scholars to their Hebrew and Greek than any discussion that has ever arisen in the church. The indications now, we are glad to announce, are that the final decision will be in accordance with the plain teaching of the Scriptures, as understood by the common people of the world over; and that is, against the admission of women to the law-making department of the church, wherein are involved ministerial and episcopal possibilities.

On the Same Platform.

"We are glad that the SOUTHWESTERN and the Crusader stand squarely together on the platform of equal rights. Both fighting in the same cause must exert a powerful influence.

"Bro. Albert approves our views regarding the Mississippi 'Colored' State Bar Association and the 'Afro-American' Press Association, and says our position is 'typically American and Methodist.' We do not know about the Methodist part, but we agree with Bro. Albert that the fight for the future is for the obliteration of the color line. We have the ball rolling; we shall keep it a going until even the line in old Methodism that keeps the Negro from a bishopric is broken, and even if the first dusky Bishop be Dr. Albert himself we won't care a fig.

"It was Fred Douglass, the greatest Roman of them all, who, we believe, said that the Negro should build his house, not on a secluded spot, but right in the midst of his white neighbor's, so that when it catches fire they will all find it their interest to assist him, and vice versa.

"Fred Douglas was right. The mutual utility of the two races only, and nothing else, will solve the Negro problem.

"But this mutual utility will not exercise its influence, nor will its necessity be felt by segregating the colored race from the body of the American people."—Crusader.

The colored members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, entertain no apprehension from "the line in old Methodism that keeps the Negro from a bishopric" in that church; for the reason that no such exclusive line, as our confrere imagines, exists in our church. Nearly twelve years ago white delegates from several of the Northern and Eastern conferences declared that their conferences were ready even then to accept the presidency of a Negro bishop if one were elected. There is no prohibitory provisions in the premises. The only thing necessary is the presentation of the proper candidate and the unswerving and unanimous support of our colored brethren to the man presented. This we have, thus far, failed to do. Fitness in our candidate, and loyalty to his standard will surely bring about the desired result. Until we do this, it is absurd for us to expect the election of a colored bishop. There are thousands of white men and women throughout our Methodism that would rejoice with us in such an accomplishment. Many have boldly so expressed themselves by words and deeds. In church, as well as in state we have been hindered by petty jealousies, which have kept many recognitions from the race. Every succeeding General Conference however, witnesses the greater proportion of such men of our race in it, as are willing to bury their own selfish and personal preferences, in the interest of the common good. With this continued increase, we look hopefully forward to the day, in the near future, when we shall unitedly rally around the man, whose preeminence we will all be ready to recognize as the man. When we shall thus be able to say, to all of our white brethren, "this is the man," and shall exert every influence for his election, our faith and that of all of our colored membership is that he will be elected.

This faith is immovable. The history of the church toward our people is the solid foundation on which it rests. But for this faith, which is constantly encouraged by many of the best and most influential members of our ministry and laity, throughout the church, our Negro membership would have long since disintegrated from the church. But instead of disintegrating the "old church" is growing into favor among our people as never before. We have had two Negro missionary bishops in our church, and we predict before many more years we will have other Negro bishops in our church. Not missionary bishops but General Superintendents. The reference to the editor of this paper, as "bishop timber," we pass by, as a flattering piece of pleasantry from our much esteemed contemporary.

The Italian Imbroglio.

As we predicted at the time of the lynching of the Italians, in the Parish Prison, charged with the murder of Chief Hennessey, the matter has assumed a very threatening international aspect. In consequence of the very unsatisfactory letter of Gov. Nicholls in answer to Secretary Blaine's note in the premises, and the avowed confession on the part of our Government that it was powerless to bring the lynchers to an account for their action, the Italian Government lost its temper, and suddenly recalled its minister, Baron Fava. For a time, during the past week, the war cloud hung heavily and threateningly. The Italian Government addressed a note to our Government, demanding first, the "punishment" of the lynchers, and second, "indemnity" for the Italian subjects killed. Secretary Blaine's answer to this note was so dignified, manly and diplomatic that it at once ranked him among the first diplomats of his age. The note had the desired effect, and gave our Government the vantage ground in the diplomatic controversy. Our Government recognized the righteousness of the claim for indemnity, provided that any of the Italians killed were subjects of the King of Italy, and were not driven away from Italy for their country's good. These questions must be established, however, though a careful investigation, "in which the United States

As to the "punishment" of the lynchers, Mr. Blaine declared that no government could make such a promise in advance of a regular trial; and in the case of our Government the fact that the trial had to take place in the State, and under the criminal code of the State where the crime had been committed, and before a jury taken out of that community. Under such circumstances he could give no assurance other than that the courts of Louisiana had instituted an investigation in the premises and would give the lynchers a formal trial. The manly and diplomatic tone of Secretary Blaine's note, called the Italian Premier Di Rudini to his senses, and he has wisely modified his first demand, and will be satisfied with a trial of the lynchers, and indemnity, after a full and deliberate investigation into the citizenship and character of the lynched Italians. There is one thing however that this very unfortunate controversy has demonstrated, and that is the defect in our National laws, which prevents our National Government from throwing the weight of its own protection around the aliens on our shores, in keeping with our treaty stipulations with foreign nations in return for like protection for our citizens sojourning in foreign lands. Already this defect is being considered by several of the great powers with which we sustain treaty relations. Should this tragedy lead to a remedy to this defect in our laws, as no doubt it will, the fact that the National Government is without power to protect its own flag at home is also bound to be prominently brought forward, and it may lead, as we hope it will, to the adoption of such a remedy as will also enable the National Government to protect its citizens, at home, when the state for whatever reason, based upon difference of race, or previous condition, fails to afford it. The relation of subjects and government is mutual. On the part of the one must come protection, on the part of the other allegiance and obedience. The National Government can conscript the citizens of any state into its service in case of war. The United States Government should also be under obligation to protect such citizens when the State fails to give it. If the present trouble leads to such results it will only show how the Almighty can make the wrath of men to praise Him in his purposes toward the children of men.

Political Review.

The President is preparing for a Western and Southern tour. New Orleans, it is said, has been blotted out of the presidential plan of visitations as a mark of his displeasure over the lynching of the Italians.

The only departments that gave indications of special activity the past week were the State and Naval departments, in consequence of the Italian imbroglio. Every other, with the exception of the War department, which also experienced a little flurry in consequence of the same fact, continues in the even tenor of routine work.

The Nebraska Legislature has adjourned. It appropriated $50,000 for the Columbian Exposition.

Gov. Warmoth, President Harrison's Commander-in-Chief of Louisiana Republicans, has succeeded in securing the appointment of two more of his friends to fat Federal offices. A. R. Burkdoll, Coiner of the New Orleans Mint, and J. C. Legare, Melter and Refiner. Their political career is summed up by the Crusader in the following lines:

"Burkdoll was not known to Republicanism in Louisiana until a few months ago, when was issued, with him as editor, the subsidized Customhouse-ring, white-Republican organ—the New Orleans Republican. He was known before, however as the editor of the Crow- ley Signal, a Democratic sheet, published in Acadia parish, which, on the occasion of John A. Logan's death and at the time of Burkdoll's connection with it, contained an article defamatory of this patriot and greatest of Union volunteer generals. At the last election, while Mr. Burkdoll lived in Acadia the parish gave Candidate Harrison four votes for President.

Legare had a tenth-rate consulship in Mexico under Cleveland. Not satisfied with this recognition of his services as a Democrat he jumped the pit and called himself a Republican."

If Mr. President expects to control the Louisiana delegation in the National Convention by such appointments, he certainly is counting beyond his host, or else Louisiana Republicans are everything that the Democratic press has ever said against it.

Personal.

—Rev. Dr. Wm. Brush, formerly of Texas, and more recently of Dakota, and Rev. P. C. Hanna of Northwest Iowa, have been appointed by President Harrison United States consuls at Messina, Italy, and La Guayra, South America, respectively.

—Bishop Walden will contribute to the May number of Harp's Magazine an article giving a brief history of the Argentine Republic and of its unprecedented progress during the past thirty years.

—Rev. Dr. Frederick Upham, of the New England Southern Conference, and the oldest itinerant minister in American Methodism, died at Fairhaven, Mass., March 20, aged ninety-two years. He was born in Melrose, Mass., and entered the ministry when about twenty-one years of age. He filled all the important appointments within the bounds of his conference and for ten consecutive years served as Presiding Elder. Dr. Upham was a member of the General Conference of 1832, 1840, 1844, and 1872. Until 1883 he continued to preach effectively. He was the father of Rev. Dr. S. F. Upham, professor of practical theology in Drew Seminary, and the grandfather of Rev. Frederick N. Upham, of the New England Conference, and Rev. Frank Upham, of the New York East Conference.—Central Christian Advocate.

—Prof. Charles M. Moss, Ph. D., for many years, in charge of the Greek department of the Illinois Wesleyan University tendered his resignation, which took effect March 31, to accept a similar position in the University of Illinois, at Champaign. The loss is a painful one to the former and a rich acquisition to the latter institution. He goes to broader fields of labor, and where more opportunities will be presented for the exercise of those noble, many christian qualities of which he is so abundantly possessed. He leaves with the best wishes and the God speeds of the entire body of students, who deeply regret his departure.

—His many friends in this section will regret to learn that the Rev. Dr. D. C. Knowles, principal of the New Hampshire Conference Seminary for the past six years, is an inmate of the Massachusetts Homeopathic Hospital in Boston, having suffered the amputation of the right foot just above the ankle joint.

—Rev. Arthur Edwards, D. D., editor of the Northwestern Christian Advocate has abundant reason for gratification over the success achieved by his son, A. R. Edwards, who is in the graduating class of the Chicago Medical College. At the recent examination of the internships of the Cook county hospital Mr. Edwards not only stood first, but was accorded the highest average on record by the board of examiners. Mr. Edwards is also valedictorian of his class.

—Rev. E. H. Clark, has been retransferred to the Louisiana Conference, and is now at Darrowville, where he will be glad to hear from any of our Presiding Elders, who may have work for him.

—Bishop Fowler we rejoice to learn has fully recovered his health. He is now on the Pacific Coast.

—Rev. Dr. J. C. W. Coxé has been lecturing on the Pacific Coast. He is constantly going, in good Methodist style.

—Prof. Wm. H. Croghan, of Clark University, Atlanta, Ga. Who has been quite sick, we are glad to know is now convalescent.

—Prof. and Mrs. B. M. Hubbard, Alexandria, La., rejoice over the birth of a fine boy.

—Rev. John G. Nelson, who was a Swedish missionary in the Louisiana Conference some years ago, is now stationed at Carney, Mich. He is deeply interested in our work down here, and desires to be kindly remembered to the brethren.

—His many friends will regret to learn that ex-Gov. Kellogg is reported to be quite sick in Washington, D. C. We hope to hear of his recovery soon.

—The whole church will rejoice to learn that Bishop Taylor is vigorously and gloriously pushing his work in Africa, and is now in "better health than he has been in forty years."

—Rev. W. E. McLennan, of our Mexican Mission, passed through this city last Monday; on his way to Chicago, and paid us a pleasant call.

—A note from Rev. P. H. Travis, Gainesville, Ga., says: "The many friends of Rev. Joseph W. Naylor, will be sorry to hear of his death. He died March 18, on his charge at Hoshton, Ga. Bro. Naylor was one of the oldest preachers in the Savannah Conference. He died in the full triumph of faith."

—Mrs. Amanda Smith, the missionary is now at Oakland, Cal. She enjoyed her work here and her trip to California, and is now out there doing valuable service for the Master. She goes from Oakland to South Pasadena, Cal.

—Bishop Foster is regaining his health quite rapidly, and expects to hold the conferences which were assigned to Bishop Goodsell. He is looking after the publishing of the next two volumes of his great theological work.

—A card from Rev. B. J. Griffin, Fort Smith, Ark., informs us of the serious illness of the Rev. J. P. Franklin, at Fayetteville, Ark. He has been confined to his bed for over a month.

In consequence of the failure to secure a full meeting, as was desirable last Saturday, the members of the State American Citizens' Equal Rights Association is hereby called to meet at 139 Poydras street next Saturday at 5:30 p. m., sharp. Business of importance demands the presence of every member.

A. E. P. ALBERT,
President.
JOHN L. MINOR,
Secretary.

GRETNA, across the river from this city, is being submerged by the break of the rear embankment which was intended to keep out the water from the Ames crevasse from the Mississippi river. The overflow will exceed anything experienced there since 1834. The break occurred last Sunday.

HAVE you secured a copy of the House of Bondage? It is a work of the most thrilling interest. There is nothing like it. Its praise is sounded wherever found. Send to this office for a copy, only 75 cts.

THE grand old SOUTHWESTERN is read each week with increased interest.—Prof. B. M. Hubbard, Alexandria, La.

The Best Result.

Every ingredient employed in producing Hood's Sarsaparilla is strictly pure, and is the best of its kind it is possible to buy. All the roots and herbs are carefully selected, personally examined, and only the best retained. So that from the time of purchase until Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared, everything is carefully watched with a view to attaining the best result. Why don't you try it?

DAILY BREAD.

How precious all Thy sayings are!
No treasure can with these compare;
Thy sayings are the soul's repast,
Sweeter than honey to the taste;
They drop like manna from above,
And flow in streams of joy and love.
—Charles Wesley.

Watch and pray continually together.

Are you alive? Not simply physically alive, but spiritually alive!
Is the life-connection with Jesus clear and undisturbed? If so, maintain this at all hazards. A little holiday indiscretion will disturb it. Guard well the sacred treasure.—Selected.

Are you joyful in the Lord? Remember the divine injunction: "Rejoice in the Lord always." Well, but I am sick, or poor, or in sore conflicts, some will say. No matter;
the injunction is upon you. "Rejoice in the Lord always." Be an obedient child. Let the songs rise from your heart and home.—Selected.

Every duty, even the least duty, involves the whole principle of obedience. And little duties make the will dutiful; that is supple and prompt to obey. Little obediences lead into great. The daily round of duty is full of probation and discipline; it trains the will, heart, and conscience. We need not to be prophets or apostles. The commonest life may be full of perfection. The duties of home are a discipline for the ministries of heaven.—H. E. Manning.

If Christ holds the heart He will hold the pocket-book also, and giving will be a luxury, even if it costs sharp self denial.

The very core of healthy and happy dispossession is the willingness to deny self and to let the Master have His way. This principle runs through all the deepest, richest experiences of the blood-bought and consecrated believer.
God's people are never so exalted as when their pride and self-seeking are down in the dust; never so enriched as when they are emptied; never so advanced as when they are set back in their worldly ambition; never so near the crown as when bearing a cross for Jesus.
Nay, all our crowns are made out of cross borne for Him. O, that God would empty us, at whatever cost, that our souls might be filled unto his glorious fullness, and overflow with benefits and blessings unto others!—The Rev. Dr. Cuyler, in Christian Intelligence.

She is kind, generous, unselfish, considerate, always wanting to do something for somebody. What she does is done with such delicate thoughtfulness as to make it always acceptable. Her doing seems natural, spontaneous. And she has no patent in it. The secret of it all is sympathy. Real sympathy is a force. It breaks, subdues, softens. It opens closed doors. It finds a way into human hearts.
Some can hear, some eloquent;

but all can love, and love is both great and eloquent.—Selected.

If any one is restless there is a cause for it. There is no use of reading books or of longing for rest in order to get it. Christ says:
"Learn of me, and ye shall find rest." If we learn of him we shall find rest at once; if we accept him as our teacher, and take lessons of him how to live, we will obtain rest. It is the same thing he meant when he said: "Take my yoke upon you"—not a burden remember.
What is a collar to a horse? Is the yoke of the horse the burden?
No, the collar is what helps him to bear the burden easily. Christ saw men borne down with burdens.
He said: "Try life as I live. My yoke is easy, and therefore my burden is light." Instead of Christianity adding to the burden, it is the secret of the amelioration of life. It enables one to take the burdens of life without finding their weight. He actually goes on to specify what we are mainly to learn of him. "For I am meek and lowly in heart." Do you see the connection between being meek and having rest? Most are not meek and lowly in heart. Many worry, thinking they are not in their right place; that they have been looked down on, and at night they are bitter and lose their rest from wounded pride and from imagining people are slighting them.
These things would be impossible to us if we learned of Christ and were meek and lowly in heart.— Professor Drummond.

Homiletics.

Hymns 574, 575, 593.
Scripture Lesson, Matt. 5.
Text, Matt. 5, 15: "Neither do men light a candle, and put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick; and it giveth light to all that are in the house."

Introduction. The text is taken from the most wonderful sermon that ever was preached. It is taken from the sermon on the mount.

The preacher was the most wonderful preacher that ever delivered a sermon. Jesus was the preacher.
The sermon contains the broad foundation of all gospel truth.

The duties we owe to ourselves, and to our fellow men and to God are clearly set forth in this sermon.

It ought to be read, studied, and preached from much more than it is.

The Lord Jesus says in John "I am the way the light and the truth;"
here in the 14 verse he says his followers, all his true disciples are the light of the world.

The light they have comes from Christ, but if they are real Christians they are lights, sure lights, pure lights.

The first thing and all important thing for Christians is to let their light shine.

If they have really got the light
it will shine if they only will let it.
It is not necessary to blow it, and coax it as when people try to kindle a fire with wet wood.

It is not like trying to make a lamp burn that has no oil.

The Christian's light must not be hid, must not be covered and then it will shine.

There are two places where the Christian must let his light shine.
First in the world.

(a) The Christian must earn his daily bread, and in his daily employment he must let his light shine.
He must be a faithful honest workman.

If he is idle and careless, and unfaithful to his employer he will bring a reproach upon the cause of Christ, and people will stumble over him and lose their souls.

(b) If the Christian is a business man he must be honest. He must conduct his business honestly. He must deal fairly with all. He must tell the truth.

(c) The Christian must let his light shine when he is among strangers, when he is where he is not known.
Must let his light shine on the street when he mingles among his fellow men.

In the second place, the Christian must let his light shine at home.

(a) The text says "It giveth light unto all that are in the house."

Many people try to act like Christians when they are in company away from home.

Many will try and act like Christians when they are at church.
But when they are at home, with their own friends, and kindred, and their own families they do not act like Christians at all.

They are impatient.
They scold and find fault with little things.

They are cross, and ill tempered.
They do not give light unto all in the house. They cover up the light as soon as they come home.

(b) Home religion, the light in the house is what this world needs much more than it needs pulpit religion and church religion.

The father and husband must be kind and loving and true in his home. He must provide for his family. He must be temperate. He must set a good example. He must pray in his family. He must be and do all these things if he wants to be a light to all in the house.

(c) The wife and mother must be neat and tidy, and take good care of everything about the house.
She must be gentle and patient, and train the children in everything that is good. She must not gossip and go from house to house as a tale bearer. She must pray with and for the children. She must be faithful in all things. If she will be and do this she will give light to all in the house.

(d) The sons and daughters must be faithful and obedient to fathers and mothers. They must be kind and affectionate, and true to each other. They must avoid everything that hurts the feelings of one another. They must be helpful to each other. They must read and study good books, especially the Bible, and try in every way to improve in manners, and in morals, and in Christian behavior. If they will heed these suggestions they will give pure gospel light to all in the house.

(e) The world needs more home religion. The preacher must have it in his own family. The official members must have it in their families. All the members of the church must have it in their families.

If there is plenty of light in the house it will shine out through all the doors and windows, and it will attract and bless all who see it.

REV. A. B. Logan, Shubuta,
Miss., writes us of the injustice visited upon him and wife by the railroad officials on his trip from Macon to Shubuta, Miss. He and his wife were crowded into a smoking car, wherein white men were smoking, drinking and telling vulgar jokes. This too, in the face of the fact that they had paid first-class fare, and that the law of the State requires that the railroads provide separate but equal accommodation for the two races.

While we deny the right of the State or any corporation to separate citizens from each other on the score of race or color, we may be reconciled to the separation, if no discriminations were made whatever. The sting of the thing comes in when Negroes are denied access to the first-class white coach, while white smokers, drinkers and villains are permitted to roam in the colored coach at pleasure, and do their own sweet will. The race smarts under the sting of this injustice. By all means, the separate car laws of these Southern states should be tested before the Supreme Court of the United States.
The effort of the American Citizens' Equal Rights Association of Louisiana to raise funds to test these laws should be supported by every friend of equal justice. Call the matter to the attention of your church, your society and your friends and get them to contribute to the cause. One decision by the Supreme Court of the United States will decide the matter for every state in the Union. Let everybody join in testing the on-taneous measure. Send contributions to J. T. Newman, M. D., treasurer, corner Canal and Marais streets, New Orleans.

THE statement by ex-Minister Phelps, which will appear in the April number of Harper's Magazine on the controversy between the United States and Great Britain is clear, full and conclusive. After showing the extent of the destruction of seal life in the open sea surrounding the Pribiloff Islands, so great that during the past four years four-fifths of the revenue from an important American industry has disappeared. Mr.
Phelps exposes the wanton and wasteful character of this destruction as contrary to the ordinary dictates of humanity as it is to the requirements of self-interest. He shows that the convention proposed during President Cleveland's administration for the protection of seals during their breeding period was thwarted by the objections of Canada, whose citizens were obtaining a certain profit from their depredations, wasteful as these were. The question now presented is, says Mr. Phelps,
"whether the United States Government has a right to protect its property and the business of its people from this wanton and barbarous destruction by foreigners, which it has made criminal by act of Congress; or whether the fact that it takes place upon waters that are claimed to be a part of the open sea affords an immunity to the parties engaged in it which the Government is bound to respect."

"Our controversy," says Mr.
Phelps, "is really with Canada, though in our complaint we must address Great Britain, who thus stands between us and Canada, not as an umpire, but bound to support the claims of her colony so far as she can." Hence the policy of evasion pursued by her Majesty's ministers. Mr. Phelps does not favor arbitration, which in the present case "is more attractive in theory than valuable in practice."

Mr. Phelps's general support of Mr. Blaine, and his plea for the instant protection of seal and of the seal industry by putting an end to the depredations of individual foreigners, will commend his paper to the good sense and patriotism of every American.

The turning point in woman's life brings peculiar weaknesses and ailments. Dr.
Pierce's Favorite Prescription brings relief and cure. It is a powerful, invigorating, restorative tonic and nerve. It imparts strength to the whole system in general, and to the uterine organs and appendages in particular.
"Run-down," debilitated and delicate women need it. It's a legiti-mate medicine—purely vegetable, perfectly harmless. It's guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case, or money refunded. Nothing else does as much. You only pay for the good you get. Can you ask more?

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The Change of Life."

Obituary.

Mrs. Mary Alice Coor, wife of A. C.
Coor, of Jefferson, Tex., and daughter of Mahala Harris, a member of Wesley Chapel M. E. Church, died in this city Feb. 19. Her husband was called from Jefferson to her deathbed only a few hours before she expired. She was a member of the M. E. Church in Texas, and died a happy Christian. Her funeral was preached at Wesley Chapel by the writer.

J. E. Toombs, P. C., Little Rock, Ark.
Murfreesboro, Tenn.—Sister Easter
Virginia Lawrence, a member of Lawrence Chapel M. E. Church, died in full triumph of faith March 4. She was a member of the M. E. Church for 10 years, and was a true Christian. She leaves a husband, father, brother, two little children and a host of friends to weep. Our loss is heaven's gain. Her funeral was attended by the writer.
P. R. Woodson, P. C.

Bellville, Tex.—Bro. Ephraim Allen,
a member of the M. E. Church, is dead.
His last words were, "I am just waiting for the Lord to do his will; my soul is happy." He leaves a wife and four children. His funeral was attended by the writer.
Wm. Josey, P. C.

Kendleton, Tex.—Mr. Robt. Park departed this life in triumph March 19.
He leaves six children and a host of friends to mourn him.
N. Axel.

Atoka, Tenn.—Bro. Isaac Green departed this life March 20. He went home in triumph. He was about 85 or 90 years old. He said that he wanted all of his children to meet him in heaven.
I preached his funeral, assisted by Rev.
B. Maclean.
H. Dunlap, P. C.

Frank Miller died Tuesday, March 22, 1891, near Donaldsonville, La., aged about 35 years. The funeral took place from St. Peter M. E. Church, of which he was a faithful member. Rev. H.
J. Wright, Pastor.

Bro. Miller owned property in town and rented a house to one Dr. S. C.
Reese, who owed him $18, and told him he, Reese, would pay him Saturday evening. Miller went for the rent, when Reese's wife interfered. They exchanged words, when Reese collared Miller and drew his pistol; then Miller drew and fired. Reese's ball struck Miller in the pit of the stomach, ranging upward. Miller fired and shot Reese in the neck. Reese's pistol failed the second time. He then threw it down and ran. Miller fired the second shot and hit him in the hip. Reese fell about 100 yards from his gate, and died surrounded by his wife and five children. Miller was carried to Mr.

Jacobs' place, where he died Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock p. m. He said to his pastor just before he died, "Breath is just in the body and that is all.
Well, Lord, I have done all I could do;
you will have to do the balance." He died, leaving a wife and five children.
A large funeral followed both men;
Reese from the Baptist Church Sunday, and Miller from the Methodist Church Monday, at the same hour they were shot and died. Both were carried by the same spot where the shooting took place, and buried side by side. Both were young men of about 35 years.

The Spring.

Of all seasons in the year, is the one for making radical changes in regard to health. During the winter, the system becomes to a certain extent clogged with waste, and the blood loaded with impurities, owing to lack of exercise, close confinement in poorly ventilated shops and homes, and other causes. This is the cause of the dull, sluggish, tired feeling so general at this season, and which must be overcome, or the health may be entirely broken down. Hood's Sarsaparilla has attained the greatest popularity all over the country as the favorite Spring Medicine. It expels the accumulation of impurities through the bowels, kidneys, liver, lungs, and skin, gives to the blood the purity and quality necessary to good health, and overcomes that tired feeling.

O'MALLEY, against whom such a howl was set up in connection with the Hennessey case, has returned and surrendered to the authorities. He is out on bond.

Why wear out with coughing, at night, when Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will relieve and cure?

THE CHILDREN'S health must not be neglected. Cold in the head causes catarrh. Ely's Cream Balm cures at once.
It is perfectly safe and is easily applied into the nostrils. The worst cases yielding to it. Price 50c.

WHAT IS SCROFULA

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings, which causes painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet, which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or the many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors," which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by
the remarkable cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. Some of these cures are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla.
"My daughter Mary was afflicted with scrofulous neck from the time she was 22 months old till she became six years of age. Lumps formed in her neck, and one of them after growing to the size of a pigeon's egg, became a running sore for over three years. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla, when the lump and
all indications of scrofula entirely disappeared, and now she seems to be a healthy child." J. S. CARLISLE, Naughton, N. J.

Don't Buy any Whiskey To-Day.

BY REV. J. C. MCADAMS.

You are going to town, papa,
And there's one thing please let me say.
Whate'er you do, whate'er you buy,
Don't buy any whiskey to-day.

Just think what happened last Saturday—
You fell from your horse on the way.
Papa, dear papa, kind papa,
Don't buy any whiskey to-day.

Oh, how much mama is saddened,
Whenever she hears that you say
You are going to town; she fears.
Don't buy any whiskey to-day.

Buy me some books and some pencils;
For that is a much better way
To spend money so hard to earn.
Don't buy any whiskey to-day.

Now papa, goodbye, remember
The last words you heard daughter say,
I'll repeat. Do not forget it
Don't buy any whiskey to-day.

The Household.

Motherhood.

BY MRS. MARY HAVEN THIRKIELD.

Dear Mothers:—

The editor has kindly asked me to talk with you through a "Mothers Column."

I am glad to join hands with you, and send you a few of my heart thoughts from time to time.

We have lately commenced a mothers' meeting, and many helpful plans and suggestive thoughts have come to us, as we have discussed the many sides of that wonderful word "motherhood." Do we realize all the richness and responsibility which that word implies?

"A cradle-side may oft-time be an altar; and the ministry of homely toil is dearer far to Christ, than idle anthems are."

Perhaps some of you are so burdened with cares, and filled with anxiety about obtaining the bare necessities of life, that you fail to drink in the beauty and innocence of these little souls looking up to you for guidance and protection.
And yet, to even the weariest mother, there must come moments when the loving look and gentle touch of her little one will reveal the new joy which has entered her life. She will take up her work with renewed zeal, and feel that any sacrifice is blessed, if her children but grow up with pure and noble characters.

I know how some of the mothers, who read these lines, toil and struggle. I have visited many homes like yours, and yet, however humble the cabin, if a true mother dwelt within, the atmosphere has been full of sunshine and peace.

When work presses you, and the cares seem heavy, don't push aside your little ones with careless word and frowning face, making them feel that you long for their absence rather than their presence. Give their little fingers some employment, make them feel that they are mama's helpers rather than hinderers, and you will find the few rooms you may own, as rich in home delight as the ten or twenty rooms in the mansion across the way.

While the task of educating these little ones may seem a great one, you will find that in thus training the little minds and hearts, you will gain a liberal education yourself.

Characteristics that you had not dreamed were yours, will be developed and strengthened.

Patience, firmness, gentleness, forbearance, will rapidly come to the surface. Many Christ-like qualities will be ingrained into your nature, for no woman can be a true mother without drawing nearer to Christ; and no mother can trust herself at all times in governing her child, but must look upward for divine guidance.

Just as the little ones begin to liap their A. B. C's, and then rapidly pushing on through readers and numbers, draw us with them as they enter the higher studies, and inspire us to more and better reading that we may keep pace with their progress; just so do their young hearts grasp the A. B. C's, of morality and spiritual life, until they lead us up to diviner heights, as we strive to be their models and living examples of the truth.

Hence all mothers must be imitators of Christ, as we have missionary work to do. Every day little eyes are watching us, little ears are listening, little lips are quick to repeat whatever our lives may teach them.

Did you ever take in your arms a little forsaken babe, and realize that as father and mother had gone, it was God's child alone. Then you felt the truth of those words,
"Ye do it unto me," as you opened your loving arms to clasp and shelter it. Just so let us hold our little ones, as it we were holding that holy child, who purified and uplifted all childhood!

All Methodism has been exalting the name of Susannah Wesley, as they have drawn vivid pictures of the home scenes in the English rectory. We may not have the intellect and culture which was granted that gifted woman, we may not possess the firm will and steady nerve which was hers, but we may all, as mothers, find much to copy in that early Methodist home.

Surely her hands were full of cares, and her family was large enough to tax the keenest brain and the most tireless worker. We may well look to her perfect system, as she managed all parts of the household with equal tact and wisdom; because she not only had method in her work, but kept closely to it.

We may all follow her in keeping sacred some time for the children no matter how busy the day, or how weary the head. We may not always give them a full hour, but we can surely spare some moments for a quiet, earnest talk.

Look into that home, and see how closely she kept in touch with her children; their studies were her care, their ambitions she shared with them, in their life work she was their truest friend and adviser.

You may not all have her love for reading, her active, busy brain, but cultivate and improve what powers you have!

Begin with the little folks while they are yet babies, and let your sympathies be touched by theirs, and as they grow older, you will appreciate that with the gift of motherhood comes the great responsibility, and your soul will be eager to grasp its opportunity and grow with the growth of others.

But, as John Wesley said—and equally true was it of his mother, Susannah—"Best of all is, God is with us." Everyone of us may not only envy, but seek after and obtain her devout nature, and implicit confidence in God.

Through all her teachings ran the Christ-like spirit, and from the first opening of the infant mind, until the bird was old enough to fly away from the home nest, the influence of her Bible talks and deep spirituality was felt upon the growing mind.

We may all, however humble our home, or narrow our surroundings, have Christ in the home, and bring up the children "in the fear of the Lord." A little boy lay dying—the friends and physicians had done all in their power to save his life, but it was in vain. Love could not keep him, and the fond mother bent over him in speechless agony.

Suddenly the dear child gazed around him, placed one little hand in his mother's, and stretching the other one out as if clasping another.
his lips moved, and he uttered these words: "One hand is mama's, and one hand is Jesus."

Let our little ones feel the clasp of these hands from their earliest years, and then as we send them forth to school or business, to homes in strange cities, the many temptations crowding around them will have no avail, for they are safely, strongly guarded, one hand in mother's, the other holding on to Christ.

"God keep us mothers all to live aright,
And let our homes all truth and love
unfurl,
Feeling that life no loftier aims can hurl
Than lending little children to the light."

Gammon Theological Seminary, Atlanta, Ga.

Our Symposium.

Praying hands can only build for God. They are God's mighty ones on earth, his master-builders.
They may be destitute of all else, but with the wrestlings and pre-vailings of a simple hearted faith they are mighty, the mightiest for God. Church leaders may be gifted in all else, but without this greatest of gifts they are as Samson shorn of his locks, or as the temple without the divine presence, or the divine glory, and on whose altars the heavenly flame has died.—
Nashville Christian Advocate.

Religion will still be in its eternal youth when the Bible has filled its mighty office, and passed away from that heaven where there is no temple. Religion is not a knowledge of certain things; it is a state of the heart in which all knowledge should be received and used. How can any good teacher help but teach religion? It is co-extensive with the universe. It is not mere ecclesiastical or academical tenets; it is not any part of life it is only the whole science and art of life animated and inspired by a universally pervasive and perfect philosophy, the very alphabet of all correct teaching, an alphabet whose Alpha and Omega are unselfishness.—Geo. W. Cable.

"Recorder Townsend in his emancipation speech at Alexandria, Va., said:

"Whenever a colored girl spits in the face of a white man who insults her, she raises, elevates, dignifies, glorifies Negro women (great applause), and there ought to be more spitting in the face than what there is."

Our opinion is that if the colored girl will be more circumspect in her conduct and more select in her society, she will very seldom be reduced to the necessity of spitting in any one's face. But she must expect insult and has no right to resent it, if her street manners are those of a harlot and her associates white men's concubines. The white man is somewhat excusable for concluding "that birds of a feather flock together."

The reason for many of these insults is colored society draws no lines between that of clean and unclean.—The Appeal.

Since christianity appeared, how many systems of religion have sprung up, reached their maturity, and passed away! But christianity is growing still; its roots are deeper, its branches stretch over more territory and are clad in richer foliage to day than ever.—
The Churchman.

A FORTUNE

Inherited by few, is pure blood, free from hereditary taint. Catarrh, consumption, rheumatism, Scrofula, and many other maladies born in the blood, can be effectually eradicated only by the use of powerful alteratives. The standard specific for this purpose—the one best known and approved—is Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the compound, concentrated extract of Honduras sarsaparilla, and other powerful altera-tives.

"I consider that I have been SAVED

several hundred dollars' expense, by using Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and would strongly urge all who are troubled with lameness or rheumatic pains to give it a trial. I am sure it will do them permanent good, as it has done me."—Mrs. Joseph Wood, West Plattsburgh, N. Y.

Dr. J. W. Shields, of Smithville, Tenn., says: "I regard Ayer's Sarsaparilla as the best blood medicine on earth, and know of many wonderful cures effected by its use."

"For many years I was laid up with Scrofula, no treatment being of any benefit. At length I was recommended to give Ayer's Sarsaparilla a trial. I did so, and was completely cured."—E. Caffall,
P. M., Losce, Utah.

By Taking

about a dozen bottles, was restored to perfect health—weighing 220 pounds—and am now a believer in the merits of Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—James Patsy, Mine Boss, Breckenridge Coal Co. (Limited), Victoria, Ky.

"My niece, Sarah A. Losce, was for years afflicted with scrofulous humor in the blood.
About 18 months ago she began to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and after taking three bottles was completely cured."—E. Caffall, P. M., Losce, Utah.

Science.

What is Life?

A Question which Scientists have Failed to Solve.

A mysterious potency, which we call life, stole in upon the earth in the primeval silences, and has lingered on a e after age as changeless and inscrutable as its Creator. Life is always associated with a particular form of matter called protoplasm, and has been transmitted from one being to another, high or low, in an unbroken series since it first appeared. But, so far as we know, it has always resided, as it does to-day, in little masses of protoplasm called cells.

In the higher forms of animals large numbers of co-ordinated cell communities are grouped together to form an individual capable of varied and complex powers, while in the lowest plants a single cell which but feebly suggests the wonderful capacities of higher types.

We know that protoplasm is an albuminoid substance, and that it looks very much alike in cells which may develop into one of the higher animals, or in those which remain in the lowly elementary condition which probably belonged to the earliest types upon the earth. Hence the indefiniteness of our attempts to characterize and explain its varied forms. This protoplasm has more than once been found at the storm centre of controversial vortices, because just here the material and the immaterial seem to meet.

A gentleman just returned from a scientific seance is said to have remarked that, so far as he could make it out, protoplasm appeared to be some new kind of arrow-root, a belief in which did not necessarily imply incredulity as to the inspiration of the Scriptures.

We analyze it, and find what elemental substances combine to give it form, we watch the things it does under the inspiration of the life forces, and these varied observations we get together and write down and call it a discourse upon life, or biology. But when in the last chapter we try to make plain to ourselves or to others what it is, after all, which makes this particular form of matter called protoplasm alone fitted for the residence of the life powers, when we try to picture the nature and origin of the inspiring agencies, we find that, like Omar, we "have heard great argument about it and about, but overmore Came out by the same door wherein I went."

But while baffled in this supreme quest, it has come to pass in these latter years that pathways entered upon in pursuit of the mystery of life have led many explorers by different and devious ways into a new invisible world of living things, at once so vast and so minute, so useful and so deadly, that the dawn of a new era in the science of life seems just at hand.—From "Glimpses of the Bacteria," by T. Mitchell Prudden, M. D., in Harper's Magazine for April.

The New Orleans Picayune is one of the newest and most reliable papers published. Its Editorials are judicious and timely; it gives all the news without fear or favor; its Associated Press and Special Southern Telegrams cover all important Foreign and Domestic News; its Commercial and Market Reports are complete and are accepted standards; its Letters from New York and Paris, and the Special Contributions of Pearl Rivers, Catherine Cole, Mellic Moore Davis, Jennie June, Marie Points and others are unfailing sources of interest and information and are of a high order of literary merit. The Picayune is printed in clear, new type, of size efficient to be read without straining the eye.

To keep abreast of the times and know all worth knowing that a newspaper should tell, send Three Dollars for three months' subscription to the Daily Picayune, or subscribe for its splendid Weekly Edition at One Dollar a year. The Weekly is sixteen pages, and is turned every Thursday morning to reach all subscribers before Sunday.

An Unprecedented Offer!

We have made arrangements with the Chicago Manufacturing Company to supply one of their first-class Singer machines for only $14 cash. We will order a machine like the cut here shown, and send the SOUTHWESTERN a full year besides! It is a handsome oil-polished walnut, of latest design, Gothic cover, with beautiful panels, four drawers and a swing drawer, nickel-plated, and warranted five years.

Each Machine is furnished with the following equipment: One Foot Hemmer, One Oil Can with Oil, One Gauge, and Screw, One Extra Check Spring, One Package of Needles, Five Bobbins, One Tuckor, One Foot Ruffler, One Set of Plate Hemmers, four different widths up to seven-eighths of an inch, One Binder and One Thread Cutter. The Improved Tension and Thread Liberator is used on this Machine. The manufacturers offer to refund the money if purchaser is not fully satisfied with the machine.

We receive many letters inquiring about the sewing machine premium, and how to obtain it. In order that all may understand the matter, we state in addition to the announcement, that remittances should be made to Hunt & Eaton, 139 Poydras street, either by check, money order, or by express, naming the nearest or most convenient freight depot to which it is to be sent. Then we order the factory in Chicago to ship the machine. The company ships it; and receives from the railroad a bill of lading which, with the warranty, is sent to us, and which we send to the subscriber. This bill of lading is good and sufficient evidence that the machine has been forwarded, and holds the railroad company responsible for its safe delivery at the station named as its destination, and in due time, save unavoidable delays. In case of its loss the railroad which caused its loss is responsible, under the laws of the land. If not arriving in due time, show the bill of lading to the station agent and he will look it up. Don't give up the bill of lading, but it may be shown to the railroad agent. All orders are sent the same day as received, and the bill of lading is sent to the subscriber the same day we get it. We started this scheme with a view to helping our patrons, and shall carefully and faithfully carry out our part of the agreement in every case.

Pictures of our Bishops.

Many of our readers would gladly possess the pictures of our bishops if they only knew where to get them. In order to accommodate them, we have arranged to supply them with a beautiful cabinet group photograph of all our bishops, for the small sum of 25 cents. Ten per cent of the proceeds will be devoted to the cause of missions. Send at once accompanying every order with the cash. Address: HUNT & EATON, 139 Poydras street, New Orleans.

"The Methodist Steward." Rev. J. J. Billingsley, Editor. Endorsed by prominent officials of the Methodist Churches, North and South. All stewards should have it. It will pay any pastor to circulate it among his people. Price, 75 cents.

DONALD KENNEDY

Of Roxbury, Mass., says

My Medical Discovery seldom takes hold of two people alike! Why? Because no two people have the same weak spot. Beginning at the stomach it goes searching through the body for any hidden humor. Nine times out of ten, inward humor makes the weak spot. Perhaps its only a little sediment left on a nerve or in a gland; the Medical Discovery slides it right along, and you find quick happiness from the first bottle. Perhaps its a big sediment or open sore, well settled somewhere, ready to fight. The Medical Discovery begins the fight, and you think it pretty hard, but soon you thank me for making something that has reached your weak spot. Price $1.50. Sold by every Druggist in the United States and Canada.

BAD COMPLEXIONS, WITH PIMPLES, blotchy, itchy skin, red, rough hands, with chapped, painful finger ends and shapeless nails, and simple Baby Humors prevented and cured by "Cuticura Soap." A marvelous beautifier of world-wide celebrity. It is simply incomparable as a Skin Purifying Soap, unequalled for the Toilet and without a rival for the Nursery. Absolutely pure, delicately medicated, exquisitely perfumed, "Cuticura Soap" produces the whitest, clearest skin and softest hands, and prevents inflammation and clogging of the pores, the cause of pimples, blackheads and most complexional disfigurements. While it admits of no comparison with the best of other skin soaps, and rivals in delicacy the most noted and expensive of toilet and nursery soaps. Sold greater than the combined sales of all other skin soaps. Sold throughout the world. Price, 25c.

Send for "How to Cure Skin and Blood Diseases." Address: Fetter Drug and Chemical Corporation, Proprietors, Boston, Mass.

Aching sides and back, weak kidneys, and rheumatism relieved in one minute by the celebrated "Cuticura Anti-Pain Plaster." 25c.

GOLDEN TEXT.

Man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart. (1 Sam. 16. 7.)

LESSON HYMN, C. M.

Am I a soldier of the cross,
A follower of the Lamb,
And shall I fear to own his cause,
Or blush to speak his name?

Are there no foes for me to face?
Must I not stem the flood?
Is this vile world a friend to grace,
To help me on to God?

Sure I must fight, if I would reign;
Increase my courage, Lord;
I'll bear the toil, endure the pain,
Supported by thy word.

Time—B. C. 884.

Place—Samaria, the capital of Israel.
Ruler—Jehu, the tenth king of Israel.

Connecting Linke—Jehoram, the king who was besieged in the city of Samaria, was afterward wounded while fighting against Hazael, the King of Syria. He went back to be healed of his wounds in Jezreel. Elisha sent a prophet to Jehu, one of Jehoram's generals, to anoint him King of Israel. Jehu immediately started a revolution, rode to Jezreel, killed Jehoram, and established himself on the throne. He then gathered the people together as told in this lesson.

QUESTIONS FOR HOME STUDY

1. What Jehu did, v. 18-28.
2. What did Jehu say to the people about serving Baal?
3. Whom did he summon, and for what reason?
4. What was his real purpose?
5. What proclamation did he order?
6. What worshippers came together?
7. In what place were they gathered?
8. What order was given about clothing?
9. What warning did Jehu give in the house of Baal?
10. How many guards were stationed without?
11. What was said to these guards?
12. What was done with the worshippers of Baal?
13. What became of the images of Baal?
14. To what use was the house of Baal put?
15. What then did Jehu do?
16. 2. What Jehu failed to do, v. 29-31.
17. Whose evil example did Jehu follow?

TEACHINGS OF THE LESSON.

Where in this lesson are we taught:

1. That we ought to obey God's commands?
2. That God rewards obedience?
3. That true obedience requires us to avoid wrong-doing?

HOME WORK FOR YOUNG BE- REANS.

Find who had taught King Ahab to worship the false god Baal.
Find who built the house of Baal.
Find who made the golden calves that Jeroboam worshipped.

THE LESSON CATECHISM.

[For the entire school.]

1. What idol did Jehu falsely promise to worship? Baal.
2. Whom did he gather together into one temple from all parts of the nation? The worshippers of Baal.
3. What did he do with them? Slew them all.
4. What did he do with the images of Baal and his temple? Destroyed them.
5. Wherein did he do right in the sight of the Lord? In destroying false gods.
6. Wherein did he do wrong? In not worshipping God with all his heart.

Doctrinal suggestion—Religion of the heart.

THE CHURCH CATECHISM.

39. How did he become man? Christ, though God, took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of man, having a human body and soul.
40. What example does Christ's life afford us? An example of perfect goodness and holiness.
41. What did Christ suffer for us? "He humbled himself and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross." (Phil. 2. 8)

A Hard Corner.
The age of 30 is a hard corner for a woman to turn, and 35 is still harder. She feels that she is fast leaving her youth behind her. But there is no reason why a woman should be faded and pass at 35, or even at 45. The chief cause of the early fading of American women is found in the fact that many of them suffer from some form of female weakness or disease which robs the face of its bloom, draws dark circles about the eyes, brings early wrinkles and sallowness, and stamps the face and figure with signs of ill-health. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will cure all these troubles, will bring back the lost bloom, and remove the pains and ailments which make women grow old before their time. Guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case, or price ($1.00) refunded.

THE BLOOD AND TONING
UP THE SYSTEM.

Dr. KING'S ROYAL GERMETUER

Does this more pleasantly, more safely and more anurely than any other remedy known to medical science.

THESE FIVE THINGS

In which it differs from ordinary medicines, account largely for its wondrous popularity:

1. It does not taste like medicine. It is as pleasant as lemonade, and sweetened makes a most refreshing drink. Persons who object to all other medicines, take this with real pleasure because it is good.
2. It never nauseates. The most delicate stomach finds in this a perfect remedy without a single objection.
3. It never sweeps out one disease for another. It does not set up one form of disease in order to relieve another, as is the case with so many deadly drugs.
4. It does not patch simply. It cures. It reaches, as nothing else does, to the hidden sources of disease in the blood, and removes the cause. It does this with an ease and power that has never been equalled.
5. It is harmless, and may be safely given to a baby one day old. It is free from Alcohol and Opium.

All persons living in malarial districts should keep this great family remedy on hand. It will break any fever in less time than quinine and anti-ptyne, and leave none of their unpleasant and burial effects.

For Malaria, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Debility, Kidney Trouble, and for Blood and Skin Diseases, there is nothing to be compared with it.
For Ladies and Children it is far the best.

Editorial Notes.

Come, ye disconsolate, where'er ye languish;
Come to the mercy seat, fervently kneel;
Here bring your wounded hearts, here tell your anguish;
Earth has no sorrow that Heaven cannot heal.

—THOS. MOORE.

Why can't we have a few more night schools for the benefit of the young people who have been forced out of school by adverse circumstances, and for the older people who have never had school advantages? Education is power.

The French and Italian Protestant papers, such as L'Evangeliste, L'Italia Evangelica, and our own Evangelista, have been full of the John Wesley commemoration. They produce elaborate wood cuts, and speak of him as one of the greatest benefactors and apostles of the race.

A CORRESPONDENT to the Christian Recorder, calls the Rev. Dr. A. M. Green the "Sleeping Giant of the Southwest." Why call the Doctor the "Sleeping Giant," when he is one of the most wide-awake and "go-ahead" giants of any church in all this region?

THE plea for the education of the children of the non-slaveholding whites of the South, by the Methodist Episcopal Church and the national government, by Rev. James Mitchell, D.D., of Atlanta, Ga., read before the last session of the Georgia Conference, was a masterly effort. It will bring conviction wherever read, and will no doubt be productive of much good. We thank the Doctor for a copy.

THE state of Europe can only be described as an armed truce. The relations of France and Germany are exceedingly strained. Russia is, as always, mysterious. It is the unexpected that always happens, and startling events are liable any day to occur. One thing only we are certain of—"His kingdom is coming." Thrones and dynasties are still to topple, but the coronation of him who is the only "King of kings and Lord of lords," draws ever nearer.

NOTWITHSTANDING the notification to our readers that we could not afford the room to publish where their correspondents may write them, we continue to get such requests. Please don't send them, and thereby save your stamp and us the trouble of going over the matter. We publish the appointment of every pastor in our territory, and that is sufficient, except in the cases of Presiding Elders and pastors whose appointments are not named as postoffices. In such, and only in such cases, will we publish such requests.

Easter Gleanings.

M. F. Park, Edwards, Miss.
We had a grand time on Easter Sunday. Missionary collection, $5. The church was beautifully decorated. The following took active part in the exercises: Messrs. E. H. White, A. Christian, R. Nickles, and Misses Mary Leonard, Mattie Stovel, Ophelia Parks and Minnie Moore. Our beloved pastor, Rev. L. J. S. Bell, preached the Resurrection sermon to a large congregation. At 3 o'clock, Rev. S. Jossel, pastor of Clinton, Miss., preached a grand sermon. On the first Sunday in April, Silver Dollar Day, we raised $34.10 for our pastor. Rev. H. R. S. Erby, of Jackson, preached a good sermon, and at night Rev. J. F. Nicholson, of the M. E. Church South, preached a grand sermon. Presiding Elder J. Campbell is much beloved.

P. H. Hill, Rosemeath, Miss.
The young people had a nice time. Collection, $7.60 for missions.

W. S. Thompson, Piedmont, S. C.
Easter missionary service was held by a union of the Sunday schools of the Williamston circuit. The service was good and interesting. Missionary collection, $19.75. Rev. S. A. King, our beloved pastor, preached an edifying sermon, in the afternoon, on the Resurrection of Christ.

Geo. W. Branner, Tazewell, Tenn.
We had interesting services, notwithstanding the inclement weather, and collected $1 for missions.

E. Holiday, Spring, Tenn.
We had a good time. Collection, $2.15.

L. J. Hogan, Dodge, Tex.
The services were successful and the church was beautifully decorated. The services were conducted by the superintendent, Miss M. O. Mann, and Mr. Ohas. Minter. At 3 p. m. Rev. F. Park, our worthy Presiding Elder, preached a soul-reviving sermon. Collection for missions, $19.50.

D. Frierson, Free Hope circuit, Tex.
It was grand. Raised for missions, $7.35.

Peter Swearingen, Gainesville, Fla.
The exercises were highly interesting. The children's program was carried out under the direction of our Sunday school superintendent, L. E. Chestnut. The day's collection was $94.46.

Luciell J. Shallowhorne, St. James Church, Shreveport, La.
The Resurrection sermon was preached at 5 a. m. to a crowded house. The Easter missionary program was nicely carried out by the Sunday school. Under the direction of superintendent D. W. Boatner. The church was beautifully decorated. Collection for missions, $11.

S. M. Bolden, Jefferson, Tex.
The services were well attended all day. The church was beautifully decorated. The children acted their parts well.

R. S. T. White, Kendleton, Texas.
We had a grand time. There were several addresses made and many Bible verses recited. Collection, $4.70.

John Qualls, Pine Bluff, Ark.
Our Easter services were grand. We had a beautiful day and a tastefully decorated church, crowded with worshippers.

M. H. Robinson, Boynton, East Dallas, Houston.
Our membership is very small, but our Sunday school did well in our Easter services, conducted by our superintendent, Sister Martina Burke. Collection, $2.75; subscription, $7.

"An Open Appeal To My Brethren."

BY J. W. HAMILTON.

To the members of the Annual Conferences of the M. E. Church:
Dear Fathers and Brethren:—Is it no longer possible for the Methodist preacher who thinks soberly, according as God hath dealt, to every man the measure of faith, but who may differ from certain of his brethren, to speak his thoughts, without incurring railing accusations? By what revelation and mastery do these certain of his brethren, assume to say "The Lord rebuke thee."

The Apostle who is presumed to be plaintiff, shall frame much of my answer: Hear ye my defense which I make now unto you. I am verily a man which am a Methodist, born in Weston, a town in Virginia, yet brought up in the Pittsburgh Conference, at the feet of a long time member of that honored body, and taught according to the perfect manner of the law of the fathers and was zealous toward God, as ye all are this day.

My brother, the Rev. Milton S. Terry, D.D., professor in Garrett Biblical Institute, has written "An Open Appeal" in which he makes attempt to judge me after the law, and command me to be smitten contrary to the law. I wist not, brethren, that he was the high priest. But if it be so, so be it. He has not found me in the temple disputing with any man; neither raising up the people; neither can he prove the things whereof he now accuses me. But this I confess that after the way which he calls heresy, so worship I the God of my fathers, believing all things which are written in the law and in the prophets and have hope towards God which he himself must also allow.

Neither against the law of the Methodists, neither against the order and sanctity of the Christian, nor yet against the state have I offended anything at all. Of the work of woman in the church of God, I am called in question. And now I stand and am judged for the hope of the promise made of God unto our fathers unto which promise our General Conferences, composed of holy men, instantly serving God day and night hope to come. Why should it be thought a thing incredible with you, that God should raise up holy women to serve him anywhere in the Christian church?

Now that I have my accuser face to face and have license to answer for myself, I find that he has brought none accusations of such things as I supposed; but has certain questions against the Christian women of his own superstition. Having therefore obtained help of God, I continue unto this day, witnessing to both small and great, saying none other things than those which the prophets and Moses did say should come.

Men and brethren, are we not all followers of John Wesley, Richard Watson and Adam Clarke? Do we not also honor as scholar and teacher D. D. Whedon, and are we not readers of his commentaries? How readeth the law and what say these interpreters of the law? To the testimony. But first let us hear again the accusations. Mine accuser has stood up like other accusers of their brethren to bring the shadow ten degrees backward, by which it had gone down in the dial of the M. E. Church. He would not only forbid all Christian women to have authority in the higher and more general government of the church, but he would revoke the authority of all women who now share in the local government and thereby refuse in the very nature of the revocation, even to allow them the equitable and indisputable right to vote, which is conceded in so many churches, and has been granted in his own church. He would destroy the understanding and deny the great scholarship of the Methodist fathers. Like the Athenians, and the strangers at Athens who spent their time to tell or to hear some new thing, this novel interpreter of doctrine would have us believe that arbitrary power, like an estate, had been established and settled by a sort of imperious and perpetual legalism on the man of the race, and the woman must regard conformity to such law as a ground of salvation. Ye men of Athens, I perceive that in all things ye are too superstitious.

My brother, the Rev. Dr. Terry, solemnly declares, "Better far to revolve such a question fifty years than to rush it through amid the excitement of a heated controversy." But who, pray, is heating this controversy? Whose ink is vehement, steaming, hissing, lirid as it settles over such passionate language as this? "Sophistry of superficial thinkers", "sneers of the scorner", "coarse gibes of the infidel", "exploded fables of a mythic age", etc., etc. Who is it that talks of "a mandamus", "injunctions", "courts"? Who is threatening, if this question be carried, to resign all official position in the Church? Who avers he is going off to the Presbyterians, and that he knows some of the most intelligent Methodists who will go with him? Who sees the horizon black with hordes of the M. E. Church South, coming North like the plague of the locusts? Who prophesies scandals among the members of the General Conference if the Christian women go there? After the tribulation of those days, shall the sun be darkened? Shall the moon not give her light? Shall the stars fall from heaven and the powers of heaven be shaken?

My brother, the Rev. Dr. Terry, plaintively affirms: "To me it is a matter of humiliation and alarm that such a question is submitted to a vote." Does my brother recall that the very first motion made in the General Conference to submit the question to the vote of the laity, was offered by a brother who voted against the admission of the women? Does my brother recall that the very first motion made in the General Conference to submit the question to the vote of the laity, was offered by a brother who voted against the admission? Does my brother recall that the chair-man of the committee who reported the plan submitting the question to the vote of both the laity and the members of the conferences, did not vote in favor of the admission? Does my brother recall that all the motions made relative to the plan for the submission of the question after it was reported, were made by brethren who voted against the admission? Does my brother recall that it was the General Conference which refused to admit the women that submitted this question? Does he now not know that it is the party which is defeated thus far that is not satisfied simply with its own doings, and is crying out that the Church is making void the law of God?

My brother, the Rev. Dr. Terry, complacently observes: "When a proposed measure is obviously 'repugnant' to the word of God, no plea of possible or probable advantage should be allowed the slightest weight in the argument." He then proceeds by "three immutable facts" to make known his "obviously repugnant" as follows: "The first is the original law of creation, which constituted mankind male and female, assigning headship to the man." Would my brother claim that the original headship in the family gave similar headship to every man over every woman, every where, family or no family? Or to all men over all women, in the market place, in society, in Church, in State? Has the one woman—have all women—no voice in the headship, not even that of consent? Such a teacher speaks as never man spoke. He teaches as one having no authority. What was that original headship but headship in marriage? John Wesley, in speaking of woman before her fall, says she was "a she man, differing from man in sex only, not in nature." "The original law," says Richard Watson, "had an admirable adaptation and tends more than any other to make them one soul, as well as one flesh." Adam Clarke says, "At their creation both were formed with equal rights, and the woman had as much right to rule as the man."

My brother the Rev. Dr. Terry, offers the following eccentric account of the punishment incurred by the women for her original sinning: "The woman was to be a helpmate for man, and after the transgression, in which she was the first to fall, it was ordained that her relation to man should be that of subjection, not of rule." "Would my brother claim that the woman's sin, subjected her to more than one man? Would my brother claim that the one woman's sin subjected every other woman to every other man irrespectively, or all women to all men irrespectively? How readest thou? 'Unto the woman he said * * * and thy desire shall be to thy husband and he shall rule over thee.' Genesis iii, 16. Adam Clark says 'subjection to the will of her husband is one part of her curse.' John Wesley says, in speaking of woman after her fall, 'she is here put into a state of subjection: the whole sex which by creation was equal with man, is for sin made inferior.' It is amazing to see with what gleeful delight, good men take advantage of the woman's punishment for sin and insist that such sin must be perpetuated even in the Christian church. The claim is that man by reason of the order of creation must govern women and not one woman in marriage only, but the whole world of women, and the women must simply endure, because she was the first to fall; it was ordained that her relation to man should be that of subjection." What then, shall we sin, because we are not under the law but under grace? God forbid. We should serve in newness of spirit and not in the oldness of the letter. Has the Gospel done nothing for woman?

My brother, the Rev. Dr. Terry assumes to an answer. He has a "second immutable fact" which "is the word and example of Christ, who affirmed the enduring validity of the ancient law, (Matthew 19, 5) and in founding his church did not appoint a woman as an apostle, nor commission her as a public teacher of mankind." But what ancient law did Christ affirm? The subjection of women? Sin brought that law. The ancient law to which Jesus in this quotation from Matthew refers was simply the law of the first marriage, "In the morning of the world when earth was nigher heaven than now."

Jesus affirmed, Mr. Watson says, "The spirit and influence of his own religion in bringing in again the original law of marriage in all its force." And this implies as Dr. Clarke says, "that the woman was to be perfect resemblance of the man possessing neither inferiority nor superiority, but being in all things like and equal to himself." "The true idea of the family" according to Dr. Whedon "is a unity of love in which the command is the expression of the common happiness, and obedience is a loving concurrence of wills."

As to the other half of that "second immutable fact," that Jesus did not select a woman to be an apostle how much force has it? It is simply petito principii, begging the question. The argument simply stated would be: What He did not do, He would not do; therefore the church ought not to do. Then the church will have to stop the nineteenth of what it is doing. Jesus did not select Saul of Tarsus or Paul, to be one of the twelve apostles. He "did found a church"—Yes, but he gave it no particular form of government. From the Greeks and Romans comes much of what we have. When a scholar like Edwin Hatch declares "the study of primitive Christianity is only in its infancy" and has been laying about him so dexterously the idols which our old time brethren are hugging still so tenaciously to their hearts one is looking for Methodist scholars who, at least can tell the date of this year of our Lord. When Harnack is through with what Hatch has so well begun, there are a number of Methodist writers, who will pose for scholarship more cautiously, and will write and speak less dippantly.

By what sort of reasoning does my brother hope to exclude women from the General Conference when he quotes Eph. v, 23, 24? Paul does not say, "The husband is the head of the wife as man is the head of the Church," etc. His general topic is not the church at all, but the family; the duty of husbands to wives and wives to husbands, and he says "The husband is the head of the wife as Christ is the head of the Church."

Finally, my brother, the Rev. Dr. Terry, has a "third fact," which "is the apostolic prohibition." He says, "Not only does Paul repeatedly affirm the primordial law of the wife's subordination to the husband, but on the particular subject of woman's bearing rule in the Church, it is difficult to see how he could have been more direct and positive." I have already shown how utterly confused my brother seems to be in his not clear conception of the distinction between the relation of the wife to the "divinely ordained headship" of Adam in the family before the fall, and the relation of the wife to her husband, under punishment for original sinning. He assumes now correctly to punctuate and literally to translate the prohibition in 1 Cor. 14, 33, 34. This I must presume he assumes to do without looking up his Greek. He will find that both Westcott and Hort, and Tischendorf, in the margin, tell him to supply among the churches. And if he will turn to the new translation from the Greek Text of Tregelles, critically emphasized by Joseph B. Rotherham, he will find himself corrected and more literally translated as follows: AS FOR THE WIVES, in the assemblies let them keep silence, for it is not permitted them to be speaking, but let them be in submission, according as even the law says." The literal rendering of the context also shows how manifestly correct is this translation and how appropriate were the instructions to the women of the Corinthian Church.

But I know how difficult it is to rid one's self of opinions which are inherited; I have much charity for brethren who will turn and read their own legislation when it has brought them defeat. And I presume we must expect them to discard Wesley, and Watson, and Clarke, and Whedon, when they would wrest the Scriptures to the destruction of Methodist doctrine and usage. Forget not, however, that we be brethren, and some of us are Methodists.

Letters from the Districts.

Alexandria District, Louisiana Conference.

My Dear Brethren:—God is with us; let us launch out into the deep and cast in our nets for a sweeping revival, both spiritual and financial in all our charges this year. Let us fill up our list of probationers with many new converts and our treasury with larger collections. I wish you to also bear in mind that the quarter centennial jubilee day of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society is set for the 10th of May.

We are expected to raise our apportionment in full by that time and have every dollar in hand. Send to Dr. J. C. Hartzell, Cincinnati, Ohio, for programs; they are beautifully arranged for both Sunday school and church services. He will forward you as many as you will need free of charge. Begin work at once. One notice of the amount you are to raise will be sent to you.

My brethren, please use all your powers of body and mind to the end that our district will press forward to the very front of the Lord's work on all sides. Let us keep in mind Gideon's triumph over numbers and Paul's success amid opposition and persecution, and that God helps those that help themselves.

Letters from the Pastors.

SPECIAL TO CORRESPONDENTS.—Please take notice, 1st. That all anonymous letters go directly to our waste basket; 2d. Letters must be written on only one side of the paper; 3d. No frivolous questions will be noticed; 4th. Abbreviations should not be used; 5th. Notes and items must be condensed so as to insure brevity; 6th. We return no manuscript.

W. W. Pope, Asheville, N. C., reports twenty-five conversions.

H. Evans, Statesville, N. C., six conversions and two accessions during the past quarter.

W. H. Hairston, Maxton, N. C., has had thirty-eight accessions to his church. He is abundant in his praise of Presiding Elder E. Collett, who is such a faithful friend especially to the young men on his district.

W. H. Mius, Pelahatchie, Miss., is delighted with the warm reception tendered him by his people on his return for the second year. The good is good, but he is working to make it better.

DeWitt Frierson, Free Hope circuit, Tex., reports the recent quarterly meeting held there by Presiding Elder P. Morgan as a season of great blessing. The church and Sunday school are spiritually alive. Paid Elder $10, pastor $24.80. There has been considerable sickness among this people. Sister Reaves, district secretary of the Woman's Home Missionary Society, was present and did much good.

A. C. Culbreath, Columbia, Tex.

Our three weeks' revival resulted in forty conversions and forty-six accessions. Baptized twenty adults and five children. The meetings continue with an average of from one to three converts every night. Glory to God in the highest.

M. J. Dyer, Jeanerette, La., informs us that Rev. Vincent of St. Peter had a grand rally the fourth Sunday in March and raised $94.80 and he is loved by all his people.

W. J. Cunningham, Conway, Ark.

Our first quarterly conference convened at Green Valley March 28. Rev. W. H. Morris held a very satisfactory conference. The Elder preached two soul-felling sermons. Paid Presiding Elder $3.35, pastor $9.90. The SOUTHWESTERN was not forgotten. The Presiding Elder spoke highly of it. I will do all I can for it, as I have ever done. I am striving to raise all of my assessments.

F. H. Bunton, Aberdeen, Miss.

We are arranging to repaint and reset our church, also to purchase a new bell. Our collection for all purposes on Easter amounted to $90. Aberdeen is second to no charge in the state, and we feel safe in saying that we have the best Sunday school in the state.

C. E. Goings, Monroe, La.

St. James M. E. Church's rally day is the fourth Sunday in May. Each tribe is to raise $10 on debts of church lot. Revs. C. W. Cershaw, M. H. Hunter, M. S. Goings, F. M. Lashington, H. H. Phillip, J. W. Lewis and others are expected to assist in the exercises. All are invited.

Reuben Turner, New Roads, La.

Our first quarterly conference was held by our Presiding Elder and he preached a splendid sermon. Paid Elder $8, pastor $22.50; accessions 3, baptized one.

J. M. Lampkin, Hopewell, Miss.

My first quarterly conference met at Hopewell, March 28, 29. Rev. R. Sewell was on time and gave a grand talk to the conference, and preached two able sermons. Collection, $8.65.

Emerson Hutchinson, Mansfield, La.

Last Sunday, March 29, we had a combination of celebrations. Mrs. M. J. Wilson read an essay on the life and work of John Wesley, which was creditable to her and Methodism, as did also Messrs. W. A. Colman, David Mayo, James McCoy, Alexander B. Johnson, W. C. Sharp, Howell Washington and Mrs. Cynthia Colman.

G. W. Marsh, Cumberland Furnace, Tenn.

Our revival resulted in 18 conversions and 16 accessions. Bro. Jessie Stanfield was with me and preached some good sermons.

S. L. Edwards, Brownsville, Tenn.

My work is moving on nicely. Our church had blown down and the members were scattered and discouraged, but by the help of God we have bought a lot at a cost of $160, paid $104, and have half of the remainder in the treasury. My meeting resulted in one accession. We hope to build our new church soon.

D. B. Hanston, Bunkie, Ark.

My first quarterly conference was held March 21, 22, by Rev. W. R. R. Duncan, Presiding Elder. The reports showed a great degree of progress. All of the brethren had their reports. Elder Duncan is doing a good work. Collection during the quarter, $17. The SOUTHWESTERN is being looked after, and we will soon be able to send a good many names with the cash.

J. Jones, Anderson, Texas.

This is my second year on this circuit. The dear friends of Anderson gave me a pound party at the parsonage Feb. 13. We have completed our new church at Yarrowburgh. We dedicated it Feb. 15. The Presiding Elder was with us Feb. 8, and held his quarterly conference. He preached two edifying sermons and administered the Lord's Supper. Collection, $6.40. I am doing all I can for the paper. I think it is a good paper.

P. R. Woodson, Murfreesboro, Tenn.

My second quarterly conference was held March 21, 22, at Spencer Chapel, Rev. J. P. Price presiding. Revs. John H. Coppage and Wesley L. Lillard, ex-pastor, were present. Rev. J. P. Price preached a soul-stirring sermon and administered the Lord's Supper to about 40. Paid pastor, $26.70; Presiding Elder, $7.25. Raised some thing on all the benevolent causes.

A. M. Quinn, DeSoto, Miss.

Rev. J. M. Shimpert, Presiding Elder, held my first quarterly conference at St. John Church March 11. God has blessed this place with great success. We have sent in 18 subscribers to the SOUTHWESTERN.

F. D. Bowers, Houma, La.

Writes that the young sinners of Houma organized themselves into a band styled Pride of Houma Jubilee Club. M. O. Dumas, president; A. D. Dumas, vice-president; J. A. Arseneaux, treasurer; Bndd Davis, secretary; C. S. Lukerson, general manager. And gave on the evenings of Mar. 27, 28, a grand concert and exhibition for the benefit of Wesley Chapel M. E. Church, and made the sum of $51.10.

G. W. Norris, Harrisburg, Tex., is rallying his people to build a parsonage. They raised $27.10 on a recent Sunday toward that cause. He speaks in high terms of his people, who have given him two pound parties since conference. Bro. Norris says call again. We don't blame him. We wouldn't be sorry if such parties visited us once in a while.

S. H. Viel, Warrior, Ala.

My first quarterly conference was held March 21, with Rev. I. Townsend in the chair. This is a new circuit and has never been known as a place for the church until the last year. When I came to this place I found five brothers and six sisters. They had bought a lot, on which the church now stands. We have a very good Sunday school, and the people are falling in line with us, and we are moving onto perfection. We have got our church and parsonage inclosed now, so that we use them very well. Rev. I. Townsend is the right man for the Birmingham district. He preached two edifying sermons to a large crowd. Collection for Elder, $14. We give thanks to the Sunday School Union for the great help they gave us. We are doing all we can for the paper that stands so close by us, and may God bless and save the church, with the world converted to Christ.

Appeal for Help.

Dear Brethren of the Meridian District: I appeal to you all for a little aid. I have not been to my work, for I am not able to go, and my wife has been sick for three months. My doctor's bill is high, my house rent is due, and my work is very poor. Please help me. Your brother in tribulation.

J. HESLUP, Durant, Miss.

[Dear Brethren: The above statement is true. Sister Heslup is very low. We are looking for her to die.—D. GREEN, pastor of Durant, Miss.]

D. C. Cook, Christiansburg, Va.

Our second quarterly conference was held Feb. 7, by Presiding Elder G. T. Wright. We had a pleasant session. The Elder asked the following questions, which you will notice are not in our Discipline, to each member of the conference:

1. Do you hold family prayer?
2. Have you a copy of our Discipline?
3. Do you take your church papers, especially the SOUTHWESTERN?

Whenever a negative answer was given to the two last questions the Elder gave the conference the benefit of a stirring lecture on the benefit of all the officers of our church having a copy of our Discipline, and of taking their church paper. Sunday, at 11 a. m., he followed up what he said in the quarterly conference by a sermon on downright Methodism. He took particular pains to enlarge upon the subject of books and literature of our people. The result I hope will be a number of subscribers for the SOUTHWESTERN. The 22d of February was our rally day for our new church, at which time we took in $100. Our work is now begun,

F. L. Teague, Marion, Ala.

We have closed our revival with 32 conversions. Zion Chapel is spiritually alive. I was able to report last year 103 souls saved and added to the church. I am asking the Lord for not less this year.

ONE of my children had a very bad discharge from her nose. Two physicians prescribed, but without benefit. We tried Ely's Cream Balm, and much to our surprise, there was a marked improvement. We continued using the Balm and in a short time the discharge was cured.—O. A. Cary, Corning, N. Y.

and as soon as the weather opens it will be pushed to completion. Among those who subscribed and paid on our rally day are: Thos. Jones, $10; Philip Carter, $5; Francis James, $5; Bettie Clark, $3; M. L. Jones, $2; Dicy Johnson, $2; Jane Walker, $2; Andrew Cephas, $4; Jennie Mitchell, $1.50; Susan Bailey, $1.50. The following each gave a dollar, viz: A. M. Jones, Willie Cephas, James Blackson, James Gleas, George Brown, Ed. Gardner, Hubert Thomas, Sadie James, Vick Campbell, Susan Lertes, Monroe Bailey, Susan Arnoil. Others gave smaller amounts.

H. J. Wright, Donaldsonville, La.

We found $122.25 in the treasury in the hands of the trustees for the purpose of building a new church here. Rev. John Qualls, the former pastor of this church, and now of Pine Bluff, Ark., came for his family, and preached for us on Sunday. The church gave him a collection of $5. He left on Wednesday. Rev. C. D. Shallow, of St. James, Shreveport, was with us and preached on Friday night and left for home Saturday. The African M. E. Church here held their quarterly conference in the Baptist Church, Rev. T. P. Jackson, Presiding Elder. The conference was made up mostly of sinners, the Presiding Elder, pastor in charge, and two of our young men.

A. M. Mason, Oakland, Texas, was given a surprise party recently by members and friends of his church. They brought him and his family many choice gifts, for which he expresses many words of appreciation. In the party were: Bro. R. L. Smith, Rev. E. E. Cooper's family, Philip Munford, Ellis McNealey, Misses M. Chatman and Ada Jarman, Mrs. R. W. Ward, Mrs. Basha Brown, Mr. Henry Hodge, Mrs. Louis Adams, Mr. W. H. Isaac, Mrs. Fannie Ward and little Fannie Ward, Mr. Dallas Ward, Miss M. E. Isaac, Mary Munford, Lucy Chatman, Pearl Isaac, and many others.

Raphael Beaver, Dangerfield, Tex.

Our first quarterly conference convened at Liberty March 21, Rev. Wade Hamilton, the Presiding Elder, in the chair. The conference was largely attended. The Presiding Elder gave us a profitable lecture on Saturday, which opened the eyes of all the brethren by telling them things they never heard before, and made the session the happiest I have witnessed on the circuit. Collection, $8. The Elder's sermon on Sunday was grand.

F. L. Teague, Marion, Ala.

We have closed our revival with 32 conversions. Zion Chapel is spiritually alive. I was able to report last year 103 souls saved and added to the church. I am asking the Lord for not less this year.

Letters from the Laity.

W. H. Whitlock, Columbus, Miss.

Columbus Normal Institute, of Columbus, Miss., is an accomplished fact. Too much praise cannot be accorded the Rev. J. L. Wilson, the principal. It can be truly said of him, "Young man you are called because you are strong." When he took charge of our church, not quite two years ago, he saw, as it were, a little seed springing up in the form of a school, having been planted and nurtured by Miss Georgie H. Byrd, a devoted member of our church, to whom alone belongs the honor of laying the foundation of whatever the institution will amount to. Seeing that by cultivation it might grow as the mustard seed, to a very large tree, he placed his hand to the plow, regardless of remuneration, and today he has the satisfaction of seeing the results of his labor. When he took charge it was only a little primary school of about forty pupils; now it has enrolled about 300, ranging from five to thirty years, among whom are several of our preachers of the Upper Mississippi Conference. Within its walls are taught all the branches taught in our first-class graded schools. The faculty are: J. L. Wilson, principal and Professor of Mathematics and Languages; Miss M. E. Chisolm, grammar and music department; Miss G. H. Byrd, primary department; Mr. Campbell, printer. If all of our young men entering the ministry, as well as all other professions of usefulness, had the zeal of J. L. Wilson to accomplish some good for the uplifting of their people, the race problem would soon be solved; as a race we would soon be the peers of any other race in business, society, morals, industry, and in every way.

M. R. Hite, Bertie, La.

Our beloved pastor, Rev. A. Luster, on his return opened a mourners' meeting, four weeks ago, and the Lord has blessed us with 76 souls and 64 mourners yet at the bench to be prayed for. Pray for us.

M. T. Gillum, Paulding, Miss.

Since Rev. M. Cooper has been here we are holding services under our own vine and fig tree. Rev. M. Cooper has bought the land for four churches since he has been here. God bless our pastor and the Paulding work.

E. C. Collier, Starkville, Miss., says that our people at Starkville are perfectly delighted with their new pastor, Rev. P. O. Jamison, and his wife. They succeeded in raising $60 in three weeks.

C. Brown and Anna Whalen, Union Church, Miss.

The Bishop made no mistake in sending Rev. A. Reed to Union Church. Our Elder, S. A. Cowan, was with us on March 6, 7. We owe him much gratitude for the kind manner in which he conducted the conference. We have paid to Elder and pastor up to this time $35. We have given our pastor two pound meetings. We intend to take care of him.

V. M. Cole, Jr., Paris, Tex.

Rev. P. Morgan, Presiding Elder, held our first quarterly conference March 25. All of the officers were on hand with written reports. We estimated for pastor's salary, $700; and Presiding Elder, $80. The pastor made a grand report, showing $14 for benevolences; for the sick, $8; for old indebtedness, $36. Nine have united with the church; 1 conversion. Class meetings are better attended now than ever. Rev. W. H. Jackson is a good manager; under his plans there will be more money raised, more debts paid off this year than ever. Paid pastor, $58.55; Presiding Elder, $20; poor, $3.50. The new fence around the church and parsonage looks handsome. The Presiding Elder was well pleased with the work. We are carrying the largest congregation in this city. We are soon to give a tea entertainment which will make the SOUTHWESTERN a present of two cash subscribers. We love the SOUTHWESTERN and will show our love by sending some money soon.

James Madison, Rockdale, Tex., feels keenly the adoption of the separate car law in that State, and pledges to contribute himself, and get everybody he can influence to contribute something to assist the American Citizen's Equal Rights Association of Louisiana, in its purpose to test those laws before the national courts of the country.

Last Letter From Bishop Taylor.

I left Monrovia on Tuesday, Feb. 3. Fifty-five miles to Grand Bassa, thence ninety miles here to Sinoe, arriving on Wednesday, the day before yesterday. I preached Wednesday night, and ordained one Deacon and one Elder. Yesterday morning I went with Z. Roberts, in his boat, eighteen miles up Sinoe river to his station, Ebenezer. He has many acres of breadstuffs and sugar cane, and eighteen hundred coffee scions set out. He has baptized twenty-two converted children, many of whom can recite, from memory, selections from the Scripture, including the Ten Commandments; and the Apostles Creed, etc., and can sing. That mission, though he had to buy the land, and built an iron house for worship and school, and a story and a half frame dwelling, has cost us less than $500, and is moving on for absolute self support. On our return trip, five miles down the Sinoe river we visited Jackson mission—J. W. Bonner, preacher in charge; and Bro. Gatlin, school teacher. We have there only a native house, costing about $20, but Bro. Bonner has most of the lumber on the ground for the erection of a story and a half frame mission house. He has a large quantity of bread stuff growing, and a few hundred coffee scions—mission not yet one year old, about twenty little boys and girls there, nearly all naked, repeated from memory the Ten Commandments, Apostles Creed, etc., and sang. I gave them a talk. My interpreter was a boy eight years old, in the same full dress in which he was born, with the exception of a single twine string around his lions. He was ready, and emphatic in "passing the word." I had to partake of a good dinner, according to my limited capacity, at each station. We got back by dark last night, and I preached again, and ordained a Deacon and an Elder who could not be present the night before. I don't think I ever felt more vigorous in health for forty years than I do now. God seems to have renewed my youth. Glory to his name!

WILLIAM TAYLOR.

General Church News.

Rev. Jacob Freshman, pastor of the Hebrew Christian Church, New York city has issued a circular in which he recites in brief the history of that work, and the remarkable answers to prayer, which he and his people experienced in connection with the work of the Lord among the Jews in that city.

The number of additions to the Congregational Churches throughout the country since Jan. 1, reaches nearly 15,000.

H. L. Hastings, of Boston, speaking of the decay of secularism, says: "In England a few years ago, the infidel societies took in 1,583 members; the next year 1,500; then 1,300; and so on, down to less than 500. Last year 13 infidel halls were closed."

Mrs. Spurgeon, the wife of the great London preacher, though an invalid, is a fairy godmother to poor ministers. She sends gifts of clothing to their wives, which a small society under her supervision have fashioned, and to the pastors themselves she makes gifts of books. During the past year 6,916 volumes, making a total of 115,262 volumes given since the book fund was established, have been distributed among 560 ministers of different denominations.

The Christian Endeavor Society has 430,000 members.

Newfoundland has a population of 200,000; of these 50,000 are Methodists.

There are in the United States, Canada, England, and Scotland, 34 woman's missionary societies, and they have 1,397 missionaries in the field.

England has 8 Jewish missionaries; Scotland, 5; Ireland, 1; and these employ 312 agents. The United States has 7 societies, with 34 in their employ.

The North Africa Mission has in all 58 missionaries engaged in its field of operations, embracing Morocco, Algeria, Tunis, Tripoli, and North Arabia.

It is said that not more than one-eighth of the people of Japan live in cities having more than 10,000 inhabitants; the vast majority are farmers or fishermen.

Two new editions of the Burman Bible are being printed by the Baptist Missionary Union, one in Rangoon and another, from reduced plates, in Boston.

General News Items.

The colored people of the District of Columbia will celebrate their emancipation day on the 16th inst.

A Greenville, Texas, correspondent, informs us of the lynching of a colored man by the name of Harper, by the white people of that section. His crime consisted in his intended elopement with a white girl. The girl had gone to Oklahoma, from whence she was brought back home by her parents, where the colored man was to have joined her and where they intended to marry. The plot was discovered before the intended marriage took place. Our correspondent pleads with white men to let colored women alone, and for colored men to let the whites alone.

The colored people of Atlanta, Ga., have organized a loan and trust banking company.

J. P. Johnson Howard, formerly known as the "black prince" was killed by a fall in the Auburn state prison. He inherited $150,000 from his father a few years ago and spent all in about five years. Not long ago he became mixed up in show bill proceedings in New York and was convicted of perjury and sent to the state prison for seven years. He was steward of the prison at the time of his death.

Science.

Women as Inventors.

The steady increase of patents granted to women since scientific studies have been opened to them explains in part why inventions by that sex have been heretofore so rare. A list recently published gives the number of patents granted to women inventors by the U. S. government, from 1790 to July 1, 1888, as 2,300. After 1809 to 1815, only one patent was issued. From 1857, the number of women inventors increased rapidly. In 1870, the number was 60; in 1887, 179.

If last year's list were published, it would show a still more rapid advance. And these inventions take a wide range, from mere household and dress inventions to railroad journal boxes and submarine telescopes. In addition to the better scope and invitation for inventive genius which wider knowledge gives, the more independent position of women now requires less moral courage on their part to apply for patents than would have been necessary at an earlier period.—Sara Underwood, in New England Magazine.

Lost Friends.

We make no charge for publishing these letters from subscribers. All others will be charged fifty cents. Pastors will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report any case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.

The Lost is Found.

Mr. Editor: The lost is found, and my dead hopes are made alive. I have found, by advertising in your paper, my lost brothers, from whom I was separated ever since the surrender. On the 18th of this month I received two letters, one from Bro. Henderson and one from Mrs. Ella McKinney, of Huntsville, Ala., a first cousin. May God bless the SOUTHWESTERN and its noble editor. I intend to help to circulate that noble christian paper that seeks and finds those that are lost.

S. H. CANNON.

Enola, Miss.

Mr. Editor: I want to inquire for my brother. His name was Henry Cook. We were owned by a man named Samuel Cook. He lived in Stewart county, Tenn., near Indian Mound. Henry left home when Fort Donelson fell in 1863, joined the army as a drummer, and we have not heard from him since. Any one knowing his whereabouts will do me a favor to write to me at Christiansburg, Va. D. C. COOK.

Mr. Editor: I wish to inquire for my brothers. Their names are Houston and Henderson. Bro. Houston and I were brought to Mobile and sold by a speculator named Black. We left Bro. Henderson in Louisville, Tenn. He was owned by a man named Abraham Talley. I have never seen him since. When I last heard from Bro. Houston he was in Mobile, Ala., and went by the name of Houston Johnson. Any information of their whereabouts will be thankfully received.

MINERVA CONNOR.

Shubuta, Clark county, Miss.

Mr. Editor: I desire to find my folks. I was taken away when five years old. I was born in 1860. My name is Milaudar King. I belonged to Huber King. My wife's name is Rebecca. My sisters are named Liza, Millie and Lucinda; brothers, Elax and Matthew. My aunt died before we left Alabama. My step-father's name is Steve Eanran. Jim, George and Hanna yet live. I have not seen Ben since we left. My mother's name is Jaue Ann. Any one who knows either of the above named persons will please write. My mother was sold to Alex Bailey in Alabama. Books and Current Literature.

Littell's Living Age. The numbers of The Living Age for March 14 and 21st contain The Paintings of Pompeii, Edinburgh; Wit and Pathos in Suetonius, National; Three Finnish Scholars, Scottish; Turnerian Landscape—an Arrested Art, Nineteenth Century; The South African Doctrine of Souls, Nature, etc.

For fifty-two numbers of sixty-four large pages each (or more than 3,300 pages a year) the subscription price ($8) is low; while for $10.50 the publishers offer to send any one of the American $4 monthlies or weeklies with The Living Age for a year, both postpaid. Littell & Co., Boston, are the publishers.

Harper's Weekly, published March 25, contains illustrations of the scene of the recent occurrences in New Orleans, with portraits of some of the principal actors in the tragedy.

Harper's Bazar, Easter number, contained many special attractions. It is unusually attractive.

Harper's Young People for Mar. 24 contained, among other features especially appropriate to the Easter season, an interesting article by Bishop John H. Vincent, a characteristic Easter story by M. E. M. Davis, and an Easter ballad by Margaret E. Sangster.

The last addition to the Franklin Square Library, published by Harper & Brothers, is The Lost Heir, a Tale of Love, Battle and Adventure, by Ernest Glanville.

Southern as well as Northern readers will find matter to surprise them in Dr. John A. Wyoth's article in the April Century, on the experience of Confederate prisoners at Camp Morton, Indianapolis. Mrs. Mason's paper on the Salons of the Revolution and the Empire throws side-lights on the Talleyrand Memoirs. The question as to what were the relations between Washington and Frederick the Great, and whether Frederick the Great is authentically reported to have said anything complimentary of Washington, are discussed by Mr. Conway.

The battle between Prof. Huxley and the defenders of theology is still going on. The Popular Science Monthly for April will have an essay by the Duke of Argyll, entitled Prof. Huxley on the War-path, in which the professor is charged with treating theological questions inconsistently with his treatment of scientific subjects.

W. D. Howell's Hazard of New Fortunes and Annie Kilburn have just been published in a cheaper form by Harper & Brothers, and are the latest additions to their Franklin Square Library. Harper's Young People has something attractive to offer to young gardeners in the way of a Cotton Contest. It proposes to give one hundred prizes to those who prove the best cotton "planters." Anybody may compete, whether subscribers or not, and schools are especially invited to do so. Tomlin Dresser's Wife is the title of an entertaining story which Kate Upson Clark will contribute to the forth-coming number of Harper's Bazar.

One of the most important journalistic achievements of the day is the publication in Harper's Magazine for April of an article on The Behring Sea Controversy, by the Hon. E. J. Phelps, late United States Minister to the Court of St. James. Coming as it does from an authority so eminently qualified to speak of these matters—this article must be regarded as the most valuable contribution yet made to the discussion of this international controversy. Gen. Lewal, ex-Minister of War for France, writes for the same number of the Magazine an extremely picturesque and entertaining account of the development of The French Army. T. Mitchell Prudden, M. D., in a paper amply illustrated by H. D. Nichols, gives some exceedingly interesting glimpses of the bacteria, and describes the influence which these microcosms have upon the life and health of other organisms. The editorial departments, under the control of George William Curtis, William Dean Howells, and Charles Dudley Warner, are, as always, scholarly, entertaining, and unsurpassed in the variety and appropriateness of the subjects presented for discussion.

In his article on The Fate of the Election Bill, in the April Forum, Senator Hoar declares that the Republican party, if it should permanently abandon that measure, would turn its back on the essential principle that has made Republicanism what it is; and he vigorously scolds the Northern business men who, he says, by refusing adherence to the party, have played into the hands of the opponents of honest money. Dr. W. S. Rainsford, in a noteworthy study of the cause of increasing poverty in our great cities, places foremost amongst these the unwillingness of the poor to help themselves; and asserts that the inside force that shall compel them to do so must be furnished by the Christian Church. Roger Q. Mills thinks that the recent census is as trustworthy as if it had announced that a certain proportion of our people had red eyes and blue hair; and gives figures in support of his view. Prof. Goldwin Smith makes the Birchall murder a text for a discussion on the relations between religion and morality. The Forum Publishing Company, New York; 50 cents a copy, $5 a year.

The Centenary Life of Wesley. Beginning with the early home of the Wesleys at Epworth, this biography traces John Wesley's life, and his career. It describes his doings as a missionary in Georgia, his return and conversion; his open-air preaching, his itinerancy, and the gradual establishment of Methodism. Sympathetically and ably written, this volume will be read with interest by all who care for the history of a career devoted to great objects. A. Lovell & Co., 3 East 14th Street, N. Y.

DON'T send us marriage and death notices after they are three or four months old. Such stale news only serves to fill much more rapidly our very convenient waste basket.

BRETHREN, don't neglect the young people. Whether they are members of the church or not, get personally acquainted with them, organize them into various kinds of working bands for the church, and give them something to do. They will appreciate it. It will help you, and it may lead to their conversion and salvation, if unsaved. Try the Epworth League.

CUBA, the pear of the Antilles, will at no very distant day belong to the United States. Premier Blaine, with remarkable astuteness, is quietly working things that way. The American colonies went to war with the mother country over a tax on tea, and the matter of sugar and breadstuffs will yet force Cuba, for economic salvation, to the United States. Her more enlightened people, at any rate, are tired of the mediaeval rule of Spain, and long for annexation to the United States.

THE persecution of the Jews in Russia is one of the most outrageous spectacles presented to modern civilization. By their well-known financial ability they are gaining great wealth among the semi-barbarous subjects of the Czar, and because of this are driven from the Empire. Russia is an anomaly among the nations. She is a military terror and governs her people by brute strength. And yet there are parishes in Louisiana and Arkansas where hoodlums in their treatment of the colored people would make the Cossacks blush.

It is stated in the cable dispatches that "the Pope has the greatest admiration for the democratic institutions of the United States." This reminds one of the ancient saw, "When the devil was sick, the devil a monk would be; when the devil was well, the devil a monk was he." The Holy Father is quite sick in his old home; the "effete monarchies" of Europe, his beloved Italy especially, have ceased travelling to Canossa, and the successor of Hildebrand is looking towards "democratic institutions" for new pilgrims. His "admiration" is as touching as the traditional affection of the wolf for the lamb.

THE Romish hierarchy is making the usual fight in the British province of Manitoba over the school question. The legislative body of that province has ordained that the schools shall be entirely secular, and that neither Roman Catholic nor Protestant tenets shall be taught therein. The hierarchy is not content, and has brought pressure to bear on the Canadian Premier, Sir John McDonald, to persuade him to disallow the act. He refuses to interfere, and the matter will now be taken to the courts. It is Rome or ruin—always and everywhere. The most determined enemy of the free school system of the United States is the Church of Rome, and the most worthless and incompetent schools, teachers and scholars, are found in its own parochial institutions.

The A. M. E. Church Bishops and the Southern Ministry.

The Bishops of the A. M. E. church have issued an address to that church in which they contradict Prof. Washington's senseless and malicious slander of the colored ministry in the South. They mildly but frankly do the same for Bishop Payne's fortunate endorsement of the same: The venerable Father united with his colleagues in condemning his own absurd endorsement of the slander. The address says:

"We do not recognize any moral, social or literary difference between local sections in ministers and members. Vice or virtue have no topographical limitations or spheres of operation. There are good and bad in all sections and climes, and all denominations have through the ages been more or less annoyed by the bad, vicious and hypocritical. Therefore we disclaim the truth of some recent publications, notwithstanding the hasty approval and unfortunate endorsement of our aged and venerable senior. Our Southern ministers of the gospel who have braved every opposition—in many instances death itself—merit the highest honor for the faithful discharge of their Christian duties. They have organized religious congregations by the thousands, built churches in almost every community, and erected colleges, universities, seminaries and parochial schools by the scores. And when we survey the degraded condition in which slavery left our people South, and the marvelous progress they have made, to our knowledge, in so short a time, we are compelled by a sense of justice to pronounce the ministry of the South in the aggregate, the greatest moral and even intellectual heroes the world has ever seen. The Southern ministry when viewed collectively, and in connection with the work accomplished, which confronts us in all directions, stand unparalleled in the history of mankind. No other race can point historically, or otherwise, to such a body of achieving victorious, and self-sacrificing workers for God, his church and mankind in general."

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat is averse to the appointment of a Negro to the bench of one of the U. S. Circuit Courts, provided for under a recent act of Congress. It justifies its opposition upon the gratuitous and baseless ground that "there is not a Negro anywhere who is capable and worthy to hold a position of that kind." None are so blind as those who have eyes refuse to see. Mr. Langston was for many years dean of the law department of Howard University, and won high honors as a jurist. D. A. Stroker, the Michigan jurist, has made a name for himself in his profession that points him out as the equal of some of the foremost jurists of this country. So has T. McStewart of New York, and a score of others. If the Globe-Democrat has not heard of them, it is because it is either too stupid or too prejudiced to recognize their merit.

REV. Howard Henderson, D. D., has rescued from the hands of infidels the important subject of "Cremation," and given it Christian treatment; for which he merits the thanks of the Church. His arguments in favor, based on economy, health and taste, are forcible, while his answers to objections will silence many. Read, ponder, and decide for yourself. Copies can be had post-paid, by addressing the author, 23 Clark street, Cincinnati, O.

CANADA is divided into two parts—The province of Ontario on the west, and the province of Quebec to the east. There is a wonderful contrast between the two. Ontario is Protestant and Quebec Roman Catholic. Ontario has cities of great wealth and intelligence, like Toronto. Quebec has the ignorant and priest-ridden municipalities of Montreal and the City of Quebec. The Protestant province, in a word, is prosperous, enlightened and happy,—the Roman Catholic, slow, stupid, superstitions. Strange, is it not, that the same contrasts between Protestant and Roman Catholic communities is seen the world over—in Switzerland, Germany, France, Italy, Ireland—and everywhere else. "By their fruits ye shall know them."

"THE Methodist Advocate, of Chattanooga, while owned by Dr. Carter who was also the editor, has been semi-official in its character, and has been the recipient of a considerable subsidy by authority of the General Conference. The field is difficult, and the paper has not been very successful financially. The Book Committee authorizes the purchase of the plant from Dr. Carter, and it is expected that the journal named will cease to exist."

The Pacific Christian Advocate is responsible for the above statement. It would seem a pity to blot out the Methodist Advocate as there is unquestionably a large field for it, if the right man was at its head. Let the Book Committee select its editor, and put some vim and business into the organ, and it will live.—Inland Christian Advocate.

Way say, "if the right man was at its head?" Dr. Carter is the right man. Dr. Cobleigh and Dr. Fuller two of the mightiest giants of Methodism could not float the Advocate successfully. The trouble is with the field and not with the editor. The work is purely missionary, it is necessary and in our judgment should have been sustained.

The story is simple, artless, and true. It is thrilling in its details, and an impressive lesson on the horrors of slavery and the possible hope of our colored fellow-citizens under freedom. The book beguiled us into reading until midnight, which we regard as a piece of imprudence, but the stories kept us awake, and we closed with a devout prayer that God would lead us to right conclusions about our colored people.—California Christian Advocate.

"The House of Bondage, or Charlotte Brooks and Other Slaves," from the pen of the late Mrs. Octavia V. Rogers Albert. Vivid pictures are drawn of actual slave life as it existed both on plantation and in city; sight and insights are also given of those who were once slaves in their new relation as free men and citizens. The writer herself belonging to the long embowed race, and having experienced the joys of deliverance, writes from a warm, sympathetic heart. The book is another effort to assist in telling that story of suffering which never will be fully told. As we read its pages it is hard to realize that we are scanning a recital of actual conversation and occurrences, and not a mere production of the imagination. The introduction is written by Bishop Mallalien. Cloth, 12mo, 161 pp., price 75c. New York: Hunt & Eaton.—Central Christian Advocate.

The author of this volume was the wife of the Rev. A. E. P. Albert, D. D., editor of the SOUTHWESTERN. Its several chapters appeared first in the paper edited by her husband, and were received with so much favor that after her death he was prevailed upon to publish them in book form. It contains recitals of actual experiences under the awful system of human slavery. From it we learn somewhat of the unspeakable evils of this system. The whole truth can never be told. The story is told in a plain, simple and exceedingly interesting manner, the evident truth and sincerity of which deeply impresses the reader. The work will help to perpetuate the story of slavery.—Pittsburgh Christian Advocate.

THE Delaware Conference Bulletin is sound on the woman question concluding an exhortation, on the question, to the Delaware Conference it says:

"We cannot agree with those who hold the Scriptures have nothing to do with this question. With us who believe in the inspiration of the Scriptures the teachings of Paul and Peter are not obsolete. Their influence and authority extend not only to one age or one class of people, but to the church in every age."

Let us not be swayed by the modern sentiment that would make man more just than God and more holy than his Maker. Remember we can add nothing to the divine order of things, and woman can never be elevated by thrusting upon her rights and privileges inconsistent with her ordained sphere."

OUR complications with Italy continue. Nothing definite can be learned as to the progress toward an adjustment of the difficulties. It is rumored that the Italian Government would order our minister, Gov. Porter, from Rome, and discontinue all diplomatic relations with our government, if they got no satisfactory answer from our government by last Tuesday. It is generally conceded however that good sense will doubtless prevail on all sides and that there will be no war.

SPEAKING of the New Orleans outrage the New York Tribune says: "Under our system the Federal government can take no direct action to punish the leaders of the mob." Well, we'd better get a new system as soon as possible. The blood of thousands of innocent Afro-American victims of mob violence in the South cries out loudly for the change.—Cleveland, (O.) Gazette.

The system that cannot afford protection to citizens nor aliens, under the shadow of its flag, is worthless, and calls for some radical changes.

THE Southwestern Christian Recorder, after a few weeks' intermission, consequently upon the death of its lamented editor, Dr. M. E. Bryant, whose death we chronicled some weeks ago, has again made its appearance. We most cordially welcome it again upon the watchtower of Zion; and extend to its new editor, the Rev. C. L. Bradwell, a brother's heart and hand, with the hope that he may be crowned with abundant success in this new field of his experienced ministry.

THE suggestion of the Michigan Christian Advocate that "A committee be appointed by the General Conference to edit the Discipline and to codify all Episcopal decisions, giving us in a single volume the combined, or rather the aggregate, wisdom of bishops, judges, courts and conferences upon all questions of Methodist law and order," is a timely one. Baker on the Discipline and Merrill's Digest are excellent expositions of Methodist law, but they are not official. Let us have such an official Methodist Digest.

A PERSONAL note from Mrs. Mary Haven Thirkield, wife of the popular and very efficient president of Gammon Theological Seminary, Atlanta, Ga., says: "Your paper has a wide influence for good, and must elevate and uplift the people wherever it enters their homes."

YOUR article on "Consummate Meanness" was to the point, and was highly appreciated by all who read it. We are glad that we have such a man as Dr. Albert at the head of our Church paper, to defend our church and its doctrines against all such infamous letters as the one to which he referred in that article. I hope he will be kept at the head of this paper as long as he lives. We are standing by him.—Rev. W. R. Butler, Baton Rouge, La.

Political Review.

The President has reappointed the Hon. James Hill, Postmaster at Vicksburg, Miss., and the unwashed democracy of that city are creating quite a rumpus over it. They are now trying to get Mr. Hill to resign. Of course, Mr. Hill will do no such thing "of his own free will and accord."

Senator Geo. F. Edmunds, who has served the State of Vermont and the nation so faithfully for the past twenty-five years, as a Senator, has resigned. Secretary Proctor is the man most prominently mentioned for the succession.

Florida is about to ballot for a Senator to succeed Senator Call. The Senator is anxious to succeed himself, but the field is against him, and the outcome is rather uncertain.

The Western elections, during the past week, resulted in many sweeping victories for the Republicans, and satisfactory gains nearly everywhere. This was especially true of Cincinnati and Chicago, which succeeded in the election of Republican Mayors.

Personal.

—Bishop Foss is president of the commission to arrange for the great Ecumenical Conference.

—Bishop Joyce says he has not been at home ten consecutive days since he began his episcopal itinerancy.

—Bishop Fitzgerald will be welcomed this spring by a host of old friends at the New Jersey and New York Conferences.

—Bishop Waldeu has been appointed a delegate to the World's Evangelical Alliance, which meets in Florence, Italy.

—A note from Rev. John Qualls, Pine Bluff, Ark., informs us of the continued illness of sister Lucy, wife of Rev. G. W. Ivey. The physician says there is no hope for her, but she is bright in the faith that was once delivered to the saints.

—The Rev. Dr. Robt. M. Hatfield, for many years one of the most prominent Methodist preachers in this country, is dead. He was a member of the General Conference of 1860, '64, '76, '80 and '84.

City Church Notes.

Rev. H. C. Armstrong, of Asbury Chapel, Algiers, says: "The Ames Crevasse is bringing distress to me and my church and people. We are all in the water, and it is still coming on us. We are troubled about what the end will be."

There will be a grand union meeting at Mallalien Chapel, Sixth street, Rev. S. Davage pastor, on Sunday, April 26.

Rev. H. C. Wilson, of Boynton Chapel, Gretna, has recently been tried by both fire and water. On the night of January 10, his house and all that he had in it were destroyed by fire. Now his church and people have been flooded out by the Ames crevasse, which broke through the protection levee, which had been built to protect the town. We bespeak for Bro. Wilson the sympathy and help of the brethren.

The collection realized at the union meeting at First Street Church, reported in last week's paper should have been $102.40 and not $14, as was then reported. We cheerfully make the correction; as the figures of last week did Rev. T. G. Montgomery and his people an injustice. They raise $14 or more at any ordinary collection.

Our first quarter at the First Street M. E. Church was grand. The members are well pleased with their new Presiding Elder, and paid him his quarterage in the conference. They pay the pastor every week $19.25. We are on the upward march.

T. G. MONTGOMERY.

Rev. T. G. Montgomery and wife were the happy recipients of many choice and valuable presents, brought them by a surprise party made up of members and friends of First Street Church, March 2. They say, call again.

THE colored citizens of this city did themselves credit in the mass meeting which they held and the resolutions complimentary to the Hon. Henry W. Blair which they adopted and forwarded to the distinguished statesman and patriot who soon leaves for China, as U. S. Minister, to that empire. Mr. J. Wesley Pierce was the foremost leader in calling the meeting.

THE South Alabamian, a Democratic paper, says: "Every year since the first year of freedom, the Negro has been more friendly disposed and less and less inclined to join violent issues with the whites." Bulldozers, take notice, and govern yourselves accordingly.

Church Polity.

J. W. B. M. will find the word "appeal" in the following places in the New Testament: Acts, 25 ch., 11 and 21 verses; Acts, 26 ch., 32 verse, and in 28 ch., 19 verse.

M. J. A. wants to know whether a minister who vows to an annual conference that he would renounce the use of tobacco, but who continues in its use, is a fit example for the flock of Christ to follow?

Ans. No man who makes a solemn religious vow and flagrantly violates it is worthy of the confidence and following of his people. If such a man finds out that he is unable to keep his vow, the honorable thing for him to do is to confess his inability to perform the vow, and to ask to be released therefrom.

Q. Can a pastor enforce any claims for any portion of his unpaid salary after his removal from a charge?

STEWART.

Ans. No. If he failed to collect during the term of his pastorate, he cannot enforce the collection of any unpaid balance after that. This fact should prompt every church to see to it that the pastor's claim is paid in full before the Annual Conference.

In view of the late reverses to the Republican party, the solidity of the Southern Democracy, and the fact that the Republican party while in power in every branch of the national government, accomplished absolutely nothing for the protection of the Negroes, the Fair Play, of Meridian, Miss., is advising the colored people of that State to extend the olive branch of peace to the white people. It says: "The history of the country during the past sixteen years demonstrates beyond question the fact that the safety of the Negro's political and civil rights cannot be maintained in the South by the Republican party."

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Chattanooga, Tenn., and Richmond, Va., each have a prosperous penny savings banks, operated entirely by colored men. Why can't we have one in every city and town in the South? Such institutions would inspire habits of economy and industry among our people and accomplish immense good. Study out the thing, and reorganize them.

Half Fare to Cincinnati.

Excursion tickets at ONE FARE for the round trip to Cincinnati, and return from New Orleans, Jackson, Meridian, and Vicksburg, will be sold by agents Queen & Crescent Route on April 19, and 20th, good for return until April 27th, on account of the National Convention Republican Clubs.

For tickets, sleeping car berths, etc., call on agents Queen & Crescent Route as above.

Dyspepsia's victims are numbered by thousands. So are the people who have been restored to health by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

DAILY BREAD.

My soul with Thy whole armor arm;
In each approach of sin alarm,
And show the danger near;
Surround, sustain and strengthen me,
And fill with goodly jealousy,
And sanctifying fear.

—Charles Wesley.

The difference between temptation and sin is generally plain enough to all that are simple of heart; but in some exempt cases it is not plain; there we want the unction of the Holy One.—John Wesley.

To the public constantly add private means of grace, particularly prayer and reading. You may as well expect a child to grow without food as a soul without private prayer; and reading is an excellent help to this.—John Wesley.

Up with the banner of your Lord Jesus! Raise it with firm decision, with quiet earnestness, and with humble prayer; keep it with unflinching fortitude, and be ready to die rather than dishonor it.—Wm. M. Taylor.

If I wished to raise up a race of statesmen, higher than politicians, animated, not by greed or selfishness, by policy or party, I would familiarize the boys of the land with the characters of the Bible.—John Hall.

O for the spirit which is content with nothing less nor lower than the highest help. To turn in temptation directly to the power of God; to cry out in sorrow for God's company; to be satisfied in doubt with nothing short of the assurance that God gives; to know that there is no real escape from sin except in being made holy by God's holiness—these are what make a man's complete salvation. It is your privilege and mine, as children of God, to be satisfied with no help but the help of the Highest.—Phillips Brooks.

If we will only have patience with God's leading he will always show us the way as fast as we are really ready to go on. The trouble with most of us is that we want to see the path through to the end before we take the first step. We want to know, before we start, how we are to come out. But this is not God's way for us. A man who is traveling in a dark night on a country road does not have the whole way lighted at once by the lantern he carries. It shows him only one step; but as he takes that the lantern is borne forward, and another step is lighted, and then another and another, until, in the end, the whole way has been illuminated, and he is safe at his destination. God's word, as a guiding light, is a lamp unto our feet, not a sun flooding a hemisphere. In the darkest night it will always show us the next step; then, when we have taken that, it will show us another; and thus on, till it brings us out into the full, clear sunlight of the coming day. We need to learn well the lesson of patience, if we would have God guide us.—Selected.

Simply to be tempted does not constitute sin. Many a good man is apt to condemn himself for the very thing which God approves in him—the shrinking of the soul from evil suggestion. His error lies in the failure to recognize the office of temptation in the economy of the spiritual life. This office is something like that of gravitation in the physical universe—the power which preserves the harmony of matter in its proper relation, but which out of its proper relation dashes it to atoms. Gravitation works no harm in the physical universe so long as it is resisted. Likewise temptation works no harm in the moral universe while the soul arrays itself against it. Both principles demand resistance; and this resistance, so far from being an interference with the beneficent operation of the law, is the one essential condition of that operation.

The christian who reproaches himself simply because he is tempted, reproaches God, who has established it as one of the laws of his moral being that he shall be tempted. Let the young christian recognize this fact, and no longer indulge in self chiding because sin is presented for resistance.—Selected.

"Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved," was the concise answer of Paul to the jailer's vehement and anxious question: "What shall I do to be saved?" This is simple and is to be taken at its face value. It means just what it says—no more, no less. It was a frank and honest answer to an honest and blunt question. I fancy there was no hair-splitting by the apostle with the jailer concerning the difference between historical and evangelical faith. "Believe," was a common every-day word with a common and every-day meaning. When it was applied to the Lord Jesus Christ, it did not change its meaning in the least, only it mounted from earth to heaven, and grappled with an object it had hitherto had no dealings with, so vast and grand, so laden with life and love, and joy and peace, not for time, but for eternity—that it became transfigured in its new relation. That only is the difference between "secular" and "Scriptural" faith. In the one case faith deals with man, with reference to temporal things, in the other case it deals with God in Christ, laden with grace and glory, concerning spiritual and eternal things.—Guide to Holiness.

Homiletics.

Hymns 7, 171, 141.
Scripture Lesson, Ps. 103.
Text, Habakkuk, 3:17, 18: Although the fig tree shall not blossom, neither shall fruit be in the vines; the labors of the olive shall fail, and the fields shall yield no meat; the flock shall be cut off from the fold, and there shall be no herd in the stalls; yet will I rejoice in the Lord, I will joy in the God of my salvation.

Introduction, The Prophet Habakkuk was a Hebrew. He lived and prophesied about 625 years before Christ. He lived at about the same time the good and pious Josiah was King of Judah.

It shows what the experience of all may be who trust in God whatever may be their earthly losses and trials.

It is their privilege to rejoice in the God of their salvation even when they lose every good thing that earth can give them.

The first verse tells us what the people of Palestine depended upon for their support.

Figs, grapes and olives were used by all the people for food.

The "meat" that is spoken of means the grain, such as wheat and barley. Then the people had larger flocks of sheep and goats and herds of cattle. Upon these fruits, and grains, and the milk and flesh of their flocks and herds the people depended for their food.

The Prophet considers what he would do if all these things should fail him, and he should be reduced to poverty.

He says in the second verse, "Yet will I rejoice in the Lord, I will joy in the God of my salvation."

There are lessons that we may learn from this text.

1. That christian people may be called to suffer loss, and be poor.

(a) God has never promised that those who serve him should surely be rich. They may lose all and be poor.

(b) In all ages his faithful servants have been called to suffer.

Joseph was sold into Egypt for a slave. He was thrown into a dungeon because he would not sin against God.

Daniel was cast into the lions, den because he prayed to God with his windows open towards Jerusalem.

The Hebrew children were cast into the burning fiery furnace because they would not worship the idol the king had set up.

The eleventh chapter of Hebrews tells how God's people have suffered.

(c) God's people have afflictions in this world, just the same as others. Death enters the home of the christian and takes away his loved ones.

Sickness and pain come to the christian just as to wicked people.

The christian may have many sorrows.

2. We learn that God does not cease to love those who are his children.

(a) God sometimes afflicts his children so that they may be weaned from the earth.

If they always had just what they want they might love this earth too much.

They might forget that heaven is their home.

The old eagle has to stir up the nest where the young ones are in order to teach them to fly.

(b) God has special opportunities of showing his love to those who are in trouble and affliction.

"God moves in a mysterious way his wonders to perform."

There is always a silver lining to every cloud.

3. We may learn that it is the christian's privilege to rejoice even amid the greatest losses and afflictions.

(a) This he can do because God is still his friend.

The divine promise is "I will never leave thee nor forsake thee." Though all earthly friends forsake, God will protect us and be our friend.

(b) The christian can rejoice in affliction and trouble because he is not dependent upon the things of earth for his comfort and happiness. He eats the heavenly manna. He drinks of the crystal stream that flows from the throne of God.

(c) The christian can rejoice in the darkest hours, because God is Almighty, and knows how to help.

He puts the everlasting arms under and around the weakest and most helpless souls that trust in Him.

The eternal God will be a sure hiding place, and refuge when the storms are the hardest.

Sin, death, and hell cannot harm the christian if he trusts in God.

Finally, (a) Let not the christian lose faith and courage even in the darkest hours.

(b) Let him expect that God will surely come to his help when he needs him most.

(c) Above all things let the christian rejoice in God and praise him every day for the glorious hope of heaven.

Peck Home.

The ladies of the West Southern Bureau of the W. H. M. S., return thanks to their colored friends in New Orleans for their generous contribution of trees and shrubbery for the grounds of Peck Memorial Home.

The front grounds present a very pleasing appearance since so many trees have been planted, and a variety of roses blooming. The little Sunday school children who meet at the home each Sabbath, have also learned the beautiful lesson of helping, and the tiniest hands have brought some floral offering "in His name" to adorn the grounds. Our superintendent and pupils enjoy the lovely flowers and greatly appreciate any donations in this line. We hope soon to have the promised tallow trees planted on the front side-walk. Already six churches are represented. We would kindly suggest that each church number its tree for satisfactory recognition. Rev. Stephen Priestly has the honor of planting the first tree in the name of Williams Chapel, and Rev. Hilton planted the third tree on the banquettes, also met the expense of filling in the grounds, an act which is greatly appreciated by everyone connected with the home. Rev. Ernest Lyon planted an orange tree in honor of Bishop Mallien, also a fig tree for himself, Rev. Marshall planted two fig trees and Mrs. Eliza Ghant planted an orange tree and a pomegranate which are growing nicely.

Long may their branches overshadow the beautiful home erected for the sole benefit of the colored daughters of the South-land. There are now ten pupils in the home and thirteen day scholars, all happy in aiming to become useful christian women. Few Northern Industrial Schools furnish better opportunities or more pleasant surroundings. The building will accommodate twenty-four pupils, and is so conveniently constructed for industrial training, that the superintendents, Misses Hegeman and Elliott, spare no pains in endeavoring to instruct, and educate those entrusted to their care. The family discipline is that of a refined christian home, the golden rule being a household motto. The rooms occupied by the pupils are large, well ventilated, tastefully furnished, with every incentive promoting health and neatness.

The sewing department consisting of dress making, plain sewing, millinery, all kinds of knitting, embroidery and crocheting, are skillfully taught, and no young lady need leave the home without a thorough knowledge of house-keeping and sewing. The expense for each pupil is $7 per month, with all the superior training of heart, head and hand.

Many Northern friends are interested in the success of this model home, and it is hoped that its influence will extend far and wide, to bless those for whom this great christian effort is being made.

A recent dispatch from Atlanta, Ga., says: "The refusal of Secretary Noble to pay Georgia's share of the Hatch fund until provision was made for the establishment of a Negro college has had the effect of stimulating that movement. Gov. Northern appointed a Board of Control, and the singular spectacle was at once presented of Negroes of the various cities offering gratuities for the location of the college in their midst. The Negroes of Savannah offered $15,000, Americans $13,000, Milledgeville $12,000 and Columbus $10,000. The college will go to one of these places. The most singular phase, however, is an endowment for a scholarship, offered by Elbert Head, now seventy-two years old, and formerly a slave. He bought his

It was Ben Johnson, we believe, who, when asked Mallock's question, "Is life worth living?" replied "That depends on the liver." And Ben Johnson doubtless saw the double point to the pun.

The liver active—quick—life rosy, everything bright, mountains of trouble melt like mountains of snow.

The liver sluggish—life dull, everything blue, molehills of worry rise into mountains of anxiety, and as a result—sick headache, dizziness, constipation.

Two ways are open. Cure permanently, or relieve temporarily. Take a pill and suffer, or take a pill and get well. Shock the system by an overdose, or coax it by a mild, pleasant way.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the mild means. They work effectively, without pain, and leave the system strong. One, little, sugar-coated pellet is enough, although a whole vial costs but 25 cents.

Mild, gentle, soothing and healing is Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Only 50 cents.

freedom, and has amassed a fortune of $50,000. He writes: "On condition that the branch college for colored students is located at America, I agree to convey the following described real estate, which I value at $5,000, to the trustees of the university, reserving to myself a life estate in said property, the income to be used as a scholarship fund to educate the most needy and deserving colored student who may apply for admission to said college."

James A. Jefferson, Wiley University, Marshall, Texas, sends us an impressive appeal to the young people to seek an education.

Rev. Charles W. Baldwin, of the Baltimore Conference, has been appointed secretary of the proposed national university at Washington.

The Summer session, 1891, June 16th to July 17th, of the Virginia Normal and Collegiate Institute, will be held at Petersburg, Va. The work will consist largely of reviews and will have reference not only to the matter, but largely to the method of imparting a thorough common school education.

At the end of the Summer session, a certificate of attendance and proficiency will be awarded each member of the institute who has been present at least two weeks. Teachers desiring to be examined for any grade above the first, must be present at the opening of the session. Among those to deliver lectures and addresses are the following prominent educators:

Hon. John E. Massey, superintendent of Public Instruction, John L. Buchanan, LL.D., Randolph Macon College, Prof. J. A. McGilvray, secretary Board of Education, Pror. R. W. Flourney, principal East End School, Richmond, Va., Dr. M. Brown, M.D., superintendent schools, Petersburg, Va., E. M. Brawley, D.D., pastor Harrison Street Church, Petersburg, Va., Hon. E. E. Smith, ex minister to Liberia, etc. Board will cost $2 per week in advance. Arrangements will be made with the railroads by which all parties attending the institute can obtain reduced rates.

Dr. C. H. Payne, Secretary of the Board of Education of the M. E. Church, is giving at the spring conferences and elsewhere, an outline plan of a system of education looking to a federation of all our Methodist institutions of learning, so as to give greater unity, breadth and efficiency to all our educational work. The plan has met with the heartiest approval. He addressed the Cincinnati Preachers' Meeting recently, and that body passed a resolution unanimously and emphatically endorsing the plan and the Doctor's efforts in this direction.

What It Costs

Must be carefully considered by the great majority of people, in buying even necessities of life. Hood's Sarsaparilla commands itself with special force to the great middle classes, because it combines positive economy with great medicinal power. It is the only medicine of which can truly be said "100 Doses One Dollar," and a bottle taken according to directions will average to last a month.

TRADE MARK

The importance of purifying the blood cannot be overestimated, for without pure blood you cannot enjoy good health.

At this season nearly every one needs a good medicine to purify, vitalize, and enrich the blood, and we ask you to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. It strengthens and builds up the system, creates an appetite, and tones the digestion, while it eradicates disease. The peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation of the vegetable remedies used give to Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiar curative powers. No other medicine has such a record of wonderful cures. If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other instead. It is a Peculiar Medicine, and is worthy your confidence. Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

THE REFINER OF SILVER.

Serenely on my thorny way
From year to year, from day to day,
My steps are led by guiding Hand,
From land to sea, from sea to land.

I know, though molten heat be great,
Who sits to watch the liquid state;
When His blest image falls within,
Then doth the Master's work begin,

He will not make the flame too strong,
He will not leave the flame too long;
No fear have I of furnace-fire,
Since what He wills I most desire.

In all His words believe I must—
For though He slay, in Him I trust:
He is my Light, my Life, my All;
What could affright?—what can appall?

His purpose chose me in the past,
When, in the billowy fire cast,
My dazed eyes all my treasures saw
Born like the stubble and the straw.

No, not my erring will be done!
The Master's work is but begun;
He'll take the silver from the flame
To stamp His image and His name.

—Clara Jessup Moore, in March-Lippincott's.

The Household.

Things Here and There.

For removing mildew stains soak the article in milk for forty-eight hours. Or, rub with lemon juice and salt.

In roasting meat it is a good plan to turn with a spoon instead of a fork, as the latter pierces the meat and lets the juice out.

Clear boiling water will remove fruit and other stains; pour the water through the stain, and thus prevent its spreading over the fabric.

Egg shells crushed into small bits or small white beans shaken well in decanters, three parts filled with cold water, will thoroughly clean the glass.

Two or three "holders" are indispensable to the cook. One holder should be attached by a tape to the cook's apron band, so she can always have it at hand.

Wicks that are kept turned below the upper edge of the wick tube when the lamp is not lighted will not draw the oil up and allow it to run over on the outside of the lamp.

Every sleeping-room should have its windows open an hour every morning, and all the bed-clothing laid open to the air, where, if possible, the sun can shine upon them.

GEMS.—One pint of milk, one pint of ice-water, three-quarters of a teaspoonful of salt and one quart of flour, stirred together well for five or six minutes. Have the iron gem-pan well buttered and very hot, on top of the stove. Fill while on the stove, set in the oven and bake for thirty-five minutes.

RYE DROP-CAKES.—Mix together two cupsful and a half of rye flour, half a cupful of rye meal, one cupful of wheat flour, and one teaspoonful of salt. Stir in gradually three cupsful and a half of milk, and add four well-beaten eggs. The rye meal can be done without, but the cakes are much better with it. Fill the iron gem-pan and bake as directed for gems.

JOHNNY CAKE.—Cream together one tablespoonful each of butter and sugar, as for any cake, add the beaten yolk of one egg (beat the white separately to add later); stir in one cupful and a quarter of flour, in which have been sifted three heaping teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one cupful and three-quarters of Indian meal. Add half a teaspoonful of salt and stir in two scant cupfuls of milk. Lastly, add the beaten white of egg, and bake in a buttered ginger-bread pan in a hot oven.

RICE WAFFLES.—Sift a pint and a half of flour with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, add one pint and a half of sweet, cold milk, two teaspoonfuls of melted butter, three-quarters of a teaspoonful of salt, and three well-beaten eggs. Then add one cupful of cold, boiled rice. Heat the waffle-iron, and grease well before filling. This recipe can also be used for plain waffles by omitting the rice. Butter and sugar the waffles after they are baked, and serve them two laid together.

Our Symposium.

A few weeks ago Dr. John F. Spence, the Chancellor of Grant University at Chattanooga, made some very plain statements in the Bi-monthly Review, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, concerning the Negro question. We knew that he would pay a severe penalty for such rashness, and sure enough the avalanche of criticism is on him. The Western Christian Advocate has dissected his views most mercilessly, and other church papers have followed the example. At the recent anniversary of the Freedman's Aid Society in Cincinnati, one of the colored brethren, the Rev. Dr. E. W. S. Hammond, poured several volleys of hot shot into him; and now comes another in the SOUTHWESTERN, the Rev. Dr. A. E. P. Albert, charging him with "treason." In the "interior depths" of his own soul Dr. Spence probably wishes that he had taken counsel of prudence and said nothing.—Nashville Christian Advocate.

And now they tell us that those renegade Republicans, the silver Senators have caucussed, and decided to push Hon. James G. Blaine's candidacy for the Presidential nomination in 1892. They are "sore" with President Harrison for killing their pet measure. However, they will do well to remember that there are thousands of Republicans who are patiently waiting to, and will, sooner or later, pay them back for their defeat of the Federal Supervision Bill.—Cleveland Gazette.

Live out your christianity. A stiff, proud, formal religion may be a thing of art, but is not a work of God. After all, the heart is more potent than the brain; the feelings are the fountains of influence. Leave snobbish notions alone. Do not put on religious airs. Cliques spoil success and unity. Be friendly and you will win friends for the Master. Breathe into social relations love and God will smile upon you. Carry into your work a burning enthusiasm and you will have full, rich fruition.

Be true. Be aggressive. Be social. But—more than all—be spiritual. Keep near Jesus and the commonplace things, the homely, every-day experience, will glow and glisten with divine glory.—Rev. Isaac L. Hunt, in Northern Christian Advocate.

The stoutest difficulties, when overcome by grace divine, may be transformed into stepping-stones leading upward to the attainment of the perfect life.—Alabama Baptist.

THE MOST RELIABLE

To correct the constipated habit, remove sick-headache, relieve dyspepsia, to purify the blood, cure jaundice, liver complaint, and biliousness, Ayer's Pills are unequalled. They are an excellent after-dinner pill, assisting the process of digestion, and cleansing and strengthening the alimentary canal. When taken on the invasion of a cold or a fever, they effectually prevent further progress of the disease. Being sugar-coated and purely vegetable, they are the best.

medicines for old and young. Ayer's Pills are indispensable to soldiers, sailors, emigrants, miners, and travelers, and for every where recommended by the medical fraternity. Dr. J. C. Ayer, Lowell, Mass., writes: "Ayer's Pills are the most valuable medicine in their ingredients, of any I know of."

For more than twenty years I have used Ayer's Pills as a corrective for impurity of the stomach, liver, and bowels, and to ward off malarial attacks, and they have always done perfect work."—E. P. Goodwin, Publisher Democrat, St. Louis, La.

"I was member of a sailing vessel for many years, and never failed to provide a supply of Ayer's Pills, for the use of both officers and men. They are a safe and reliable medicine, and always give satisfaction."—Harry Robinson, 52 E. Pearl St., Fair Haven, Conn.

For a long time I was a sufferer from stomach, liver, and kidney troubles, and having tried a variety of remedies, with only temporary relief, I began, about three months ago, the use of Ayer's Pills, and already my health is so much improved that I gladly testify to the superior merits of this cathartic."—Manuel Jorge Pereira, Oporto, Portugal.

OVERMAN'S SPECIFIC OXYGEN

A Home Treatment for Diseases of Head, Throat and Lungs. SPECIFIC OXYGEN is the only Medicated Oxygen in use. It contains a Germicide and Disinfectant which kills the microbes or germs, and disintegrates the mucus in the Head, Throat and Lungs. It quiets cough. It softens phlegm and heals the lungs. It purifies the blood.

"IT IS THE BREATH OF LIFE." It is a Natural Narcotic, giving rest and sleep by revitalizing the prostrated nerves, instead of narcotizing or paralyzing them.

"IT IS NATURE'S OWN REMEDY." For the Relief of Nasal Catarrh, Hay Fever, Bronchitis, Asthma, LaGrippe, Catarrhal Deafness, and Nervous Prostration.

By permission we refer to the following well-known persons of our city who have used SPECIFIC OXYGEN: Rev. M. B. DeWitt, D.D., editor "Cumberland Presbyterian Review." Rev. C. S. Gardner, Pastor Edgemoor Baptist Church.

MONEY FOR SOLDIERS.

BOUNTIES. PENSIONS.

Nearly every soldier who served in the late War is entitled to arrears of pay, clothing or bounty, under the various Acts of Congress. We give special attention to the claims of soldiers who served in the colored troops.

Under the recent law every soldier who is totally or partially unable to earn his living is entitled to pension, whether the disability was contracted in the service or not.

Every widow of a soldier is entitled to a pension under the same law. Send us a statement of your case immediately as the pension begins from date of filing.

Remember we charge no fee unless successful, and soldiers will never receive what is justly due them unless they make application for it.

BY UNCLE CEPHAS.

A Boy Should Learn,

To build a fire scientifically;
To fill the wood box every night;
To shut doors in summer to keep the flies out;
To shut doors without slamming;
To shut them in winter to keep the cold out;
To do errands promptly and cheerfully;
To get ready to go away without the united efforts of mother and sister;
To be gentle to his little sisters;
To wash dishes and make his bed when necessary;
To sew on a button and darn a stocking;
To be kind to all animals;
To have a dog, if possible and make a companion of him;
To ride, row, shoot and swim;
To be manly and courageous;
To let cigarettes alone.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I am a boy 11 years of age. I go to school every day. My studies are history, geography, arithmetic, grammar and spelling. Our teachers are Rev. R. P. Threlkeld, Mrs. Jessie E. Threlkeld and Mrs. L. C. Brown. We have a large school about 140 scholars. There was a question asked in the SOUTHWESTERN by one of my friends, it is found in Exodus, xli, 36. I want to ask on what day did Christ enter Jerusalem?

Your Nephew,
EDDIE HENNINGTON,
Crystal Springs, Miss.

Dear Uncle Cephas: Several weeks ago I requested in the SOUTHWESTERN that some of my cousins should answer three Biblical questions, viz: 1. How many times does the word "Lord" appear in the Bible? 2. How many times does the word "Reverend" appear? 3. What book, chapter and verse contains all the letters of the alphabet except G?

The questions were correctly answered by cousins M. A. Spratt, O. J. Richards and J. H. L. Haynes. Thanks cousins. Now I will answer some of the questions asked by two of my cousins. The first of the ten plagues of Egypt is found in the 7th chapter of Exodus, 19th to 21st verse. The longest verse is the 9th verse, of the 8th chapter of Esther. The shortest verse is the 35th verse, of the 11 chapter of St. John. The middle verse of the Bible, I think, is quite a puzzling question. Therefore I leave it off just now. Some of my cousins will please tell me the shortest verse in the Old Testament. Also the longest in the New Testament. We have a very good Sunday school. Our day school closed on the 20th of March. We had a very good teacher, his name is Dr. N. H. Middleton.

Your Niece,
DORCAS N. WALKER
Gonzales, Tex.

Dear Uncle Cephas: This is my first letter. I am a little girl 14 years of age. I am going to school every day. I have a good teacher, Mr. Geo. Beacham. My studies are fifth reader, spelling, grammar, arithmetic and geography. I am a member of the M. E. Church, Rev. T. L. Ingram is my pastor, and is loved by all. We desire his return. Mother and my stepfather take the SOUTHWESTERN. It is a good paper. I love to read it. I hope this letter will not reach the waste basket.

Your Niece,
IDELLA WEBB,
Oktoe, Miss.

Dear Uncle Cephas: This is my second letter to you. I am a little girl 14 years old. My father takes the SOUTHWESTERN, and I enjoy reading it. Our pastors name is Rev. C. D. Shallowhorne. Susie Lagardy is secretary of the Sunday school. I am a member of St. James M. E. Church.

Your Niece,
JENNIE MAY GRAVES,
Shreveport, La.

For Over Fifty Years.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over FIFTY YEARS by MILLIONS OF MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEETHING, with PERFECT SUCCESS. It SOOTHES the CHILD, SOFTENS the GUMS, ALLAYS all PAIN, CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHEA. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Jeisy

An Unprecedented Offer!

We have made arrangements with the Chicago Manufacturing Company to supply one of their first-class Singer machines for only $14 cash. We will order a machine like the cut here shown, and send the SOUTHWESTERN a full year besides! It is a handsome oil-polished walnut, of latest design, Gothic cover, with beautiful panels, four end drawers and a swing drawer, nickel-plated, and warranted five years.

Each Machine is furnished with the following equipment: One Foot Hemmer, One Oil Can with Oil, One Gauge, and Screw, One Extra Check Spring, One Package of Needles, Five Bobbins, One Tuckor, One Foot Ruller, One Set of Plate Hemmers, four different widths up to seven-eighths of an inch, One Binder and One Thread Cutter. The Improved Tension and Thread Liberator is used on this Machine. The manufacturers offer to refund the money if purchaser is not fully satisfied with the machine.

We receive many letters inquiring about the sewing machine premium, and how to obtain it. In order that all may understand the matter, we state in addition to the announcement, that remittances should be made to Hunt & Eaton, 139 Poydras street, either by check, money order, or by express, naming the nearest or most convenient freight depot to which it is to be sent. Then we order the factory in Chicago to ship the machine. The company ships it; and receives from the railroad a bill of lading which, with the warranty, is sent to us, and which we send to the subscriber. This bill of lading is good and sufficient evidence that the machine has been forwarded, and holds the railroad company responsible for its safe delivery at the station named as its destination, and in due time, save unavoidable delays. In case of its loss the railroad which caused its loss is responsible, under the laws of the land. If not arriving in due time, show the bill of lading to the station agent and he will look it up. Don't give up the bill of lading, but it may be shown to the railroad agent. All orders are sent the same day as received, and the bill of lading is sent to the subscriber the same day we get it. We started this scheme with a view to helping our patrons, and shall carefully and faithfully carry out our part of the agreement in every case.

Pictures of our Bishops.

Many of our readers would gladly possess the pictures of our bishops if they only knew where to get them. In order to accommodate them, we have arranged to supply them with a beautiful cabinet group photograph of all our bishops, for the small sum of 25 cents. Ten per cent of the proceeds will be devoted to the cause of missions. Send at once accompanying every order with the cash. Address

DONALD KENNEDY
Of Roxbury, Mass., says
My Medical Discovery seldom takes hold of two people alike! Why? Because no two people have the same weak spot. Beginning at the stomach it goes searching through the body for any hidden humor. Nine times out of ten, inward humor makes the weak spot. Perhaps its only a little sediment left on a nerve or in a gland; the Medical Discovery slides it right along and you find quick happiness from the first bottle. Perhaps its a big sediment or open sore, well settled somewhere, ready to fight. The Medical Discovery begins the fight, and you think it pretty hard, but soon you thank me for making something that has reached your weak spot. Price $1.50. Sold by every Druggist in the United States and Canada.

SECOND QUARTER.—Lesson III. Jonah sent to Nineveh. Jonah 1-17. Commit to memory verses 14-16. April 19, 1891. About B. C. 862.

HOME READINGS.

M. Jonah 1. 1-17. Th. Jonah 2. 1-10. W. Nahum 1. 1-10. Th. Psa. 107. 23-30. F. Ezek. 33. 1-11. S. 1 Kings 13. 11-24. S. Psa. 139. 1-12.

GOLDEN TEXT.

Preach unto it the preaching that I bid thee. (Jonah 3. 2)

LESSON HYMN, S. M.

Gracious Redeemer, shake
This slumber from my soul!
Say to me now, "Awake, awake!"
And Christ shall make thee whole."

Lay to thy mighty hand;
Alarm me in this hour;
And make me fully understand
The thunder of thy power.

O do thou always warn
My soul of evil near;
When to the right or left I turn Thy voice still let me hear.

Time—About B. C. 862.

Places—1. Galilee. 2. The Mediterranean. 3. Joppa. 4. Tarsish. 5. Nineveh.

Ruler—Jonah prophesied either before or during the reign of Jeroboam II of Israel.

Connecting Links—We cannot tell exactly where in the history of the kings the story of Jonah would come. He was a prophet of the northern kingdom. His birthplace was Gath-hepher, not far from Nazareth. He was probably an old man when Hosea and Amos prophesied.

QUESTIONS FOR HOME STUDY

1. Hiding in the Ship, v. 1-10.

Who received a message from the Lord?

What was Jonah bidden to do?

Where did he determine to go instead?

How did he propose to go to Tarsish?

How did the Lord interfere with Jonah's plans?

What did the sailors in their fear do?

Where was Jonah at this time?

Who was around him, and what was said to him?

What did the sailors propose among themselves?

Upon whom did the lot fall?

What four questions did they ask Jonah?

What did he answer?

What did the men then ask him?

Why were they afraid?

What is God's message to each of us. (Golden Text.)

2. Cast into the Sea, v. 11-17.

What did the sailors ask?

What was Jonah's reply?

How did the men try to save Jonah from his fate?

What then was their prayer?

What did they do with Jonah?

What was the result?

What did the sailors at once do?

Where did Jonah go?

How long was he in that strange prison?

What did Jesus say about Jonah and the whale? (Matt. 18. 40.)

TEACHINGS OF THE LESSON.

Where in this lesson are we taught:

1. That men cannot hide from God?

2. That disobedience brings trouble?

3. That disobedience brings punishment?

HOME WORK FOR YOUNG BE-REANS.

Find an account given in the New Testament of a ship-wreck on this same sea.

Find other miracles where God made use of dumb animals in a miraculous way.

Find a comparison made by our Lord to Jonah?

THE LESSON CATECHISM.

[For the entire school.]

1. What great city was the prophet Jonah sent to call to repentance? Nineveh.

2. To what place did Jonah flee from the presence of the Lord? Tarsish.

3. What did God send to arrest his flight? A great storm.

4. How did the sailors find out on whose account the great storm was sent? They cast lots.

5. What did Jonah tell them to do to him? Cast him forth into the sea.

6. What happened when that was done? The sea ceased from her raging.

7. What became of Jonah? The Lord had prepared a great fish to swallow up Jonah.

Doctrinal Suggestion—The omnipresence of God.

THE CHURCH CATECHISM.

42. Why did Christ thus suffer and die? To offer to divine justice full atonement for the sins of the world.

43. How are we benefitted by Christ's resurrection? He rose for our justification, and ascended to the right hand of God, where he ever liveth to make intercession for us. (Rom. 4. 25; Eph. 1. 20; Col. 3. 1; Heb. 7. 25.)

44. Did Christ make this atonement for all mankind? By the grace of God he tasted death for every man. (Heb. 2. 9.)

IN THE SPRING

AVOID SICKNESS BY PURIFYING THE BLOOD AND TONING UP THE SYSTEM.

Dr. KING'S ROYAL GERMETUER

Does this more pleasantly, more safely and more surely than any other remedy known to medical science.

THESE FIVE THINGS

In which it differs from ordinary medicines, account largely for its wondrous popularity:

1. It does not taste like medicine. It is as pleasant as lemonade, and, sweetened, makes a most refreshing drink. Persons who object to all other medicines, take this with real pleasure because it is good.

2. It never nauseates. The most delicate stomach fluids in this a perfect remedy without a single objection.

3. It never escapes of one disease for another. It reaches, as nothing else does, to the hidden sources of disease in the blood, and removes the cause. It does this with an ease and power that has never been equaled.

4. It does not patch simply. It cures. It reaches, as nothing else does, to the hidden sources of disease in the blood, and removes the cause. It does this with an ease and power that has never been equaled.

5. It is harmless, and may be safely given to a babe one day old. It is free from Alcohol and Opium.

All persons living in malarial districts should keep this great family remedy on hand. It will break any fever in less than twenty minutes, and anti-pyrene, and leave none of their unpleasant and hurtful effects.

For Malaria, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Debility, Kidney Trouble, and for Blood and Skin Diseases, there is nothing to be compared with it.

For Ladies and Children it is far the best.

About Cyclopedias.

"The COLUMBIAN CYCLOPEDIA seems to me to strike a happy medium between the loose, superficial works and the too elaborate and profound ones, which few are competent or desirous of using. Most of the larger general cyclopedias are overloaded with a mass of technical science and official detail that is embarrassing and useless to ordinary readers. The COLUMBIAN is eminently practical, sufficiently full, and carefully compiled, well got up, convenient in form and extent, remarkably cheap, and, as I should judge, admirably adapted to families and general consultation. I think that if properly presented to the public it will have a very wide sale, and be an exceedingly useful work. There is ample room in the market for a Cyclopedic like this, which combines, likewise, the advantage of being an excellent Dictionary of the English Language."

Editorial Notes.

Sinners, obey the Gospel word:
Haste to the supper of the Lord:
Be wise to know your gracious day:
All things are ready.—come away.

The Father, Son, and the Holy Ghost,
Are ready, with their shining host;
All heaven is ready to resound,
The dead's alive! the lost is found!
—Charles Wesley.

THE people demand other qualifications in their preachers besides a pious look, a long frock coat, and an abundant capacity to eat spring chickens.

THE Crusader has been enlarged and makes a splendid appearance. Its matter, as usual, is of the ringing crispy kind, which never fails to command attention.

"THE White Fields of France," the story of a personal visit to the great Evangelical Mission of Paris, will be the subject of a lecture by Rev. W. P. McLaughlin, at Ames Church, Sunday, April 26, 3 p. m. All are invited.

THE war in Chili is still raging. The Revolutionists have conquered the entire Northern provinces, and are now preparing to make a Southern raid. Many of the government leaders and troops have deserted. The entire naval fleet is in the hands of the Insurgents.

The distinguished author, Rev. J. N. Fradenburgh, of Warren, Pa., has been tendered by unanimous vote of the board of trustees, the presidency of the Red River Valley University, located at Wahpeton, N. D., and under the patronage of the North Dakota Conference. The school has just come into existence, and will open its first term in September.

LET every charge observe the second Sunday in May as Freedmen's Aid Jubilee Day. Rally, rally, brethren, and make the occasion the grandest ever observed. Let the contributions of the day, which we hope will be the most liberal ever taken for the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society, be forwarded to Dr. J. C. Hartzell, Cincinnati, O., the following day.

Mrs. Elizabeth Oscar, New Orleans, having read "The House of Bondage," says: "I think every family ought to secure a copy of The House of Bondage. None can realize what slavery was except those who witnessed it. But The House of Bondage gives a perfect picture of it. I see so many inquiries for their relatives in the SOUTHWESTERN, is another reason why I think every family ought to have a copy of The House of Bondage."

The Quarto-Centennial of the South Carolina Conference.

Held at Old Bethel, Charleston, S. C.

April 2, 1866, this conference was organized by Bishop O. C. Baker, in Charleston, the metropolis of South Carolina. At that time the Revs. T. W. Lewis, of Mass., and Alonzo Webster, of Vermont, duly appointed missionaries were in charge of the work.

Outside of an infant theological school, a handful of devoted men, and a few churches in South Carolina, this conference then embraced portions of Georgia and Florida.

Twenty-five years in the history of this conference have passed. At the Preachers' Meeting of the Charleston district, held previous to the last session of the Annual Conference, initiatory steps were taken to celebrate the return of the natal day of this, now the banner conference of the South. Under resolutions, Bishop Warren appointed the Rev. J. E. Wilson and others a committee to arrange for the occasion. And, accordingly, on the 2d of April, 1891, a goodly number of the members of the conference assembled in that historic old church building now occupying its third position in Charleston.

Be it said to the credit of the ladies of said church, that they exhibited much taste in the decoration of Old Bethel.

In looking over the audience one is struck by the striking appearance of the oldest member of the conference, in the person of Rev. J. A. Sasportas. He is truly a father in Israel, and though not on the effective list now, is still active and deeply interested in our work.

Another at once recognized as a pre-eminent personage, is that flaming star from Gammon School of Theology. I refer to President C. N. Grandison, now at the head of Bennett Seminary, Greensboro, N. C. He was here by invitation, and delivered one of the best addresses ever presented to our people in Charleston. Well may the whole church feel proud of this able leader of our race in North Carolina.

While here President Grandison preached and lectured very acceptably to large gatherings, and I assure the church at large that this distinguished official will always receive a cordial welcome anywhere within the limits of the South Carolina Conference.

It is much regretted that notwithstanding the persistent efforts of the secretary of the committee, he could not secure the presence of one of our bishops, nor one of our church secretaries, nor Sunday school agents.

But from beginning to close the meeting was full of interest, congregations large, and on the whole the occasion was instructive and edifying.

With but few exceptions, the excellent program was faithfully carried out. The papers read, the resolutions presented and the addresses delivered were well prepared, and showed clearly that the South Carolina Conference has developed along all lines.

By resolution, the able productions offered to this Quarto Centennial are to be collected and compiled for publication, by your correspondent, the Revs. C. C. Scott, and E. H. Coit, as a souvenir of this grand event.

Among the marked features of this meeting was the reception at the parsonage of Old Bethel, by ladies of our three churches here. Not only was the welcome to friends and strangers warm and hearty, but the entertainment at the various homes was all to be desired.

It became the duty of Rev. Wm. Wilson, Presiding Elder of the Charleston District, to preside over this assembly, and it need not be here stated that he did his part well.

The Rev. J. B. Middleton, for several years conference secretary, was chosen to serve in this capacity for us, and to him, as well as our chairman and those having entertained the ministers, resolutions of thanks were tendered.

The distinguished founder of Methodism, and the departed dead of this conference were tenderly and touchingly considered.

From day to day a number of ministers of various denominations were introduced and given seats among us. Truly the fraternal spirit grows on Carolina soil.

On the afternoon of the second day Bro. Arthur L. McBeth, the only colored photo-artist in this State, photographed this body of divines on the porch of Old Bethel Church, and for the small sum of fifty cents this group, by which this Quarto Centennial was celebrated, may be obtained.

Here allow me to add a few more pleasing features. We had present four of the conference members contributed by the grand old church in which this demonstration was held. I have mentioned the Patriarch. Now, modestly but truly, be it said that Revs. A. and his brother, J. B. Middleton, also your humble writer, are credited with having done credit to their Mother Church, and their Alma Mater, the Baker Theological Institute, which was the first school established by our Church in South Carolina.

Gammon was ably represented by President Grandison and Rev. E. H. Coit. The South Carolina University by Revs. A. G. Townsend and C. C. Scott. The diploma of the latter bears the signature of ex-Gov. Wade Hampton. Revs. D. Minus and T. Clarke clearly demonstrated by their papers that Claflin University is a success as a plant of our glorious Methodism.

We cherish fondly the contribution of the Rev. D. Johnson, educational secretary of the A. M. E. Church, whose presence we had on the third day of our assemblage.

The songs, led by the excellent choir, were of choice kind and well rendered.

Sabbath, April 5, opened with love feasts at Old Bethel and Wesley. It was a great day with us. Not only were our churches well attended, but large congregations assembled at various churches of other denominations to listen to able sermons by the ministers who gathered at our Quarto-Centennial. The closing scenes were full of tenderness and interest, and long will be remembered the First Quarto-Centennial Celebration of the South Carolina Conference.

The following took part in the several exercises: Revs. J. A. Sasportas, B. F. Witherspoon, J. A. Brown, N. T. Bowen, A. Middleton, A. M., D. D., S. S. Lawton, E. M. Pinckney, J. B. Middleton, I. B. Smith, Stewart Simmons, T. J. Clark, E. O. Brown, A. M., James R. Rosemond, D. M. Minus, A. M., W. G. White, B. M. Pegues, W. M. Hanna, A. B., A. G. Townsend, A. M., F. L. Baxter, J. H. Johnson, A. M., McLees, M. M. Monzon, I. E. Lowery, A. M., Prof. O. N. Grandison, President of Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C.; R. A. Cottingham, C. C. Scott, A. B., and F. E. McDonald.

The Quarto-Centennial committee consisted of J. E. Wilson, A. M., D. D., chairman; A. C. Dutton, C. C. Jacobs, W. S. Bailey, E. H. Coit, B. F. Witherspoon, secretary. E. M. PINCKNEY, Reporter.

Lexington Conference.

The twenty-second annual session of the Lexington Conference was convened in Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church, Lexington, Ky., on Wednesday morning, March 18, 1891, Bishop I. W. Joyce, D. D., presiding.

The conference was called to order promptly, and the roll being called, it was found that nearly all the members were present. Edward L. Gillam was elected secretary, with D. E. Skelton and R. L. Dickerson as assistants. H. W. Tate, G. A. Sissel, and N. A. Ellett were elected statistical secretaries. W. C. Echols was elected conference treasurer, with J. F. Moreland assistant.

Several pastors of the city churches, being present, were called forward and introduced to the conference; namely, Revs. J. H. Smith, R. Davis, of the African Methodist Episcopal; George Moore, Baptist; William Gunner, Congregational; H. Tuckley, of Centenary; and Dr. Southgate, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. The character of J. Stanley, of the Lexington District, was passed, and his district reported in a flourishing condition.

The second day's session was preceded by an interesting sermon of song and praise. A most interesting feature was the Question Drawer. Many questions, touching our ecclesiastical economy, were answered by the bishop to the edification of all. It is fair to say that these early meetings were more largely attended than ever before.

From the first opening, the bishop had matters well in hand. Personal acquaintance with many of the members gave him some advantages not possessed by an entire stranger.

The characters of E. W. S. Hammond, Ohio District, W. S. Rollins, Indiana District, G. W. Thomas, Louisville District, and Daniel Jones, of the Bowling Green District, were passed, and their respective districts reported. A healthy increase was shown in the benevolent collections, in the organization of new churches and Sunday schools, in building and improving churches and parsonages, and in soul-saving. With but a single exception, the characters of all the effective men on the several districts were found to be clear.

In many respects, this has been the most remarkable year in the history of the conference. Many precious souls have been brought to Christ. There were thrilling reports of hardship, toil, and sacrifice for the Master,—high waters, storm, malaria, a mighty battling with the various and varied forms of sin, which often brought a tear to the eye and a shudder to the heart. We venture the assertion that there is not another conference in all our great Methodism which can present a better showing when the surrounding circumstances are taken into consideration. If there have been failures, they are very largely due to a lack of association with the purer and better and higher phases of that civilization and culture and piety enjoyed by our more highly-favored fellow-citizens.

Twenty years have wrought great changes. We miss the faces of the fathers, who have wrought faithfully and well. Younger men fill their places. Yet these heroes are not forgotten, and the retirement from actual service of those who remain with us is made pleasant by the reflection that they are still loved and honored by their sons in the ministry.

Bishop Joyce extended a new revolution when he started an invitation to all who might desire to talk with him on matters pertaining to the appointments, etc. It is feared that the invitation so generously extended was abused, which doubtless added to the perplexities incident to a proper adjustment of the forces for efficient service. However, those who had the benefit of an interview went away with the reflection that they had been counseled by a great and good man—a father and a brother.

Friday was a great day. The vote on the admission of women as delegates to the General Conference was made the order of the day. The lay vote, as canvassed, showed a majority in favor of the proposition. There was intense anxiety as to the result of the clerical vote. The roll-call showed that 85 votes were cast. Of these 61 voted for admission, and 24 against, showing a majority of 37 in favor of admission.

High ground was taken on the subject of education, and a committee appointed to secure a Conference Academy within its bounds. We were very highly favored with the presence and addresses of Revs. Drs. Parks, of Gammon Theological Seminary; M. B. Carrel, of the Epworth League; W. L. Davidson, of the Sunday School Union; C. H. Payne, of the Board of Education; W. A. Spencer, of the Church Extension Society; D. H. Moore, editor of Western Christian Advocate; G. W. Gray, of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society; G. S. Savage, of the American Bible Society.

The Sunday services were unusually interesting and profitable. The love feast, which was a season of great spiritual profit, was conducted by M. McOomer. The sermon of the bishop was a masterly presentation of truth, yet in such plain and simple manner that the vast audience was swept by its resistless logic and power. After the sermon S. H. Ferguson, F. W. Kennedy, T. R. Prentiss, and G. L. Firman, were ordained deacons. Rev. C. H. Payne, D. D., LL. D., preached a very able sermon to a vast but interested audience in the afternoon, after which E. L. Gillam, E. A. White, W. Langford, and Joseph Adkins were ordained elders.

Bishop Joyce made a splendid impression. His wonderful talks, his patient and painstaking interest in the management of the difficult matters brought before him, his genial and kindly bearing to the humblest member, have made an impression that will not be very soon forgotten. The conference holds its next annual session in Indianapolis, Ind.

Benevolent collections: Missions, $725; Church Extension, $302; Sunday School Union, $64; Tracts, $50; Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, $18; Woman's Home Missionary, $16; Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education, $499; Education, $141; Episcopal Fund, $156; Conference Claimants, $102.

There were three changes in the Presiding Eldership, and one appointed for the fifth year. Of the new men, two are from the ranks of the younger men of the conference. Zealous, studious, pious, safe, we are expecting great things of them. Thus we face about once more to meet the responsibilities of another year.

After a few touching and tender remarks by the bishop, the minutes were read and the appointments announced.—Western.

G. J. Izard, Richmond, Tex.

Preachers of the Texas Conference, I now plainly see a mistake so many of us have made. The mistake is this; we do not give enough attention to the young people and children of our charges. I find at this, my present appointment, more young people attending church services than at any of my previous appointments. Some of them are members of the church while a great many are not, but love the church, will attend and liberally contribute. On coming in personal contact with them I find they very much desire to be placed in such a position, relative to the church as will make them known and recognized by name. To this end we have gone to work to organize them into church helping societies. To this they come at once and lay hold. There are many young people of this charge who were once members. On visiting them and entreating reclamation they claim that lack of recognition by pastors and older members had thrown them into a backsliding condition, while pastors seemed to love and respect them they would not give such work to do in the church as would make them love to attend and sustain their membership. We are having a revival with encouraging manifestations on the part of the sinners to be saved. Several come forward for prayer each night.

M. C. McEwen, Tupelo, Miss.

The brothers and sisters all met me with a warm reception and gave me the assurance that they were going to lift the standard of Christ higher, so we began to work. We have decided to build a parsonage, which is much needed. The following contributed liberally: Henry Giles, $5; J. W. Baker, $5; Moses Williams, $2 50; Prof. C. C. Slack, $2 50; Prof. R. J. Price, $1 50; Mr. C. R. Head, $1 50. We collected $29 to buy land upon which to build, and some of the lumber on the ground in our first effort. Many gave from $1 to 25 cents. We bought a nice lot. It is paid for and deeded to us. To interest the young people we organized a young peoples' christian association. President, C. L. Borgs; C. B. Head, vice-president and general manager. We have thirty-five members at present.

T. S. McMorris, Bryan, Tex.

Our first quarterly conference convened March 2, Rev. W. H. Logan presiding. Our quarter was excellent. The Elder commended the cordial relation existing between pastor and people. The service on Sunday passed off very profitably. Elder W. H. Logan preached a good sermon which conquered sinners and comforted saints. Collection for Elder $14. The Lord's supper was administered by the Elder assisted by the pastor, and seventy-three partook of the same.

T. Larkins, Morgan City, La.

March 29th, Easter Sunday, was a high and beautiful day with Union Chapel, M. E. Church, Young and old were out in large numbers and the services were observed in grand style. Mr. Joshua Thomas, the superintendent, had things nicely and neatly arranged. Too much honor cannot be given him and the ladies who decorated the church with fine taste. The music was rendered by Mrs. Dora Liggins. Our church has some strong opposers but that only makes us stronger. We have some strong friends however. Some lunatic is always talking about us and our white bishops; they call them our masters. A bigger lie could not come from hell. We have no time to talk about white or black bishops; we talk about Christ and his kingdom, man and his soul. The command is, "go ye in to all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature." Is not that enough to do? God bless our bishops and the church. We know no color; caste is a sin and we preach against it. We know God and man, education, religion and money. Collection $72 25.

P. H. Hill, Rosemeath, Miss.

My first quarterly conference was held March 21-25, Elder J. Campbell in the chair. Reports evinced success in every department of work. Sunday service at 9 a. m., Sunday school in full attendance, at the close of which it was ably addressed by the Presiding Elder. At 11 o'clock a. m., the Elder preached an able sermon and administered the Lord's supper to 112, and received one in church. At night we had a good old love feast. Four precious little babes were baptized. Collection $38 90. We are arranging to erect a new church building. At second call for this cause we realized $216 65. Rev. J. M. Dixon, $40; M. B. Blackwell, $30; O. R. Roberts, $25; S. T. Thomas, $15; J. O. Martin, $10; J. J. Martin and others, $5.

E. Kisby, Harmony Grove, Ga.

Our beloved Elder held our first quarterly conference March 28-29. Sunday 9:30 o'clock lovefeast. At 11 o'clock the Elder preached on the resurrection of Christ to a large crowded house. The sermon will outlast the ages and never be forgotten. Heaven came down our souls to greet, while glory crowns the mercy seat. Rev. M. M. Alsator, our Elder, preached two sermons Sunday and gave the communion, assisted by ex-pastor Rev. B. Boston and the writer. He is a perfect model and is bound to carry Gainesville district to the million dollar line. Communicants, seventy six. It was a day of fat things. Collected at quarter $31; paid Elder $20, pastor $38 52; raised for all purposes, $68 97. Send eight subscribers to the dear old SOUTHWESTERN. Still working for her.

B. J. Reddix, Campie, La.

Our first quarterly conference convened with Rev. S. Dannoan, P. E., in the chair. After the conference we had a reviving sermon from Rev. M. T. Fairfax. Elder Duncan was warmly greeted by the members. They grasped his hands and welcomed him in their midst again as a true and loyal christian brother. Collection $16 50. Prof. R. Barrow is here teaching day and Sunday school. He is succeeding with both Methodists and Baptists. Our church is in debt. Who will give us a subscription? Help us.

P. O. Jamison, Starkville, Miss.

On the night of the 27th of March I heard, at the parsonage door, the melodious strains of "Bringing in the Sheaves." On opening the door there were some of Starkville's finest ladies and gentlemen; also children, came to bring sheaves to the pastor and his wife. They brought many useful things. A short speech was made by Bro. C. E. Moody, to which the pastor's wife responded. Friends, call again.

J. C. Hibbler, Vicksburg, Miss.

It was with much regret that I left Natchez, and with much pleasure that I came here. I received a hearty welcome. We have had already fifty-one added to the church. God greatly blessed us in our revival. We are now praying and preparing for a financial revival. The sign is promising. Rev. S. A. Cowan, P. E., the man for the place, held our first quarterly conference March 21-22. It was an occasion of the Holy Spirit. The new Elder preached with a new and electrifying gift. All present were made to rejoice. The church does not owe the pastor or Presiding Elder anything. She has paid up to date. We go next week to Natchez to help in their rally and great struggle for existence. We ask the church to pray for our success there. The Methodist Episcopal Church cannot afford not to have a church there. It may well be called the "garden spot of the South." Shame be upon us if we do not have a church there. The outlook was never better than now. If we fail in this effort, we may as well quit trying.

S. J. Harris, Chattanooga, Tenn.

Our series of meetings of nearly five weeks have resulted in forty conversions and forty accessions. There is quite a revival in all of the departments of church work, spiritually and financially. The Lord has done great things for us whereof we are glad. We have been assisted in the meetings by Revs. W. T. Marley, D. W. Hayes, Presiding Elder, J. T. Henry, J. G. Dinsmore and our local brethren. Pray that the Lord may continue to bless us in our work.

J. T. Gibbons, San Antonio, Tex.

Left his charge at St. James, Waco, with regret. His people too regretted to lose him. The night before he left a selected number of the friends gave him a grand farewell reception at the residence of that noble and most faithful sister, Mrs. Evilena Foster, wife Presiding Elder Foster, and many others had spared no pains in making every preparation to make a lasting impression on his mind. He and his family can never forget that pleasant social gathering that invaded the house of Presiding Elder Foster on that night. Refreshments of all kinds were served to the crowded house to the satisfaction of all, and the merry voices of the many present made them forget the sadness of their separation, at least for the time being. Arriving at San Antonio they met "the Black Swann" Presiding Elder of the San Antonio District, and that noble old hero C. L. Madison, who had served this people successfully for four years, in the first quarterly conference. Bro. Gibbons says: "We could hear the suppressed murmuring all around, 'they have sent us a little country boy for our pastor this year, and oh, how each one that was called on to pray, would pray for the young brother, who was to succeed Elder Madison.' Rev. C. L. Madison has greatly endeared himself to this people for his faithful pastorate. Very sad indeed was his separation from them. No one could easily resist loving that noble and affectionate wife of his at first sight. We hope to gain a hold upon the hearts of those we have to serve this year in the near future."

O. H. Flowers, Pearlington, Miss.

All the people on this work seem to love me and are treating me nicely. Our first quarterly conference was held March 21-22 by our beloved Presiding Elder, Rev. B. L. Ormump. Reports showed the work in a good spiritual condition. Sunday was a grand day. The Presiding Elder preached an arousing sermon after which one joined the church and fifty-nine persons commended. Paid the Elder $15, pastor $75 96; raised for the church, $134 35 this quarter. We expect to build one of the finest parsonages on the district. Total collection up to date $225. I will do all I can for the SOUTHWESTERN and assure you of my hearty support.

A. B. Venable, Boncheste Circuit, La.

I met a warm reception all over this circuit. My first quarterly conference was held March 4, Rev. Stephen Duncan, Presiding Elder, in the chair. Many of our people own their own homes and plantations and are doing well. The sacrament was administered by the Presiding Elder, assisted by the writer and Rev. J. J. Obee, the pastor of Shady Grove circuit. The Elder preached one of his soul-stirring sermons. Brother Duncan is beloved by the people. We are moving on grandly. I shall do all in my power for the good old SOUTHWESTERN in getting cash subscribers.

J. H. Wilson, Jesup, Ga.

We have started for a big year's work for the Master. We are going in for a big revival to build a parsonage here and a new church at New Hope. I am just recovering from a serious attack of la grippe and liver complaint and hope to be able soon to go to work. Our first quarterly conference which convened at Jesup March 7th, with our efficient Presiding Elder, A. P. Melton, was a decided success. On March 19, as on two other occasions, the pastor was agreeably surprised by a large crowd of brothers and sisters of all the churches, headed by Rev. J. W. Fisher, who brought us many good things. On the 23rd inst., the sad intelligence of the death of sister Elizabeth Grant, a young member of our church here, about 16 years old reached our ears. She was a student of Clark University, Atlanta, and came from there only a few weeks since sick with that dreadful disease consumption. She was a consistent little christian and while we mourn her loss we are thankful that heaven has gained. Just before her death she said, with a complacent smile upon her face, "all is well," and then went up in one of God's chariots to take her place among the saints who have crossed over before her. The funeral was attended by Rev. L. W. Coats, of Blackshear, according to her request. A large procession followed her remains to their last resting place, while the writer remained indoors under medical treatment.

W. L. Duncan.

The first Sabbath after conference found me at my post. As a stranger I cannot tell so much about the work, but can say this much: things look pretty good. With strong practical preaching and a presentation of all the claims of the church, we shall do a grand work this year. I have found this great trouble in more places, the glory of the church has not been showed up fully. One of the strong hold of our church has been much neglected—the SOUTHWESTERN. The people say my pastor don't say anything to us about the paper. Brethren of the Texas Conference, don't be afraid of your money; press all the claims of the church, forget self. Somebody will see you and come to your rescue. Let us prove to our members that they are losing ground by neglecting the SOUTHWESTERN, which brings joy and gladness to every heart. I spent a short while in Sherman and Corsicana. Both of them are growing towns, but Methodists have not any hold in either place. Some of our preachers go to a place, hardly get off of the train, if things don't suit them. They get a square meal, then stand around waiting for the next train; when it comes off they go, saying the people are devils. Brethren, let us get out of that, for we have more to do with, and more to talk about than any other church on the globe. This is a good deal to say, but it is only a very small part—the half has not been told you. Pretty soon we shall send you some cash subscribers. May God give you good health this year.

S. M. Boleen, Jefferson, Tex.

We are moving on nicely. Our first quarterly conference was held March 14-15, by Rev. W. Hamilton, our new and efficient Presiding Elder. He spoke in high terms of our Sunday school, which is doing well. After preaching Sunday at 3 p. m., 156 persons partook of the sacrament of the Lord's supper. Collection, $36 20; accessions during the quarter, fourteen, baptized, three; paid pastor, $51 55; Presiding Elder, $15; benevolent money raised, $5 05. Total money raised during the quarter, $167 10. Preparations are being made to erect a new church on Broadway street, which is a beautiful site. Our congregation demands a new and larger church.

S. H. Grant, Coldsprings, Tex.

I reached my work January 25, and found a church at Camilla Hill; at Coldsprings no church; a church at Swardout and also one at Wolfcreek. I found a loving and kind hearted people, a people willing to work for the church and pastor. My family being delayed on account of small pox I could not get them here, the people raised the money and sent for them on the 11 inst. We have a good Sunday school at Camilla, also a good day school, Prof. D. S. Wheatly and wife teachers. I have added ten to the church and raised $109. 35 for all purposes. God is with us.

W. Ellison, Farmington, Tenn.

The second quarterly conference was held on the 28 and 29 of March by Rev. J. P. Price, P. E. The Easter program was read in concert by the pastor and the people, and the pastor gave a lecture and a blackboard exercise showing the amount of missionary money that had been raised since the organization of the Missionary Society in the M. E. Church to the present, after which the preached a rousing sermon: Paid pastor, $17; Presiding Elder, $10; benevolent collection, $3; mission, $2; total, $32.

C. T. Roberts, Troup Factory, Ga.

This is my fourth year on this charge. When I came here we had 250 members; we have 400 now. We have the best Presiding Elder in the conference and I think he is able to lead the church for Christ. My first quarterly meeting was held Feb. 21-22 by Rev. E. L. Hammett. We paid him $16 50. He preached one of his soul-stirring sermons.

Lost Friends.

We make no charge for publishing these letters from subscribers. All others will be charged fifty cents. Pastors will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report any case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.

Mr. Editor: I wish to inquire for my three brothers. Their names were Robert, Moses and Smith Meyers. My father's name was Moses Meyers; he was a coal-digger. My brother Robert was keeper of the toll-gate at Mayo's Bridge. Brother Moses used to drive the machine at the coal pit. Brother Smith was sold to Halven Cottrell. He was a cooper. My mother's name was Lucy. I was taken from behind the plow and brought to Richmond, Va., and put in the trader's yard. We belonged to the Cottrell family, in Henrico county, Va. My name is Emma Robinson. Address care Rev. P. P. Robinson, 135 Enghein street, New Orleans, La.

Mr. Editor: I want to inquire for my son, Robert Virgin, who left Shreveport, La., about two years ago. My son left on a steamboat, and the last I heard of him he was in New Orleans in the hospital, sick. My name is Emeline Virgin. Address Box 375, Shreveport, La.

Mr. Editor: I desire to find my brother. His name was Sampson. His first owner was named George McPherson. He sold him to John A. Linton, at Blount Springs, Ala. Mr. Linton sold him to a Mississippi cotton farmer. Any information will be gladly received. Address, Margaret Robinson, Blountville, Ala., or care Rev. G. W. Rivers, Box 23, Walnut Grove, Ala.

Mr. Editor: I desire to enquire about my mother whom I have not seen for years. Her name when I saw her last was Penny Willingham. Her husband's name was John Willingham. My mother had four children, Martha Viney, Mary and Henry. She was in Marshall county Miss., when I last saw her. Any information about her would be highly appreciated. Write to Martha Parker, New Iberia, La., Box 87.

Consumption Surely Cured.

To the Editor:—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for consumption. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy FREE to any of your readers who have consumption if they will send me their Express and P. O. Address. Respectfully, T. A. SLOCUM, M. C., 181 Pearl St. N. Y.

THE RELIEF

THAT FOLLOWS THE USE OF COMPOUND OXYGEN DOES NOT DISAPPEAR WHEN THE TREATMENT IS DISCONTINUED.

COMPOUND OXYGEN CREATES STRENGTH; MAINTAINS IT. THIS IS A DIRECT RESULT, BECAUSE THIS POWERFUL REMEDIAL AGENT IS PURE NOURISHMENT IN ORDER TO INHALE IT, IT MUST BE RELEASED FROM THE INHALER BY HEAT. THIS SENDS A WARM, OXYGENATED VAPOR THROUGH THE LUNGS THAT IS VERY EFFECTIVE IN DISLOGGING CLOTS AND OBSTRUCTIONS. THE APPARATUS WHICH ACCOMPANIES EVERY TREATMENT IS SIMPLICITY ITSELF. A CHILD CAN USE IT. AND THAT'S A GREAT POINT. THIS WARMING, REVITALIZING VAPOR COMING INTO CONTACT WITH A CHILD'S LUNGS BREAKS UP INCIPENT COLDS AND COUGHS, AND RELIEVES CROUP IN A WONDERFULLY SHORT TIME.

A BOOK OF 200 PAGES WILL TELL YOU WHO HAVE REGAINED HEALTH AND STRENGTH BY THE USE OF COMPOUND OXYGEN. THIS BOOK IS FILLED WITH THE SIGNED ENDORSEMENTS OF MANY WELL KNOWN MEN AND WOMEN. IF YOU WOULD LIKE TO HAVE THE BOOK YOU WILL GET IT FREE OF CHARGE. POSTAGE PREPAID BY US, IF YOU WILL WRITE TO ANY ONE OF THE FOLLOWING ADDRESSES:

Our Connectional Societies

What they ask for 1891.

Missionary Society	$1,350,000
Board of Church Extension	253,000
Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society	280,000
Sunday School Union	50,000
Tract Society	50,000
Board of Education	50,000
Woman's Foreign Missionary Society	228,659
Woman's Home Missionary Society	86,000

The year Book of the Sunday School Union and Tract Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church just issued, shows that there are now connected with the church, 26,919 Sunday schools, 296,785 officers, and 2,313,644 scholars. This gives an increase over last year of 1,091 schools; 10,017 officers, and 125,576 scholars. The Tract Society printed during the year, 2,254,000 copies of Tracts. This is a splendid showing for the year.

Memorial Home at Washington.

The Lucy Webb Hayes Memorial Deaconess Home and Training School for Missionaries is an assured fact. The gift of property to the amount of $10,000 by Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Nash, supplemented by several thousand dollars contributed by its citizens secured the location at Washington, D. C.

The institution is to bear the name and will keep in blessed memory the first president of the Woman's Home Missionary Society. It is proposed to make this home a centre for the training of missionaries for both the home and the Foreign fields. The Memorial Fund contributed by the society in various parts of the country, increased by special gifts of the friends at Washington will insure the inauguration of the work under favorable auspices. Changes necessary to adapt the building to the object will be made, and the home will be opened Sept. 1st.

Unlike Deaconess Homes of the Society which are managed and the property held by Local and Conference Boards, this will be under the care of the General Board of Managers and the Baltimore Conference Board, and it will be sustained by the yearly contributions of the auxiliaries throughout the country.

To Miss Jane M. Bancroft, Ph. D., who has so successfully represented the society as Field Superintendent, is chiefly due the interest in Washington which has resulted in gifts aggregating nearly $15,000 in money and property, and which makes it possible to inaugurate at once this grand enterprise.

General Church News.

The Reign of Rum.

The Select House Committee on Alcoholic Liquor Traffic presented the following facts in its recent report in favor of prohibition in the District of Columbia: "Of the 21,150 arrests in Washington by the police, of the same year (ending June 30, 1890,) 13,341 (over 63 per cent) were for liquor, assault, and battery, assault and battery with intent to kill, disorderly conduct, intoxication, and drunk and disorderly, being offenses chargeable to drink. Of these 13,341 arrests over 19 per cent were under 21 years of age, showing that over one-fifth of the cases were boys. A letter from General Crocker, warden of the jail, says that, after a careful analysis made by himself, he has come to the conclusion that 75 per cent of the crimes committed by the inmates are traceable to the corrupting influence of intemperate habits and associations with others of similar habits, and that the statistics of the workhouse and almshouse will not materially vary from those of the jail. It has been estimated by an ex-major of police that it requires $90,000 every week to support the liquor traffic in the District of Columbia, or $4,680,000 per year, which is a direct tax upon the people. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1890, according to report from Assessor's office 465 wholesale and 693 retail licenses were granted; for these the fee would be $80,925. This is all that whiskey contributes toward the relief of the suffering caused by its sale and use, represented in almshouse, workhouse, jail, reform school, criminal and police courts, charitable institutions," etc.

General News Items.

A German statistician says that there are 3,985 paper mills in the world, and that of the 1,904,000,000 pounds of paper turned out annually, half is used for printing, 600,000,000 pounds being required for newspapers alone, the consumption of which has risen by 200,000,000 pounds within the last decade. He alleges that, on an average, an Englishman uses 11½ pounds of paper an American 10½, a German 8, a Frenchman 7½, an Italian or an Austrian 3½, a Spaniard 1½, a Russian 1½, and a Mexican 2.

According to an amendment of the school laws of the state of Michigan, children suffering from consumption or chronic catarrh must be excluded from public schools. The circumstances is interesting as the first step toward a public recognition of a most important truth, the fact, namely, that the disorders of the respiratory organs can be propagated by direct contagion, and that the atmosphere of a consumptive's sick room, unless constantly ventilated, is apt to become a virulent lung poison.

There are 10,000 cases of la grippe at Minneapolis, and there was one death from the malady on Monday.

Mrs. G. R. Smith, Alleyton, Tex., in a letter inclosing her subscription, says: "The SOUTHWESTERN is a paper that should be in every family. I cannot and will not do without it, and I shall ever encourage its circulation. No paper is so interesting to me. I am at a loss when I don't get it."

Books and Current Literature.

Littell's Living Age. The numbers of The Living Age for the weeks ending March 28th and April 4th, contains Forged Literature, Nineteenth Century; The Correspondence of an Old Scotch Factor, Scottish; The Early Diary of Frances Burney, Church Quarterly; Lord John Russell, Contemporary; etc.

For fifty-two numbers of sixty-four large pages each (or more than 3,300 pages a year) the subscription price ($8) is low; while for $10.50 the publishers offer to send any one of the American $4 monthlies or weeklies with The Living Age for a year, both postpaid. Littell & Co., Boston, are the publishers.

The Season for May just received, and contains an unusually fine and varied number of designs for ladies' and children's costumes. The Season is a publication that should be found in every home. Yearly subscription, $3.50. Single copy, 30c. The International News Company, 83 and 85 Duane street, New York.

A Son of Old Harry is the unique title of a story by Judge Tourgee, which has appeared in the New York Ledger. It is one of those surprises which this indefatigable writer is always springing on the literary world, to the confusion of the critics, who have no sooner got him fitted to a niche than he jumps down and clambers into another. Utterly defiant of ironical rules, by which under the claim of art they attempt to chain fiction to insignificance and rapidity, he chooses his characters wherever he sees fit and portrays them with a vivid lifelikeness, which compels recognition and stamps each one indelibly upon the reader's memory. A Son of Old Harry is emphatically a horse story.

Fleming H. Revell, Publisher, Chicago and New York, is constantly issuing from his press some of the best literary publications that are being offered to the public. Among these we commend, with pleasure, Messages of Jesus, and First Things in the World; price 20 cents each. These are both spiritual and literary gems.

Forward March! Through Battle to Victory; Talks to Young People on Life and Success, by Rev. Henry Tuckley, is a work whose title very clearly indicates its mission and purpose. The book was not written for theologians nor profound philosophers, but for young people, to whom it will be most instructive in every noble purpose. The author dedicates the volume to his honored friend, Col. Amos Shinkle, whose high christian character may well be given as a model of the highest type of a christian gentleman. Price $1. Cincinnati, Cranston & Stowe; New York, Hunt & Eaton.

The second number of the first volume of the A. M. E. Zion

Church Quarterly Review, has made its appearance. Geo. W. Clinton, A. B., is editor. It is full of good things and gives promise of a great and successful career. Its table of contents will compare with that of the best reviews published in this country. We extend to the Review, its editor and able corps of contributors a warm and fraternal welcome. Yearly subscription $1.50. Single copy 40c., Pittsburg, Pa.

The General Minutes of the Spring and Fall Conference of 1890 have been published in splendid shape. Two volumes, $1 per volume. Send for a set. You will thereby get the complete showings for all the conferences in Methodism, including every appointment, statistics, etc. Hunt & Eaton, New York.

The Minutes of the First Session of the Upper Mississippi Conference is creditable to Secretary J. L. Wilson.

The Minutes of the Central Alabama Conference, a copy of which has been furnished by Secretary A. N. Jackson, is creditable to all concerned.

Rev. F. A. Clinton, Mobile, Ala., will please accept thanks for a copy of the Minutes of the West Alabama Conference, A. M. E. Zion Church.

Rev. Joseph M. Deas, one of the publishers, has sent us a copy of the Minutes of the last session of the Florida Conference. It is very neatly gotten up.

Guide to Holiness, 62 and 64 Bible House, New York, is now in its fifty-second year and is commended by ministers and people of the several Evangelical Churches. It studiously avoids controversy. It aims to show that Christianity is love, pure love, and urges Christians to claim their privilege, which is a fulness of love in Christ Jesus. The April number contains an able sermon by Rev. R. V. Lawrence on Sin and its Remedy. The departments are supplied with choice matter. The magazine, 32 pages, is issued monthly, at $1 a year, postage included.

How Josh Worked Up a Concept, by Josh, Senior, has been published by the Fleming H. Revell Company, Chicago and New York. It is a very entertaining production.

The Treasury for Pastor and People for April, the closing number of vol. viii, is on our table. One great feature of this number is the complete index by texts, authors, and topics of the twelve monthly issues of the year. A glance at this index will reveal the wealth and variety of the matter discussed and presented in this religious monthly. The most prominent article in this issue in the sermon line is, The Heroism of the Christian Ministry, by Dr. Jay Benson Hamilton, with a fine portrait, a view of his church, and a sketch of his life. Dr. T. L. Cuyler has a beautiful Pen Picture of Dr. E. N. Kirk. Yearly, $2.50; clergymen, $2; single copies, 25 cents. E. B. Treat, publisher, 5 Cooper Union, New York.

Norman Reid, M. A., by Jessie P. Finlay, is one of the most fascinating of the charming Scotch Stories, which have recently been published by our Book Concern. The present story is interesting and impresses many excellent moral lessons. Price 90c. Cincinnati, Cranston & Stowe. New York, Hunt & Eaton.

Among the many productions of Annie S. Swan, published by a popular house in Edinburgh, Scotland, none takes higher rank than Hazell & Sons, Brewers, which has just been issued from the Western Book Concern. Price, 75c. Cincinnati, Cranston & Stowe. New York, Hunt & Eaton.

The late Peter Henderson's only daughter, Mrs. Isabel Henderson Floyd, has written a charming little serial entitled Uncle Aaron, which is to be published in Seed-Time and Harvest, beginning with the March issue. The publishers offer to send the three numbers containing this "pathetic life picture" for only 10 cents, or the Journal a full year without premium for 30 cents. Address Seed-Time and Harvest, LaPlume, Pa.

The April Arena opens with a paper by Prof. Geo. W. Winterburn, M. D., of New York, dealing with the future of philosophy. R. Mason Osgood, A. M., M. D., of New York, contributes an interesting contribution on recent discoveries in Hypnotism. One of the most striking features of this issue is Prof. James T. Bixby's contribution on Buddhism in the New Testament. Arthur Dudley Vinson contributes a thoughtful paper on Morality and Environment. The editor writes on Extravagance and Penny in our Metropolis, Leprosy of the Soul, and White Slaves of New York. This issue of the Arena is at once rich in variety and strong in its presentation of great fundamental problems.

The April number of Romance, the magazine of the New York Story Club, contains nineteen complete stories. Every reader of good stories will find something to his taste. The price of Romance is only 25 cents a number, or $3 a year, and a specimen number will be sent for 10 cents. Address the New York Story Club, 30 E. 23d street, New York.

Miracles and Medicine is the fruitful subject which Dr. Andrew D. White will take up next in his Warfare of Science papers in The Popular Science Monthly.

A BEAU OF 1829.

When grandpa went a-wooing, He wore a satin vest, A trail of running roses Embroidered on the breast. The pattern of his trousers, His linen white and fine, Were all the latest fashion In eighteen twenty-nine. Grandpa was a fine looking young fellow then, so the old ladies say, and he is a fine-looking old gentleman now. For the past score of years he has been a firm believer in the merits of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. "It renewed my youth," he frequently says. "It is the only blood-purifier and liver invigorator guaranteed to benefit or cure, or money promptly refunded. It cures liver disease, dyspepsia, scrofulous sores, skin eruptions, and all diseases of the blood. For lingering scrofula in its early stages it is an unparalleled remedy."

A. E. P. ALBERT, D. D., - Editor

Official paper for the following Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church: Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas, West Texas, Tennessee, East Tennessee, Little Rock, Central Alabama, Savannah, Florida, North Carolina and South Carolina.

Largest Circulation of any Religious Newspaper in New Orleans.

THE Jewish Messenger says: "If John Wesley had lived in Biblical times his right to the title of prophet and teacher among the saintly men of old would now be undisputed."

THE Catholic Church is to be "re-organized" in Brazil—it needs it sadly. We have no invitation as yet to be present at the ceremonies, but we suggest the Holy Scriptures as a fine starting point for the new organization.

A. W. COOK, Wiley University, Marshall, Tex., is evidently well pleased with this paper. He says in a note enclosing his subscription: "I find that I cannot do without the SOUTHWESTERN. I am sorry I waited so long before I subscribed for it, but I shall keep up my subscription if I have to take my hat and go around and beg the money. I shall not be without the paper."

A POLICEMAN of the New Orleans force committed suicide last week in a house of ill-fame. He was only 24 years of age and was suffering, the papers said, from an "incurable disease." Are such men to be appointed custodians of the lives and morals of our people? Is this a sample of the regime which the orators of our 14th of September tell us has brought "political regeneration."

THE editor and family spent last Sabbath at St. Charles, with Rev. S. Mitchell and people. The services were highly profitable. The second Sunday in May is Silver Dollar Day with them. They hope then to raise the means with which to build a parsonage. Everybody seems interested and it is quite probable that a considerable sum will be collected on that day.

THE Eighteenth National Conference of Charities and Correction will meet at Indianapolis, May 13-20, 1891. This conference, dealing as it does with questions that affect so many of the troubled and broken, deserves a good representation of all the charitable and reform agencies, public or private, in this country. For further information, write Mr. Oscar C. McCulloch, President, Indianapolis, Ind.

THE Illinois Central Railroad offers a rare opportunity to visit Birmingham, Ala., at one fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold May 5th, 6th and 7th, good to return within thirty days from date of sale. The occasion of this will be the Southern Baptist Convention, May 8th to 15th, '91. For further information call upon or address Ticket Agent of the Illinois Central at nearest station. The Illinois Central Railroad through its assistant general passenger agent, T. W. Coleman, is especially kind and courteous to our people and we hope they will give the road a large patronage whenever opportunity offers.

FRANCE is rushing on to the Niagara of bankruptcy. It was the grand Monarque who said, "After us the deluge."—And this seems to be the aphorism of her present generation of statesmen. France has all the elements of a great people, but on one side is the Scylla of Romanism and on the other the Charybdis of Ranism. Her Sarbonne and Champ de Mars will never pilot her through. If France could but follow the faith of her glorious Huguenots and listen to Coligny and Madame Guyon, she would become great beyond her dreams. But the sirens who charm her now will, certain as fate, hurl her ere long again upon the rocks.

Wilberforce's Scheme Exposed and Denounced.

The shameful scheme concocted by Wilberforce University, the A. M. E. school in Ohio, to revive the color line in the schools of that State in order to advance a selfish interest of her own, is being exposed by the citizens of that State and is being roundly denounced. A few weeks ago we called the attention of our readers to the fact that Wilberforce was "posing as an agricultural college for colored people, to claim the proportion the colored population of that State would naturally be entitled to in the recent appropriation from the National Government to the States for agricultural education, had the State a separate school system for the two races."

In the name of our people, who are not connected with the sect that she represents, and of all those who are contending against the color line as drawn everywhere we then protested against the scheme. For this we have been roundly abused by some of the African Methodist preachers and people. The best evidence of the correctness of our position is in the fact that the course we have market out is being endorsed by the friends of equal rights, (who are not otherwise selfishly interested) all over the country, and especially in the State of Ohio. We repeat that our objections to Wilberforce getting this money are, that "it is not, and never was an agricultural college. In the next place, it is not a State, nor a non-sectarian institution. Lastly, the provision in the law calling for an equitable distribution of the appropriations between State agricultural colleges of each race, was intended only to cover the cases of our miserable section, where the co-education of the races is not tolerated, nor permitted. It was not intended for the thoroughly civilized portions of the country, where mixed schools exist. Ohio does not ask a child what proportion of white or Negro blood courses his veins before admitting him to any of her public schools. This is the proud condition for which the race is contending in every department of life."

The matter is still pending before the Ohio Legislature with every indication that it will remain buried beneath the protests of the wide-awake colored citizens of that state who are opposed to a revival of the Black Code in that state; and the decision of the U. S. Commissioner of the Interior, which declares that the grant cannot be legally diverted to Wilberforce. Among those who led this vigorous protest was the Rev. James Poin-dexter of Columbus, Ohio, one of the most prominent and influential colored ministers in Ohio. To the House Committee on Agriculture, he made a powerful speech, in which he said that to recognize Wilberforce in the deviation of this fund would simply revive the color line. He for one was willing to lay down his life as a sacrifice at any time if that would preserve inviolate those things which he and the race should cherish above all others; and one of the most sacred of these was equality in the schools.

The division of the fund would indicate that the black man was barred from the chief institution of the State and Wilberforce school designated for those prohibited from other schools, as was found in the South. He was confident that a majority of the colored people of the State were opposed to the bill.

Mr. Clarence Waring, another of Ohio's strongest men, argued against the division and said that it was an infamous proposition—infamous because of its outrageous inconsistency. He said its advocates were the officials of the African M. E. Church, which would be the only beneficiary. The Afro-Americans of the State were not asking for such legislation, as badly as they needed money. The necessity of a higher and more liberal culture was more essential, and the State University offered exceptional advantages in this direction. They were opposed to the division upon broader principles than merely personal antagonism, and loved Wilberforce none the less, but thought she was wrong in asking for what will be a retrograding step.

The baneful influence of such legislation would be felt by posterity. Exit Wilberforce.

"Vive M. le Secretaire Blaine."

Just now Mr. Blaine is the most popular man in America. The lions and the lambs of politics rise up together to do him honor. The press of the Bourbon Democracy that but a little while since could find no epithet too vile for him has suddenly discovered that he is a most astonishing statesman. Mr. Blaine has opened his mouth and the American eagle flaps his wings and fairly screams. No paper as a fact ever went forth from Washington that more completely embodied the sense and sentiment of the American people than Mr. Blaine's note to Italy. Italy has blundered beyond all precedent in her diplomacy. Her traditional Machiavelli like Homer has nodded for once. The case is clear away from its merits now, and this is a misfortune for there were serious principles involved that needed attention.

THE one great dishonor of England in the East is the opium traffic. British war ships forced it on the Chinese ports, and British power maintains it in India to the temporal and eternal ruin of its people. There are signs even of the enlargement of the traffic in the recent opening of opium shops in upper Burma and elsewhere. Mr. Gladstone has been appealed to in the matter, and it proved to the crowning glory of "the grand old man" if the last effort of his lips should be for the suppression of this supreme iniquity. He might then with Simeon sing "nunc dimittis." The opium traffic has the same root as American slavery and the liquor traffic—"the love of money"—but the God who has destroyed the one before our eyes will yet tear up the others root and branch.

RACE troubles at Charlotte, N. C., were reported in Thursday's papers, but we have heard no more of them, and it is difficult to get at the facts. It appears that an Italian was killed, or found dead, and a colored man was charged with the deed. An attempt to lynch him was made, but his friends rallied to his defense. This so enraged the whites that they threatened to butcher the Negroes. The latter assembled in the A. M. E. Church and called on the authorities for protection. A company of militia was sent to protect them, but did the very opposite they were sent to do; they fired on the church and riddled it with bullets. Several of the Negroes were killed or injured. A greater slaughter was apprehended, but what followed we do not know.—Crusader.

THE millions of India are restless again. England has achieved wonders in that country, but tasks are before her still. The massacre of the English Chief Commissioner and his staff in the Manipur district has not yet been overgot when trouble breaks out at another point. Now it is Benares, one of the "sacred" cities of India. There has been from immemorial time a temple sacred to Brahmins and Buddhists alike, the shrine of countless pilgrimages. This temple is being demolished to provide a site for new water-works and a riot on the part of the natives is the result. The Sepoy rebellion was precipitated by issuing cartridges to the native troops which they were told it would break their caste to bite, since they had been guaged with hog's lard. But the temple of caste in India must go down, and they must go down in America as well; and the "water-works" of progress will take their place.

Political Review.

The President is now in the South, wherein he has had a triumphal march from Washington to the Mexican borders in Texas. He was given a royal ovation at every point where he stopped in Virginia, Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama, Arkansas and Texas. His speeches which were happily appropriate, were all well received. He stopped over at Chattanooga, Atlanta, Birmingham, Memphis, Little Rock, Houston, and spent last Sabbath at Galveston.

The President has appointed Enos. H. Nebeker, of Indiana, Treasurer of the United States, vice Mr. Hnston, resigned, and Lorenzo Crounse, of Nebraska, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, vice General Batcheller, resigned also.

Lawyer Augustus D. Straker, of Detroit, Mich., has been endorsed by several judges and over a hundred members of the Detroit bar for appointment as one of the new Federal circuit judges.

Ex-Senator E. L. Weber has been appointed postmaster of Donaldsonville.

The white Republicans of South Carolina are creating considerable interest in a movement to multiply their power and influence in that State.

The National Republican League meets in Cincinnati this week.

A Chicago Democratic judge of election has been indicted for tampering with the election returns in that city. He and his party did not succeed in stifling the voice of the majority however, and the Republicans rejoice over the election of Mayor Washburn of that party.

City Church Notes.

On Saturday and Monday, May 23rd and 25th, there will be given at Thomson Chapel on Poet, between Rampart and St. Oland streets, a grand May queen concert and festival, under the supervision of the pastor, Rev. W. P. Forest, for the benefit of the Sunday school. The committee of arrangements will spare no pains to make it a decided success. Committee: Miss M. E. Holmes, L. D. Thompson, ex officio; Misses Jenny Emanuel, M. Lange, M. L. Wells, Messrs. J. B. Williams, A. Anderson, Thomas Hagen, Miss O. Rock, treasurer; Jos. Ducoing, secretary.

WE have never heard Mr. Henry Watterson on the "Money Devil," but we suggest that while in the South he deals tenderly with the subject. A heroic treatment of the theme, either from an historical or actual standpoint would be exceedingly painful to many of his political (might we not add—religious) associates in this diocese. We might give him a number of first class pointers but we considerately refrain.

CARDINAL Gibbons, of Baltimore, is spending a week in New Orleans. The Cardinal is soft and snave and full of palaver but he is a Jesuit all the same. And that means hostility to civil and religious liberty.

REV. Joseph M. Deas, of Jacksonville, Fla., in a letter enclosing the names of four subscribers, which are the first of the list of twenty-five that he expects to send during the next few days, emphatically endorses the SOUTHWESTERN; and exhorts all of our brethren in Florida to rally to the paper as never before. He was especially pleased with the vindication of Bishop Newman against the unwarranted attack of Bishop Grant, which we published March 12.

The General Conference.

It is now definitely settled that the next General Conference will be held at Omaha. Full particulars next week.

Personal.

—Rev. S. Duncan, Presiding Elder, has returned from his first round on the Shreveport District. He says the district is in a very good condition, except two churches: that is, St. Paul, Shreveport, which owes $2,487.45. One thousand of this must be raised by May 17. But we have the Rev. T. J. Johnson, our popular pastor there, who is, pushing ahead and will accomplish the end desired. At Compté we owe $350, which must be paid by the first of September. At Pleasant Hill the new church is to be completed by July 18. Rev. A. McGlocklin is pushing the work. All the brethren on the district are working to make this one of the most successful years of the Shreveport district at every point. The people are pleased with their pastors. The district conference has been changed from August 26th to August 12th.

—Rev. Howard A. Clifford, for several years a professor in the New Orleans University, has returned from Europe, where he profitably spent the past summer, and will resume pastoral work in the Maine Conference, which convenes next week. He promises to favor us with a few letters descriptive of his trip and impressions abroad. His present address is Monmouth, Maine, where he invites his friends to write him.

—Rev. D. G. Harris, of the Mission charge, called on Wednesday of last week. He finds his new work very pleasant, it being made more so by 18 accessions, a revival and a prosperous Sunday school, and general awakening everywhere. He purchased a generous supply of church requisites to help him in the work. Such reports gladden the hearts of the whole church.

—Rev. M. C. B. Mason was prevented by an acute attack from making his intended trip to Charleston, S. C., where he was to have delivered an address on the occasion of the Quarter-Centennial celebration of our Church in that State. He is better now, however, although not able to be about his work as yet.

—Miss Lottie Richardson has returned to her home in Baton Rouge, after spending several months in this city with Mrs. C. Lovengs.

—Rev. S. H. Jordan, whose appointment is not a postoffice, requests his correspondents to address him at Statesboro, Ga.

—Ex-Presiding Elder R. H. Harbert, of Galveston, Texas, is now again a free man. He has been pardoned and restored to citizenship and suffrage by Gov. Hogg, of Texas. We rejoice with those that now rejoice, as we also mourned with those who mourned.

—Rev. Dr. E. D. G. Prime, brother of Dr. Irenaeus S. Prime, of the N. Y. Observer, died on the 7th. He had been associated with his brother in the publishing of the Observer for the past 32 years.

—Rev. Stephen Priestley has returned from a very extensive tour of his district, and is delighted with the prospects of the work.

—Rev. P. Landry called last Saturday. He brings in good reports from every quarter.

—Knowing ones now declare that there will be no American Italian war, but that there are many prospects of a general European war.

—Rev. A. A. Johnson, D.D., formerly president of our college at Fort Worth, Tex., has been elected President of the University of Wyoming, succeeding in office ex Gov. J. W. Hoyt, LL.D. The State of Wyoming, as well as Dr. Johnson, is to be congratulated on this happy relation.

—The Christian Advocate referring to Bishop Mallon says: "He presided over Newark Conference at its recent session in Washington, N. J. His visit, ministrations, and official acts gave great satisfaction to the members of the Conference. The evangelistic spirit by which he is characterized was clearly manifest, and produced a good effect on the spirituality and zeal of the Conference.

—Bishop Fitzgerald presided for the first time in the New York Conference at the session which has just closed. It was an important session on account of certain questions which elicited earnest discussion, but the Bishop won the respect of all by the skill and ability with which he discharged the functions of his office. Careful consideration of the feelings, interests and rights of all, and quiet firmness and confidence, characterized his administration.—Christian Advocate.

—Dr. Samuel H. Nesbit, one of the most prominent members of the Pittsburgh Conference, is dead.

—Mrs. Jane Hodge, widow of the Rev. Robt. Hodge, died in this city April 10. Obituary sketch next week.

Church Polity.

Q. Is a Methodist preacher a member of the Board of Trustees by virtue of his office?

A. He is not.

Q. Where does a supernumerary preacher hold his membership?

A. If he be left without an appointment he shall have a seat in the Quarterly Conference and the privileges of membership in the place where he may reside. If he receive an appointment he bears the same relation to the church where he resides which he would sustain were he pastor without being a supernumerary.

Q. Where does a supernumerary preacher hold his membership?

A. He shall have a seat in the Quarterly Conference and all the privileges of membership in the church where he may reside, whether the said church be within or without the bounds of the Conference to which he belongs.

A. Does the Methodist Episcopal Discipline strictly forbid dancing and card-playing?

A. See ¶ 242, where "dancing, playing at games of chance," with other things, are prohibited.

Q. Has a minister a right to charge $25 or any other sum for having his furniture packed when going to his next appointment, and report the same among his moving expenses?

A. Moving expenses generally signify the necessary outlay in transporting the goods from one place to another, all expenses incurred from the time they leave the house until they reach the place of destination.—Christian Advocate.

THE Southern Christian Advocate of Nashville, Tenn., in an article urging its constituency to do more for the cause of the higher Christian education of the colored people, says:

"But for the past quarter of a century our direct labors for the colored people have been meagre enough. The time has come fully to consider the whole matter on its merits.

The colored people are in the South to stay. Any plan or scheme that looks to their wholesale deportation is foolish beyond measure. If they were to go, it would be generations before we could replace them with a class who would be equally valuable to the country. Besides this, they are in many respects a lovable people—patient, docile, religious. Their religion may not be of the highest type, but it is a restraining force of unusual power. That it will become more and more an enlightening and purifying agency, we confidently believe. Even as the case stands, we should think it a poor exchange to swap off a million Protestant Negroes for an equal number of Italian Dagoes or Hungarian miners."

AN American is to be shot in Mexico for murder. Poor fellow, if he could only have had a New Orleans jury, detective, lawyer, or ward politician, he might have got off scot free and gone on killing folks at his own sweet will.

DAILY BREAD.

Talk with us, Lord, Thyself reveal,
While here on earth we rove;
Speak to our hearts, and let us feel
The kindling of Thy love.
With Thee conversing we forget
All time and toil and care,
Labor is rest and pain is sweet
If Thou, my God, art there.
—Charles Wesley.

This world is very large in our hopes, but very small in our hands.

A man may suffer without sinning; but he cannot sin without suffering.

Shall one even dare to die for a good man? And shall we refuse to die for a good God?

By a christian, I mean one who so believes in Christ as that sin hath no more dominion over him.
—John Wesley.

Though obedience is better than sacrifice, yet sometimes for a man to sacrifice himself is the best obedience.

A christian will be despised anywhere. No one is a christian till he is despised. His being despised will not hinder his doing good, but much further it.—John Wesley.

Come, in the name of God, let us arise, and shake ourselves from the dust. Let us strengthen each other's hands in God without delay. Let you and I, and our house, serve the Lord in good earnest.—John Wesley.

You, who have not the assurance of a day to live, are not wise if you waste a moment. The shortest way to knowledge seems to be this:

1. To ascertain what knowledge you desire to attain.
2. To read no book which does not in some way tend to the attainment of that knowledge.
3. To finish one before you begin another.—John Wesley.

It is not by striking off all allegiance, but finding your true Lord, and serving him with complete submission, that you can escape from slavery. Then give yourself to him completely. Let him mark you as his by whatever marks he will.—Phillips Brooks.

Revivals promote mutual confidence between pastor and people. Revivals promote the social life of church and Sunday school.

Revivals often make a better understanding among the churches. Revivals are divine and human. The human side is not the greater.

The Scripture gives four names to christians, taken from the four cardinal graces so essential to men's salvation; saints, for their holiness; believers, for their faith; brethren, for their love; disciples, for their knowledge.—Fuller.

Did you ever notice that the fellow who loaf around on the corner all day and who goes home at night to his wife, mother or sister, who works hard to support him, can always tell exactly what the country needs to make it prosperous, what a town needs to make it boom, how banks should be conducted, how newspapers should be edited, how to suppress intemperance, how all kinds of business should be run if they should be run properly? It is a fact, whether you have noticed it or not; and such fellows are in existence everywhere.—Dundee Observer.

Some special duties are for certain people, but there are a few general duties that every Methodist ought to do:

1. To pray.
 2. To search the Scriptures.
 3. To attend the means of grace, as public preaching, prayer meeting and class meeting.
 4. To be diligent in business and fervent in spirit.
 5. To cheerfully and systematically pay a part of his possessions for the support of the Gospel and the benevolent enterprises of the church.
- No living Methodist, unless physically or mentally impaired, is exempt from any one of these duties.

Do you do them?

We are not put into this world to be suspicious of one another. We were put here to make the world better for our tarrying in it and to cultivate a friendly fellowship with souls we are to live with forever in the eternal years. If the guests at a wayside inn, sojourning together only for a night, spend their time abusing each other or in contemptuously ignoring each other's presence, we call them snobs and fools, but what shall we call the tenants of transitory time who spend the fleeting hours of mortal life in doing all that they can to make one another uncomfortable? We have only an hour to tarry together here. Let us try to make that hour a profitable one and a pleasant one to remember after we have journeyed on. If you have been living on bad terms with a neighbor; if you have been preserving a chilling silence and a forbidding reserve with anybody thrown often in your way, I beg of you to have done with such nonsense and live in the world as God meant you should.—Selected.

It seems to be the highest aim of some to be what they call good. They seem to think if they are called good it is all that is necessary, and when they die it will be all right with them. They can understand how everybody can be good, but not how everybody can be best. A school boy cannot see how every scholar can be at the head of the class, but it is not hard to see how every one can be marked 100—be perfect.

It is a good thing to be good, better to be better, and best to be the best by the efficacy of the blood of Christ. It is a good thing to do good, better to do better and best to do the best you can.

It is good to want to be saved, better to be saved, and best to keep saved.

It is good to be convicted of sin, better to be converted, and best to be sanctified.

It is good to think holiness is a good thing, better to think that it is better than some other things, and best to think it is the best thing there is.

No one is doing his best unless he accepts Christ as his personal Savior from all sin, and by God's grace leads a holy life. God commands every one to be holy, and then holds the standard of a holy life where we can reach it, and grow in grace and knowledge of God every day of our lives. "Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect.—Selected."

Homiletics.

Hymns 442, 447, 450.
Scripture Lesson, John 17.
Text, John 13:35: By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye love one another.

Introduction, The Lord Jesus spoke these words at the last feast of the passover which he celebrated with his disciples.

At this time he changed the passover service to the Lord's Supper.

The slain lamb of the passover was a type of Christ. The bread and wine of the Lord's Supper represents the broken body and shed blood of the world's Redeemer.

The Lord's Supper takes the place of the passover.

After the supper was finished Jesus conversed with his disciples, saying to them many things of the greatest importance.

The text is the test of real christian character and discipleship.

There are various ways by which we show that we are disciples of Jesus.

(a) We may make a profession of religion.

But not all who do this are indeed christians.

(b) We may be baptized in the name of the Father and the Son and the Holy Ghost, to show that we are christians.

(c) We may join the church to show that we are christians. But there are not a few church members who are not and never were christians in deed and in truth.

(d) We may attend all the means of grace, public and private worship, and give of our substance to the cause of God to show that we are christians.

But there are some who do all these things who are not the real disciples of Jesus, they are not real christians.

(e) The surest way for all professors of religion to show that they are real christians is to love one another.

Love such as christians have for one another is known by certain signs or marks.

It is patient, even when severely tried. It is patient with all, especially with all other christians.

This love is also unselfish. It lives and lets live. It shares all it has of earthly good with others.

This love is humble. It is not proud, and self-conceited. It does not seek to make display. It does not covet, or run after the praise of men.

This love is steadfast. It is not love to-day and hate to-morrow. It is always the same, whether in prosperity or adversity.

This love is pure. It has nothing about it that is sinful. It abides alone in hearts that are made pure, that are cleansed from sin.

Every christian may have this love. He will have it when his heart is right with God.

Three important things in conclusion are:

1. It is the duty of every christian to have this love. If we do not have it we will not enjoy the smiles and favor of God.

2. If we have this love all who see us will know that we are the true disciples of the Lord Jesus Christ, for none but his disciples have this love.

3. When sinners see christian people filled with this love their hearts will be touched and they will be convicted of sin, and they can be led to Christ, and saved in heaven at last.

Schools and Colleges.

Philander-Smith College.

This institution is enjoying unprecedented success. The enrollment the past term (winter) reached 320. It is now taking the usual spring vacation and much needed rest on the part of president Mason and his faithful workers. The term examinations showed that earnest work had been done by the teachers, and class application to study by the students. Marked advancement is perceptible in every department. The boarding department is wisely and intelligently run by Mr. and Mrs. Ford, late of Louisiana.

Prof. Ramsey is certainly developing the mechanical skill of those under his care in the carpenter shop, as is Prof. McKinney in the printing department.

Through the generosity of Mr. Budlong, son-in-law of Philander-Smith in the gift of $3,500, the work on the much needed new building has begun. The brick and lumber for the second story are being put on the ground.

Pastors of the Little Rock Conference, let us remember our pledge at conference, and show our appreciation of this magnificent gift, by raising every cent of our assessments for the new building, and forward them to Dr. Mason as soon as possible. March 3d will open the Spring term when scores of new students are expected, as well as many of the old ones who by force of circumstances have been out teaching and otherwise preparing to re-enter.

Last but not least is the medical department. This department was organized Dec. 1st 1890, with nine students, with W. R. Granger, M. D., Dean. Dr. Granger deserves more than a passing note. He is a practicing physician of color and is both scholarly and profound. Dr. Granger is a graduate from the classical course of Broknell University of Louisiana, Pa., receiving the degrees of A. B., and A. M. from the same, Ph. D. from the college of Liberal Arts, Syracuse, New York, after which he graduated from the medical department of the University of Vermont, Burlington, Vermont. He came to this city (Little Rock) two years ago, a perfect stranger to everyone, and after passing a rigid examination before the State Board of Examiners, entered upon the duties of his profession as a surgeon and physician, and by his ability to grapple with the many-sided diseases peculiar to this climate, has won him not only the confidence of his own race, but the respect of all the white doctors as well. A man better prepared for the deanship could not be found. He has given entire satisfaction, and the class under his instructions has enjoyed success, and is now closing its first year.

The Medical Department of Philander-Smith College offers special advantages to young men of whatever race who desire a good medical education and who find it too expensive to go to Nashville, Tenn., or New Orleans. It is gratifying to note the success of Negro doctors in the South, this shows that to them the harvest is ripe, and should induce more to enter the profession. Let scores of our educated young men enter our medical schools and prepare for an honorable and lucrative business. Philander-Smith is centrally located for the young men of Ark., Eastern and Northern Texas, Missouri, Indian Territory, North Miss., etc. My dear friend Dr. Albert was mistaken in the SOUTHWESTERN of March 26 when speaking of Dr. I. E. Mullon, the able Dean of the New Orleans University's medical department to say that he is the only Negro in the world that occupies such a position. Dr. W. R. Granger is a Negro, is the Dean of the medical department of one of our best colleges. He is a native of the West India Islands. May this class of professional men be multiplied a thousand times.

A. J. FLETCHER.

Lonoke, Ark.

[We rejoice to learn, and so does Dr. Mullon that there are other worthy and thoroughly qualified Negroes in such positions. Ed.]

Olafin University, Orangeburg, S. C., Commencement Thursday, April 30th, 1891. Annual address by Rev. Bishop Atticus G. On the mend—the consumptive who's not bereft of judgment and good sense. He's taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If taken in time and given a fair trial, it will effect a cure. Consumption is Lung-ferofula. For Scrofula, in its myriad forms, and for all Liver, Blood and Lung diseases, the "Discovery" is an unequalled remedy. It's the only guaranteed one. If it doesn't benefit or cure, you get your money back. You only pay for the good you get.

"Discovery" strengthens Weak Lungs, and cures Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and kindred affections. Don't be fooled into taking something else, said to be "just as good," that the dealer may make a larger profit. There's nothing at all like the "Discovery." It contains no alcohol to inebriate; no syrup or sugar to derange digestion. As peculiar in its curative effects as in its composition. Equally good for adults or children.

Obituary.

Sister Mary Bowman, truly a mother in Israel, passed from the home of her son-in-law, Bro. Henry Williams, at Scottsboro, Ala., to her heavenly home, Jan. 19. For many months our now sainted mother had suffered great pain and a gradual failure of her bodily powers, but generally her soul was rapturously happy in Jesus' love. For about 84 years she was a pilgrim upon earth, witnessing great changes and passing through many trying vicissitudes. In 1875 she was clearly converted at Clark Chapel, Nashville, under the pastorate of Rev. C. S. Smith. She was soon a zealous member, helping the cause in every way possible, and enjoying a high and blessed experience. Her walk was consistent, the joys of salvation her constant theme, and her light was shining from day to day. Many were instructed and helped to the Savior by her labors. She was a valuable class-leader, and her class has now been placed in charge of her daughter, Sister Laura Williams. In the family of this daughter Laura, she spent happily the evening of life. Laura has served the Church well, in educational interests, as a valuable member of the Tennesseans, the noted singers of a few years since. Sister Bowman highly appreciated the ministers for their work's sake. Bro. T. M. Joiner, her pastor, helped her greatly by his instructions and counsel, and preached her funeral. Her honored husband was for many years a useful local preacher at Nashville, and entered into rest seven years ago. Her body was taken to Nashville and buried beside his.

Rev. Wesley Prettyman.

Bryan, Tex.—Sister Charlotte Lee departed this life March 35. She was a faithful member of the M. E. Church. She leaves a husband, mother, two brothers, five children, and a host of friends to mourn.

Sister Georgia Wilson departed this life in the full triumph of faith.

S. E. Ewing, P. C.

Alleyton, Tex.—Bro. Hiram Wilson was born in Hardimon county, Miss., in 1840, and died here March 6, 1891. He was converted near Columbus, Texas, under the administration of Rev. C. L. Madison. In 1873, joined the church in the same year under the Rev. M. V. Banks, lived a consistent christian and was a faithful class-leader. He was ready and willing to go. His funeral was attended by Rev. Jas. Brawley.

G. Rose Smith.

Vaiden, Miss.—Sister Carrie Hihler departed this life April 3. Age, 17 years. She died in full triumph, and said she was ready and willing to go.

D. P. Shaw, P. C.

Donaldsonville, La.—Arch J. Evans died April 6, aged about 37 years. He was a trustee, local preacher, steward and class-leader of St. Peter M. E. Church. He was a member for several years and lived the life of a Christian. He preached while on his bed and announced all of his hymns. He was fully prepared. To those around him he said, "What is this that steals on my frame?" His death is a sad loss to St. Peter church. He was a good preacher and a man of good common sense. He was buried from St. Peter M. E. Church, followed by a large crowd of people. Rev. H. J. Wright, the pastor, officiated, assisted by Revs. J. W. Adams, D. Lawson, and Moses Vincent of the Baptist Church.

I SUFFERED from a severe cold in my head for months and could get no relief. Was advised to use Ely's Cream Balm. It has worked like magic in its cure. I am free from my cold after using the Balm one week, and I believe it is the best remedy known.—Samuel J. Harris, Wholesale Grocer, 119 Front St., New York.

THE following contains some of the horrible facts relating to the awful human wreckage caused by the rum power in our own country: Strong drink every year

Destroys.....100,000 lives
Makes.....70,000 widows
Makes.....100,000 orphans Makes.....500 maniacs
Causes.....500 suicides
Leads to.....250 murders
Consigns to jail.....500,000 criminals

Three-quarters of the inmates of prisons are there from strong drink.

I WAS a sufferer from catarrh for fifteen years, with distressing pain over my eyes. I used Ely's Cream Balm with gratifying results. Am apparently cured.—Z. C. Warren, Rutland, Vt.

Peculiar

Many peculiar points make Hood's Sarsaparilla superior to all other medicines. Peculiar in combination, proportion, and preparation of ingredients. Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom. Peculiar in its strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "One Hundred Doses One Dollar." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's. Peculiar in its medicinal merits. Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown, and has won for itself the title of "The greatest blood purifier ever discovered." Peculiar in its "good name" home,—there is now more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers. Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad. No other preparation has ever attained such popularity in so short a time, and retained its popularity and confidence among all classes of people so steadfastly. Do not be induced to buy other preparations, but be sure to get the Peculiar Medicine.

MOTHER.

Nobody knows of the work it takes
To keep the home together;
Nobody knows of the steps it makes;
Nobody knows—but mother.

Nobody listens to childish woes
Which kisses only smother;
Nobody's pained by naughty blows;
Nobody—only mother.

Nobody knows of the sleepless care
Bestowed on baby brother;
Nobody knows of the tender prayer;
Nobody—only mother.

Nobody knows of the lessons taught
Of loving one another;
Nobody knows of the patience sought;
Nobody—only mother.

Nobody knows of the anxious fears,
Lest darlings may not weather
The storms of life in after years;
Nobody knows—but mother.

Nobody kneels to the throne above
To thank the heavenly Father
For that sweetest gift, a mother's love;
Nobody can—but mother.

COTTAGE PUDDING.—Beat half a cup of sugar and quarter of a cup of butter well together, then add the yolks of two eggs well beaten, then a cup of milk, two and a half cups of flour, with two tablespoonsful of baking powder sifted in it; and lastly the whites of the eggs beaten stiff. Beat together thoroughly; bake in a moderate oven. Serve hot with sauce.

A QUICKLY-MADE CAKE.—Two cupsful of sugar, two of flour, six tablespoonsful of butter, two of milk, six eggs, one teaspoonful of saleratus, two of cream of tartar, some lemon peel. Bake in shallow pans in a quick oven.

CRAZY CAKE.—Beat one cup of butter, add two cups of sifted flour, with a large teaspoonful of baking powder; stir in one cup of milk and two cups of sugar, lastly add the whites of eight eggs; bake in jelly-pans. For filling, boil two cups of sugar with two tablespoonsful of water until brittle, remove from the fire and stir in the beaten whites of two eggs; add a teaspoon each of chopped raisins, citron and figs. Spread between the layers of cake and ice on top.

SPANISH BUNS.—One cup brown sugar, one-half cup molasses, one-half cup sour milk, four tablespoons melted butter, one egg and yolks of two (save the whites of two for frosting), one teaspoon soda, one and one-half cups of flour, one tablespoon of cinnamon—the same of cloves if desired. Use brown sugar for the frosting, stirring until quite white.

SWEET POTATOES.—Last year I put about one-half acre in sweet potatoes. I broke my land in the fall and let it lay until in the spring, then I took a breaking plow and made ridges three feet and a half apart, and off of that half-acre I raised 175 bushels of potatoes, realizing $120 off of it. Sweet potatoes that I want to keep for seed I put in boxes when they are thoroughly dry, putting a layer of dry dirt or leaves between them to keep them from touching one another. I have kept them this way for five years, and they are always sound. I have had sweet potatoes to eat all winter by covering them with leaves in some warm place.—A. J. Ward in the St. Louis Journal of Agriculture.

Our Symposium.

Senator Hoar's Definition of Republicanism.

The Republican Party has promised to do its best to secure honest elections, by the exercise of the national legislative authority, and the purpose to keep that promise is the one essential thing that constitutes Republicanism. To that promise the President and the great body of the Republicans in the House and in the Senate have been true. The mission of the Republicans will not be accomplished until that promise shall have been kept. At present the Fifteenth Amendment, and so much of the fourteenth as relates to suffrage, are absolutely nullified. The condition of things in this country today, so far as relates to the election of representatives and presidential electors, is as if those two amendments did not exist.—The Forum.

When a boy we used to be scared by the butting sheep. In later years we have stood in wholesome dread of the butting church member. O how he does like to lower his head and sail into every proposition made! Almost every church has one and some has two or three. And he isn't always a man, he's sometimes a woman. And we are in doubt which can knock things to smithereens the quicker. All we can advise is to stand clear when the butter is around and it possible keep him tied up, out of the field of official power and influence.—Michigan Christian Advocate.

Perpetual jesting about sacred things is the infallible token of a frivolous mind. Of genuine humor nothing can bespoken except praise. It is the light which irradiates the dull surface of daily existence. But it belongs to the things of this world, and ought never to be allowed to intrude into that holy sphere in which man stands face to face with God.—Nashville Christian Advocate.

If your child's destiny were hanging in the balance—if this were the crisis—would you not spend it in imploring God to help? But any hour may be such a turning point. We and our children at every step of this pilgrimage may go wrong. We ever need the divine hand to lead, the divine power to overrule. How can we afford not to "pray without ceasing."—Cumberland Presbyterian.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Stands at the head of all blood medicines. This position it has secured by its intrinsic merit, sustained by the opinion of leading physicians, and by the certificates of thousands who have successfully tested its remedial worth. No other medicine so effectively.

CURES

Scrofula, boils, pimples, rheumatism, catarrh, and all other blood diseases.

"There can be no question as to the superiority of Ayer's Sarsaparilla over all other blood-purifiers. If this was not the case, the demand for it, instead of increasing yearly, would have ceased long ago, like so many other blood medicines I could name."—F. L. Nickerson, Druggist, 75 Chelsea St., Charlestown, Mass.

"Two years ago I was troubled with salt-rheum. It was all over my body, and nothing the doctors did for me was of any avail. At last I took four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and was completely cured. I can sincerely recommend it as a splendid blood-purifier."—J. S. Bart, Upper Kewlwick, New Brunswick.

"My sister was afflicted with a severe case of

SCROFULA

Our doctor recommended Ayer's Sarsaparilla as being the best blood-purifier within his experience. We gave her this medicine, and a complete cure was the result."—Wm. O. Jenkins, Dewese, Neb.

"When a boy I was troubled with a blood disease which manifested itself in sores on the legs. Ayer's Sarsaparilla being recommended, I took a number of bottles, and was cured. I have never since that time had a recurrence of the complaint."—J. C. Thompson, Lowell, Mass.

"I was cured of Scrofula by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—John C. Berry, Deerfield, Mo.

Science.

Natural Gas in Iron-Making.

Among the more recent improvements in the manufacture of iron and steel the use of gaseous fuel stands conspicuous. The idea of first converting the fuel into a combustible gas, and conveying this to the point where heat was required, and there igniting it, is a very old one and, in one form or another, it has been employed for over a thousand years; but it is only within the present century that the manifold advantages of gas as a metallurgical fuel have become fully recognized by the iron and steel workers of the world. The early gas furnaces used in Silsea, Sweden, and other European countries were but enlarged modifications of Geber's Tower of Athanor, and, although they were a great improvement on the furnaces in which solid fuel was burned on a grate, yet they were not able to produce a temperature sufficiently high and controllable to satisfy the demands of the rapidly developing iron and steel industries.

The gas furnace most commonly used in the American iron and steel works was invented about thirty years ago by the brothers Frederick and Charles William Siemens, German engineers resident in London. The first "Siemens' furnace" built in this country under the sanction of these inventors was erected at the works of John A. Griswold & Co., at Troy, N. Y., in 1867, and was used as a "heating furnace." This was followed in the same year by a heating furnace at the works of the Nashua Iron and Steel Company, Nashua, N. H., and early in 1868 the first "Siemens' furnace" for melting steel in crucibles (often called "a pot furnace") was started in the works of Anderson & Woods at Pittsburg. From iron-working with Machine Tools, by W. F. Durfee, in the Popular Science Monthly for March.

MONEY FOR SOLDIERS.

BOUNTIES. PENSIONS.

Nearly every soldier who served in the late war is entitled to arrears of pay, clothing or bounty, under the various Acts of Congress. We give special attention to bounty claims of soldiers who served in the colored troops.

Under the recent law every soldier who is totally or partially unable to earn his living is entitled to pension, whether the disability was contracted in the service or not.

Every claim of a soldier is entitled to a pension under the same law.

Send us a statement of your case immediately as the pension begins from date of filing.

Remember we charge no fee unless successful, and soldiers will never receive what is justly due them unless they make application for it.

Information regarding Government claims free. W. A. REDMOND & Co. Claim and Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C.

SECOND QUARTER.—Lesson IV. Nineveh brought to repentance. Jonah 3. 1-10. Commit to memory verses 9-10. April 26, 1891. About B. C. 862.

HOME READINGS.

M. Jonah 3. Tu. Jonah 4. W. Ezek. 18. 25-32. Th. Joel 2. 12-17. F. Isa. 55. 6, 13. S. Eph. 2. 1-10. S. Luke 11. 20-36.

GOLDEN TEXT.

The men of Nineveh shall rise up in judgment with this generation; and shall condemn it; for they repented at the preaching of Jonas; and, behold, a greater than Jonas is here. (Luke 11. 32.)

LESSON HYMN, L. M.

We sinners, Lord, with earnest heart,
With sighs and prayers and tears,
To thee our inmost cares impart,
Our burdens and our fears.

Thy sovereign grace can give relief,
Thou Source of peace and light;
Dispel the gloomy cloud of grief,
And make our darkness bright.

Dear Lord, to thee our prayers ascend;
Our eyes thy face would see;
O let our weary wanderings end,
Our spirits rest in thee!

Time—About B. C. 862.
Place—Nineveh.
Ruler—Possibly Jeroboam II, King of Israel.

Connecting Links—The second chapter of Jonah gives the prayer which the prophet offered while miraculously preserved in the body of the fish. On his restoration to the world of living men he was again commissioned to go to Nineveh.

QUESTIONS FOR HOME STUDY

1. Jonah's Repentance, v. 1-4. From whom did a message again come to Jonah?

What was the message?
What journey did Jonah take?
What is said of the size of Nineveh?

What did Jonah at once do?
What did he declare to the people?
Whose message was this? (See ver. 2, and chap. 1. 2.)

2. Nineveh's Repentance, v. 5-9. How did the people receive Jonah's words?
How did they show their repentance?

What did the King of Nineveh do?
What did he forbid by a decree?
How were all to be clothed?

What were they commanded to do?
From what were they to run away?
What did he say about God's mercy?

What is God's promise to every true penitent? (Isa. 55. 7.)
To whom was the repentance of Nineveh a rebuke? (Golden Text.)

3. God's Repentance, v. 10. What did God see?
What change did God make in his purpose?

Of what promise was this a fulfillment? (Jer. 18. 8.)

TEACHINGS OF THE LESSON.

Where in this lesson are we taught:
1. That God hates sin?
2. That true repentance means putting away sin?
3. That God loves a penitent?

HOME WORK FOR YOUNG MEN.

Find where a high-priest rent his garments.
Find whether or not there was ever any heathen prophet sent to warn a Gentile nation.

THE LESSON CATECHISM.

[For the entire school.]
1. After Jonah had escaped from the dangers of the sea, against what city did God send him to preach? Nineveh.

2. What was his message? Yet forty days, and Nineveh shall be overthrown.

3. How did the people of Nineveh show their repentance? They mourned and fasted and prayed.

4. What did the king and his nobles do? Urged the people to repent still more earnestly.

5. What did God do? Pardoned the Ninevites.

6. What is the Golden Text? The men of Nineveh, etc.

EXPLANATIONS.

Arose, and went—He obeys with the same promptitude with which he fled on the former occasion. Of three days' journey—The circuit of its walls was equal to three days' steady walking. Exceeding great—One of the greatest known to history. A day's journey—He doubtless went first to the most crowded thoroughfares, but the first day's preaching was sufficient to call the wicked city to repentance. Yet forty days—Probably this one sentence was constantly repeated. It must have been an awe-inspiring scene. Believed God—Believed not only in his justice, but in his mercy. Sack-cloth—The constant emblem of sorrow in the East. From the greatest—To the least—The repentance was heartfelt, and included all.

Man . . . beast—The neglect of the beasts and their enshrouding in sack-cloth was in harmony with the peculiar disposition of Orientals to lavishly express their emotions, and is hardly more absurd than our occasional draping of funeral horses in black. Cry mightily—These words, of course, are to be restricted to "man." Let them turn—This pagan king and his nobles understood that no repentance counts before God which does not include moral reformation.

Doctrinal Suggestion—The forgiveness of sin.

THE CHURCH CATECHISM.

45. Will all men therefore be saved? No; "The wicked shall be turned into hell, and all the nations that forget God." (Psa. 9. 17.)

46. Will those be saved who die in childhood before they know good and evil? They will, for Jesus said: "Of such is the kingdom of heaven." (Matt. 19. 14.)

47. On what terms are those saved who know good from evil? On condition of "repentance toward God, and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ." (Acts 20. 21.)

Hood's Sarsaparilla has the largest sale of any medicine before the public. Any honest druggist will confirm this statement.

AVOID SICKNESS BY PURIFYING THE BLOOD AND TONING UP THE SYSTEM.

Dr. KING'S ROYAL GERMETUER

Does this more pleasantly, more safely and more surely than any other remedy known to medical science.

THESE FIVE THINGS

1. It differs from ordinary medicines, in that it is not a poison, but a tonic. It is as pleasant as lemonade, and, sweetened, makes a most refreshing drink. Persons who object to all other medicines, take this with real pleasure because it is good.

2. It never nauseates. The most delicate stomach finds in this a perfect remedy without a single objection.

3. It never sweeps out one disease for another. It does not set up one form of disease in order to relieve another, as is the case with so many deadly drugs.

4. It does not patch simply. It cures. It reaches, as nothing else does, to the hidden sources of disease in the blood, and removes the cause. It does this with an ease and power that has never been equalled.

5. It is harmless, and may be safely given to a babe one day old. It is free from Alcohol and Opium.

All persons living in malarial districts should keep this great family remedy on hand. It will break any fever in less time than quinine and anti-pyrene, and leave none of their unpleasant and hurtful effects.

For Malaria, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Debility, Kidney Trouble, and for Blood and Skin Diseases, there is nothing to be compared with it. For Ladies and Children it is far the best.

Find in Christ the way of peace.

Peace unspeakable, unknown:

By his pain he gives you ease:

Life by his expiring groan:

Rise exalted by his fall:

Find in Christ your all in all.

LOOKOUT for the moonlight excursions and dancing picnics. The season is upon us, with its threatened ruin to the devotees of such diversions. If thou valuest thy safety and happiness, go not near them. They lead to the chambers of death.

WE have received several communications on various subjects, which we would gladly notice or publish, but cannot do so because they are without signatures. We do not publish the names of our correspondents in our Church Polity column, nor in any other, when the contrary is requested, but we positively cannot take any notice whatever of communications that are not accompanied by the real names of their authors.

THE Louisiana State (Heaven save the mark!) Lottery Company thought to outwit the postal law by establishing a mailing station in Mexico. But the heavy hand of authority has been laid upon its agents there. We are afraid it will be compelled to seek "other worlds to conquer." We suggest Gehenna as a favorable locality. It has already an "innumerable company" of patrons whose passage it has paid there. And all things considered it would feel "at home," "be it ever so homely (or even so hot) there is no place like home."

Action of the New England Conference.

Whereas, On the 7th of May, 1888, the General Conference of our Church adopted the following resolution, to-wit:

Resolved, That we submit to the Annual Conferences the proposition to amend the 2nd Restrictive Rule, by adding the words, "And said delegates may be men or women," after the words, "two lay delegates for an Annual Conference," so that it will read, "Nor of more than two lay delegates for an Annual Conference, and said delegates may be men or women."

And, Whereas, On the 30th of May, just before adjournment, the General Conference provided for a vote on the part of the laity on the question, "Shall women be eligible as lay delegates to the lay electoral and general conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church," and at the same time adopted the following order:

"This same proposition shall be submitted to all the Annual Conferences held in the year 1891, by the presiding Bishop, and the vote shall be taken as the Conferences may direct, under the law of the Church, and when so taken, the same shall be certified by the presiding Bishop and Secretary of such Conference, to the next succeeding General Conference, together with the result of the vote of the lay members of the Church." Therefore,

Resolved: 1. That in the vote about to be taken in this Conference, we vote first upon the question, "Shall women be eligible as lay delegates to the Electoral and General Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church?"

2. That hereafter, in order to carry out the exact intent of the General Conference, and to receive a decision of unquestioned legal effect, we will take a second vote, viz: Upon the amendment to the second restrictive rule, as submitted by the General Conference, viz: "By adding the words, and said delegates may be men or women; so that it shall read, nor of more than two lay delegates for an Annual Conference, and said delegates may be men or women."

3. That we respectfully request the President of this Conference to cause the above action to be laid before all the Annual Conferences of the Church, at an annual session prior to the assembling of the next General Conference, and in the hope of terminating at the earliest possible moment the controversy now agitating the Church, we entreat our brethren in all the Annual Conferences to unite with us in voting upon the proposition to amend the second Restrictive Rule, as submitted by the last General Conference.

4. That in order to prevent any inaccuracy in reports of our action, we respectfully request the editors of our church papers to print in full the foregoing report as adopted, and we request the Secretary of this Conference to furnish a correct copy to each of said editors.

Whereas, There are members of this Conference who favor the eligibility of women to the Lay Electoral, but not to the General Conference, and whereas these are unable to vote Yes or No on the double question, "Shall women be eligible as lay delegates to the Electoral and General Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church?" Therefore,

Resolved, That this Conference reserves its judgment upon the question of women's past, present, or future eligibility to the Lay Electoral Conference, for expression at a later and more favorable occasion.

The Southern Colored Ministry and their Critics.

BY J. B. MIDDLETON.

Human nature in general is so peculiarly constituted, that in nine out of ten cases it is swayed by impulse, and blindly follows the multitude, even though the multitude is controlled by passion rather than by reason. History, both sacred and profane, records many painful instances of the unreasoning, boisterous crowd, emulating each individual member of which it was composed in endeavoring in their individual efforts to surpass, in acts of devotion to some peculiar idea of the day, other members of the same body. It was this constitutional peculiarity of human nature that led to the ostracism of Noah and his family, the erection of the Tower of Babel, the persecution of the prophets, the rejection and crucifixion of Jesus Christ, and the horrid death of the martyrs Moses was unpopular in Egypt,—as a shepherd, and in the wilderness. So was Paul, Luther and Wesley. Socrates, Galileo, Columbus, Washington, Lincoln and Grant, were at certain periods of their lives, very unpopular with a certain class of men, through no fault of theirs. Their ambitions and sometimes venal cotemporaries, were so anxious to supersede them, in place and power, that they could scarcely wait the slow processes of divine providence and the grave to do their work. Such cotemporaries have sometimes, by innuendoes and slander assisted Providence in removing hence those popular leaders, while they joyfully entered into the positions once held by their predecessors. I am led to these reflections, by the repeated and continuous onslaught made upon the colored ministers of the South, by their so-called friends of both races, North and South, in the churches and in no church. This denunciation of the colored clergymen of the South, has been systematically planned and carefully executed to compass a certain object. In the conduct of this business, there has been a diplomacy exhibited that would be creditable to more exalted motives, and unless correctly understood, will be mistaken for pure philanthropy. The main spring of the criticisms directed against the colored ministry of the South is one grain of disinterested benevolence to nine grains of interested ambition which is not of the holy order. This denunciation had its origin in the South among the white people who are now, as in the past quarter of a century, opposed to the equal civil rights of the Negro with other American citizens. For the past twenty-five years, the latent and active energies of the average Southern editor—with a few noble and notable exceptions—were expended on this line. It is not the fault of the editors and their allies that the colored ministers of the South are not crushed; but rather their misfortune. In every way and manner conceivable the average Southern editor and his Northern ally, for the past twenty-five years, have held up to the scorn of the civilized world, the Southern colored ministry as being unfit leaders of their own race. The colored ministry has been painted in the darkest possible hue, and with his followers denied an even race in life with aliens, and his political and civil rights abridged. The white people of America are not ignorant of the fact that the colored ministry are the political and religious leaders of the Negro race in the South. No one can deny that the Negro as a unit have for the past quarter century of American freedom stood firmly by the Union and the Constitution as he understood it. The Negro's interpretation of the Constitution may be summed up in two words, viz: "freedom and equal rights." For the stand taken by us, we have suffered and many have given their lives, rather than to sacrifice their principles. Our opponents in the South reason thus: "Destroy the confidence of the American people in the business capacity, the probity and moral integrity of the leaders of the Negro and we render inoperative their influence at home and abroad; and we will easily control the affairs of the South without this disturbing element." The underlying principle in the avowed political code strike at the very vitals of the republic and cannot prevail in a government such as ours, where intelligence is diffused among the masses. The people of a republic must, and will think for themselves and select their leaders without let or hindrance. There is, in the North and West, a large and respectable element, who on account of racial affinity, business and social relations, conform, or profess to do so—to the views of our Southern brethren on this line; and they deem this policy best for the Negro and for the country at large. This is the identical sentiment advanced by Dr. Potts of the Michigan Christian Advocate. "White men are needed at every turn" he says, "The Negroes can take care of themselves by and bye, but not yet." This is unmistakable language and is in direct harmony with bourgeois Southern sentiment. This class of Northern men pose as unionists and philanthropists, and they usually whisper in our ears the disgusting word, "supervision." For supervision in a general way by the proper authorities of church or state—we consent. For supervision in its hateful aspects and insolent form as often seen in connection with the ballot box—never. Cooperation, always pleasant among free men, becomes a tyrant when it goes beyond its legitimate bounds. A few men of our own race have now joined the ranks of our traducers, and if possible have exceeded them in the allegations of immorality and ignorance attributed to the colored ministry of the South. It is fashionable to stand with the majority, and young and recent converts are often precocious and vain of their attainments. They sometimes secure large attention by their precocity and succeed in having much importance attached to their deliverances. They speak for applause, secure it and are gratified—even at the pain they inflict upon others. Some of our college presidents and others engaged in educational and church work in the South, together with some of the recent graduates from Southern schools, find it to their interest financially and otherwise to denounce as ignorant, the old men who so nobly wrought in this Southland the past twenty-five years, and into whose labors they have entered. The colored ministry of the South needs no defense from such aspersions. The work that we have done and are doing testify; and God approves it. The twenty-five best years of my life, have been unservedly devoted to God and humanity. Side by side with the Baptist pioneers, in swamps and cane breaks, upon the mountains and under groves, in poison and pest houses, in cities and villages have we delivered the bread of life and secured the peace of the state and nation. Many of our comrades have died by violence, while in the discharge of their legitimate duties; and others equally as brave and devoted took their places in the ranks. The work is now respectable, and the field promising large returns of souls and althly inore—to those who cultivate them thoroughly. The colored ministry of the South and not the shot-gun policy of the same section, have conserved the peace of the South for, our people are liberty loving as are other races who are willing to die for their freedom. But, the kid glove fraternity of our own and an unappreciative public of the white race are upon us, and they would have us step aside or "down and out" of the leadership. When God, through regularly appointed agencies demands the surrender of our charges to other hands; we will cheerfully obey, without a murmur or complaint. But the demand must be clear and well defined; otherwise, till we reach Pisgah, will we lead Israel, and to God alone resign our trust—a trust to which we have been faithful to the best of our abilities. The older men of the South do not seek popular favor; we cannot, perhaps,—cope intellectually with others who are on the ground and still others who are coming; but we declare before heaven when the coming leaders do arrive, they will find the people,—our people—thoroughly indoctrinated in the cardinal principles of the Gospel, as received from our fathers. They will find them with correct notions of God, heaven, hell, the immortality of the soul, and sentiments of our duplex systems of government, that are founded upon exact justice to all. We preach against lynch law, nihilism, socialism, etc., and corrupt methods in the state and national governments. Here, on these lines, our success has been complete, and our continued aim is to keep our people from shedding innocent blood and from dishonesty. This is important, highly so, for God will not smile upon murderers or their abettors; but will spue them out of the land. "The higher criticisms," new revisions, advanced thought and liberalism, give us but little concern. "That old time religion is good enough for me." In spite of all the carpers here, we are a unit for God, christianity and the Union.

City Church Notes.

The Board of Trustees of Wesley Chapel have adopted the following resolutions:

Whereas, At a concert given March 30, by the Armor Bearers' Circle of Wesley Chapel, Mr. R. J. Estey president, and Mr. Parker Lovings general manager, $100 was raised and presented to the Board of Trustees of Wesley Chapel by Mrs. S. G. Chinn and E. C. Slade, for the purpose of rebuilding or repairing Wesley Chapel M. E. Church; therefore,

Resolved, That the Board of Trustees and Building Committee return their sincere thanks for this donation; and, Be it further Resolved, That this Board and Building Committee take steps to recompense all faithful workers.

Signed, Wm. Randolph, F. T. Chinn, Chairman. Thos. J. Hill, Secretary.

Dr. Albert preached to a crowded house at First Street Church last Sunday night.

The union meeting at La Harpe Church April 12 resulted in a collection of $81.05. Pastor Pickett is happy.

First Street M. E. Church is having a grand time in a revival. The altar is crowded every night with seekers.

A grand rally at Williams Chapel April 12 resulted in the following collections: Class No. 1, $32.50; No. 2, $13.10; No. 3, $11.50; No. 4, $22.25; No. 5, $4.65; No. 7, $4.30; No. 8, $10.50. Total, $98.80. From congregation, $23. Total, $121.80. Too much cannot be said of the leaders for their faithfulness, and the members for their liberality.

Sunday-School League.

On April 19th, the installation of the officers of the Sunday-school League of this city took place at Union Chapel, in the presence of a large concourse of friends. The meeting was presided over by J. Gordon Taylor, superintendent of First Street Church Sunday-school. The installation services were performed by the Rev. J. W. Hendon, assisted by Revs. Forrest and Davage. The welcome address was delivered by Mrs. C. Clarke in an able-written paper, which was replete with words of encouragement. The address was responded to by Mr. W. S. Chinn, and would have done credit to an older head. The address of Mr. George Jackson, upon the necessity of Sunday-schools, was one full of practicality and for which he received unstinted applause. Mr. Jackson was followed by Mr. R. C. Metryer the young rising attorney, in an able and eloquent address upon Christian Manhood, setting forth christian character in its highest and showing that it is the true success in life of all undertakings for good, and that it touches the sympathy of the most high. He deeply impressed the audience with the necessity of exercising that manhood.

The agent, Rev. Lyon, spoke at length, upon the work at large, and giving his experience whilst traveling through the country parishes. The program was varied with solos, duets and choruses from the various Sabbath-schools, rendered by the Misses Murray, Griffin, Brazley and others. The organ was ably presided over by Mr. J. Ogilvie and H. Weber.

The following officers were installed:

Mrs. C. Ogilvie, president; A. H. Hinton, first vice-president; Miss Mary Murray, second vice-president; Miss E. M. Williams, recording secretary; Miss Blanche Howard, assistant secretary; W. S. Chinn, corresponding secretary; H. Parker, treasurer; and I. H. Norwood, city superintendent, with his corps of volunteers.

At the urgent request of Rev. Forrest the speakers will repeat their addresses at Thompson Chapel on the second Sunday in May.

Our French Missionaries will hold services in French at Union Chapel to-night, Thursday. Let everybody attend that can do so.

Church Polity.

Question 1. Is there any clause in our Discipline justifying the stewards in withholding money from the pastor for work done, when they owe him?

Q. 2. Is not the church under as much obligation to pay her pastor a just debt as any other one she may owe? Not for salary, but for work rendered. SUBSCRIBER.

Answer. There is not a word in the Methodist Discipline justifying any man or set of men in withholding from any man, lay or clerical, his just and honest dues. This, of course, does not apply to pastor's salary. A pastor must raise his own salary during his own pastorate. During that time, no one, steward or any one else, is authorized to withhold from him, under any pretenses whatever, the money that they have raised from the people for his support as pastor. To do so is usurpation of authority and treason to consinted Methodist usages and polity.

Letters from the Districts.

South New Orleans District.

PIERRE LANDRY, P. E.

It was on the 14th of February last that we started out on the first quarterly visitation on this district, through the Lafourche and LaTeche region of the work. At Donaldsonville, our starting point, we found the Rev. H. J. Wright master of the situation. They will in the near future overhaul St. Peter and make needed improvements on the same.

For the comfort of the people at Klotzville our church there should be ceiled and sashed this year. For the comfort of the pastor and his family a parsonage is needed. The Rev. J. M. Bryan and his dear people are thinking on this line.

The Rev. D. G. Butler, at Napoleonville, is serving his people with great acceptability; and, whereas, they have done well in the past three years, yet it is thought that some paint and lime would add greatly to the appearance of the church, parsonage, and fence. The improvement of our little church at Bertranneville, which is much needed, is also in contemplation.

At Thibodaux, the seat of our next district conference, the Rev. Wm. Smith and his good people are planning for a big year's work. But first of all the claim of the Board of Church Extension must be met.

At Schriever the Rev. Charles Monroe is leading off well. Here we could very well wish for a change of location for our church and parsonage, to a more desirable one, which would add greatly to the value of the property; and all concerned would be benefitted, especially so in the winter and rainy seasons.

At Beattievile, the Rev. Henry A. Sorrell, assisted by the veteran Oscar Brown, and his faithful little band, has things his way. When completed, which they propose to do this year, they will have one of the best buildings of its kind anywhere to be found.

The Rev. F. D. Bowers and his untiring people are struggling hard at Honnatt to meet pressing claims against the nice and commodious church. Here we have a strong and intelligent crowd of young people, who are justly proud of their success in the erection of so good a building, which is indeed creditable to them and all concerned.

The Hon. Chas. Smith, the worthy representative in the General Assembly of the State, is a leading layman of our church and deserves well at the hands of our people there for his wise leadership in financial causes.

At Morgan City is to be found the best and most complete church on the district, outside of New Orleans. Rev. Travis Larkins, who knows so well how to lead the people, is the popular and successful pastor. Under the management of our good friend, Bro. Joshua Thomas, our bright and intelligent young men and ladies furnish church music at each service.

Bro. Joshua Parker was found at his post at Centerville and Verdunville. It was our pleasure to meet at Verdunville Bro. Joseph Williams, one of the principal men of that thriving colored settlement, where by all means our church ought to be. See about it, brethren; sooner the better.

The Rev. Reese Thompson is the popular pastor of our church at Franklin, and contemplates the best year's work of his ministry. For his many qualities of head and heart he is at once the favorite of the people of Franklin, who flock to hear him preach Christ, and it is their delight to honor him.

At Winsted the Rev. E. B. Richards is the right man in the right place. The sore need of the place and people is a church which will properly accommodate that enlightened community, for which purpose the old building is entirely unfit. In this connection we are glad to say that Bro. Richards has secured a large subscription, and with the assistance of the Rev. W. D. Godman, D.D., President of Gilbert Seminary, the work of rebuilding will begin some time this year.

At Charonton we have a good frame, and when completed it will be a first class country church.

At Woodlawn Bro. Allen Luster was found hard at work for the improvement of the church property generally, and also the spiritual advancement of the people. Bro. Luster is fixed for living. There we found a good horse and buggy, a full crib of corn, a yard of fine poultry, a goodly number of fruit trees, a well arranged garden, salt meat by the 100 pounds, flour and sugar by the barrel, coffee, tea, etc., in proportion, plenty of good water, and a gate ajar for the weary traveler.

It is quite gratifying to know that as far as we have been the people regard their pastors as the best in the Louisiana Conference, and are therefore well satisfied. With this pleasant state of things, Bishops Newman and Mallalieu may reasonably expect an excellent year's work. Already the fruits of this unity of heart and purposes, on the part of people and preachers, is seen in the success of the great spiritual revivals now going on and just closed at the following churches (others to follow): Napoleonville, Woodlawn, Thibodaux, Beattievile, Morgan City and Winsted.

Our quarterly conference sessions are being largely attended by the people, who manifest much interest in the proceedings, and in most cases we have had accessions to the church at these meetings.

Gilbert Seminary at Winsted is beautifully situated on the banks of the LaTeche, which bayou is navigated by passenger and freight steamboats. In the rear of the town the Southern Pacific Railway Company operates daily six passenger trains, three each way, namely: the branch to Cypremont from Franklin, the local to Alexandria from New Orleans, and the express to Houston and all parts of Texas from New Orleans. With this convenient transit the school is at once accessible to all. Here the Rev. W. D. Godman, D.D., is found at the head of this great institution, the beloved of all with whom he is brought in contact. This is an indispensable school to our people, and cannot be replaced by any other, for it is supplying a peculiar want and in a peculiar way. There board is placed within the reach of all who desire to educate the head, heart and hand, which is highly appreciated by our people, as is shown by their patronage. Nearly every part of the State is here represented. The boarding and lodging departments are filled to their utmost capacity; in every available place there is a bed, and still a demand for more.

To the friendship of the people of that community, and to the charity of those with whom God has intrusted his thousands, and millions, do we commend the needs of this school. May Dr. Godman live to reach the summit of his desire, which is to make this institution altogether what his great heart wishes it to be in facilities and usefulness.

We are now in the city portion of the district and the Florida parishes.

Dr. C. O. Fisher, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "The work hereabouts is prosperous."

I SUFFERED from a severe cold in my head for months and could get no relief. Was advised to use Ely's Cream Balm. It has worked like magic in its cure. I am free from my cold after using the Balm one week, and I believe it is the best remedy known.—Samuel J. Harris, Wholesale Grocer, 119 Front St., New York.

ITALIANS NOT MAFIA.

A great and blessed work has begun among our countrymen, the Italian people of New Orleans, through the Gospel of the Son of God. We mean to press this work forward by every means in our power. We are about completing arrangements for lot and chapel worth $3000. We need only $1000 in addition to what we have to enable us to fully carry out our project. We are doing all we can ourselves, and appeal to you to help us in this our time of great need, that the kingdom of our Lord Jesus Christ may be advanced and our poor Italian people, who so greatly need the gospel, may be saved.

Christopher Russo, Joseph Mangano, A. Palmisano, P. Rando, F. Amico, Trustees First Italian M. E. Church, New Orleans, La.

We endorse the above appeal most heartily. No more worthy or devoted brethren than the members of our Italian Church in New Orleans can anywhere be found. Now is the time of their sore trial and great need. Help them, for Christ's sake.

Willard F. Mallalieu, Resident Bishop. William P. McLaughlin, Presiding Elder New Orleans Mission District. Giovanni Battista Giambrodo, Pastor First Italian M. E. Church, New Orleans, La.

Send all contributions to Bishop W. F. Mallalieu, or Rev. W. P. McLaughlin, New Orleans, La.

Our people at St. Peter M. E. Church, Donaldsonville, propose to have a grand rally on Sunday May 10, when they hope to collect a sufficient sum to justify them in commencing work on their new church immediately thereafter. Rev. Pierre Landry, the Presiding Elder of the South New Orleans District, will deliver the historical address; Rev. Wm. Smith the memorial sermon. All former pastors and Presiding Elders are specially invited. Short addresses will be delivered Saturday night, Sunday and Sunday night. Rev. Ernest Lyon, A.B., Sunday school agent, will give an historical sketch of the church and schools. H. J. Wright, pastor; H. Landry, Presiding Elder; C. J. Bush, secretary trustee board; P. L. Carmonche, secretary building committee; Jas. Bird, recording steward.

L. J. S. Bell, Edwards, Miss.

I was kindly received in my new field for this year, and everything bids fair for a good year's work. The first quarter was held Feb. 19, by Rev. J. Campbell, P. E. He preached and administered the Lord's supper to sixty-two happy souls. Paid Presiding Elder this quarter $8 15. Two joined from the A. M. E. Church, two from the Baptist Church, and one reclaimed. March 1st we celebrated the 100th anniversary of the death of John Wesley.

W. H. Pleasant, Va.

My work is moving on nicely, spiritually and temporally. Our recent revival resulted in forty conversions and thirty-seven accessions. Our people in this section have organized an industrial company with a capital stock of $100,000. It is doing much good in assisting our people to get homes of their own. The literary societies organized at Pocahontas, Graham, Tazewell and other points are a great help to the advancement of our young people. Our Sunday schools, too, are in good trim and are accomplishing a great mission.

G. W. Reeves, Walnut Grove, Ala.

Blount circuit is the best one in the Central Alabama Conference. Paid pastor $35 55. The work is progressing nicely.

Geo. W. Brothers, San Antonio, Tex.

This is my first year and up to this point I have been very successful, though the condition when I came here was not as I hoped to have found it. We have purchased a lot at a cost of $75 and erected a cosy little cottage for parsonage valued at $200 which has been furnished by a committee of ladies. There are also plans in hand for a new church building 24 42. Our first quarterly conference was held on the 14 15th, our esteemed Elder H. Swann presiding. He still has his old vim and energy, and that determination to make everything he puts his hands to a success. We have added to the church twelve persons; collected for all purposes, $151 70. We are in a protracted meeting at this writing, which has been going on a week. The prospects are indeed flattering. The Sunday school has been duly organized with increasing attendance. We had a Sunday school exhibition on the first Sunday evening in April to raise funds with which to purchase an organ. By special invitation Dr. N. H. Middleton has been our guest for two days.

E. W. Adams, Walhalla, S. C.

In 1888 I was appointed to the Spartanburg charge. I found the work in a bad condition. Many of our best members had moved away, some to Arkansas, Mississippi and California, and other parts of the State. In the name of God I went to work with what was left. During the three years as pastor we were wonderfully blessed and 155 souls were converted to God and 175 connected to the church. Increasing and improving church property almost $115, and all indebtedness paid excepting $92. Spartanburg circuit is now self supporting. Since my arrival here at Walhalla both of our little pets have died. We were joyfully received. Addresses of welcome were delivered by Miss Nancy I. Lay, a graduate of Clark University, Atlanta, Ga., responded to by David Singleton, of Walhalla, S. C.; Prof. B. F. Meanes, also a graduate of Clark University; Rev. Geo. McFall, W. H. Johnson, W. P. Wiggins, Miss Clara James, J. D. Daniels, T. Price, Martha Owens, Mareah Robinson, M. Thompson, R. E. Williams of Newberry, Charleston Williams, and many others took active part on the occasion.

R. J. Buckner, Pulaski City, Va.

The Lord has blessed us in securing another place of worship, since our church burned down, Dec. 29, 1890. We purchased a house of worship all completed, on Randolph Avenue, for $3000. When our former church was laid in ashes one of the trustees, Bro. J. R. Johnson, said let us start again, and immediately gave his check for $150, followed by each official member according as they were able. The members and friends also laid their shoulders to the wheel to pay the debt of $3000. The ladies of our church gave a "feast in the wilderness," and raised $61.54. Easter day was a feast of good things. Our Presiding Elder, G. T. Wright, was present, and with one of his able sermons raised the heads and hearts of all who heard him. Our members and friends are good and willing workers. We are holding our own for Christ and Methodism.

J. J. Parker, Centerville, La.

The young men of Verdunville gave a oake feast which resulted in $21 30 for the pastor of Centerville. They say they want to buy a lot for the erection of our church in their settlement.

C. W. Blaylock, Mt. Zion Circuit, N. C.

I am working for the SOUTHWESTERN. It is a good paper; I don't see how a Methodist can do without it, especially a preacher. Inclosed find order for the third sewing machine and paper ordered by me since conference. We have lumber and nails in place and paid for to build a church at Mt. Zion. will commence work next week. We are a little ahead on Presiding Elder's and pastor's salary so far. We have one of the finest Sabbath schools on the district. Out of 139 Christians at one church, 113 took sacrament on the fifth Sunday in March. I cannot help from being pleased on my new circuit among such earnest workers. Those for whom I ordered the machines are highly pleased. One brother said he would not give his for a mule; and the paper is as well appreciated.

S. D. Troupe, Batesville, Miss.

My first quarterly conference was held at Spring Hill M. E. Church, April 4, 5, by Rev. H. R. Revels, D.D. We had a good time, the Doctor lectured and preached a soul-stirring sermon, as he always does. Collection, $51.65.

G. W. Branner, Middlesborough, Ky.

This town has quite a number of magnificent buildings. It is lighted up principally with electric lights, and has five beautiful church edifices for the white population. The colored people have no permanent churches as yet. The products are coal and iron ore. There are great preparations being made for the manufacture of iron, coke and brick. Finding no place in which to preach, I went immediately to work under many disadvantages, but by the help of the Lord I was successful in renting a house for $8 per month, in which we have been successful in arranging for worship. Rev. E. Provine, Presiding Elder of the Knoxville district, was with us March 29, and preached three very edifying sermons. March 31, I organized the first Methodist Episcopal Church in this place. We expect to take this town for Christ.

S. E. Ewing, Bryan, Tex.

Our first quarterly conference was held March 21-22 at Ewing chapel. Rev. W. H. Logan's, Presiding Elder, preached two beautiful sermons and administered the Lord's supper to twenty-six. Collection $13 60. Elder Logan is loved by all who know him.

F. M. Spicer, Jonesville, Fla.

Our first quarterly conference held April 4-5, Elder A. Debose presiding. Reports showed progress. We are building a neat and commodious building which will be a credit to this community. Pastor's salary, $500; Presiding Elder, $82 40; for missions, $100. We have had three accessions, five on probation, three infants baptized. Our Presiding Elder preached in the new church to a thronging congregation. Raised for pastor, $47 40; for Presiding Elder, $14 31; for all purposes, $82 this quarter. God bless the SOUTHWESTERN and its able editor.

Peter Swearingen, Mt. Pleasant M. E. Church, Gainesville, Fla.

Our church is improving in every department. My people favored me with a grand surprise party recently. They left our large table covered with choice groceries.

The New Orleans Picayune is one of the newest and most reliable papers published. Its Editorials are judicious and timely; it gives all the news without fear or favor; its Associated Press and Special Southern Telegrams cover all important Foreign and Domestic News; its Commercial and Market Reports are complete and are accepted standards; its Letters from New York and Paris, and the Special Contributions of Pearl Rivers, Catharine Cole, Mollie Moore Davis, Jennie Jone, Marie Points and others are unfailing sources of interest and information and are of a high order of literary merit. The Picayune is printed in clear, new type, of size sufficient to be read without straining the eye.

To keep abreast of the times and know all worth knowing that a newspaper should tell, send Three Dollars for three months' subscription to the Daily Picayune, or subscribe for its splendid Weekly Edition at One Dollar a year. The Weekly is sixteen pages, and is issued every Thursday morning to reach all subscribers before Sunday.

The Methodist Year Book for 1891 is before us. It is edited by the Rev. A. B. Sanford, M.A., and published by the Book Concern. It contains the usual variety of denominational and general information, and appears to us to have been prepared with unusual care. In order to be intelligent Methodists, and continue such, every family needs to procure each year a Methodist Year Book, and a copy of the Minutes of its Annual Conference, and carefully preserve them; and take its church paper, and read it faithfully. A family, or an individual, who will do these things will not fall out of the procession.

From the Year-Book we gather some interesting items of information. The present membership of the Methodist Episcopal Church is 2,236,403; itinerant ministers, 13,279, of whom 10,056 are effective; churches, 22,103. The total number of Methodists of all branches in the United States is 4,980,240, having 31,765 ministers and 54,711 churches. If we count three adherents for each member, it will give the Methodist population of the country as 14,940,720, or nearly one fourth of the whole.

The benevolent collections of the Methodist Episcopal Church are as follows: Missionary Society, $1,135,271 82; Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, $220,330 96; Woman's Home Missionary Society, $112,970 20; which gives a total for missions of $1,468,581 98. This takes no account of from thirty to fifty thousand dollars given to specific objects through Bishops Taylor, Thoburn and others, nor of the large sums given locally to home missionary work. Church Extension was given $185,902.82. The Year Book is for sale at this office.

General Church News.

American Bible Society.

The stated meeting of the Board of Managers was held at the Bible House on Thursday, April 2, 1891. Hon. Enoch L. Fancher, LL.D., president, in the chair.

Among the communications presented to the Board from foreign lands were full reports of the work in 1890 from the Agencies in Japan, Turkey, Siam, and Brazil.

Grants of books were made to the value of about $7,726, and funds to the amount of $68,697.53, including appropriations to the Ceylon Mission of the American Board, to the Society's Agencies in the Levant, in Brazil, and in Siam, and to the Bible Societies' Committee in Japan.

The issues from the Bible House during the month of March were 110,307 volumes. The total issues from the Bible House during the year ending March 31st, not including those issued in foreign lands, were 1,052,624 volumes.

At a meeting of representatives of the Society of Christian Endeavour and of the Epworth League, recently held in Toronto, arrangements were made whereby members of either of these societies could cordially affiliate with the other. The Epworth Leagues, which are already identical in principle with the Society of Christian Endeavour, by adding the name of the latter society are entitled to all the rights and privileges of that society; and all Christian Endeavour Societies adopting the name of Epworth League, are similarly entitled to all its privileges. A considerable number of societies have already accepted these conditions and the Joint Committee recommends that union meetings of these two societies which have the same aims and objects, should be held whenever practicable, and thus promote a spirit of interdenominational fellowship and good-will.

If you wish further information on the subject, you will find it in the last number of Ouward.

Science.

Progress of Medical Discovery.

We are standing to-day on the border land of a vast unexplored region in the domain of life. It seems to be a region rich in the promise of benefit to man, when after patient toil we shall have learned more of the relationships of these tiny organisms to one another and to higher forms. The rich harvest garnered hitherto in this domain has been the power to understand the cause of certain dread human scourges, and thus to stay their progress.

In the face of threatened epidemics of Asiatic cholera, we stand today fully equipped with a knowledge of its nature, which surely enables us to hold it successfully in check. The surgeon can to-day undertake with just confidence of success such operations for the relief of suffering humanity as would have made the hearts of his elder confreres stand fairly still. Many of the so-called accidents of maternity have largely lost their vagueness, and with this their power to harm. The great cloud which for so many years has hung low over the heads of the children of tubercular parents has at length begun to roll away. The terrible epidemic scourges of former times no longer haunt the imagination. Man is not in these days a serious seeker for the fountains of perpetual youth, nor may we justly long for earthly immortality. But we now see dimly, but at last—that we may lay larger claim at least to our allotted three-score years and ten if we can but learn to cope with or to hold at bay those unseen enemies which have robbed us already of far too many lives.

Little by little we are learning that prevention is better than cure, and that prevention is possible in a large number of those diseases which have claimed their victims hitherto unchallenged. People have always taken it as a matter of course that a certain number of persons must sicken and die of such diseases as typhoid fever and diphtheria; but we know to-day that these diseases can be largely limited if only proper care be taken in destroying the waste material from the sick. We know to just what we must attribute the widespread acquirement of tuberculosis, and that proper cleanliness in streets and houses and all assembling places, would greatly curtail the number of its victims.

Still, again, these delvings in the unseen world have brought up at least one shining moral nugget, which, when beaten into words, means something like this: we must not lay at the door of Providence or fate those evils which we wilfully or ignorantly bring upon ourselves.—From "Glimpses of the Bacteria," by T. Mitchell Prudden, M.D., in Harper's Magazine for April.

Lost Friends.

We make no charge for publishing these letters from subscribers. All others will be charged fifty cents. Pastors will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report any case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.

Mr. Editor: I wish to inquire for my mother. I left her in Maples, Alabama. Her name was Milley, my name is Reuben Hames. My mother used to belong to John Merys, I used to belong to Samuel Hames. Any information will be gladly received by Reuben Turner Hames, New Roads, La.

Mr. Editor: I want to find my daughter. Her name was Amelia Goins, she had three girls the last time I heard from her. The two oldest were married and the youngest was still with her. Their names were Jennie, Mary, and Alevia. They were all living in Louisville, Ky., the last I heard of them. That was in 1889. Anyone knowing either of these please address A. H. Officer, Jeremiah, Tenn.

Mr. Editor: I want to find my father. He was carried from Coosa County Alabama to Texas by John G. Gram, his master. His name is or was then Tom Tinker Gram. My mother's name is Caroline, she is dead. There were five children, the girls names were Tempie and Joe. We all belonged to a man by the name of William Hardy. The last time I heard from him he was still in Texas. Any information will be gladly received. Please address Henry Hardy, Petersburg, Tenn.

Mr. Editor: I want to inquire for my mother and brothers. My mother's name was Judy Brunt and my father's name was Jimmie Brunt. I left them when I was 3 years old. I left them in the state of Georgia with widow Brunt, my name was Elisabeth Brunt then. I am married to Mr. William Bates. I am 40 years old. I was sold to a man by the name of Benjamin Ray, and I have been in Overton County ever since. I belong to the M. E. Church, and my pastor is Rev. F. Smith. Address me, Elizabeth Bates, Livingston, Tenn., care Rev. F. Smith.

Letters from the Laity.

Mathi Burton, Kendleton, Tex. We are thankful to the conference for sending us such a noble preacher as the Rev. G. J. Izard.

R. Thompson, Crawford, Miss. Our first quarterly conference convened March 21, 22, with Rev. W. McDonald, Presiding Elder, in the chair. We had a grand time. The Elder preached and gave the Lord's Supper to 94. Paid Elder, $11.75. Our beloved pastor, Rev. D. L. Tubbs, is loved by all. He is a friend to the SOUTHWESTERN.

Luciell J. Shallowhorne, St. James Church, Shreveport, La.

We are having continued success in our church work. We are engaged in a protracted meeting. Ten souls have been converted and twelve backsliders returned to the fold. The fourth Sunday in April is set apart for our financial rally for the indebtedness of the church.

H. M. Peterson, Slaughter, La.

Our Sunday school is on a solid basis. We have promised to our Presiding Elder, Rev. F. F. Marshall, in the quarterly conference, $5 this year for the support of our Sunday School Agent, Rev. E. Lyon. Our pastor, Rev. A. A. Lacey, is with us, whole soul, in the Sunday school work. We will have a grand Sunday school union meeting at the Old Camp Ground in July next.

Mattie Witherspoon, Forest City circuit, Ark.

Our new pastor, Rev. S. M. Starke, is very much appreciated. Our first quarterly conference was held Feb. 28, by Presiding Elder W. R. R. Duncan. We had a nice time. The sermon by the Elder was edifying and profitable. The salary of the pastor was fixed at $300. Collection for the Elder, $570. Easter was well observed.

W. L. Dyass, Pleasant Hill, La.

I expect to read the SOUTHWESTERN until I go beyond this vale of tears. Bro. McGlocklin, our pastor, is a grand man. He informed me of this paper.

Mrs. Cora Provine, wife of the Rev. E. Provine, Presiding Elder of the Knoxville District, East Tennessee Conference, and Corresponding Secretary of the W. H. M. S. for that conference, has sent us a very interesting descriptive letter of her trip to the Annual Meeting of the Society at Buffalo, N. Y. She was delighted with her trip and the treatment accorded her at the convention. But for lack of space we would have gladly published the whole letter.

ELECTRIC BELT FREE

April 15th, 1891.

Dear Sir:

To introduce it, we will give away to those who are sick or ailing or suffering from weakness or disease, and who would be likely to make good agents, if cured, one of our German Electro-Galvanic Belts, regular price $5 (U. S. Patent 357,647) invented by Prof. P. H. Van Derweyde, Pres. of N. Y. Electrical Society and late Professor of Chemistry of N. Y. Medical College. ($500 Reward for any Belt we manufacture that does not generate a marvelous electric current.) They are daily making most marvelous cures in cases of Rheumatism, Lost Vitality, Liver, Stomach and Kidney Diseases, Lung Troubles, Nervous Debility, and many other ailments in which medicine fails. Would you like to try one? If so, address at once

German Electric Belt Agency, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Official paper for the following Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church: Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas, West Texas, Tennessee, East Tennessee, Little Rock, Central Alabama, Savannah, Florida, North Carolina and South Carolina.

Largest Circulation of any Religious Newspaper in New Orleans.

THURSDAY, APRIL 30, 1891.

A POSTAL card request addressed to Rev. W. W. Reynolds, Greensburg, Indiana, will secure diagrams of an excellent plan for raising church funds to meet the pastors' salary and other expenses.

A PERSONAL note from Bishop Mallalieu says, in reference to the circular which we are mailing to our pastors and friends everywhere: "I commend your circular, and hope you may live long enough to see the 25,000 cash subscribers, for which it appeals."

PREACHERS or teachers who are ashamed to be seen on the streets with their members or students on account of race or color should be promptly reported, and drummed out of the work. Such camp-followers who are attracted by our loaves and fishes are not needed nor desired.

DON'T forget Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society Jubilee is the second Sunday in May. Send to Dr. J. C. Hartzell, Cincinnati, for programs. Raise a big jubilee collection for the cause, and send the money the next day to the Doctor. Will you do it? Let us all do so.

REV. I. L. Pratt will make the second Sunday in May special rally day for cash subscribers for the SOUTHWESTERN. He says the Freedmen's Aid and SOUTHWESTERN are twins and should be thus united on that day. Go in for the twins, brethren. Stand by both of them. In fact, the SOUTHWESTERN is twin sister to every church interest; so push it at every service.

THE special attention of our readers is invited to the very interesting and instructive course of lectures on Personal Hygiene which Dr. G. W. Hubbard, of the Meharry Medical School, Nashville, Tenn., is furnishing our columns. They will appear weekly. Cut them out or preserve the papers which contain them for future use, which is better.

LORD Salisbury, the English Premier, indulged in some plain talk the other day. He gave the Romish hierarchy in Ireland to understand that the English people had no sympathy with ecclesiastical interference in elections. He said further that England would never turn over the Protestants of Ireland to the tender mercies of such a tyranny as the Romish priesthood had shown itself in Ireland to be. We have no sympathy with the abuses of the English land-lord system or with the Tory party but home rule can never come to Ireland until she learns that greatest truth—"Whom the Son makes free he shall be free indeed."

ONE of the most prominent citizens of Ohio, in a letter ordering extra copies of our issue which contained our article on Wilberforce, and its efforts to secure a division of the Congressional Agricultural College Appropriation so as to secure a portion to itself, says: "There appeared some time ago a most vigorous protest against the action of certain gentlemen connected with Wilberforce University, at Xenia, in this State. They are still pressing claims which can not but be injurious to the future of the colored race here. Your firm and righteous denunciation may help to defeat these measures. Will you be so kind as to send to the address given below twenty-five copies of the paper containing the above article."

The American Bishops and the Columbian Exposition.

Bishop H. M. Turner, of the A. M. E. Church, is nothing, if not visionary and erratic. Out of 100 American bishops, all of whom oppose the opening of the Columbian World's Fair on the Sabbath, with the exception of some of the Roman Catholic Bishops, Bishop Turner stands out singly and alone among Protestant bishops in advocacy of the Sunday opening of the Fair.

He says: Let the Exposition be open to the public in the afternoon and even at night, if necessary, at some reduction in the ordinary price.

Archbishop John Ireland, Roman Catholic, says:

I believe the doors should be closed the entire day. The Sunday, the sacred symbol of our Christianity, the honor of our civil institutions, is already too seriously attacked, whether from the greed of capital or the aggressiveness of irreligion.

Most Rev. Wm. H. Gross, D.D., Archbishop of Oregon, says:

The keeping open of the gates of the National Columbian Exposition at Chicago on Sunday would do very much to promote this deplorable profanation of the Lord's Day in our country.

Rt. Rev. J. Williams, D.D., Bishop of Connecticut, says:

I should regard the opening as a shameful violation of the law of God, and, therefore, an equally shameful outrage on the community.

Rt. Rev. Francis M. Whittle, D.D., Bishop of Virginia, says:

I am deeply impressed with the conviction that the interest of public morality and religion demand that the gates of the National Columbian Exposition, to be held in Chicago, should be closed on Sunday.

Rt. Rev. Theodore B. Lyman, D.D., Bishop of North Carolina, says:

I think any such measure would be most dangerous to the interests of morality and religion.

Rt. Rev. John F. Spalding, D.D., Bishop of Colorado, says:

I am in favor of closing the gates on Sundays, for religious, economic and social reasons.

Thomas Bowman, D.D., Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church:

I supposed that everybody knew that the Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church are all against the opening of the National Exposition on Sunday. We hope it will not be done.

Bishop Edward G. Andrews, D.D.:

The opening of the National Exposition on Sundays would be a violation of the law of God, and would unspeakably damage the character and life of the American people.

Bishop H. W. Warren, D.D.:

It is my profound conviction that the gates should be rigorously closed.

Bishop Cyrus D. Foss, D.D.:

I would deeply deplore the opening of the Columbian Exposition on Sunday.

Bishop John F. Hurst, D.D.:

I do not believe the gates of our National Columbian Exposition should be opened on Sunday, because it would be doing violence to the sentiment of a very large part of our citizens throughout the land. The example would be thoroughly harmful. It would counteract largely any religious forces that might be used in connection with the Exposition. It would tend toward intemperance. It would be a positive danger to any advance of the sentiment, now happily advancing in Europe, in favor of a stricter observance of the Lord's Day. I believe it would be a sin against God and our Christian civilization.

Bishop W. X. Ninde, D.D.: I am strenuously opposed to the opening of the Columbian Exposition on Sunday, in the interest of the civil as well as the sacred Sabbath.

Bishop W. F. Mallalieu, D.D.: I feel that it would be a national calamity.

Bishop H. Fowler, D.D.:

I am profoundly convinced that those gates should be closed Sundays.

Bishop John P. Newman, D.D.: Keep the Sabbath or abandon the National Show. God commands, let the people obey.

Bishop John H. Vincent, D.D., LL.D.:

The Christian people of the United States are called upon to make so many concessions to the non-Christian part of our population in reference to Sabbath observance, it seems reasonable in a matter of this kind—that recognition by the National Exposition authorities of one rest-day a week for religious uses by those who desire it—the non-Christian element should cheerfully concede to the Churches this simple request.

Bishop Isaac W. Joyce, D.D.:

I am opposed to the opening of those gates on the Sabbath; first, because it would be a violation of the sanctity of that day as set forth in the Bible. Second, it would be an offense against the religious convictions of a very large per cent of the American people.

J. Weaver, D.D., Bishop of the United Brethren Church:

A thousand times no.

Randolph Dubs, D.D., Bishop of the Evangelical Association:

I would say most emphatically that the Exposition ought not to be open on Sundays, because it would be a violation of God's law, and we cannot afford to have his displeasure upon us. It would be a flagrant disregard of the customs and traditions of our country in reference to the observance of the Lord's Day. It is not necessary in order to make an Exposition a success.

J. P. Campbell, D.D., Bishop of the African Methodist Episcopal Church:

I answer No; because the Creator of man and of the Sabbath which he made for man has ordained by an eternal decree, that we shall remember the Sabbath Day and keep it holy.

Bishop T. M. D. Ward, D.D.:

We cannot afford as a nation to kindle wrath against us by the violation of this most sacred of all ordinances, the Sabbath Day. Take from around this day its safeguards, and you accelerate the nation's ruin. Close the gates of the great Exposition on that day; write on its walls, "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy," and we shall draw down upon us the benediction of Heaven.

Bishop W. J. Gaines, D.D.:

From a religious and moral standpoint, I conclude that the gates of the National Columbian Exposition should be closed on Sundays.

Bishop Benj. Tucker Tanner, D.D.:

In the interest of the people, in the interest of common honesty with God whose help we are so ready to seek in times of distress, let the doors of the Exposition be locked, bolted and barred on the Sabbath.

Bishop B. W. Arnett, D.D.:

I am opposed to the opening of the Columbian Exposition on Sunday as a man, citizen and Christian.

Rt. Rev. J. J. Moore, D.D.:

I am emphatically in favor of the Exposition closing its gates on Sundays.

Bishop J. W. Hood, D.D.:

It seems to me that, among those who take the Bible for their guide, there is only room for the one opinion that the gates should not be opened on the Sabbath.

Bishop J. C. Keener, D.D.:

As to the question, "whether the gates of the Columbian Exposition should be opened on Sunday," surely there can be but one answer. The marked contrast with other world-famed exhibitions, would enable it to show, by the act itself, that the observance of the Christian Sabbath was the one true basis of our success as a nation, industrial and moral.

Bishop C. B. Galloway, D.D.:

I most earnestly favor closing the gates of the National Columbian Exposition on Sunday. Public morals, the history and traditions of our nation, the interests of working people, the respect for the Christian religion—the common law of our country—alike demand it.

Bishop Atticus G. Haygood, D.D.:

As to the Exposition and Sunday I believe:

1. That the clamor for Sunday opening is not in the interest of the laboring poor but of gate receipts and of idle people who wish for easy and cheap amusements on the Sabbath.

2. That the laboring poor will constitute the minority of Sunday visitors.

3. That the loss of reverence for the holy day will hurt the laboring poor more than the loss of a thousand exhibitions.

4. That if the laboring poor can see the Exposition on Sunday only it is due to the greed of employers.

5. And that if the rich give the laboring poor only Sunday to visit the Exposition, then they are mean and criminal.

W. H. Miles, D.D., Bishop of the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church:

In behalf of public morality the gates of the National Columbian Exposition, Chicago, should be closed on the Sabbath day.

Political Review.

The grand ovation given on the Pacific Coast, to President Harrison, was turned into sadness last Sunday by the telegram reporting the serious and probably fatal accident which had befallen his sister, Mrs. Bettie Eaton, at North Bend, Ind. She was thrown from a carriage in a runaway.

Full reports from the Montana municipal elections show that the Republicans captured every city in which party lines were drawn except in Butte, where the Democrats secured the mayor and a majority in the council.

The Democrats in Florida are still halloing in canons for U. S. Senator.

Cleveland Democrats are trimming his published expressions on the free silver coinage so as to hoodwink both wings of the Democracy in support of his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination. Whether it will be Cleveland, Hill or "a dark horse" no one can foretell.

The National Republican League convention in Cincinnati, Ohio, last week was one of the most enthusiastic meetings of its kind ever held. It showed the party to be getting in shape for a sweeping victory in 1892. Gen. J. S. Clark was elected president. The following from the South were put on the executive committee: Alabama, R. W. Austin; Delaware, Philip Walters; Georgia, R. D. Locke; Kentucky, W. D. Riley; Louisiana, E. C. L. Herwig; Maryland, George L. Wellington; Tennessee, L. K. Torbert; Virginia, G. W. Harris; West Virginia, Stephen B. Elkins; District of Columbia, A. M. Olapp.

The Supreme Court of Louisiana has decided the mandamus case in favor of the Louisiana State Lottery Company. Justice Feunier and Breoux dissented. The matter now goes to the people to be voted upon, and we may prepare to witness the terrible conflict which is bound to follow between vice and morality.

The white people of Opelousas, La., are enraged because the President has appointed for their postmaster Mr. Harry Bloch, an intelligent and respectable colored man, of whom the Times-Democrat says: "He is a man who would never be taken for a Negro, being very light in color; in fact, a decided blonde. Being asked if he was colored, he replied that while he did not look like a colored man, he was of that race, and never denied it."

He has lived in Opelousas all his life and has never been obnoxious. He is, and has for the last fifteen years been employed by Messrs. Clements & Wilson, merchants of Opelousas, as clerk, and did all their business. But the mass meeting called to denounce the appointment last Sunday declared that they could not and would not tolerate the appointment of a Negro (!) postmaster, "however estimable personally" he may be.

Judge E. T. Lewis, who endorsed Mr. Bloch's application for the office, was also denounced by the mass meeting. The Judge, however, has declared that he does not propose to be ruled by regulators, and he has instructed the sheriff accordingly. Mr. Bloch is now in this city and has not yet taken charge of the office. It is to be seen whether the authorities at Washington will stand by and allow such treason and rebellion to establish its supremacy, or whether or not they will see to it that the federal official is protected in the exercise and privileges of the office to which he has been duly appointed.

Personal.

Rev. Stephen Duncan, Presiding Elder of the Shreveport district, left for his district yesterday.

Rev. J. F. Marshall, of the Baton Rouge district, has completed his first round and is home again. He expresses great satisfaction over the temporal and spiritual outlook for his district. The district is ablaze with revival interest.

The A. M. E. Zion Church mourns the death of Bishop Singleton T. Jones, D.D., who died at his home in Washington, D. C., April 18. He was one of the ablest colored preachers in this country, and the foremost preacher in his Church. He was for 49 years a member of Zion; 42 of which he served in her ministry, and for 23 years was a Bishop.

Bishop Richard R. Disney of the A. M. E. Church, died at his residence in Chatham, Ontario, April 20. He was born in North East, Cecil county, Md., in 1829. He was ordained deacon in 1858, elder in 1860, and Bishop in 1876. Originally an African Methodist, at work in Canada at the B. M. E. Church was constituted, he remained in the B. M. E. Church from its foundation to its reunion with the A. M. E. Church, which brought him back into the mother church a Bishop. He had charge of the work of his church in Mississippi and Arkansas. We sympathize with our sister churches in their great losses.

Presiding Elders Emperor Williams and W. P. McLaughlin will visit St. John, Rev. Eugene Baptiste pastor, next Sunday.

Rev. J. P. Franklin, Fayetteville, Ark., who has been very sick, is now convalescent and has resumed work on his charge.

The Rev. Dr. McGerald, editor of the Buffalo Christian Advocate, spent a few days on a visit to this city last week, and made a pleasant call. He was the guest of Dr. Adkinson, at the New Orleans University. He visited several of our colored churches last Sunday, addressed the Preachers' Meeting last Monday, and took in the points of interest generally. We were glad to welcome him among us, and to hear his words of friendly interest.

Mrs. Adeline Haven, of Malden, widow of Wilbur F. Haven, who was a brother of Gilbert

Haven, died a few weeks ago. She was a most estimable lady, a member of the Methodist Church, and leaves one son. Her husband, who died many years ago, was a successful business man, a devout Christian, and especially generous and philanthropic in his purposes. Such is the record of that good family. The wife of President Thirkield, and daughter of Bishop Haven, was the niece of this estimable elect lady.

Rev. Dr. I. B. Scott, Presiding Elder of the Houston district, is scholarly, judicious and enthusiastic in his calling. He is a man that can safely be trusted in the most responsible stations of the church.—Weekly Test. A well deserved compliment.

After several months illness and much suffering from heart trouble, the Rev. Robt. T. Kent has sufficiently recovered to leave Culloden and reach Cartersville, Ga., his new appointment. This venerable father was one of the founders of our work in Georgia in the dark days, and is now broken down in health. He and his devoted wife, who has been his faithful companion for the past thirty-seven years, are doing all they can for the Master at Cartersville, Ga. We bespeak for them the love and sympathy of the younger members of the Savannah Conference. Bro. Kent, we are glad to say, is abundant in praise of his Presiding Elder, the Rev. H. R. Allen, and of the people he is now serving.

Rev. Mack Henson, Austin, Texas, notifies us of the death of Gen. James A. Ekin, of Louisville, Ky. Referring to him, he says: "Gen. Ekin has been my friend for twenty years, and has kept up a correspondence with me since 1872; when he was relieved from Deputy Quartermaster-General of the Fifth Military District, with headquarters at San Antonio, Tex. I was for a long time his protegee and his student. This fact being known to some of his intimate friends, I have been styled by them, 'his Texas theologian.' He was a scholar and a Christian gentleman, and aided me wonderfully in my Bible studies, preparatory to my entering the ministry. He was a Presbyterian, but hesitated not to assist me to enter the Methodist ministry."

Rev. George Grienmarde, French Missionary, who comes to reinforce our workers in that field in this city, called in company with Rev. R. L. Crawford of Ames Church, and Presiding Elder McLaughlin, last Monday. We heartily welcome him, and bespeak for him great success.

Rev. W. L. Davidson, D.D., of the Sunday-School Union, held a three days Sunday-school institute recently, at Central Tennessee College, Nashville, Tenn. More than two hundred students and about forty ministers were constantly in attendance. Dr. Davidson was ably assisted by Prof. Gross Alexander and Professor A. H. Merrill, of the Vanderbilt University, and the Rev. Isaac Crook, D.D., of Louisville, Kentucky.

Rev. Wm. Hurd Rogers died in Chattanooga, Tenn., March 17, a veteran Methodist preacher. He was a Bible student, having read the Old Testament Scriptures through 175 times and the New Testament 270 times. Since he gave his heart to God he never, as he testified, missed but two days that he did not read some portion of God's Word. While in Confederate prisons he was forbidden by the provost marshal to read it; but in spite of orders and threats from godless men, he followed his habits and convictions, believing in the superior authority of God's law.

Gov. John Evans, whose liberality is known throughout the church, quietly passed over to Denver University, last week, $100,000, to be used as endowment.

Could the Governor take a trip South and visit a few such institutions among our people, and see their needs and the great good they are accomplishing, we feel morally certain that he would liberally contribute to them.

DAILY BREAD.

See where the servants of the Lord,
A busy multitude, appear;
For Jesus day and night employed,
His heritage they toil to clear.

The love of Christ their hearts constrain,
And strengthens their unwearied hands;
They spend their sweat, and blood,
and pain,
To cultivate Immanuel's lands.
—Charles Wesley.

Brother, is thy heart with mine, as my heart is with thine? If it be give me thine hand.—John Wesley.

From this time, I trust, we shall all suffer God to carry on his own work in the way that pleaseth him.
—John Wesley.

We are always open to instruction, willing to be wiser every day than we were before, and to change whatever we can change for the better.—John Wesley.

Sammy, beware of the impetuosity of your temper! It may easily lead you away. It may make you evil affected to the excellent ones of the earth.—John Wesley.

Sympathy is one of the most vital forces of christianity. Cold men seldom win. To reach a human soul in darkness and lift him up into the light, we must be touched deeply with a sense of that soul's danger and need. Heart power is real power.—Selected.

Food and raiment I have; such tood as I choose to eat, and such raiment as I choose to put on. I have a place where to lay my head;
I have what is needed for life and godliness; and I apprehend this is all the world can afford. The kings of the earth can give no more.—
John Wesley.

One great reason why the rich have so little sympathy for the poor, is, that they so seldom visit them.

All who desire to escape the everlasting fire, and to inherit the everlasting Kingdom, are equally concerned, according to their power, to practice this important duty.
—John Wesley.

The mightiest forces are often the most quiet in their work. One warm spring day will do more to foster vegetation than can be accomplished by months of wailing winds and howling tempests. A little seed, expanding in the warmth of sunshine, has a lifting power which is almost irresistible. Vital energies take hold on eternal strength, spring from an unending fountain, and partake of the power which dwells in their eternal source.
—Selected.

At one of the late Baptist anniversaries, Rev. Dr. Lorimer, of Chicago, paid his respects to tightfisted niggardly christians, by relating this anecdote:

Talking with a man who had professed to be converted, a minister said:

"Have you joined church?"

"No; the dying thief did not join the church, and he went to heaven."

"Have you given anything to missions?"

"No; the dying thief never gave anything, and he went to heaven."

"Well, my friend, it seems to me the difference is that he was a dying thief, and you are a living one."

There are those who say, "This temperance question is a political question and the church must leave it alone." Must the church submit to be trampled upon, and have all her work neutralized by the accursed liquor traffic and make no resistance? Must she speak only inoffensive sentiment? At this great enemy of her life must she direct only such attacks as come short of any execution? God forbid.
Heaven pity the coward who fears to attack the greatest enemy of his church, lest he should reflect upon some political party that manifests some sympathy with the church's foe! In this fight let the church be free, unrestrained by political considerations; let her wield the hot thunderbolts of heaven's denunciations; let her hold before men in their deliberations on this subject; the principles of eternal right until this enemy is slain, and the land delivered from this shameful tyranny.—Rev. G. D. Chase.

Homiletics.

Hymns 362, 379, 393.
Scripture Lesson, John 5.
Text, John 5: 40: "And you will not come to me that you might have life."

Introduction.—I the Lord Jesus Christ was speaking to the unbelieving and wicked Jews when he uttered the words of the text.

He was not speaking of the life of the body.

The people who heard him were alive. They had the possession of health, and strength and reason.

But at the same time they were dead in sin. They did not have spiritual life.

Jesus calls the life of the soul, or spiritual life, by still another and greater name. He calls it eternal life.

There are two things about eternal life that every person desires.

First, It is to continue forever.
It will last as long as the throne of God. All other things may grow old and decay, but eternal life will endure.

Secondly, Eternal life is a state of perfect happiness. It will be spent in heaven. With holy angels and all good beings, and all that the soul needs God will freely and abundantly supply.

It is important to remember that eternal life begins when the soul is first converted. Jesus says, John 17, 3, "And this is eternal life, that they might know then the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom thou hast sent," also in John 6: 47, he says, "He that believeth in me hath everlasting life."

This brings us to the very important question why do not all who hear the Gospel secure eternal life?

1. It is not because they have to pay a great price for it.

It is offered without money and without price.

2. It is not because the blessings is only for the educated.

The person who cannot read a word may come and receive the blessing. Even little children, without either money or learning may find Christ.

3. It is not because there is only an elect number that can be saved.
The invitation is to all and Christ has died for all.

4. It is not because the spirit of God is not ready to help.

The Holy Spirit enlightens every soul.

Convicts every soul of sin. Shows every soul his danger. Persuades every soul to accept Christ.

The real reasons sinners do not secure eternal life are because

1. They love sin.

Every sinner likes some kind of sin, and continues to sin against God even when he knows it will ruin his soul.

2. Sinners fail to secure eternal life because they are ashamed to be known as christians.

They ought to be ashamed of being sinners. Sin is a reproach to any people. Sin is a crime against God. The sinner destroys his own soul.

If any one ought to be shunned surely it is the sinner.

3. Sinners fail to secure eternal life because they put off the day of repentance.

They might have eternal life any day if they would repent, but they say to-morrow will be a better time, and so day after day passes, and at last they wake up in hell to find they are lost forever.

4. The last and greatest reason why sinners do not secure eternal life is because they will not come to Jesus. He offers life freely.
Offers it to all, but his offers are all refused. The result is that the sinner will perish forever because he chooses death rather than life.

To-day Jesus invites, the spirit pleads, and God the Father waits to save.

Let everyone come and accept Jesus, let everyone turn from his sin and God will give him eternal life.

Schools and Colleges.

Gammon Theological Seminary, Atlanta, Georgia.

The Commencement Anniversaries at Gammon Theological Seminary will take place May 10th to 13th. The baccalaureate sermon on Sunday, May 10, will be delivered by the Rev. W. M. Hayes, D.
D., of the M. E. Church South, Commissioner of Education among the colored people. Anniversary of the Seminary Missionary Society at 7:30 p. m. The oral examination before conference committees will occur on Monday and Tuesday.
Alumni address on Tuesday night
by the Rev. Prof. J. D. Chavis, B.
D., of the class of '89. Subject:
The Gospel the World's only Civil-izing and Elevating Agency.
Graduating exercises Wednesday at 10 a. m. Commencement address by His Excellency, Governor Northen.

Revs. J. C. Hartzell, D.D., A. E.
P. Albert, D.D., and Rev. R. S.
Rust, D.D., with other representatives of our church and educational work, will be with us at commencement and corner-stone laying. The corner-stone of New Rust Hall will be laid in the a. m. of May 29th, and the commencement exercises will occur in the p.
m. of the same day. In the evening of the 29th there will be roll call of the charges in the Mississippi and Upper Mississippi Conferences.—Rust Enterprise.

THE second Sunday in May has been set apart as Southern Education Day for the whole church.
This is the quarter centennial jubilee year, and in the South especially the day should be one of joyful thanksgiving and cheerful giving of money for christian education.
All that you raise that day will be credited to your own school, and be counted as your collection for the cause this year. The time is short, and yet there is time enough to prepare for observing the day, and may a good jubilee offering.
Push the collection brethren, and forward the collection as soon as taken, and a conference voucher will be returned. The money is needed to save paying interest on loans. Send for the splendid services prepared for both regular

The appointment of Mr. John C. Dancy, editor of the Star of Zion to the U. S. Collectorship of the Port of Wilmington, N. C., is being complimented on all sides.
Mr. Dancy is one of the best representatives of his race in this country, and is highly deserving of the distinguished honor conferred. The President could not have made a more satisfactory selection. Now let him show the same wisdom in the appointment of a colored jurist to one of the vacant U. S. Court judgeships.

Obituary.

At the residence of her son, Thos. J.
Hill, in this city, Mrs. Jane Hodge, aged 65 years, a native of Nashville, Tenn., on Friday, April 10, 1891, at 10:55 o'clock
a. m. She was the widow of the late Rev. Robt. Hodge. She died in full triumph of faith, and said before she died that the sign of her death, if she could not speak, would be a shower of rain; and just a few moments before she breathed her last the shower came, and her blessed spirit returned to the God who gave it, where the wicked shall cease to trouble her and her wearied soul shall find eternal rest. Sister Hodge was a member of class No. 5 of Wesley Chapel M. E. Church for over 40 years, and was converted to God under the pastorate of Rev. Samuel Davage.

Cold Springs Circuit, Tex.—Father
Larkin Eckford, a superannuated preacher of the Texas Conference, after many years of severe illness, died April 16, at his home, leaving a wife, 14 children, 32 grand-children and a host of friends to mourn his loss. Deceased was born in 1811, and was the founder of Methodism in San Jacinto county and many other places.
S. H. Grant, P. C.

Compte, La.—After a long illness, Sister Matilda Burnstine departed this life in full triumph. She was a faithful member of St. Paul M. E. Church.
B. J. Reddix, P. C.

Inman, Tenn.—Sister Sue Smith, a faithful member of the M. E. Church, departed this life March 12, in full triumph of faith. Rev. A. W. Randolph attended the funeral.

Shuqualak, Miss.—Sister Ann Deils,
a member of Hickory Grove M. E.
Church, died in full triumph of faith
April 8. She leaves a husband and brother and a host of friends to mourn. Her funeral was attended by the writer.
W. S. Leske, P. C.

Hattiesburg, Miss.—Lucy Tisdale, daughter of March Tisdale, died April 4, aged 11 years. The burial services were conducted by the writer.
R. P. Threlkeld.

Waynesboro, Miss.—Sister Martha
Richard, a faithful and devoted Christian, departed this life in triumph of faith, aged 70 years. She leaves a host of friends to mourn.
A. Butler.

Millhaven, La.—Mary Williams departed this life March 19. She leaves a brother, sister, and a host of friends.

March 8, Miss Ida Kidd, a faithful visitor and contributor to our church, was called to her reward. She leaves a father, mother, two brothers, one sister and many friends to mourn her loss.
H. H. Phillips, P. C.

Friendship, Tenn.—Sister Sophy Bell, a member on Friendship Circuit for 16 years, died April 12. She leaves many children and a husband to mourn.

Sister Doria DeJurnett, a faithful member of the M. E. Church, died Mar.
8. She leaves four children, a husband

Women are not slow to comprehend. They're quick.
They're alive, and yet it was a man who discovered the one remedy for their peculiar ailments.

The man was Dr. Pierce.
The discovery was his "Favorite Prescription"—the boon to delicate women.

Why go round "with one foot in the grave," suffering in silence—misunderstood—when there's a remedy at hand that isn't an experiment, but which is sold under the guarantee that if you are disappointed in any way in it, you can get your money back by applying to its makers.

We can hardly imagine a woman's not trying it. Possibly it may be true of one or two—but we doubt it.

Women are ripe for it.
They must have it. Think of a prescription and nine out of ten waiting for it. Carry the news to them!

The seat of sick headache is not in the brain. Regulate the stomach and you cure it. Dr. Pierce's Pellets are the Little Regulators.

and many friends to mourn. Age, 28
years.

Bro. Jim Parrish, a probationer, died in full triumph of faith. Age, 21 years.
He was taken into the church on his sick bed as a probationer.

Sister Johnette Parrish, a member of the M. E. Church, departed this life March 16, aged 21. She leaves two children and many relatives to mourn her loss. Her husband died shortly before her death.

F. J. Yeargin, P. C.

Herbert, Miss.—Sister Emma Kirk-ling departed this life April 6. She was a young member, but a faithful one, and died in full triumph of faith.

Sister Elizabeth Auldmon, whom I received into the church three months ago, died Feb. 26.

Philadelphia Circuit, W. H. Smith,
P. C.

Bastrop, La.—Mr. Jack Brigham, the senior son of Sister Caroline Spears, a member of Mt. Olive M. E. Church, departed this life April 15. His death was very sudden.

M. H. Hunter, P. C.

Baton Rouge, La.—Ferry Spilges died in full triumph of faith March 29.
W. R. Butler, P. C.

Landerdale, Miss.—Sister Rachel Bell, a member of Shiloh Church, departed this life March 22. She was a faithful member for many years. She leaves a husband, six children and many friends to mourn her loss.

M. White, P. C.

Clarksburg, Tex.—Bro. Louis Robins was born in the year 1877, joined the church last year, and departed this life April 9, 1891. He was a true christian, and leaves a sister and brother to mourn.

Sister Mary and Bro. C. C. Chambers' little baby boy, born April 10, died.
She had laid her brother, Louis Robins, in his resting place only a few days before. Her grief was made greater by the loss of her baby.

P. L. Jackson P. C.

Sister Lucy Wilson departed this life
April 12, in full faith. She was a member of Newman M. E. Church. She was sick for some time, and leaves a daughter and husband to mourn her loss.

Alfred Vincent, P. C.

Queen City, Tex.—Brother Ed Oliver departed this life March 7, aged about 30 years. He joined the church last August and was a very faithful member. He leaves a father, sisters and brothers, and a host of friends to mourn his loss. Our loss is heaven's gain. Rev. C. J. Johns of the Baptist Church, attended the funeral.

Queen City, Tex.—Bro. Lacy Biugenin, aged 28 years, departed this life.
He had been a faithful member of the M. E. Church eight years. He was superintendent two years, served as class leader three years, and two years as steward. On the Sunday before his death he called the family to his bedside and bid them good-by, leaving five children, a wife and a host of friends to mourn his loss. Funeral was conducted by Rev. R. Williams.

FULLY thirty Methodist Episcopal churches are dedicated every week. Have you ever stopped and thought how great a work that is? In imagination just stretch them along your road week by week, month after month, year in and year out. Thirty a week, 1,560 a year.

LET every charge observe the second Sunday in May as Freed-men's Aid Jubilee Day. Rally, rally, brethren, and make the occasion the grandest ever observed.
Let the contributions of the day, which we hope will be the most liberal ever taken for the Freed-men's Aid and Southern Education Society, be forwarded to Dr. J. C.
Hartzell, Cincinnati, O., the following day.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. Distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels, are

Distress some of the more common symptoms. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet surely and efficiently. It tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and by thus Clothing.

The objects of clothing are to protect against cold and against warmth; as the normal temperature of the human body is 98.6° and the temperature of the atmosphere is usually much less than this, the principal object of clothing is to prevent the escape of heat from our bodies.

First—Sufficient for comfortable warmth.

Second—Not excessive in amount of pressure.

Third—Properly distributed over the body.

Fourth—Allowing transportation of moisture.

The ordinary materials used for clothing are woolen and cotton. Woolen is a much better non-conductor of heat than cotton, and is generally used in cold climates, and during the fall, winter and spring in temperate climates. Wool is also more porous than cotton and absorbs moisture. An open porous fabric containing air, conducts heat more slowly than a smooth dense one, because air is itself a slow heat conductor; hence a tight fitting kid glove scarcely keeps the hand warm, while a loose mitten is very comfortable in cold weather.

Many persons wear too little clothing in the changeable weather of spring and autumn, and many colds are caught in that way.

As our feet are farther from the heart than any other portion of the body, and in close proximity to the damp ground, they are usually the first to suffer from cold. To prevent this, a loose comfortable fitting boot or shoe should be worn as well as a suitable stocking. Owing to prevailing fashions it is difficult to procure shoes of the natural shape of our feet, and men and women of fashion, with number 8 feet; usually try to wear number 6 or 7 shoes. A small and high heel should never be tolerated.

In the distribution of clothing over the body, the main parts to be kept warm are the chest and abdomen, the former contains the heart and lungs, and all the blood in the body passes through it constantly; and chilling the heart or lungs renders these organs liable to the attack of many diseases; the latter contains the stomach, bowels, liver, spleen, kidneys, etc., all of which are susceptible to derangement when exposed to sudden changes of temperature.

Clothing should be worn sufficiently loose to allow free action of the muscles, and unrestrained circulation of the blood. Elastics worn on the limbs tend to prevent a free flow of blood in the superficial veins, arteries and capillaries.

Tight lacing around the waist is likely to be followed by most serious consequences. The internal organs are crowded out of their normal position, the muscles by constant pressure become diminished in size and power, the lower portion of the lungs cannot expand, respiration is lessened and the digestive functions impaired. It is related that not many years ago a lady broke one of her ribs in trying to fasten her corset. It is undoubtedly true that thousands of women in this country, have shortened their lives by tight lacing, but if they have no better sense than to follow this custom because it is fashionable, it is possible that the world suffered no great loss by their untimely decease. It may be seriously questioned if the Chinese when they compress and distort the feet of their girls so that they are scarcely able to walk, are any more to be blamed, than those who in this country advocate and practice tight lacing.

I was a sufferer from catarrh for fifteen years, with distressing pain over my eyes. I used Ely's Cream Balm with gratifying results. Am apparently cured.—Z. C. Warren, Rutland, Vt.

Our Symposium.

Wealth is power, and to all power is attached responsibility for its rightful exercise. A more comprehensive sense of obligation, a finer conscientiousness, a more exacting sense of duty—these are the qualities which should be developed with every advance of national wealth and prosperity, if we would not have our history exemplify the saying of Israel's wise man, "The prosperity of fools shall destroy them."—Watchman.

Teaching the Gospel narrative without earnest spiritual effort, or without keeping prominent its tremendous truths in regard to sin and redemption, and the destiny of the soul, is to leave out that which most of all gives reality and reason to the miraculous element. The divine purpose was that the church itself should be a continuous miracle, an ever living reason for faith in the past and hope in the promises of the future.—Advocate.

So God wills spiritual life for every one of us, and that in the highest degree. And if we find any practice checks the flow of the divine life in us, no matter how much may be said for it in the abstract or however innocent others may find it, it is not for us to allow it in ourselves. We have no right to pronounce judgment upon others on that account, or to lay down rules for their guidance, while we may use our experience to suggest a possible danger to them.—The Sunday School Times.

God does not reckon values by earthly currency or computation. If he did, many very precious things would stand low in the scale of prices. By the arithmetic of earth and in its bank deposits the widow's two mites would be beggarly things. But by God's way of counting they exceed in worth all the princely gifts of all the rich.—Gospel Messenger.

A soft answer turneth away wrath, what a grand and practical truth this is! We are all willing to acknowledge the beauty and the force of it, but do we make it practical? There is no one other thing that affords more opportunities. Every day, almost every hour, we have the opportunity of giving a soft answer and turning a rough one away.—Gospel Messenger.

THE HAIR

When not properly cared for, loses its lustre, becomes crisp, harsh, and dry, and falls out freely with every combing. To prevent this, the best and most popular dressing in the market is Ayer's Hair Vigor. It removes dandruff, heads troublesome humors of the scalp, restores faded and gray hair to its original color, and imparts to it a silky texture and a lasting fragrance. By using this preparation, the poorest head of hair soon and beautiful. All who have once tried Ayer's Hair Vigor, want no other dressing. Galbraith & Starks, Druggists, Sharon, Groves, Ky., write: "We believe Ayer's Hair Vigor to be the best preparation of the kind in the market, and sell more of it than of all others." No drug store is complete without a supply of it.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor with great benefit and know several other persons, between 40 and 50 years of age, who have experienced similar good results from the use of this preparation. It restores gray hair to its original color, promotes a new growth, gives lustre to the hair, and cleanses the scalp of dandruff."—Bernardo Ochoa, Madrid, Spain.

After Using

A number of other preparations without any satisfactory result, I find that Ayer's Hair Vigor is causing my hair to grow."—A. J. Oment, General Merchant, Indian Head, N. W. T.

Books and Current Literature.

Sister Rose Gertrude has written another article for the Ladies' Home Journal for June, on What it is to Be a Leper, in which she gives a clear glimpse of leper-life in Molokai: how the disease is contracted; how it is treated and cured, and how the lepers live in their exile. Curtis Pub., Co., Philadelphia.

The Preacher's Magazine for April which is devoted to the interest of Preachers, Teachers and Bible Students and is edited by the Revs. Mark Guy Pearce, of London, and Arthur E. Gregory, is received. This number maintains the standard of previous issues and is even better if such is possible. The department of Homiletics is full and complete, eight distinguished clergymen being contributors. The various departments are very ably edited and will give much valuable information to the readers. The subscription price is $1.50. Single copy 15 cents. Wilbur B. Ketchum, Publisher, 2 Cooper Union, N. Y.

In the forthcoming May Century ex-Minister John Bigelow will furnish a remarkable chapter of secret history in an article which he calls The Confederate Diplomats and their Shirt of Nessus. Mr. Bigelow proves in this part by authentic documents how the cabinet and agents of the Southern Confederacy were baffled in their attempts at negotiations in Europe by the important place of slavery in the Southern Constitution. Mr. Bigelow thinks that Mr. Davis's administration was not fully alive to the great difficulty, and that it did not face the situation as it really existed.

In the Garden is the title of a series of attractive articles on practical gardening, written and illustrated by Mrs. T. W. Dewing, to be begun in the next number of Harper's Bazar. The celebration of the eightieth birthday of Dr. McCosh, president of Princeton University, will be described in the next number of Harper's Weekly. The article will be accompanied by a portrait of Dr. McCosh and illustrations of the silver presented on that occasion. Where will be the battlefield of the next European war? This question, apparently so difficult to answer, was discussed in the last number of Harper's Weekly in an article on Bulgaria, by Stephen Bonsal, the New York Herald's Bulgarian correspondent. Recollections of President Lincoln and his Administration, by L. E. Chittenden, his Register of the Treasury, was published on April 7th by Harper & Brothers. Mr. Chittenden's reminiscences cover the period of the entire war.

The Duke of Argyll's essay, Professor Huxley on the War Path, will be concluded in The Popular Science Monthly for May. The process of making artificial ice, and the arrangement of cold storage warehouses, will be described in an illustrated article on Ice Making and Machine Refrigeration, by Frederick A. Fernald. A possible solution of the problem of moral education is suggested in a paper entitled An Experiment in Moral Training. Among the shorter articles will be a particularly readable one on the Evolution of Patent Medicine, by Lee J. Vance.

Our Children's Legion. For Our Boys and Girls.

BY UNCLE CEPHAS.

"Wanted—A Boy."

"Wanted—a boy." How often we These very common words may see. Wanted—a boy to errands run, Wanted for everything under the sun, All that the men-to-day can do To-morrow the boys will be doing, too, For the time is ever coming when The boys must stand in the place of men.

Wanted—the world wants boys to-day, And offers them all she has for pay, Honor, wealth, position, fame: A useful life and a deathless name. Boys to shape the paths for men, Boys to guide the plow and pen, Boys to forward the tasks begun, For the world's great work is never done.

The world is anxious to employ Not just one, but every boy, Whose heart and brain will ever be true To work his hands shall find to do, Honest, faithful, earnest, kind; To good awake, to evil blind; Heart of gold without alloy. Wanted: the world wants such a boy. —Selected.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I am so interested with the SOUTHWESTERN. My father takes it and I delight in reading it. So many little children have written, so I thought I would write to the SOUTHWESTERN. This is my first time. I am a little girl 12 years old. I am now in Wiley University. I like to go to school every day. I am learning as much as I can. I hope my letter will not reach the waste basket.

Your Niece,
DELLA MOSLEY.

Marshall, Texas.

Dear Uncle Cephas: Another year has passed and gone and at this the beginning of a new year, I feel determined to consecrate myself to my heavenly father who careth for me every day. In 1888, I joined the M. E. Church, and have been adopted in the family of Jesus. I feel all the time that I want this to be my daily life. I want to ask my little cousins a question, where is Reverend found in the Bible and what is the longest verse in the Bible?

Your Niece,
JOSEPHINE BURTON.

Ocean Springs, Miss.

Dear Uncle Cephas: It has been some time since I wrote. I have not forgotten you and my little cousins. Our Presiding Elder was with us on the 3d and 4th of Jan. we love to have him with us. His name is Eld. Swan. The members have repaired the M. E. Church. Rev. J. J. Collins is our pastor. Our Sunday school is still alive. Pray for us.

Your Niece,
ELLA HARPER.

Gonzales, Texas

Dear Uncle Cephas: I see so many letters until I thought that I would write again. We have a lively Sunday school. Our Sunday school superintendents name is Mr. M. V. Burgess. He is a faithful worker for the Lord and is also the teacher of the day school. I go to school now, my studies are arithmetic, grammar, reading, spelling and geography. I am a member of the M. E. Church, I have been a member seven years. My grandma takes the SOUTHWESTERN, and I delight very much in reading the letters from my cousins. I now see three questions that one of my cousins asked and I will answer them. The middle verse is the 118 Psalm and the 8th verse; the longest verse is the 9th verse of the 8th chapter of Esther, the shortest verse is the 35th verse of the 11th chapter of St. John. I would like to ask three questions, How many letters does the Bible contain? How many words? How many chapters? I hope some of my cousins will answer my questions soon.

Your Niece,
BELLA JACKSON.

Milham, Texas.

An Unprecedented Offer!

We have made arrangements with the Chicago Manufacturing Company to supply one of their first-class Singer machines for only $14 cash. We will order a machine like the cut here shown, and send the SOUTHWESTERN a full year besides! It is a handsome oil-polished walnut, of latest design. Gothic cover, with beautiful panels, four end drawers and a swing drawer, nickel-plated, and warranted five years.

Each Machine is furnished with the following equipment: One Foot Hemmer, One Oil Can with Oil, One Gauge, and Screw, One Extra Check Spring, One Package of Needles, Five Bobbins, One Ticker, One Foot Ruler, One Set of Plate Hemmers, four different widths up to seven-eighths of an inch, One Binder and One Thread Cutter. The Improved Tension and Thread Liberator is used on this Machine. The manufacturers offer to refund the money if purchaser is not fully satisfied with the machine.

We receive many letters inquiring about the sewing machine premium, and how to obtain it. In order that all may understand the matter, we state in addition to the announcement, that remittances should be made to Hunt & Eaton, 139 Poydras street, either by check, money order, or by express, naming the nearest or most convenient freight depot to which it is to be sent. Then we order the factory in Chicago to ship the machine. The company ships it, and receives from the railroad a bill of lading which, with the warranty, is sent to us, and which we send to the subscriber. This bill of lading is good and sufficient evidence that the machine has been forwarded, and holds the railroad company responsible for its safe delivery at the station named as its destination, and in due time, save unavoidable delays. In case of its loss, the railroad which caused its loss is responsible, under the laws of the land. If not arriving in due time, show the bill of lading to the station agent and he will look it up. Don't give up the bill of lading, but it may be shown to the railroad agent. All orders are sent the same day as received, and the bill of lading is sent to the subscriber the same day we get it. We started this scheme with a view to helping our patrons, and shall carefully and faithfully carry out our part of the agreement in every case.

Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup" and take no other. Twenty-five cents a bottle. [e19]

ELECTRIC BELT FREE.

To introduce it and obtain agents the undersigned firm will give away a few of their $5.00 German Electric Belts, invented by Prof. Van der Weyde, Pres. of the New York Electrical Society (U. S. Pat. 257,647) a positive cure for Nervous Debility, Rheumatism, Loss of Power, &c. Address Electric Agency, P. O. Box 178, Brooklyn, N. Y. Write to them to-day.

Pictures of our Bishops.

Many of our readers would gladly possess the pictures of our bishops if they only knew where to get them. In order to accommodate them, we have arranged to supply them with a beautiful cabinet group photograph of all our bishops, for the small sum of 25 cents. Ten per cent of the proceeds will be devoted to the cause of missions. Send at once accompanying every order with the cash. Address HUNT & EATON, 139 Poydras street, New Orleans.

GOLDEN TEXT.

He, that being often reproved hardeneth his neck, shall suddenly be destroyed, and that without remedy. (Prov. 29, 1.)

LESSON HYMN, 7.

Sinners, turn; why will ye die? God, your Maker, asks you why; God, who did your being give, Made you with himself to live; He the fatal cause demands; Asks the work of his own hands, Why, ye thankless creatures, why Will ye cross his love, and die?

Sinners, turn; why will ye die? God, the Spirit, asks you why; He, who all your lives hath strove, Wooed you to embrace his love, Will ye not his grace receive? Will ye still refuse to live? Why, ye long-sought sinners, why Will ye grieve your God, and die?

Time—About B. C. 787.

Place—In the kingdom of Israel; but the prophet was a native of Judah.

Ruler—Possibly Jeroboam II, of Israel; Uzziah of Judah.

Connecting links—Amos was a shepherd of Judah. While the eloquent and scholarly Isaiah was prophesying at the corrupt court of Judah, Amos the peasant was sent by God into the kingdom of Israel, which had then, under the vigorous reign of the second Jeroboam, reached its height of national glory.

QUESTIONS FOR HOME STUDY

- Transgression, v. 4-5. For what purpose were the people asked to Bethel? What were they to do at Gilgal? What were they to bring, and when? What offering were they to make? Why were they to do this? Who brought this charge against Israel?
- Discipline, v. 6-11. What had God given them in re-buke of their evil? What had the people not done? What did God withhold in further discipline? What difference had he made between cities? What between fields? How were the cities distressed thereby? What had this warning failed to effect? What further visitation came on the people? What became of the fruit of their vineyards? What did the people not do? Then what punishment was sent? What happened to their men and horses? What shows that the slaughter was great? Like what cities had they been served?
- Warning, v. 12, 13. Who warned Israel of their evil ways? For what were they told to prepare? How does God describe himself? By what name is he known? What warning does he give to every sinner? (Golden Text.)

TEACHINGS OF THE LESSON.

Where in this lesson are we taught:

- That God knows the wickedness of men?
- That God is very patient with the wicked?
- That God will punish those who persist in evil?

HOME WORK FOR YOUNG BE-REANS.

Find a passage in 2 Kings which alludes to the famine spoken of in the sixth verse.

Find an allusion in 1 Kings to the lack of rain mentioned in the seventh verse.

THE LESSON CATECHISM.

[For the entire school.]

- Were the Israelites worshippers of the true God? They were, but their worship was corrupt.
- What were the chief seats of their false worship? Beth-el, Dan and Gilgal.
- How had God sought to warn them of their wickedness? By famine, drought, pestilence, and earthquake.
- What solemn words did the prophet utter to them? Prepare to meet thy God.
- What is the Golden Text? He, that being often reproved hardeneth his neck, shall suddenly be destroyed, and that without remedy.

EXPLANATIONS.

Come to Beth-el—This is an ironical and sarcastic invitation. Multiply transgression—Their very sacrifices and prayers, offered in direct disobedience to God's command, were a "multiplication of transgression." Sacrifices every morning, etc.—Keeping the letter of the law. Every righteous Israelite was bound to bring tithes every three years. Burn incense—Go to the extreme of devotion. With leaven—The offering of leavened loaves under these circumstances was overdoing the command of the law. This liketh you—This is what you like. Cleanness of teeth—An awful figure to represent their destitution of food.

Doctrinal suggestion—The discipline of trouble.

THE CHURCH CATECHISM.

- What is repentance? A godly sorrow on account of sin. (2 Cor. 7, 10.)
- How is true repentance indicated? By the forsaking of sin and a sincere turning to God.
- What is faith in Jesus Christ? Faith in Jesus Christ is the act of receiving and trusting in him alone for salvation. (John 1, 12; Phil. 3, 9.)

Racing With Wolves.

Many a thrilling tale has been told by travelers of a race with wolves across the frozen steppes of Russia. Sometimes only the picked bones of the hapless traveler are found to tell the tale. In our own country thousands are engaged in a life-and-death race against the wolf Consumption. The best weapons with which to fight the foe is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This renowned remedy has cured myriads of cases when all other medicines and doctors had failed. It is the greatest blood-purifier and restorer of strength known to the world. For all forms of scrofulous affections (and consumption is one of them), it is unequalled as a remedy.

IN THE SPRING

AVOID SICKNESS BY PURIFYING

THE BLOOD AND TONING

UP THE SYSTEM.

Dr. KING'S ROYAL GERMETUER

Does this more pleasantly, more safely and more surely than any other remedy known to medical science.

THESE FIVE THINGS

In which it differs from ordinary medicines, account largely for its wondrous popularity:

- It does not taste like medicine. It is as pleasant as lemonade, and, sweetened, makes a most refreshing drink. Persons who object to all other medicines, take this with real pleasure because it is good.
- It never nauseates. The most delicate stomach fluids in this perfect remedy without a single objection.
- It never sweeps out one disease for another. It does not set up one form of disease in order to relieve another, as is the case with so many deadly drugs.
- It does not patch simply. It cures. It reaches, as nothing else does, to the hidden sources of disease in the blood, and removes the cause. It does this with an ease and power that has never been equaled.
- It is harmless, and may be safely given to a babe or a dying old. It is free from Alcohol and Opium.

All persons living in malarial districts should keep this great family remedy on hand. It will break any fever in less time than quinine and anti-pyrene, and leave none of their unpleasant and harmful effects.

For Malaria, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Delirium, Kidney Trouble, and for Blood and Skin Diseases, there is nothing to be compared with it.

For Ladies and Children it is far the best.

A Good Cyclopedia.

"The COLUMBIAN CYCLOPEDIA seems to me to strike a happy medium between the loose, superficial works and the too elaborate and profound ones, which few are competent or desirous of using. Most of the larger general cyclopedias are overloaded with a mass of technical science and official detail that is embarrassing and useless to ordinary readers. The COLUMBIAN is eminently practical, sufficiently full, and carefully compiled, well got up, convenient in form and extent, remarkably cheap, and, as I should judge, admirably adapted to families and general consultation. I think that if properly presented to the public it will have a very wide sale, and be an exceedingly useful work. There is ample room in the market for a Cyclopedia like this, which combines, likewise, the advantage of being an excellent Dictionary of the English Language."—PROF. JAMES STRONG, S. T. Caution!—There have recently been issued several cheap reprints of the 1847 edition of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary, an edition long since superseded. These books are given various names,—"Webster's Unabridged," "The Great Webster's Dictionary," "Webster's Big Dictionary," "Webster's Encyclopedic Dictionary," etc., etc.

Many announcements concerning them are very misleading, as the body of each, from A to Z, is 44 years old, and printed from cheap plates made by photographing the old pages.

—Charles Wesley.

THE Western Methodist Book Concern has bought the property on the corner of Home and Fourth street, Cincinnati, adjoining their present buildings, 60x90 feet, and will no doubt put up very soon a handsome new building.

The literary effusions of the pro-Lottery newspapers of New Orleans are touching. They might soften the heart of a rhinoceros and make an elephant weep. The latest is: "The Romance of a Poor Young Man" who was lucky (f) enough to draw a prize in the last monthly swindle. Alas for a city and a state where the press lends itself in solid chorus, almost, to such debauching of the people!

METHODISM owes its success to its loyalty to the doctrine, "All at it and always at it." Of course that means there is something for every one to do, and something that every one can do. A good mother in Israel, who lives in Exira, in giving her experience in meeting, expressed great satisfaction that she had at last succeeded in her efforts to dehorn the church. It was at last discovered that she had suppressed the worldly, wicked cornet player in the choir.

THE Ninth International Conference of the World's Evangelical Alliance was held April 4-12, at Florence, Italy. For many reasons this conference is one of the most significant ever held. It meets for the first time upon Italian soil, in the City of Flowers. Four hundred years ago Savonarola was burned there, but Methodist chapels now spring up over his ashes, and Evangelical Christendom meets to carry on in Italy and the world the work of truth and liberty for which he died.

ONE of the most intensely interesting articles of the Wesley Centenary appears in the Review of Reviews. It is by the eminent English journalist William T. Stead, and is entitled St. John of England. The elevated and Catholic spirit of the article may be well discerned in the closing words, "The eighteenth century lost us the United States and gained us India; but neither of these great incidents in our imperial annals can compare for its abiding influence on the world to-day with the religious revolution that resulted from the preaching and teaching of John Wesley."

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

Sight-Seeing.—XIV.

BY L. M. HAGOOD, M. D.

Going back into the cathedral we ascended 303 steps. One hundred and fifty feet from the ground we came to the chime of bells. There are nine of these in a room in the cupola, large as a good size bed room. On the south and west are three small bells respectively, and in the middle of the room one bell weighing near five thousand pounds, while on either side of it is a bell of three thousand pounds—the total weight of the bells is seventeen thousand pounds.

They cost $11,000 and were built by the McNeely Company, of New York, in 1855. Just in the room above the bells is the clock, of solid brass and cost $3,750, and in a glass house nine feet by eighteen feet by ten feet. This wonder was made by the Bronson Watch Co., of old Bond street, London. It strikes quarters, halves, and hours, and chimes familiar tunes at morning, noon and night. There is for it a specially employed musician, at a salary of $1,000 per year. He performs by use of nine treadles, each marked as the musical scale. We then again began our ascent and at last found ourselves two hundred and seventy-five feet from the ground.

Looking out of a small window in that cupola we got a birds-eye view of Toronto. This, to us, was the most splendid sight conceivable. Far back west in Canada and eastward we had a full view of lake Ontario. What a magnificent sight! was all we could say as we started down. When we came back to the office the janitor greeted us with "man did ye ever see the baste of that in the states?" A shake of the head seemed to satisfy him and relieve us. With the janitor we found one of the acolytes drawn there doubtless by the proximity of the fire to the cathedral. He, like the rest of Torontonians, began to speak in words of praise about the city in general and the cathedral in particular. He told us that sometime after the war quite a notable event took place in the building. It was the wedding of one of the females of the English Cameron family. Had this been all it would have been notable, but the fact that Jeff. Davis, his mother, wife and daughter, and ex-Gov. Blackburn, of Ky., were invited guests and were present, made it more notable. The latter was a fugitive from federal justice for attempting to inoculate the union troops with the yellow fever virus, by shipping infected garments, taken from soldiers who died under his care as their physician, among them. He was then residing in that city, renting from a Mrs. Echols, on Yonge street, and rented a pew and was a regular attendant. We could not help wondering how those walls then, like the tower of Siloam, did not fall. Coming out we continued sight-seeing. We found but comparatively few colored residents there. Farther up in Canada there are more. This is owing doubtless to the proximity to the states. Chickens usually roost high where thieves abound. There Canada is democratic as to tariff. However, a Mrs. Judy is doing well keeping a fruit store on the corner of Queen and Belvedere streets, while Mr. Gilliam has retired or sold out his market-house restaurant on Queen street, and lives comfortably at his own home on Robinson street. Nearly every member of his family is a graduate of the Toronto high school. As to colored churches there are but three here Baptist, British-African and African Methodist. None of these are beyond mediocrity in anything. They are but effete relics of Canadian sympathy for prejudices growing out of the previous condition of the race in the states, on the one hand; and monuments of a woeful desire, characteristic of some of our people, to lead something. If living at all it is at "a poor dying rate." They are neither needed nor wanted there. It will be remembered that under Bishop Digney, the British-African Methodist's were said to have joined the African Church of America some time since. If so, the church of this city has not heard of it, for they were both preparing for separate quarterly meetings the day we were there. As to their staying qualities they remind one of two Irishmen, who were in an empty wagon, one driving and the other riding on the hind gate. At last the latter was jerked backwards, but succeeded in holding on to the hind gate by his heels, while his head and arms dangled down, almost but not quite touching the ground. The driver, without stopping his team, cried out "well why don't you let go, man alive." The man in danger and almost exhausted shouted back "Why, man, how in the world kin I let go, when I can hardly hold on?" We were a little surprised to find Canada coal oil 18 and ours 25 cents a gallon. No one can walk the streets without being struck with the soldierly and yet courteous bearing and robust form of the police. While their uniforms are similar to that of ours, in winter they wear hats like those of Russian soldiers or drum-majors. They never are caught with club in hand unless about to use it. When it is remembered that nearly every officer under her majesty, hold office during good behavior and efficiency we find an explanation. We had strolled but a short distance until we discovered a storekeeper from the states. We knew this by two signs: on top of the house floated the stars and stripes and in the window an advertisement for soap. It was a little black child holding the ugliest looking cat possible, and the child was saying to it "chile dis am the stuff." Speaking of the American flag calls to mind the question of annexation. We inquired diligently and partially and find that everybody in Canada wants it annexed, if he was born and raised in the states. If not, he don't. We could but wonder if it would not have been more modest if besides the stars and stripes, floating from the tops of their stores, they had allowed the lion or English Jack to be placed there.

After tiring of our stroll we returned to our hotel just in time to meet Mr. Smith from Kentucky, who was waiting for us. After we were seated he began again with: "I was telling you about miscegenation—what is it? O well, I mean white and colored people mixing. Now do you not know there are a number of colored people in the South who are to day supported by white business men who would be ruined if it was known? You need not look so surprised, for most of the fuss made by some white men there about how they hate the nigger, as they call them, means only the men. Take your own city. Out near where I live, not far from Versailles, Ky., a young farmer had a colored man hired on his farm. The colored man and his wife lived in town. The farmer's wife went to visit her parents. The farmer employed the colored man's wife to cook for him while his wife was gone. Shortly after she came he got mad with the husband and drove him away. Do you see it? Well, the colored man started to visit his wife one night to see why she did not come home as she promised. The farmer had already hitched his team and took the colored man's wife home in the wagon. When the colored man started home through the woods, he was surprised to hear his wife there calling for help. When he came up the white man shot him in the side. Nothing daunted he pulled his knife and killed the white man. Going to Versailles he gave himself up, but the next night he was hung by a mob. Now I'm not an angel but I think such are a crying shame." Well Mr. Smith what can be done about such? "Well, now wait a minute, I'll tell you more. I do not know it, but I'm afraid this thing aint one sided but many sided. It is thought by some that all this "rope" talk about colored men ought to be called by another name.

"Love, like death levels all ranks, And lays the crook besides the scepter." I'm not a poet but I know some. Now whenever this occurs the colored man involved must suffer to save the other party from public scandal. Sarah, Abraham and Hagar, now and then appear in the South. I know myself that there are white people in the South that won't hire an ugly female servant because their sons don't like to be waited on by them. Since I'm not going back to Kentucky, I can afford to talk. The truth is, as us boys used to hear father tell it, the keeping of the seventh commandment meant white folks only. "Now Mr. Smith you can have no idea how your words burn my very soul and almost fill me with demoniacal frenzy."

Rev. Robert M. Hatfield, D. D.

BY REV. R. S. RUST, D. D.

Deep sympathy was felt and expressed by the people of St. Paul Methodist Episcopal Church of Cincinnati, when the startling intelligence was received, a few days since, that a beloved pastor of former years, the Rev. Dr. Hatfield, had been suddenly transferred from earth to heaven. Dr. Hatfield's pastorate in Cincinnati was a very successful one. The memory of his labors of love among us is fragrant, and sympathy for his bereaved wife and children is tender and touching. We have followed him with our benedictions and prayers in his noble career, and have rejoiced in his labors and triumphs, and now sadness fills our heart that he has gone and left us behind, and that no more on this side of the river shall we see his beaming countenance and hear his inspiring words. But we take hope in the thought that our separation shall be brief, and that we who loved and labored for the Master here, shall participate in the companionship and joys of our Redeemer over there.

R. M. Hatfield was born in Mt. Pleasant, New York, February 19, 1819, and went up on high, March 31, 1891, after a residence in this world of 72 years.

Prominent among the traits of character for which Dr. Hatfield was distinguished was his independence of character and his firm adherence to principle, at any cost or sacrifice. He carefully investigated all questions of right and wrong, deliberately decided upon what he deemed was right, in view of all the light he could gather on the subject, and then remained firm and steadfast to his convictions. When his mind was once made up, there was no vacillation in his action. He was as true as the needle to the pole to his carefully-formed judgment and his convictions of duty. This is illustrated in his identifying himself with the anti-slavery cause in its early history, when it cost a young minister of promise the loss of popularity and preferment to espouse the cause of the slave. Neither flattery nor threats could prevent him from taking sides with the oppressed, and most eloquently and successfully did he plead for the overthrow of American slavery; and when emancipation came, he was among the first to urge the necessity of an organization for the education of the freedmen. He took an active part in the formation of our Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society, and in arousing the church to duty in this great work. In company with the corresponding secretary of this society, he visited many of our Annual Conferences in the interest of this work, and delivered such thrilling addresses as are talked about to this day as marvels of eloquence and power. The Negro had no truer friend nor abler advocate than our departed brother, and the news of his death sent sorrow to the hearts of our colored people all over the land.

Dr. Hatfield was distinguished for the evangelical character of his preaching. He was a spiritual man, and had a deep insight into God's word and work. He had a rich religious experience, and was acquainted with God's peculiar method of awakening, converting and purifying the soul.

My allotted space is full and I must say no more now, only that it is getting to be lonely here, among the old soldiers of the cross; but the world over there, whither we go, is increasing in attraction and beauty.

The Only Solution.

E. M. P.

Monday night, April 6th 1891, will not soon be forgotten by the people of Charleston, S. C. On that night Centenary, our largest church in that city, held a large audience, assembled to listen to the discussion of the caption of this article by Rev. C. N. Grandison, president of Bennett College at Greensboro, N. C.

After a solo well rendered by Mrs. E. Spencer, the Rev. W. D. Johnson educational secretary of the M. E. Church led in prayer; another beautiful solo, and Rev. A. C. Dutton introduced the lecturer who claims to be a part of the white race.

Having preached three times the Sabbath before, as well as taking part in the Quarter Centennial Celebration of the South Carolina Conference, the speaker met an impediment in hoarseness which he finally overcame and reached the climax, midst the stars.

He said the difference between himself and the Hon. Fred Douglas, is found in the fact that he claims there is a Negro problem in this country while Mr. Douglas says there is none.

Then he states the problem as caused by unsatisfied human nature on both sides. The whites believing themselves better than the Negro, and vice versa.

Then come the natural prejudices, confronted by the "law" against intermarriages. The speaker here digressed and told his audience this may be all right after all, for if we had no such "law," the white men would take all our best looking girls and we could not get any. This is our country said he, as well as the white man's; but the civilization was of the latter and it must be ours unless we provide better. Wealth, education, will and ingenuity were the white man's; the same must become ours. There will follow due recognition politically and socially, provided we will be moral too. He honored the whites for chastity among their women, and the manner in which they protect their wives, sisters, and daughters. Our men must do the same, but colored women must stop having white men without the marriage ceremony. Mr. Grandison was frequently applauded; at the close Rev. Mr. Brackett pronounced the Benediction and a delighted assembly dispersed.

Presiding Elders' Convention.

Arrangements are being made for holding a convention of the presiding elders, representing the colored Conferences of the M. E. Church, at Chattanooga, Tenn., some time in the month of June.

All presiding elders of said conferences are cordially invited to be present and take part in the deliberations of the body. It will be an important gathering, and it is to be hoped that much good may result from it. Persons consulted in reference to the meeting, including two of the bishops, heartily commend it. The program has not yet been provided, but it is understood that it will present for discussion a number of live topics bearing upon the vital interests of the Church, especially in relation to its field among the colored people throughout the country. The occasion will afford an opportunity for a free comparison of views touching methods of administration, plans of work, condition and needs of the territory, and the best means by which to lengthen the cords and strengthen the stakes. Papers will be assigned persons yet to be named. As this is the first attempt of the kind, it will not be practicable to determine everything in advance. Much will remain to be set in order when the convention assembles. But to the end that all matters pertaining to it may be dispatched with as little delay as possible, it is earnestly requested that the presiding elders concerned, who approve the undertaking and intend to be present, will, at an early day, offer any suggestions that might in any way contribute towards its success. It will be absolutely necessary to have prompt, concerted action all along the line. It is no one man's project, nor does it concern any particular section. Chattanooga has been designated as the place because of its central location and easy accessibility. We hope to be favored with the presence of one or more of the bishops during the sitting of the convention.

Church Polity.

Ques. It a member who has been tried, found guilty and suspended for an offense against the church, what is to be done with him if he continues in every possible way to hurt our church by conspiring against it with the preachers and members of other denominations?

Ans. The person so offending is a suspended member of the church, and is still accountable for his conduct to the same. If he thus offends, he is guilty of "sowing dissension." In such cases let him be reproved by the preacher in charge. If he persists after that, let him be brought to trial on that charge, and if found guilty let him be expelled. See Discipline, ¶ 244.

A deceitful scapegrace of a Negro in Parker County, Miss., has published in a Democratic paper in that county a solution of the race problem, in which he says: "We will meet no longer the wicked and designing politician at the stealthy hour of midnight, to concoct a conspiracy against our white friends and countrymen, or to formulate plans to get our horny paws onto the reins of the government." The man that is capable of writing such an infamous statement deserves a horny back as well as "horny paws."

Missionary Society of the M. E. Church, J. W. Parks, L. C. McClendon and B. F. Penny.

Church Extension Society, H. A. Robinson, B. F. Woolfolk and B. H. S. Ferguson.

Sermon by Rev. J. C. Coggins; alternate, C. W. Butler.

How to succeed in taking benevolent collections, D. P. Shaw and W. H. Scott.

The coming General Conference, A. G. Houston and C. W. Walton.

An educated ministry, J. C. Coggins and C. W. Butler.

Sermon by S. D. Troupe.

Sunday, 9 a. m., love-feast conducted by B. F. Woolfolk and B. H. S. Ferguson.

Sermons by Revs. L. P. Brown, D. P. Shaw and J. W. Parks.

Time will be given to discuss the following, also:

How are probationers received into the M. E. Church?

How are persons admitted into full membership?

How we receive persons of other orthodox churches into full membership in our church.

What is the difference between imprudent and immoral conduct, according to our Discipline, and what are the steps to be taken before expelling a person accused of either?

Origin and design of love-feast. Can pastors of the M. E. Church with impunity neglect to give the love feast at least quarterly?

If given, as it should be, in connection with the quarterly meeting, when or at what hour should it be given?

Should the collections be taken up before or after the sermon?

Committee: A. G. Houston, B. H. S. Ferguson and B. F. Woolfolk.

Texas Notes.

M. HENSON, P. E.

In passing around and through the country I noticed one among many evils which prevails to a large extent, and to the detriment of our people. We frequently see books circulated among our people which are of little or no value to the willing purchasers. It seems that many booksellers operating among our colored people have no standard price. They seem to have only one object, and that is to make the most money regardless of price lists or instructions from publishing houses. Some of these publications are of no use to the buyers, except to lay on center tables, or to be shelved, or locked up in boxes and trunks; others would require the most profound learning to get anything out of them. It has appeared to my mind that some one should lift up a voice of warning on this evil.

We are highly gratified to see in circulation many good and useful books, which go as white-winged evangelists among the people, to mould character and raise their moral and religious standard. We know to read good publications is the next thing to attending a good school. Indeed, many close students will accomplish more for God and humanity in this world than hundreds who have been matriculated and hold diplomas which lift them away above the people they were expected to help. Thousands of true men now laboring in the Master's vineyard, who cannot look to any college or university as their Alma Mater, except that of adversity, have done and will continue to do wonders and achieve great victories on the Lord's side.

It is a common sight to see those high-priced bibles sold among the people, which are better adapted to look at than to be handled; such Album Family-Recording-Bibles are just as unwieldy as a family elephant, though it seems that even elephants have at least two good places in the world, viz: the wide, wide forest and the menagerie. But if a family adopts one, they will soon find out that they have got "an elephant on hand."

So with these 36 pound bibles. We state a truth in the assertion that the majority of the folks who purchase ponderous bibles are not bible readers. I believe in the circulation of the Holy Scriptures at the cheap rates of the American Bible Society. Thousands of people do not know how cheap they can obtain a bible. Write Rev. W. B. Rankin, the Bible Agent for Texas, Austin, Texas.

A New M. E. Church for Natchez—"Keep the Promise."

S. A. COWAN, P. E.

For some time our people here have been, and are still, struggling for the erection of an M. E. Church, with but little encouragement from other M. E. churches in the State.

The cry is being made, "Come over into Macedonia and help us."

The Mississippi and Upper Mississippi conferences promised at the Vicksburg Conference, 1890, to take a collection in each charge and circuit for our cause at Natchez. They have not all kept the promise.

We must have a church in Natchez. Let every friend and brother of these conferences of the State keep the promise, and take a collection and forward it to S. A. Cowan, Presiding Elder, at Vicksburg, and an acknowledgment will be made in the SOUTHWESTERN.

Sunday, April 12, the good people of Natchez raised in cash $135.35 for their new church.

A. Phillips, Nashville, Tenn.

To the preachers of the Cumberland River District, Tennessee Conference:

Brethren: Keep your people at work. Let them feel that you are interested about their souls. Every pastor should keep up the regular prayer and class meetings and Sunday schools in their charges. Each pastor should visit the families of his flock in sickness, distress and affliction.

You are to administer to them every means in your power for their spiritual welfare.

Brother, push your work. Each pastor should circulate the SOUTHWESTERN among his people. The paper will help edify the people.

M. H. Hunter, Bastrop, La.

The people received me very cordially. Rev. S. Priestley, Presiding Elder, has been among us and held his first quarterly conference. His presence and counsel have greatly encouraged the work. My former opinions, in many respects, concerning North Louisiana, have been radically changed. This is a grand and rich portion of the State, the soil is well adapted to agricultural products, and our people are here in large numbers. Many of them have comfortable homes and own a great deal of property. Proper leadership and organization are the only things now needed. If our Methodism would just look more closely after the needs of our work in North Louisiana, this part of the State would soon become one of the garden spots of Methodism. The intelligent classes of people, as a general thing, love the old church, and look upon her as the most progressive, intelligent, beneficial, and as doing more for the trodden down race of humanity than any other church under the sky. They love intelligent preaching and are calling for an educated ministry.

F. D. Bowers, Houma, La.

Rev. Pierre Landry, our beloved Presiding Elder, held the first quarterly conference at Houma, March 7, 8, and was very cordially received. He preached a soul-reviving sermon. Collection, $24.30.

J. W. Winbush, Durant, Miss.

Our first quarterly conference convened at Goodman, April 4, 5. Reports showed that very careful work had been done on our circuit. The Elder made a few striking remarks on several lines of church work. Elder W. McDonald looks carefully into all of the enterprises of the church. He preached two soul-reviving sermons on Sunday, and thirty odd souls came forward for prayer and two joined the church. Collection, $25. Paid Elder $15.

A. J. Trice, Union Grove Circuit, Aberdeen, Miss.

Our quarterly conference was held April 4, 5, by Presiding Elder J. C. Eckles. The brethren made very good reports. The Elder preached a soul-stirring sermon. Collection for Elder, $17.30; for pastor, $16.40.

A. McBeth, Itabena Circuit, Miss.

This is my third year on this work. Notwithstanding the high water everything looks bright for the future. My congregation is increasing at every service. Rev. J. O. W. Pair, of Amory, was with me on the first Sunday in April and preached to large congregations. Seven joined, and the church was revived. Collections, $26.50.

S. S. Lawton, Beauport, S. C.

Our work at this place is prospering spiritually and temporally. I came here in the month of February, 1890, and found a debt of $500 hanging over the church, with a membership of only 67 to pay the same. I found that the way of raising money for churches here was by public entertainments and steamboat excursions. In these entertainments string bands were hired and dancers invited, and on the excursions there would be dancing. I visited one given by my members and told them that I could not tolerate any such practices to make money for God's church, that such practices had the appearance of making the Almighty cater to the devil for means to advance the cause of his kingdom on earth, and the Methodist church in my charge should not have another if the debt was never paid. This apparently got the majority of them down on me, and they determined not to give anything towards the indebtedness. Now, what to do I knew not, but I said from the pulpit, time and again, that the good Lord would provide. One morning while sitting at my desk, it sprang into my mind to write Mrs. J. H. Stevens, of Iowa, who has the remains of her son, J. H. Stevens, Jr., buried in our church-yard, informing her of our condition and asking her for aid; and within five weeks afterwards that blessed lady sent us a check for $100, which I exhibited to the members from the pulpit. This made those who believed otherwise conclude that the Lord would provide sure enough, and consequently they were lashed into line. On Christmas eve I received another $100 check from the same generous lady, which created no little rejoicing among our members, and they themselves, encouraged by such donations, raised $100. So we paid the amount of $300 on the indebtedness of our church during the last year, leaving a balance of $200 to be paid this year. The best of all is, that we are now in the midst of a glorious revival, commenced one week ago. Two souls, Mr. Geo. W. Ford, Superintendent of the National Cemetery, and Miss Nellie Shechels, have been gloriously converted, and the altar is crowded every evening. Thirteen have united with the church—five by letter and eight on probation. Thus the day star from on high is shining on the town of Beaufort once more.

T. C. Levert, Gainesville, Ala.

Our first quarterly conference convened last Sunday. Elder H. N. Brown preached an able sermon, after which 140 partook of the Lord's Supper. Our revival resulted in eleven conversions. A new church is needed.

B. Jackson, Roanoke, Ala.

We are here in the city of woods and moving on vigorously. First Sunday in April was a glorious day with us. The power of God was manifest in the blessing of many souls. The work is alive. Collection, $28.10. The people are preparing to give the district conference a hearty reception. Rev. W. F. Smith, Presiding Elder, is a power in his district.

J. W. H. Moore, Blossom, Texas.

"Our revival has resulted in eight conversions. We are expecting to move in line again soon upon the devil. We had a very good time with our Easter services. Raised $3.40. Our Sunday school superintendent is Prof. A. L. Patterson of Tennessee, who is a graduate of Rust University. He is a local preacher of our church and is doing all he can to educate the children and to raise the moral standing of our people. White and colored say he is the right man in the right place. Bro. Patterson left Saturday for Jackson, Tenn., to join in marriage Miss Edith Anderson. Our people will rejoice to welcome them here on their arrival.

Jos. M. Deas, Jacksonville, Fla.

Although here in this metropolitan city of Florida, with a population of 38,000, our five churches only number about 800 souls. We are all alive, however, and intend to make Methodism what it ought to be here. Easter was observed in all our churches. Simpson made a grand display. Collection was $7.44. We are trying to get all our members to subscribe to the paper.

Jessie Burton, Cotton Plant, Miss.

Our first quarterly conference was a grand occasion. The Rev. R. Snell, our new Presiding Elder, was with us on the 14th and 15th ult. He is the right man in the right place. May God bless the New Albany circuit and the entire work of the old church.

I. C. Rucker, Biloxi, Miss.

My first quarterly conference was held April 7. Rev. B. L. Crump, the Presiding Elder, was on time. The brethren presented reports which showed prosperity on the work. The Elder preached a soul-stirring sermon. Paid Elder, $10; pastor, $68.81; old indebtedness, $40.20. Collected for missions on Easter Sunday, $3.23. Received four in full connection. Our people love the Methodist Episcopal Church. We are not likely to fall behind the other charges on the Gulf coast in collections for missions, nor for the SOUTHWESTERN. Our Presiding Elder never fails to impress upon the minds of the people that the SOUTHWESTERN is the constant visitor of thousands of homes and should be welcomed in thousands more.

H. May, Pass Christian, Miss.

I was appointed to this charge Feb. 8, 1887. Minutes showed a membership of 84. Collection for all purposes $243; only $3 for all of the benevolent purposes. I am proud to say that we have come from the bottom, of 70 charges that make up the Mississippi Conference, to two charges of the top. They are Meridian and Forest, pastored by Rev. A. D. Payne and R. P. Crump. Minutes show that we raised more benevolent money, except the two above named places. Our membership has been increased to 160. Collection for all purposes last year, $1149.33, an increase in collections of $903.33. Now, for the present year. I was appointed here for the fifth year by Bishop Newman, Jan. 12, 1891. My people received me with so much joy that I prayed the Lord to help us to do more this year than ever before, and the Lord has heard my prayers, as the following results will show: I started in on the third Sunday in January. Collections as follows to date, April 6: January, $51.90; February, $49.05; March, $200.55; and April, $68.15. Grand total for all purposes thus far this year, $369.65. Also, we will do as well for the SOUTHWESTERN as any charge in the Mississippi Conference. Our first quarter was held by Rev. B. L. Crump, March 28, 20. He preached two good sermons. Easter Sunday, Rev. O. H. Flowers, pastor at Pearlinton, was with us. It was a glorious day. Collection, $81.10. April 6 was my birth-day. So Monday night about forty or fifty persons came to the parsonage with many good things. It is now 11:15 o'clock Tuesday, and my wife is not through storing away yet.

Just as they were fixing to leave, Mrs. M. Collins and Miss Catherine Raymore, called me aside and presented me an envelope, which was very heavy. I slipped it in my pocket, and after all had gone I opened it and found the following names and amounts: Martha Jones, Mary Collins E. A. Porter, Jeannie Weeks, E. Morris, E. Stevenson, Rosa Roberts, P. Morris, and Catherine Raymore, $1 each; M. Adams, E. Raymore, O. White and J. Porter, 50c each; E. Johnson and Mrs. Green, 25c each. Total, $11.50. I thank you, dear friends. I am 43 years old and have been married 23 years, and all of that time nobody but myself and wife. The people thought to increase my family by presenting to myself and wife two beautiful large wax dolls. We can put up with them, as they do not increase the expenses of the family.

E. Harrison, Dadeville, Ala.

The Easter services were interesting and profitable. Prof. S. H. O'Neal was with us, also did good service. The following took prominent part, E. E. Clark, Eula L. Bostock, Maggie L. Rainey, Ida B. Mitchell, Ophelia Stones. The Sunday school rendered the program to the letter. Our S. S., is the best on the Dadeville District. Collection for mission $8.50, also 4 cash subscribers for the dear beloved SOUTHWESTERN, a friend that no family can do without. The writer sent the missionary money directly to the missionary treasury, also the money for the paper to Hunt & Eaton.

Wm. Josey, Bellville, Tex.

Easter Sunday was a great day at Richard's Grove Church. The children made glad their parents' hearts. The services were conducted by myself and Wm. Smith, at Richard Grove, at Jackson Chapel by G. H. E. Fields. My collection for missions was $4.80.

H. J. Wright, Donaldsonville, La.

Rev. Ernest Lyon, Sunday-school agent, lectured for us Wednesday April 8, to a good crowd, upon the duty of parents to children. April 9 he gave the children a good and wholesome lecture. Thursday night he emphasized what God wanted and required from the people and that a good many so-called Christians needed to go and wash as Naaman did. Bro. Lyon lives in the heart of Donaldsonville. We paid $8.50 on our Sabbath school assessment, and we will pay the balance—$3.50.

Ned Graham, De Kalb, Texas, reports a hard time on his circuit, but he is pushing his work as best he can.

Alfred Vincent, Darrow, La.

Our first quarterly conference was held April 12, by Rev. Pierre Landry, Presiding Elder. The quarter was one of great interest. The Presiding Elder preached an excellent sermon which shall never be forgotten.

R. P. Threlkeld, Hattiesburg, Miss.

Our Easter services were carried out to perfection. Collection for missions, $7.

The New York Conference reports 10,000 conversions during the past year, and over forty thousand dollars collected for missions, the largest missionary collection in its history.

The growth of Methodism has been marvelous. When Wesley died his followers numbered 300,000; today there are 30,000,000 Methodists throughout the world. The last census gave the number of Methodists in Canada as 743,406, of which number 591,503 are put down to Ontario. Mr. Daniel Dorchester computes that there are 32,701 churches, 27,542 ministers, and 4,601,416 communicants belonging to the Methodist body in the United States. It is to the shame of our church that the Methodists were ever permitted to leave our borders. The spirit of division was abroad then. And whether they were driven out from want of sympathy or even by harsher methods, or whether by some Jesuitical power, the seeds were sown that resulted in a divided Protestantism, it is our duty now to pray and labor for the union of the Methodists with the great mother church of the English Protestantism. The aim of England's Church is to bein reality as well as in name the church of the English race.—Toronto Evangelical Churchman.

General Church News.

In China there are about 320,000,000 inhabitants, with an annual increase of about 4,000,000. Not one in 10,000 ever heard of the religion of Jesus Christ.

A meeting of "The Sunday School Superintendents' and Teachers Union of New Orleans" was held at the Coliseum Place Baptist Church April 7.

There was about 140 present, including a large number of pastors. 34 Sunday schools were represented and great interest was shown. The object of the union are to knit its members closer together and better prepare them for their work.

The election of officers resulted in the unanimous election of the following for the first year: Richard H. Browne, president, Edwin Belknap, vice-president, E. P. Mackie, treasurer, Robt B. Jones, secretary. Six Sunday schools were added to the roll. Several committees were appointed and notice given of amendment to constitution.

General News Items.

Both houses of the Wisconsin Legislature have put themselves on record as favoring the election of United States Senators by popular vote.

Illinois has passed a law legalizing slave marriages.

P. T. Barnum, the great American show and circus man is dead. He was one of the best known men in the United States.

The Constitutional Convention of Kentucky after a seven month's session has completed its labors and adjourned. Unlike most of the new Constitutions made in the South of late years, it makes no discrimination against the colored people, unless the section relating to separate schools for the races be construed.

The Grant Monument Association have decided upon the form of the National Memorial to the memory of the venerated leader who brought success to the Union Army.

It will be one of the most unique and celebrated monuments in the world, occupying a position at Riverside Park on the Hudson. It will be the most costly structure ever erected by the voluntary contributions of a free people. The site chosen has been selected by Mrs Grant and her family, as the last resting place of her illustrious husband.

The form of the memorial having been determined upon, and the question of the final interment of the body at Riverside on the Hudson settled for all time to come by the action of Congress, the Executive Committee of the Grant Monument Association are now pushing forward the work of raising the necessary funds by a wide popular subscription.

One of the means chosen is the magnificent reproduction of H. A. Ogden's celebrated Equestrian painting of General Grant in the field entitled "1865." The size of the picture is 19x24 and is beautifully printed in seventeen different colors, on egg shell paper in the highest manner known to art in this country. The picture was originally intended to be sold for $500, but is now published as a Souvenir and Certificate, and mailed, postage prepaid, to each subscriber of $1 to the Grant Monument Fund. Every patriotic American of whatever race or color is invited and requested to contribute. Address,

Secretary, 146 Broadway, New York City

Letters from the Laity.

M. W. Harper, Millhaven, La.

Jones Chapel Easter services were excellent. Among the speakers were R. W. Logan, W. Cayson, J. D. Hutchinson, Rev. H. H. Phillips. Rev. Peter Ford, Baptist preacher and Rev. H. H. Phillips, preached a soul stirring sermon.

Wm. Randalls, Long Branch Church, Tex. On Easter our church was beautifully decorated and the program was carried out nicely. In the absence of our pastor Rev. S. Gates, our secretary Wm. Randalls, and superintendent M. A. T. Perkins conducted the exercise.

J. A. Thompson, Tabernacle M. E. Church, Galveston, Tex.

Easter was generally observed by all the churches of the city. Ours was a grand and glorious one. We collected $19 which we forwarded at once as an Easter offering for missions. Rev. W. W. Brown our pastor preached an excellent sermon on the resurrection. We started a revival after the services were over, we have had several conversions in the Sabbath school.

R. C. Hicks, Scooba, Miss.

Our Presiding Elder was with us on the fourth and fifth inst, and held our first quarterly conference. The elder seemed to have been endowed with special favors from on high. After the sermon, the elder administered the sacrament to ninety-three. The services all day were cheering. Total collections $13.45, of which the elder received $11.50.

Maggie N. Green, Murfreesboro, Tenn.

Our third conference convened March 12, with Rev. J. P. Price, P. E., in the chair. It was one of the most successful sessions of the three. We raised $24.80 for the Presiding Elder. Committees on benevolent claims made good reports. We have had a glorious revival which resulted in 40 conversions, and 34 additions to the church.

Our pastor Rev. O. B. Wilson in the third year of his pastorate, realizes the true oneness of the church of God in all her branches, and is exerting more adequate efforts for the improvement of the church. Two new classes have been formed; making 19 classes. We raised on Easter $19.03. The decorations under the management of Mrs. Matilda Brady, Mrs. T. S. Baskette, and Miss Mary Elder Neasbitt were excellent. Miss Addie Simmons, organist made sweet music. The Sunday school has been greatly increased this year.

Lost Friends.

We make no charge for publishing these letters from subscribers. All others will be charged fifty cents. Pastors will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report any case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.

Rev. Henry Gibson, of Beada, Ky., inquires for some of his comrades who were in the army with him. He was in the Fifteenth Army Corps, Western Department, under Capt. Black and Edwards. Anyone knowing anything of that army corps will please address Rev. Henry Gibson, Beada, Ky.

Mr. Editor: I wish to inquire for my brother. The last time I saw him was in Louisiana, on Bayou Rapides. We were both quite young at that time, long before the war. We both belonged to a man named Henry Bonner, there were three of us Joana, Josiah and Lucetta. We were orphans and after our owner's death we were sold, the mistress bought me, and my brother and sister was sold with their father whose name was Ivory. They were bought by a man named Sam Compton, or Till Compton, after being sold my sister Lucetta died. Our mother was named Annie. The last I heard of my brother after I came to Texas, he and his master were going to Black River. Any information concerning him will be gladly received by Joana Wells, care Rev. M. Cole, Trinity M. E. Church, Houston, Tex.

Mr. Editor: I want to inquire for my two brothers Dan Poe and Herbert Poe, it may be that my brother bears the name of Herbert McIntosh. The last time I saw them was at Buckatuna, Miss., in 1863. He had been carried away by the McIntosh family before the war, to Louisiana, but came back in 1868 to see mother. They carried my brother Dan away. The last time I heard from them, they were at McIntosh's landing, on the Red river in Louisiana. Any information as to their whereabouts will be gladly received. Address me, Mason Poe, Oxford Lafayette county, Miss.

Mr. Editor: I desire to find my son William. He and his brother Harry were born in Virginia, and were taken to Elkton Todd county, Ky., with their mother Fannie when infants. William was brought to Texas in September 1852, and lived near Riddleville with Wm. Hutchinson. William left Wm. Hutchinson after the war in 1865. Harvey went to Galveston where he is still living, (Harvey was found through this paper), but William has not been heard from since 1879. William may be going by the name of Wm. Allen. He would be about 39 years old now. He is a bright mulatto color with light colored eyes. He was married in Austin, Texas, but I never learned his wife's name. I am now living at Marion, Ala., Perry county, and his brother is living at Galveston, Texas. Any information concerning my son will be thankfully received. Mrs. Fauny Broadnax.

Books and Current Literature.

Horace L. Tranbel, whose recent articles on Walt Whitman have attracted considerable attention, contributes an article to the New England Magazine for May called Walt Whitman at Date. For the last twenty years Mr. Tranbel has been a companion and friend of the poet. Single number 25 cents. $3 per year. 86 Federal street, Boston, Mass.

Rev. Geo. Hughes, editor of the Guide to Holiness, New York, is gathering material for A History of the Great Modern Revival of Bible Holiness. It will be a comprehensive work taking a survey of the influences of this revival in the various departments of Christian life and activity. 64 Bible House, New York.

The Venerable Frederick W. Farrar, Archdeacon of Westminster, will contribute to Harper's Magazine for May an appreciative article on The Salvation Army, giving a brief account of its development, and pointing out some of the secrets of its success, which are worthy of the serious study of other religious bodies.

Bishop J. M. Waldeu, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, will contribute to the May number of Harper's Magazine an impartial and highly appreciative sketch of The Argentine People, and their Religious and Educational Institutions. Having spent a considerable time in that country—the most advanced and progressive of the Spanish American States—the bishop is eminently qualified to write concerning the unprecedented transformation which has taken place in Argentina within the past thirty years. No more complete presentation of the advantages and disadvantages, the commercial resources, and the political and social status of that country, has ever been presented than that embraced by this article and the two papers by Theodore Child in the March and April numbers of the same periodical.

The Leisure Hour and Sunday at Home, published by the Religious Tract Society, London, and represented in the United States by the Fleming H. Revell Company, New York and Chicago, are again on our tables for inspection, and a delightful task it is to dip into these magazines so rich in subjects and illustrations. We would especially recommend for careful consideration in The Sunday at Home, "Shall we give up Congregational Singing?" by J. Spencer Curwen. Each $2 per year. From the same publishers we have received the Boys' Own Paper and Girls' Own Paper, devoted to younger folk. It is seldom that magazines so devoted to the development of the young are sent us. Each $2 per year.

The Chatauquan for May presents the following attractive table of contents: The Intellectual Development of the English People, by Edward A. Freeman; Sunday Readings, Selected by Bishop Vincent; England's Possessions in Africa, by H. Chatelaine; Studies in Astronomy, VII, by Garrett P. Serviss; The Higher Education of Woman in Europe, by Ruth Morse. The poems of the number are by O. F. Emerson and Jessie F. O'Donnell. The usual editorial and department space are well filled.

We have received and examined Choral Song, prepared by M. Woolsey Stryker. It contains 224 pages of valuable and thoroughly useful songs for the church school. Every song is a gem, one of the best efforts of its author. Well printed and beautifully bound in cloth. Price, $40 per 100 copies. The Biglow & Main Co., 81 Randolph street, Chicago; 76 East Ninth Street, New York.

New York, April 18.—Among the cabin passengers who arrived to day by the steamship La Bourgogne, were fourteen Parisian designers of ladies' fashionable gowns. These artists have been engaged by the enterprising managers of The New York and Paris Young Ladies' Fashion Bazar, to contribute exclusively to the columns of that popular magazine.

The new geographical magazine which we announced in a recent issue as forthcoming has now appeared. The first two numbers are before us. Its title is Goldthwaite's Geographical Magazine, being published monthly by Messrs. Goldthwaite, of New York. The editor is Mr. Cyrus C. Adams, of the Brooklyn Institute. The articles are comparatively short and attractive ly written. There is a profusion of well executed illustrations. Every one must wish well to the new enterprise—the only one of its class in the English language.—March, 1891.

It must be a dull housewife in deed who cannot find encouragement and substantial help in the cheery words of Maria Parloz, Christine T. Herrick, Helen Jay, Isabel A. Mallon in the May number of the Ladies' Home Journal, every corner of which is pervaded with the breeze and sunshine of spring. Issued at $1 a year, or 10 cents a copy, by the Curtis Publishing Company, 433 435 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Dr. Andrew D. White deals with a particularly interesting episode of the Warfare of Science in his paper on Miracles and Medicine, which opens the May Popular Science Monthly. A possible solution of the great educational problem of the day is suggested in the description of An Experiment in Moral training, given by Dr. Mary F. Lee. The conclusion of Professor Huxley on the War path, by the Duke of Argyll, is printed in this number. A survival of the human weakness for charms and magic is shown by Lee J. Vance, who writes on Evolution of Patent Medicine. Attention is called in the Editor's Table to some of the wonders of electricity under the title, The Youngest of the Sciences. New York, D. Appleton & Company. Fifty cents a number, $5 a year.

The twenty-second volume of the Columbian Cyclopaedia is announced as just ready; the entire set is to be completed the present year, in 32 volumes, aggregating about 26,000 pages. Its price is remarkably cheap, only $25 for the entire set, with easy installment terms to those who want them. The high character of the work is vouched for by innumerable witnesses, among others by Prof. James Stroug, S.T.D., editor of McClintock & Strong's Cyclopaedia of Biblical, Ecclesiastical and Theological Literature, who speaks of it in the highest terms. For free specimen pages, address the publishers, The Columbian Publishing Co., 393 Pearl street, New York.

The 29th volume of the Manifesto was issued April 10th. The Columbian is the new name and new form of Alden's Manifesto Cyclopaedia—the two printed mainly from the same plates, the first in 32 volumes of 800 pages each, the latter in 40 volumes of 640 pages each. The Columbian Publishing Co., 393 Pearl street, New York.

In curious contrast with Kenan's papers The Century begins in May a brief series by the late George Mifflin Dallas, United States Minister to the court of the Czar, in which are described the magnificence and luxury of the court of Nicholas I. A frontispiece portrait of Nicholas accompanies the first number. The series of separate papers on The Gold Hunters of California will be continued in the May number by E. G. Waite, Esq., Secretary of State of California, in which the writer will treat of many interesting phases of practical work in the mines. In the June number rougher aspects of mining life will be treated by Dr. Charles B. Gillespie. Both articles will be fully illustrated.

Apropos of the recall of the Italian Minister, ex-Secretary Thomas F. Bayard is preparing an article for the May Forum on the power of the United States to enforce treaties violated within a state's jurisdiction. The same number will contain an explanation of the new Commonwealth of Australia, which has just been formed, by Sir Rodrick Cameron, of New York. In the May number of the Forum, too, will appear the first of a noteworthy series of articles by General Francis A. Walker on the Census. The title of another timely article in the same number will be reciprocity: Why Southward Only? by Mr. Roger Q. Mills.

A story of unusual power and strange plot will begin in the May Cosmopolitan and run through three numbers: The story of a man who three times in his life tries to paint Jesus. Two other pieces of fiction will attract attention in the May number of the Cosmopolitan; two real war stories by men who have been in the thick of the fight. One is by Archibald Forbes, the famous war correspondent, and the other by Albion W. Tourgee, author of the Fools Errand. Price 25 cents. Cosmopolitan Publishing Co., Madison Square, New York.

"THE SOUTHWESTERN should be in every family. I cannot and will not do without it. I will ever encourage its circulation. No paper is so interesting to me. I am at a loss when I don't get to read it."—Mrs. G. R. Smith, Alleyton, Tex.

AN exchange says: "There are ten colored men in the Georgia Legislature this year. It would seem as if God has something to do with the politics of Georgia yet." Not quite correct, dear brother. There is only one, when if justice held sway fully a third of that body would be colored.

JUDSON Newsom, of High Hill, Miss., who has one of the premium machines, says that it gives perfect satisfaction, and he and his wife are much pleased with it. That is what they all say. Over a hundred have procured them of us, and not one has complained of them. "If it were not so (we) would have told you."

WE give our readers a few extracts from Dr. Rust's beautiful and touching tribute to the precious memory of the late Dr. Hatfield, his life-long friend, and the constant advocate and defender of the colored people in this country. Like Dr. Rust, Dr. Hatfield will ever command the undying gratitude of our people. They stood for us when "no man cared for us."

THE lines of Rev. Mack Henson in another column, concerning books, are very pertinent and may well be heeded. The publishing houses of our own church furnish all that our people need, and they should have the trade, for the profits all come back to the people. The "House of Bondage" ought to be in every home as a souvenir of the terrible trials and great deliverance. Bibles of the Bible Society can also be had of us at Society rates. When you want a book write to this office for it.

MR. Stanley to a reporter of the New Orleans Picayune who asked him what he thought of American newspapers said, "I think, they devote too much space to crime and sensation. Much that is minutely and attractively detailed could best be put into paragraphs and not given so much prominence. Writing of crime in an attractive way has the effect of inducing some people to commit similar offenses." This is unfortunately too true, and is one of the most baneful facts connected with the secular paper as it is.

THE dispatches announce the death of Edmund De Pressence, one of the most distinguished men of France and of this age. He was the acknowledged leader among the French Protestants. It is said he died of the same disease that carried off General Grant and the Emperor of Germany. He was born in Paris in 1824, and, what is singular, passed his whole life in that city, like Kant in Konigsburg. His instructor was the distinguished Vinet. He became pastor of the Free Evangelical Congregation at the age of 23, where he soon attracted wide attention, and became the object of the most affectionate regard. He was a most earnest student of history in the interest of Christianity, and published many works of marked ability, his latest being "A Study of Origins," and "Ancient Christianity"—both of which were published in this country. He was also a man of affairs. He was elected to the French Senate in 1883, where his influence became wider and more potential than ever.—Western.

A Wild Goose Chase.

Our people are too much given up to moving about in herds on "a wild goose chase," upon the oily tongued representations of every knave that comes around, and tells them of some great "promised land," some Canaan or other, somewhere. And they are too credulous in believing in every pictorial representation of that land, which has no other existence other than the paper upon which it is printed. At one time it is Africa, at another Kansas, then California, or Arkansas, Mississippi, or Louisiana, then the West and North in general. Now it is Oklahoma. Thousands of our people in Texas and other states are now on their heads to go to Oklahoma. Those who are anxious to get them out there, as they have on other occasions, to serve their own selfish purposes, declare that they have at last discovered Thos. Moore's long lost Utopia, the "real land of milk and honey."

They represent it as the land, where freedom from all harassing cares, the ordinary miseries of mankind, and especially political and social tyranny, is forever assured. Its fitness for human abode is further represented by the fact (!) that it is abundant in rivers of delight, upon whose safe and joyful banks, are to be found in infinite profusion trees of the most vigorous growth, yielding the choicest and most wholesome "slap-jacks" which may be plucked at will and dipped in those rivers whose liquid contents are superior to the best Louisiana molasses. For a change, the fattest hogs, already cooked, with knives and forks stuck in their backs go hunting around for hungry inhabitants and supply their daily wants, while the white wheat loaves of bread are raining down daily on the ground, between midnight and day, when none of the inhabitants are out, lest any should be hurt by the force of the shower. Representations akin to these are believed by too many of our people, to their great misfortune. Many of them too often break up, where they are doing well, and sacrifice their all to join in such follies.

The thing is unreasonable and foolish, and no wise man will allow himself to be thus gulled. If for any reason you decide it to your best interest to move to another county, state, section or country go and look the grounds over your self or send a reliable agent of your own selection to investigate and report to you, and then if you decide to move, so well and good, but by all that is dear in life, we beseech you, do not give away or sacrifice what you have where you are, to go anywhere upon God's footstool expecting to find a place where you can prosper and be happy, without the very same means necessary where you are now; that is education, character and capital: character must be the keystone; education and capital its supporters.

The "Methodist Review."

The May-June number of the Methodist Review calls for particular comment. J. B. Young, D.D., contributes a strong article on "The Epistle of Paul the Apostle to the Philippians," as the third of the series on New Testament books. A. B. Leonard, D.D., presents an important biographical notice of "Major-General Clinton B. Fisk." The symposium on "Life," by R. H. Howard, D.D., H. H. Moore, D.D., and Professor H. Lummis, is a philosophical consideration of this weighty subject. W. H. Meredith, D.D., furnishes an article appropriate to the times on "Bristol in Relation to American Methodism." R. Wheatley, D.D., writes engagingly on "New-foundland." The article on "The Southern Problem," by the Rev. L. M. Hagood, M.D., is an unusual presentation of the question from the stand-point of the colored man himself.

As to the editorial departments of the current Review, much that is commendatory may be spoken. "Opinion" is, as usual, miscellaneous and vigorous. The editorials under "Current Discussion" merit careful notice. The first, on "The Theology of the New Testament," is a plea for the restoration of the New Testament to its rightful place in history, ecclesiastical institutions, and the wide realm of theology. The second, entitled "Sociological Christianity a Necessity," finds in the system of New Testament sociology "the solvent for the industrial crises of the world." The third editorial, on "The Ground of Woman's Eligibility," continues the discussion of the subject begun in the previous number of the Review. Separating the question from extraneous and illogical issues the writer seeks to promulgate the true ground of woman's eligibility to membership in the General Conference. He is at his best in this editorial utterance, and will receive the widespread hearing of the Church. The following departments include "Progress of Civilization," with its scrutiny of recent events; "The Arena," containing miscellaneous contributions from well-known writers; "The Itinerants' Club," never more wide-awake and helpful to our younger ministry; and "Foreign Resume," which gathers up the latest trend of thought in the Old World. The "Spirit of the Reviews and Magazines" arranges in valuable synoptic form the contents of recent religious and scholarly publications. The "Critiques and Notices" of books are, as usual, full and accurate. Each issue of the Review seems, if possible, to eclipse its predecessor. We commend this latest number to the most careful consideration of all students of religious and sociological literature.

In a letter to Zion's Herald, Rev. Dr. J. H. Mansfield, in reciting some of his observations during his recent visit to this city says:

"Bishop Mallalien, is of incalculable help to our important work in the city and the South. It ought to be remembered that he is here from choice, for he might have chosen his Episcopal residence elsewhere. When asked this winter to go to China and Japan in Bishop Foster's place, he would gladly have gone had it not been for his work and plans that would suffer in his absence. The bishop has secured a commodious building, with considerable land, on Canal street, near the business centre of the city, for a medical school for the colored students especially, though white students are not shut out. The school already has eighteen students, and there will be a great increase in the near future. The medical school is a necessity. The friends of the bishop and of our work ought to send him their gifts to aid him in raising the $50,000 needed for the fitting up and carrying on of the school.

The bishop and his co-workers in church or school are ostracised. Hence their work is full of self denial; but their efforts are surely hastening the day when all the relics of caste and barbarism will go. Meanwhile give these toilers prayers and sympathy and substantial aid. They need it and they deserve it."

The Doctor travels with a keen eye and an attentive ear; and generally gives to others the results of his own personal observation. He is especially apt in this instance.

MAY day was feared in Europe almost as judgment day. The nations, like the villas on Vesuvius, are not far from a smoking crater. Oligarchy on one side, Anarchy on the other—and both blinded by the "god of this world." "I came not to send peace on earth but a sword," said the Prince of Peace. There will be no rest to the restless nations till they rest in Him. The words of St. Augustine are true of nations as of men: "Thou hast made us for thyself and our hearts are restless till they rest in thee."

Political Review.

The Chinese Government refuses to accept ex-U. S. Senator Henry W. Blair, recently appointed Minister Plenipotentiary to that Government. It is now reported that the Senator will be sent to Japan as successor to Minister Swift, deceased.

U. S. Senator John H. Reagan, of Texas, has resigned his seat in the Senate and has been appointed on the Texas Railroad Commission by Gov. Hogg. The Governor has appointed the Hon. Horace Chilton as his successor. Hon. Roger Q. Mills coveted the prize, but as he is reported to be anxious to reserve the honor for himself when the Legislature meets, he has appointed one whom he thinks he can easily succeed.

Senator Edmunds, of Vermont, who recently resigned his seat in the U. S. Senate, is said to be booked for the U. S. Supreme bench, to succeed Justice Bradley, who will soon retire.

The Michigan Legislature, Democratic, has passed a law providing for the election of presidential electors by the several congressional districts. This was done to capture some electoral votes which that party could not hope to obtain under the old method, because the State always goes Republican in every presidential election.

The Florida senatorial fight continues without result.

The Republican National Headquarters are about to be established in Washington, instead of New York, as heretofore.

The Third, or National Farmers' Alliance party movement is not receiving the boom that was at first anticipated for it. The old party spirit is too strongly entrenched in the affection of old partisans to endanger the defeat of their old parties, when there is no show whatever for the success of this new party as a national factor.

The Lottery Amendment is stirring a considerable flurry in this State, but it will end in a flurry, because the pet baby "white supremacy," is not to be endangered. "The law will be suspended again" in the event of any danger to that idol, and the lottery will again be saddled upon this people for another quarter of a century. The prophecy is sickening and deplorable, but it is written in the book of fate.

Will A. Strong, our defaulting ex-Secretary of State, has surrendered to the authorities, and is now on trial at Baton Rouge.

Hon. James Hill has taken charge of the Vicksburg (Miss.) postoffice, and has appointed a white man as his deputy. The indications are now favorable for a peaceable possession of the office by Mr. Hill under such auspices.

THE Pope is about to issue a stupendous Encyclical. It is to solve all problems, ancient and modern, actual and possible, social, political and religious. We venture the opinion that it will have about as much effect as old King Canute's harangue to the tides. In the meantime the query often suggests itself: Who inspires the super-serviceable Associated Press to cable and telegraph ad nauseum whole columns of such balderdash over Christendom?

PASTORS would confer a great favor to many lost friends if they would kindly read from their pulpits, the many lost friend notices which appear in our paper. Brethren, do unto others as you would have others do to you in this matter, and help parents to find their children, and children to find their parents, that were snatched away from them by the cruel hand of slavery.

A race war is in progress at Lanapier, Indian Territory, between Negroes and Indians. The trouble was precipitated by the murder of a colored man by Indians. The Negroes were incensed thereby, and sought to avenge the murder, with the result as above stated.

Personal.

—Prof. M. W. Dogan, of the Central Tennessee College, Nashville, is on a visit to Memphis, at the bedside of his father, Mr. Wm. Dogan, who is still ill with inflammatory rheumatism.

—Presiding Elder Morant had a very sudden and severe attack of dysentery while at his home in Alexandria, a short time since.

—Mrs. E. N. Bowers, of Paris, Tex., informs us that Rev. W. H. Jackson, who has been down three weeks with inflammatory rheumatism, is slowly improving.

—Bro. H. M. Murphy, of Gammon Theological Seminary, Atlanta, Ga., has favored us with an interesting letter picturing the pathetic parting scene between the Gammon students and Rev. W. H. Crawford, Professor of Historical Theology, who has left for a trip to Europe, and the Rev. E. H. Gammon, their benefactor, who could not remain over till commencement. Prof. Crawford's family will remain in Chicago until his return.

—Last Tuesday, May 5, was the fiftieth birthday of Prof. W. H. Crozman, LL.D., the scholarly, polished and efficient professor of languages at Clark University, Atlanta, Ga. President Thirkield, of Gammon, and many of the Professor's friends, united in giving him a very fine reception on that occasion, at President Thirkield's house. Prof. Crozman has given twenty years of the most faithful service to our work in the South, and is richly deserving of the distinguished honor thus conferred upon him. A goodly purse of money was also presented him on the occasion.

—Rev. Stephen Priestley leaves tomorrow for Trinity and other points on his district.

—Rev. H. S. Priestley of the Warrenburg Circuit, East Tenn. Conference passed from labor to reward March 27. He leaves a wife and three children to whom we extend heartfelt sympathy. The deceased was a native of South Carolina.

—Von Moltke the great German Field Marshall is dead, and all Germany is in mourning. The General was the idol of his people.

—The Rev. Dr. Geo. W. Bothwell, favorably known in this city for his faithful services at Central Congregational Church, and at Straight and Southern Universities, at the latter of which he was president for several years, is dead. He died in the Brooklyn Hospital last Sunday. Where he was undergoing an operation to extract out of his left bronchus a small cork which accidentally went down his windpipe a few days before while giving medicine to one of his children. Holding the baby in one arm and the bottle of medicine in the other hand, he drew the cork out with his teeth. The childish pranks of another of his children caused him to laugh, when the cork accidentally went down his windpipe with the result above stated. His many friends mourn his untimely death.

WHILE they commend the Presiding Eldership, the bishops of the A. M. E. Church, give those in the Eldership the following word of warning and advice. We commend it to the Presiding Elders of our church:

"We fear that some of the Presiding Elders have forgotten that they are bound to work and preach as regularly and as laboriously for their allowance, as the pastors over whom they preside. The Presiding Elders are not to waste time here and there, and expect their pastors to raise their allowance and send it to them. They must go to every point and preach and labor for the upbuilding of the churches and missions in their districts, unless they are sick, and if they are sick they should report the same to the bishop. There are times, when the Presiding Elder may not be able to give a Sabbath to certain points, but he can arrange to preach there on week nights.

The pastors, true, are the stewards of the Presiding Elders, but not simple tax gatherers to raise money for them, without an equivalent of services rendered. The Presiding Elders are duty bound to assist the pastors by the prestige of their influence in every collection, efforts to build churches, and encourage every measure required by our discipline, but they cannot do this and not go to every point and preach or speak to the people."

City Church Notes.

There will be a grand cornerstone laying at Cushman Chapel on the third Sunday in May. The principal ministers and societies of the city will participate. Refreshment will be served by the members of the church. All are invited. The amount each church gives will be published in the SOUTHWESTERN. Come out in the morning and stay all day, and help us to pay our debts. Rev. E. Lyon will deliver the opening address. Dr. L. G. Adkinson will also be present. We will be glad to have our presiding elders and Dr. Albert with us on that day. B. G. Ankrum, P. C.

Mt. Zion, under the pastorate of the Rev. Thos. McCary, is enjoying a glorious revival. About fifty have been happily converted, and many accessions are reported. The altar is crowded at every service. Dr. Albert preached there to a crowded house last Sunday night. Every interest of the church is prospering.

A large committee of Pleasant Plains Church visited the parsonage last Saturday night at 11:30, surprising the Rev. D. J. Price with many choice presents.

Rev. T. G. Montgomery and his people at First Street Church are moving along grandly. Their revival has resulted in a goodly number of conversions and reclamation of backsliders.

THE Sixth Quarter-Centennial Jubilee Convention of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society was held in Pittsburg, Pa., Sunday and Monday, April 19, 20, and was a great success. Dr. Hartzell was in command and spoke four times on Sunday raising over $800, and delivered the principal address Monday morning and participated in the meetings Monday afternoon and night. Dr. W. L. Davidson spoke twice on Sunday and on Monday night, and gave stereopticon views of our Southern work. Rev. Dr. Prentiss, of Knoxville, Tenn., spoke twice on Sunday and also twice Monday. Rev. D. L. Antmann, of Cincinnati, preached twice Sunday and conducted the Song Service on Monday. Many pastors attended. The collections in Pittsburg will amount to about $1300 this year as against about half that amount last year. The local city papers gave large attention to the meeting. Dr. Allen of the Presbyterian work among the Freedmen, gave an address; also Hon. J. W. Dravoe of Pittsburg. These conventions are helping greatly to bring our Southern Educational work before the Church and the Nation. Dr. Hartzell hopes to reach $300,000 this year from all sources. He pleads with every pastor in the South to make Sunday, May 10, a historic day in every church in the South.

IN the communication of Rev. E. W. Adams, Wauhatchie, S. C., last week, the amount raised on Spartansburg circuit for increasing and improving church property should have read one thousand five hundred dollars. It would be an injustice to those patriotic people not to make the correction.

DAILY BREAD.

Still, O Lord, our faith increase;
Cleanse from all unrighteousness:
Thee, the unholiest cannot see;
Make, O make us meet for Thee!
Every vile affection kill;
Root out every seed of ill;
Utterly abolish sin;
Write Thy law of love within.

—Charles Wesley.

Above all beware of anger! beware of worldly sorrow! beware of a fear that bath torment! beware of foolish and hurtful desires! beware of inordinate affection.—John Wesley.

Sacredly abstain from all spirituous liquors. Touch them not on any pretense whatever. To others they may sometimes be of use, but to nervous persons they are deadly poison.—John Wesley.

By the grace of God I never fret;
I repine at nothing. I am discontented with nothing. And to have persons at my ear, fretting and murmuring at everything, is like tearing the flesh off my bones.—
John Wesley.

The seeds of death are sown in our very nature! Thus from the hour when we first appear on the stage of life, we are traveling towards death: we are preparing, whether we will or no, to return to the dust from whence we came.—
John Wesley.

It is not by striking off all allegiance, but by finding your true Lord, and serving him with complete submission, that you can escape from slavery. Then give yourself to him completely. Let him mark you as his by whatever marks he will.—Phillips Brooks.

We ought to measure our actual lot, and to fulfill it; to be with all our strength that which our lot requires and allows. What is beyond it is no calling of ours. How much peace, quiet, confidence and strength would people attain, if they would go by this plain rule!—
H. E. Manning.

I have thought—I am a creature of a day; I am a spirit come from God, and returning to God. I want to know one thing—the way to heaven. God himself hath condescended to teach me that way. He hath written down in a book. Oh, give that book!—John Wesley.

It is to be regretted that the higher circles of society in many of our communities are unconsciously encouraging the vice of gambling, it not furnishing recruits for it. To what extent it exists the sleepless eye of the Omniscient only knows.
Should he reveal the secret gatherings of the unsuspected and innocent looking youths they might be found in lots and elsewhere from early morning 'till late at night and on God's holy day, shun-tling the accursed cards, tortured by men, who are not satisfied to look on their own wrecked lives, crushed hopes and squandered energies, but seek to draw others into the maelstrom of destruction after them. God's eye may be directing others to these dens. A word to the wise is sufficient.

The Lord never builds a bridge of faith except under the feet of the faith-filled traveler. If he built the bridge a rod ahead it wouldn't be a bridge of faith. That which is of sight is not of faith.

There is a self-opening gate which is sometimes used in roads. It stands fast and firm across the road as a traveler approaches it. If he stops before he gets to it, it won't open; but if he will drive right at it, his wagon-wheels press the springs below the roadway, and the gate swings back to let him through. He must push right on at the closed gate or it will continue closed. This illustrates the way to pass every barrier on the road of duty. Whether it is a river, a gate, or a mountain, all the child of God has to do is to go for it. If it is a river it will dry up when you put your feet in its waters. If it is a gate it will fly open—when you are near enough to it, and still pushing on. If it is a mountain, it will be lifted up and cast into the sea—when you have come squarely up without flinching to where you thought it was. Is there a great barrier across your path of duty just now? Just go for it in God, and it won't be there.—Selected.

A clergyman was once accosted by a doctor, a professional Diest, who asked him:

"Do you follow preaching to save souls?"

"Yes."

"Did you ever see a soul?"

"No."

"Did you ever taste a soul?"

"No."

"Did you ever smell a soul?"

"No."

"Did you ever feel a soul?"

"Yes."

"Well," said the doctor, "there are four of the five senses against you upon the question, whether there is a soul?"

The clergyman then asked:

"Are you a doctor of medicine?"

"Yes."

"Did you ever see a pain?"

"No."

"Did you ever taste a pain?"

"No."

"Did you ever smell a pain?"

"No."

"Did you ever feel a pain?"

"Yes."

"Well then," said the clergyman,

"there are also four of the senses against one upon the question whether there be a pain, and yet,

sir, you know that there is a pain and I know that there is a soul."

Sermon Sketch from Rev. C. H.
Spurgeon.

A Frivolous Excuse.

1 Kings xx: 40—"And as thy servants was busy here and there, he was gone.
And the king of Israel said unto him,
So shall thy judgment be: thyself has decided it."

A man must be hard run indeed when he cannot forge an excuse.
This is a very common one for the loss of the soul, "I was very busy, and had no time to attend to religion."
They say, "a bad excuse is better than none;" this is very questionable. Here is an excuse which condemned the man who made it. The man in the prophet's story was ordered to keep a prisoner, and it became his first duty to do so; but he preferred to follow out his own wishes, and attend to his private concerns, and so the prisoner "was gone." It is clear that he had power to have attended to the king's business, for he attended to his own. His excuse was that he was wilfully disobedient.

I. It is an excuse which some cannot use.

1. They have but little to occupy them. They are noblemen, or ladies with no occupation, or persons of large leisure, or invalids who can do nothing for a livelihood, and therefore have ample time for reflection and reading.

2. They have done all their hard work, and are retired upon their savings, and find it hard to pass their time.

3. They are never busy, for they are idlers whom nothing could provoke to industry. They kill time.

II. It is an excuse which is not valid.

1. There was no absolute need to be busy. Many people make slaves of themselves with a view to gain, when they could earn enough for their needs, and yet have abundant leisure to care for their souls.

2. To have believed in the Lord would have lessened the needful care of life, and so the pressure of business would have been lightened.
The fact is that no man can afford to neglect his soul, for thus he hinders his own life-work.

3. You find time for other necessaries—to eat, drink, dress, converse, and sleep. And have you no time to feed your soul, to drink the living water, to put on the robe of righteousness, to talk with God, and to find rest in Christ?

4. You have time for diversion.

Think of the many hours wasted in idle chat, unprofitable reading, or worse. If offered a holiday, or an evening's entertainment, you make time if you cannot find it. You have, then, time for weightier matters.

5. You find time for judging others, questioning great truths, spying out difficulties, and quibbling over trifles. Have you no time for self-examination, study of the word, and seeking the Lord?
Of course you have; where is it?

III. It is an excuse which accuses the person who makes it.

1. You have enjoyed many mercies in your daily work, for you have been able to attend to your business; should not these have won your gratitude?

2. You have seen many trials while busy here and there; why did they not lead you to God?

3. You have abilities for business; and these should have been used for God. Did he not give them to you? Why expend them on your own selfish money-getting?

IV. It is an excuse which will wound the memory of some.

To have worked hard for nothing, to live hard, and lie hard, and yet to fail, and die poor at last, will be sad.

To have to leave all when you have succeeded in accumulating wealth will be wretched work. Yet so it must be.

V. It is an excuse which cannot restore the loss.

If you have lost the time, you certainly had it intrusted to you, and you will be called to account for it; but you cannot regain it, nor make up for its loss.

How wretched to have spent a life in idly traveling, collecting shells, reading novels, etc., and to have therefore left no space for serving God, and knowing the Redeemer?

Men do worse than this; they sin, they lead others to sin, they invent ways of killing time, and then say they have no time.

They give their minds to sceptical thought, to propagating atheism, undermining Scripture, or arguing against the Gospel, and yet have no time to believe and live!

THIS IS A

Call to the young to use time while it is theirs.

Call to the aged to spend the remnant of their days well.

Call to the Christians to look well to their children's souls, lest they slip from under their influence while they are busy here and there.

Call to experienced believers to see to their own joy in the Lord, lest they lose it in the throng.

Schools and Colleges.

A meeting of the trustees of New Orleans University was held April 22, to provide ways and means, if possible, for a new building, as the institution is already more than full.

After a careful consideration it was resolved to erect a frame building, 34x78 feet, two stories high, to be occupied by the lower grades of the English course. The estimated cost is $3,000. The members of the board present subscribed $700, and directed the work to begin immediately.

Are there not friends of our cause who will aid this work so that the building may be put up without delay, as it will be needed by the first day of October next?

Write to President Adkinson and enclose any contribution from $1 up that you may feel able to make.

A personal note from President
Libby, of Rust University, Holly Springs, Miss., says:

"Our school year surpasses all other years in our University's history for work accomplished. Such is the general verdict. The church of the town with Rust University is all ablaze with revival power.
There have been in school and town nearly 100 conversions, and yet the work goes on. About 60 of our students have been converted. Out of the large number of students in attendance this year there are but eight or ten left unsaved. Bro. Ferguson has done efficient and faithful work."

Gammon Theological Seminary.

Gammon Theological Seminary
has been very fortunate in the list of special lecturers that have been secured to address the students of that institution during the past year. The lecturers and their themes are as follows:

Bishop William Taylor, D.D., Missionary Work in Africa.

Bishop Edward G. Andrews,
LL.D., Use and Abuse of Talents.

Bishop Henry W. Warren, LL.
D., Our European Missions.

Rev. J. C. Hartzell, D.D., Mission and Work of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society.

Rev. C. H. Payne, D.D., LL.D.,
The Symmetrical Minister.

Rev. A. B. Leonard, D.D., Experimental Religion.

Rev. W. A. Spencer, D.D., The Coming Great Revival.

Rev. J. W. Lee, D.D., Wesley Memorial Address.

Rev. Dean R. S. Barrett, D.D.,
In Florence with Savanarola.

Rev. J. William Jones, D.D.,
Philip, the Model Evangelist.

Prof. D. C. John, D.D., Ethical Results of the Darwinian Theory.

Rev. H. N. Brown, Founder's Day Address. The Founder's Aim.

Rev. G. B. Strickler, D. D., Formal Opening Address, The Place of Faith in the Christian System.

D. B. Hartson, Brinkley, Ark., has returned from a visit to Meridian, Miss. He is abundant in his praise of Prof. J. J. H. Brooks, and the Meridian Academy. He says Prof. Brooks is an honor to his alma mater, Rust University.

William Slater, the great benefactor of the colored race, who gave the million dollar Slater Fund for the education of freedmen, has a son who is emulating the charitable example set by his father.
Recently he made a donation of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars to endow a public hospital.

A well-known Methodist college president was addressing the students in the chapel at the beginning of the college year. "It is,"
he said in conclusion, "a matter of congratulation to all the friends of the college that this year opens with the largest freshman class in its history." And then, without any pause, he turned to the Scripture lesson for the day, the third Psalm, and began reading in a voice of thunder: "Lord, how are they increased that trouble me."

Prof. Scarborough, the accomplished colored linguist and author of an excellent Greek Grammar, has the satisfaction of knowing that a large number of white institutions of learning have adopted his work, using it as a text book.
The last instance that has come to our knowledge is the action of the Unitarian Theological Seminary, located at Meadville, Pa., which has placed his book in its rooms. The success of his work is the best evidence of its excellence.

Marriages.

Obituary.

Durant, Miss.—Sister Mary Heslup,
the wife of Rev. H. Heslup, died April 18, 1891, at 7:30 a. m. Sister Heslup was born in Lauderdale county, Miss., in 1851, and professed a hope in Christ in September, 1871, under the pastoral charge of her husband, who baptized her.
She became a member of the M.
E. Church at Lauderdale. She was married to Rev. Heslup February 5, 1874, after which she shared with him the sorrows and comforts of the following circuits: Shuqualak and Durant, at which place she joined by letter and lived a consistent Christian for 15 years, at the home and residence of her husband. Her pastor, Rev. D. Green, Presiding Elder W. McDonald, Rev. J. W.
Winbush, and her faithful class leader,
James Rhinehart, visited her during her illness and prayed and talked with her concerning her hope in the Master, and she said, "I am ready and willing to go;
I am just waiting on the Lord." A few days before she died she called her husband to her bedside and told him to keep her children together and raise them in the fear of the Lord. Her funeral was attended by her pastor and over 500 people. She leaves a husband, seven children and many friends to mourn her loss.

Paulding, Miss.—Bro. Thomas Spence was a faithful member of Pine Grove Church, and a class leader. He died April 15. He was beloved by white and many friends to mourn his loss.

Sister Mahala Clayton, a faithful member of Spring Hill M. E. Church, died April 15, happy in the Lord. She leaves a husband and two children to mourn her loss.

M. Cooper, P. C.

Edna, Texas.—Sister Kate Howard, one of the oldest members of our church, fell asleep in Christ April 5. She said while dying, that she was ready and willing to go, and that this world was followed to her last resting place by a large concourse of friends. She leaves a son and other relatives to mourn her death.

I. Smith, P. C.

Zehulon, Ga.—Sister Nancy Akles, daughter of Sister and Brother Jury Leek, and a member of Fuller's Chapel, on the Zehulon circuit, departed this life April 16. She had been a member for more than five years, and had been sick for more than two years. The funeral was conducted by the pastor in charge.
She leaves a husband, one child, mother and father, and other relatives and friends to mourn her loss.

If you have made up your mind to buy
Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation,
curative power superior to any other article.
A Boston lady who knew what she wanted,
and whose example is worthy imitation, tells
her experience below:

To Get

"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me to buy their own instead of Hood's; he told me their would last longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail
on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was. I had taken it, and was satisfied with it, and did not want any other.

Hood's

When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla
I was feeling real miserable, suffering
a great deal with dyspepsia, and so weak
that at times I could hardly stand. I looked
and had for some time, like a person in consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me so much good that I wonder at myself sometimes,
and my friends frequently speak of it." Mrs.

Our Children's Legion.

For Our Boys and Girls.

BY UNCLE CEPHAS.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I have not written to your paper before. My father takes the SOUTHWESTERN and I delight in reading it. I see so many little letters written by little children that I thought I would write too. I am a little girl 12 years old. I am in Wiley University, it is a nice large school. I hope my letter will not reach the waste basket.

Your Niece,
HATTIE WESLEY.

Marshall, Tex.

Dear Uncle Cephas: This is my first letter to you. I am a little girl 11 years old. I go to day school, and also Sunday school every Sunday. My every day teacher's name is H. B. Pemberton, and my Sunday school superintendent is Simmel S. Reed. Mama takes the SOUTHWESTERN, and I love to read it. Mama belongs to the M. E. Church. Our pastor's name is Rev. Cole. My father is a preacher of the M. E. Church at Blossom Prairie, and I belong to the church.

Your Niece,
ZENOBIA A. MOORE.

Marshall, Tex.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I am a little girl 13 years old. This is my first letter to the Children's Legion. My papa takes the SOUTHWESTERN and I take great pleasure in reading it. I go to Sunday school every Sunday morning. My mama and papa belong to the M. E. Church. We have a good pastor, his name is A. J. Price.

Your Niece,
PIRLES LYLES.

Central Grove, Miss.

Dear Uncle Cephas: This is my second letter to you. I am studying geography, arithmetic, spelling, grammar and history. My teacher is Prof. D. G. Edmondson. Rev. W. H. Davis preached a soul-stirring sermon on Thursday night, and collected $11.05.

Your Nephew,
P. G. WILSON.

New Submarine Boat.

The French submarine boat Gymnote was recently tried at Toulon, and demonstrated its ability to pass through a blockaded line and escape attention in spite of systematic efforts to watch, trace or discover its course. According to the Revue Industrielle, it plunged and remained under water forty minutes. It rose to the surface in a distance of more than two miles and had passed under the watched line of demarcation without being seen. After having ascertained where it was, it emerged to return. It again crossed the line, but this time two of the parties on the lookout for it got a glimpse of it, not, however, sufficiently distinct to enable them to trace and pursue it. The course of the boat was in both instances rectilinear.—Scientific American.

The reputation of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, as a blood medicine, is maintained by daily cures.

THE SOUTHWESTERN finds its way to our reading room every Wednesday evening. I wish you could be here on such evenings to see the students rush to the reading room for the SOUTHWESTERN. It seems that every one is anxious to read it at the same time. It comes to me as a personal letter. I spend one hour in reading it every Wednesday evening.—J. O. Richards, Gammon Theological Seminary, South Atlanta, Ga.

An Unprecedented Offer!

We have made arrangements with the Chicago Manufacturing Company to supply one of their first-class Singer machines for only $14 cash. We will order a machine like the cut here shown, and send the SOUTHWESTERN a full year besides! It is a handsome oil-polished walnut, of latest design, Gothic cover, with beautiful panels, four end drawers and a swing drawer, nickel-plated, and warranted five years.

Each Machine is furnished with the following equipment: One Foot Hemmer, One Oil Can with Oil, One Gauge, and Screw, One Extra Check Spring, One Package of Needles, Five Bobbins, One Ticker, One Foot Ruffler, One Set of Plate Hemmers, four different widths up to seven-eighths of an inch, One Binder and One Thread Cutter. The Improved Tension and Thread Liberator is used on this Machine. The manufacturers offer to refund the money if purchaser is not fully satisfied with the machine.

We receive many letters inquiring about the sewing machine premium, and how to obtain it. In order that all may understand the matter, we state in addition to the announcement, that remittances should be made to Hunt & Eaton, 139 Poydras street, either by check, money order, or by express, naming the nearest or most convenient freight depot to which it is to be sent. Then we order the factory in Chicago to ship the machine. The company ships it and receives from the railroad a bill of lading which, with the warranty, is sent to us, and which we send to the subscriber. This bill of lading is good and sufficient evidence that the machine has been forwarded, and holds the railroad company responsible for its safe delivery at the station named as its destination, and in due time, save unavoidable delays. In case of its loss the railroad which caused its loss is responsible, under the laws of the land. If not arriving in due time, show the bill of lading to the station agent and he will look it up. Don't give up the bill of lading, but it may be shown to the railroad agent. All orders are sent the same day as received, and the bill of lading is sent to the subscriber the same day we get it. We started this scheme with a view to helping our patrons, and shall carefully and faithfully carry out our part of the agreement in every case.

LET every charge observe the second Sunday in May as Freedmen's Aid Jubilee Day. Rally, rally, brethren, and make the occasion the grandest ever observed. Let the contributions of the day, which we hope will be the most liberal ever taken for the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society, be forwarded to Dr. J. C. Hartzell, Cincinnati, O., the following day.

Stand Your Ground.

When you make up your mind to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy some other preparation instead. Clerks may claim that "ours is as good as Hood's" and all that, but the peculiar merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla cannot be equalled. Therefore have nothing to do with substitutes and insist upon having Hood's Sarsaparilla, the best blood purifier and building-up medicine.

Cuticura Soap
FOR COMPLEXIONS BAD COMPLEXIONS AND BABY HUMORS.

BAD COMPLEXIONS, WITH PIMPLES, blotchy, oily skin, red, rough hands, with shape, painful finger ends and itchy sores, and simple Baby Humors prevented and cured by "Cuticura Soap." A marvelous beautifier of world-wide celebrity, it is simply incomparable as a skin purifying soap, unequalled for the toilet and without a rival for the Nursery. Absolutely pure, delicately medicated, exquisitely perfumed, "Cuticura Soap" produces the whitest, clearest skin and softest hands, and prevents inflammation and clogging of the pores, the cause of pimples, blackheads and most complexional disfigurements, while it admits of no comparison with the best of other skin soaps, and rivals in delicacy the most noted and expensive of toilet and nursery soaps. Sale greater than the combined sales of all other skin soaps. Sold throughout the world. Price, 25c. Send for "How to Cure Skin and Blood Diseases." Address: Potter Drug and Chemical Corporation, Proprietors, Boston, Mass.

UP THE SYSTEM.

Dr. KING'S ROYAL GERMETUER

THESE FIVE THINGS

Is which it differs from ordinary medicines, account largely for its wondrous popularity:

1. It does not taste like medicine. It is as pleasant as lemonade, and, sweetened, makes a most refreshing drink. Persons who object to all other medicines, take this with real pleasure because it is good.
2. It never nauseates. The most delicate stomach finds in this a perfect remedy without a single objection.
3. It never escapes of one disease for another. It does not set up one form of disease in order to relieve another, as is the case with so many deadly drugs.
4. It does not patch simply. It cures. It reaches, as nothing else does, to the hidden sources of diseases in the blood, and removes the cause. It does this with an ease and power that has never been equaled.
5. It is harmless, and may be safely given to a babe one day old. It is free from Alcohol and Opium.

All persons living in malarial districts should keep this great family remedy on hand. It will break any fever in less time than quinine and anti-pyrene, and leave none of their unpleasant and harmful effects.

For Malaria, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Debility, Kidney Trouble, and for Blood and Skin Diseases, there is nothing to be compared with it. For Ladies and Children it is the best.

Circulars with testimonials, etc., mailed free. For sale by druggists and by R. T. Williams, agent, 202 Canal street, New Orleans.

GOLDEN TEXT.
Whoever hath not from him shall be taken even that which he seemeth to have. (Luke 8. 18.)

LESSON HYMN, S. M.

Thou Judge of quick and dead,
Before whose bar severe,
With holy joy or guilty dread,
We all shall soon appear;
Our cautioned souls prepare
For that tremendous day,
And fill us now with watchful care,
And stir us up to pray.

To pray, and wait the hour,
That awful hour unknown,
When, robed in majesty and power,
Thou shalt from heaven come down,
The immortal Son of man,
To judge the human race,
With all thy Father's dazzling train,
With all thy glorious grace.

Time—About B. C. 787.

Place—Israel.

Ruler—Possibly Jeroboam II, of Israel; Uzziah of Judah.

Connecting links—Amos' plainness of speech gave offense, and he was charged with conspiracy against the king.

QUESTIONS FOR HOME STUDY

1. Israel's Wickedness, v. 1-6.

What did the prophet see?

What showed this vision to him?

What question did the Lord ask?

What did he say about Israel?

Of what desolation in the temple did he tell?

What evil-doers were called to hear this message?

Of what acts of wickedness were they guilty?

2. Israel's Overtthrow, v. 7-14.

What had God said that he would remember?

How did he solemnly assure Israel of this?

What question did he ask about their sorrow?

What did he say about a flood?

What strange thing would happen to the sun?

How would feasts and songs be changed?

How would their raiment show sorrow?

Like what would the mourning be?

What did God promise to send on the land?

What kind of a famine was this to be?

How would the people show their distress in famine?

What would happen to the young people?

What sin of Samaria is spoken of?

What would occur to these sinners?

What says the Golden Text about every sinner's loss?

TEACHINGS OF THE LESSON.

Where in this lesson are we taught:

1. That God's judgments on sin are sure?

2. That God's judgments on sin will be severe?

3. That God's judgments on sin will be eternal?

HOME WORK FOR YOUNG BE-REANS.

Find out in what nation Amos lived.

Find out what his business was.

How many shepherds were used by God as his special servants?

THE LESSON CATECHISM.

[For the entire school.]

1. What did God show to Amos?

A basket of fruit, ripe and ready to rot.

2. To what did he compare this basket of fruit?

To the wicked Israelites about to be destroyed.

3. What was one of their great crimes?

Wrongs of the poor.

4. How were they to be destroyed?

By the Assyrian invasion.

5. How did this punishment come?

Suddenly and without remedy.

6. From what did the Israelites suffer most in the day when they were suddenly deprived of their wealth and their families and their personal liberty?

From a famine for spiritual truth.

Doctrinal Suggestion.—God's anger at sin.

THE CHURCH CATECHISM.

51. Can we repent and believe of ourselves? No; the power to repent and believe is given us of God. (Eph. 2. 8; Rom. 11. 29.)

52. How can we know when we believe in Jesus Christ? "He that believeth on the Son of God hath the witness in himself." (1 John 5. 10.)

53. What witness is this? "The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God." (Rom. 8. 16.)

"How delicious is the winning Of a kiss, at love's beginning," sings the poet, and his sentiment is true with one possible exception. If either party has the catarrh, even love's kiss loses its sweetness. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is a sure cure for this repulsive, and distressing affliction. By its mild, soothing, antiseptic, cleansing and healing properties, it cures the worst cases. $500 reward offered for an incurable case.

"I LOVE THE SOUTHWESTERN, I admire the editor. I pray that you may continue level headed and never falter."—Prof. A. J. Howard, Nashville, Tenn.

How often must we exhort you that we take no notice whatever of communications that are not accompanied with the author's real name! This applies to any and every department of the paper.

FREEDMEN'S Aid and Southern Education Day was observed in all our churches last Sunday. Now let the pastors forward at once to Dr. J. C. Hartzell, Cincinnati, O., the collection taken up for that cause.

THE present is one of the most extensive labor troubles that New Orleans has ever had; and it has been caused by the Master Mechanics' Association, an organization that declares its object to be, "the prevention of labor organizations and strikes."

JOHN D. LEWIS, late of Philadelphia, and a member of the Philadelphia bar, died recently and bequeathed $100,000 to found a Protective Bureau of Civil Rights for Afro-Americans. The object of the Bureau is to protect, aid and secure to colored citizens their civil rights, how and wherever the same may be denied them on account of their race or color.—Ez.

CORRESPONDENTS must bear in mind that "brevity is the soul of wit" and is the best pledge for an early publication of their contributions. We cannot and will not attempt to condense or publish pieces of 15 and 20 pages. Ordinarily you ought to be able to say everything in which our readers would be interested on a postal card or on a page or two of note paper.

CONSTITUTIONAL grumblers, in the ministerial ranks are the most offensive class of grumblers in existence. They are generally too men, who if they had not been taken into the ministry, would day be following the plantation work at 50 cts. a day, from which they came. Such are the men, without any special preparation for their work, who are constantly criticising bishops, presiding elders and every body else, because they are not given big appointments paying from $600 to $1000 a year. If God, and not your own selfish interest, has called you to this work, do your work, trust in God and stop grumbling.

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

Sight-Seeing.—XV.

BY L. M. HAGOOD, M. D.

"Tell me how it can be that you Southern white men take such undue and unseemly advantages of my people, despised, ignorant and defenseless, and still keep on your statutes a law prohibiting yourselves from acting honorably in this matter? Why do you keep up a continual hue and cry about the race when the females of it have such a fascination that you can't resist? Do you not feel and know that you are responsible for most of the immorality of the race? And yet you try to cover your own pollution by defaming the character of the race." "Yes, I admit we are responsible for the beginning, but what about it now?" Why, you must remember the debauchery perpetrated upon a race for two hundred and fifty years does not die out in a quarter of a century; you now see some of the points. Certainly, human nature, unrestrained for so long a time, does not so soon yield. Again, you must remember that they were colored women that went down to their graves before the war rather than become lured at the voice of their owners. Again, the better class of colored women everywhere are not vulnerable to white men of the kind you speak.

There is a class of flippant women amongst us that want to dress and lounge around; vain, ignorant and for sale. But you will doubtless call to mind the fact that some girls of your race, from your best families, set the colored girls examples they have not followed. Again, our girls, however well qualified, are shut out from all factories, stores, offices, agencies, etc. Every avenue for a livelihood is hermetically sealed against them, and their only means of support, as a rule, is as house servants. This latter employment now in the South is only equalled by the facilities for rascality, white men found before the war by putting the best girls of our race handiest to their sleeping apartments. Much of the immorality of young colored people was propagated in the houses of some who while they pretend to be religious, feel no obligation or desire to instruct their servants or protect them from exposure to temptation at home.

The sleeping apartments of too many servants are as far away from any sort of moral defense as possible. Sometimes on the same floor with male boarders or the sons of the family, while the latter is on a lower floor. No moral record is often required when hiring different servants in a household, so that often the purest minded nurse or house-girl or cook is thus brought into contact with immoral lepers, compelled to live, eat, sleep and associate with them. When the work of the house servant is finished they may go to their rooms or the streets to hold bacchanalian feasts or perambulate the streets—so they do not disturb the family and return in time for work next morning. Not only so but many employers go to the theater, shopping or church and leave the pretty colored nurse or house-girl in charge of the baby or to clean the house, while grown sons or male boarders are still in their rooms." "Yes, but have not your girls moral stamina enough to be discreet even under such circumstances?" Now Mr. Smith you know as well as I do that the Lord meant something when he told us to pray 'lead us not into temptation,' and besides I certainly do not believe you would allow your daughter to be thus exposed, would you?"

"Well, now you put it to me straight. No, certainly I would not." "Well then suppose I call your attention to the word stamming, you need a while ago?" "O you needn't do it, I see my mistake."

Changing his position he said, "well I do not see for the life of me how such men as you see and know such things and then endure them. But this is no less strange than in political matters. Though a Democrat I've often wondered why the colored voter of the South who is either a Republican or nothing endure what they do?" "Now Mr. Smith you are about to get out of my range, for I am sick of politics and am like a good old colored brother, who, when his pastor was preaching and declared 'breddern, dar is but two roads, one leads to hell an de nudder ter damnation.' Some of the auditors thought the preacher guilty of lapse lingue, but one old brother taking him at his word arose from his seat, adjusting his glasses upon his forehead, vociferously shouted 'den, bress the lawd, dis nigger's gwine for de woods.' So it is with me politically, but go on. After attracting everybody's attention that was in the room by his rip-roaring laughter he continued, "Having faithfully and in some instances fatally clung to their noses, the Republican Party, they naturally expect its protection. Now what have they received?" "Well, Douglas, Bruce, Townsend, Small and Lynch got their positions by the aid of the party." "O well, good man, I fear you get it one-sided, your party gets the colored man settled one way or the other or both. The smart ones, like those you mention, when they assert their manhood have their mouths stopped with political pie, and the ignorant and less important voters have their mouths stopped by the shotgun or rope. See! Do you suppose it all the colored voters that have been murdered in the South since the war because they voted the Republican ticket had been any other race than yours that your party could not and would not have put a stop to it? You let the Irish, Chinese or Italians, who are naturalized or born here and vote, be treated that way and you would soon see blue coats marching South as thick as the lice of Egypt." "But Mr. Smith you will remember the treaties we have with other countries would help a little." "Now that's a cute dodge; but here's more, Why do not these black men defend themselves?" "I'll tell you. Everything is against them. The white people of the South control the telegraph, newspapers and railroads; they have the money, influence and can buy munitions of war anywhere and have them shipped. Oftentimes the colored teamsters that haul into the smaller towns and country from the railroads are shot down like dogs two days after with the guns and ammunition they hauled.

When Southerners travel North, newspapers have them interviewed and they give their opinion of these outrages on colored people, and their stories gain currency, while the other side is never heard. Not only so, but the local government is too often in the hands of the persons who murder the blacks or their sympathizers. I have known instances where members of the home guard or state militia were perpetrators of such crimes. No use calling for help from such soldiers. But in every instance that I know of where colored men have defended themselves, the home guard or state militia or both were called out, and in nearly every instance they shot somebody. Now you certainly know about these murders. But tell me why your party, the Democrats, do not put a stop to such crimes, since you say our party will not do it?" "Well, now you've freed the coon, but you will not catch him. My party understands that you folks look to your party for protection, and we follow no political responsibility in this matter. You must understand also that it is to our interest to keep all the governmental reins in our hands. But we know if the colored man votes he will vote against our party, see?" Mr. Smith having to leave for the states next day arose and departed. He had hardly passed out until in anguish of soul we cried out with the words of Job: "Let the day perish wherein I was born, and the night in which it was said there is a (colored) man child conceived. Let darkness and the shadow of death stain it. As for that night let darkness seize upon it, let it not be joined unto the days of the year, let it not come into the number of the months. Lo, let that night be solitary, let no joyful voice come therein. No doubt ye are the people and wisdom shall die with you. But I have understanding as well as you: I am not inferior to you."

[FINIS.]

Christian Manhood.

R. C. MEYER, ESQ.

[Mr. Meyer, delivered an excellent address on the above subject before the Sunday School League in this city recently. We publish the following excerpt for the benefit of our readers.]

Christian manhood necessarily implies christian womanhood, for all society rests on this distinction and difference. The primary form of fellowship lying as it does at the ground of our universal life, is at once secured and provided for, by a radical disruption into two great sections or halves, in the form of sex. It comes into our view accordingly in the first mention of man's creation, where we are told, that he was made in the image and likeness of God, and under the two-fold character of male and female, as the necessary form of his perfection. His nature became complete, only when woman was taken from his side, and he was permitted to hail her as bone of his bone, and flesh of his flesh. Should we ask the sage, the poet, the philosopher and the statesman, to what he owes his success, his reply will be, to the early teachings and precepts of christian women.

When we seek to acquaint ourselves with a man, we ought not to ask what is his color, what is his creed. Indeed we ought not to propound such a question at all, for men are sometimes practically right, while theoretically wrong, and the reverse. But we should enquire how did such a man live? How did he act? How did he work? If he labored, and labored honestly; if he worked and did his work well, he is our man; we enshrine him in our hearts; he is the great and good man, and he receives and deserves our homage. No! tell us not what a man professes; but what he is, what he does; what works he leaves behind him, written or unwritten; what impression he has made upon his age; what impression he has left for future ages; not what his father is, but what fruits that faith produces. This is what we want to know. For the test of christian character, left upon record for the instruction of all future ages, is 'By their fruits ye shall know them.'

After giving several happy illustrations of biblical character that eminently portrayed christian manhood, he concluded as follows.

"During the reign of Henry the VII, Hugh Latimer preached before the king and assailed the very sins for which the monarch was notorious until he stung him by his stern rebuke. The king sent for Latimer and said to him, 'Your life is in jeopardy, if you do not recant all you said to-day, when you preach next Sunday.' The trembling courtiers all anxious to know what he would do, and next Sunday the chapel was crowded. The venerable man took his text—and after a brief pause began: "Now Hugh Latimer, bethink thee thou art in the presence of thy earthly monarch, thy life is in his hands, and if thou suit not thy self to his fancies, he will bring down thy gray hairs with blood to the grave. But Hugh Latimer, bethink thee, thou art in the presence of the King of Kings, and Lord of Lords, who hath told thee that thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God. For they can do no more, but rather fear him that can kill both body and soul and cast thee in hell fire forever. Yes, I say, Hugh Latimer fear him." He then went on, and not only repeated what he had said before, but if possible repeated it with greater emphasis. What was the consequence. The king sent for him and said how dare you insult your monarch so. Latimer replied. If I thought I was unfaithful to my God, it would be impossible to be loyal to my king. The king embraced the grand old man, and exclaimed "Is there one man who is brave and honest enough to tell me the truth." Latimer is created bishop, and again christian manhood prevailed.

In conclusion, it behooves us as christians to inculcate into the hearts, and minds of our children, this grand principle of manhood; to teach them that the exercise of this spirit, will in the future enable them to stand upon equal footing with all men; to teach them that the asserting of this right will win for them the admiration of the world, and the blessing of the most high. But this principle cannot be acquired by mechanical means. It must come by the spirit of the living God entering their hearts. When they shall have acquired this principle, christian manhood, will continue to play no small part in the social and political revolution in the march of human progress, and the time will come when the will of God is done on earth as it is in heaven.

Letters from the Districts.

South New Orleans District.

PIERRE LANDRY, P. E.

Our city churches are to be found among the good, better, best. First Street Church is the largest and most powerful on this district. Its board of officers is the equal of any in the Louisiana Conference.

Every department of the church was well and ably represented at their first quarterly conference, which was held in the presence of a large gathering of the people. Connected with this congregation is to be found an element of young people who cannot be overlooked. Take them in, brethren, and give them a chance, and they will help to make your burden light, and increase your influence for good as an organization. The Rev. T. G. Montgomery, ex-presiding Elder of the Shreveport District, a true and faithful christian gentleman, is serving a second term there as pastor with great acceptability.

It was quite a treat to be at Simpson Chapel on Easter Sunday night, amid the elaborate floral and other displays commemorative of the occasion. The resurrection sermon was preached by the Rev. J. W. Hilton, pastor, to a crowded house, who were fed spiritually from the text, "All power is given unto me." This church has just gone through a course of thorough renovation. For taste and elegance it is not by any to be surpassed. The indebtedness incident to this improvement is in easy control of the very efficient board of trustees. This being the case, we bespeak another first-class year's work for the Master's cause.

At Williams Chapel the Rev. Henry Taylor is the pet of a people whose delight it is to make him happy and comfortable; and who find in him equivalent reciprocity. A missionary society, a sewing school of 78 scholars, and a sewing circle which is composed of the ladies of the church, who meet at different houses every Wednesday afternoon, are benevolent enterprises connected with this church. Sister D. C. Mead is president, and Sister A. L. Messiah secretary and treasurer. Upon invitation of this circle, the Presiding Elder, accompanied by the pastor, partook of lunch, which was served at the pleasant home of Mrs. Priestley, on Wednesday, April 8. A committee composed of Rev. Taylor, Prof. Camphor and Bro. William Matthews, was appointed by order of the quarterly conference, whose duty it is to confer with the board of trustees with a view to the improvement of the church, or to rebuild.

Both Cushman and Maunden Chapels are good and well located churches, and when out of debt, which Bro. B. G. Auckrum, a young man of good report (supplying), proposes to do this year at Onshman; and Bro. Henry Taylor, acting pastor at Maunden, will do the same: we will have two good openings for as many good men in the Louisiana Conference. Bros. Brown and Norwood are among the faithful local preachers at these churches.

Haven Chapel, which was named for the illustrious Bishop Haven, is now, after a hard struggle for many years, free of debt. Under the able leadership of their pastor, Rev. W. S. Harris, these faithful people are now preparing to make needed improvements on their church, which is a necessity. They propose, also, with the assistance of Bishop Mallalieu, and Mrs. Dr. Thirkield, of Atlanta, Ga., to build a parsonage on the church lot to front on Plum street, which would fill a long felt need there.

On account of high water, we couldn't reach Shady Grove and Lees Creek, in the parishes of St. Tammany and Washington.

At Pontchatoula and Springfield the Rev. R. C. Barrow is doing a good work, spiritually and otherwise. Sixteen miles from Springfield a new work is about to be opened, in the parish of Livingston. The demand for the old mother church out in these regions is being heard on all sides. Slowly but surely we are making headway out there.

We spent Easter Sunday at Pontchatoula, which occasion was celebrated jointly at the A. M. E. Zion Church, Rev. Oldfield pastor, who rendered an excellent program. For their kind hospitality, Elder Oldfield and family, Bros. Rollen and Roberson and family, will ever be kindly remembered.

The Rev. Simeon Evans, in the canon of Camp Parapet, is having a good time. Our people there are faithful to the old church, and will not be behind in the performance of their whole duty to the cause. It was our pleasure there to meet, among the brethren at the quarterly conference, Father Lawson, one of the founders of this work, who is full of years and full of faith in God and the final triumph of the Church. Bro. Evans has done three good years' work at this place, and this year he will finish up with pain and limo.

Rev. Alfred Vincent is the active and faithful pastor at Darrowville, opposite Donaldsonville. Since his appointment there by Bishop Newman, a parsonage has been started, which will soon accommodate the pastor and his family. All the interests of the church are being looked after. A project is now on foot looking to the purchase of a bell. The church, parsonage and fence are to be painted and whitewashed, which will greatly improve the appearance of this valuable property.

At Dutch Town, Bro. Henry Wilson is struggling against odds, which he will soon overcome. The young people of New River are manifesting great interest in the success of this young man, and the cause. For the purpose of building a Methodist Church on the Manchac, a subscription of $25 was raised, and more to follow. So, even New River, in the parish of Ascension, may be counted on for Methodism.

The quarterly conference of the University charge was held with decorum and dispatch. Rev. L. G. Adkinson, D.D., and his officers, were on hand with reports, showing the work to be in good shape and growing. This charge forms a part of the New Orleans University, the educational center of the Southwest and the pride of the Louisiana Conference; yea, the Negro race.

I need not here attempt a description of the entire property; suffice it to say that the main building is one of the most magnificent educational structures in the city. It is situated on St. Charles Avenue, one of the principal thoroughfares of New Orleans, and together with other buildings it occupies part of two squares of ground. The building has been fitted up at great cost, with all of the modern appliances necessary for the comfort of its inmates and patrons.

Every department of the institution is in satisfactory operation, which is evident from the large attendance this year, the best in its history.

With the big soul of Bishop Mallalieu in it, the fostering care of the Rev. J. C. Hartzell, D.D., backed by the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society; the unalloyed friendship of the Rev. A. E. P. Albert, D.D., president of its board of trustees; the broad experience and wise management of the president, the Rev. L. G. Adkinson, D.D.; this healthy state of things is the most natural.

Every political party is represented by an organ in sympathy with its object. Every religious organization is represented by an organ in the same way, which is supported by its votaries. The concentrated wisdom of our great church designated the SOUTHWESTERN as its organ for this part of our Methodism, with our own A. E. P. Albert, D.D., a man of recognized ability throughout the length and breadth of the church, its editor, who is fearlessly and honestly standing by our every interest as a race, and the cause, to which great compact the SOUTHWESTERN is an indispensable adjunct. Shall we not stand by it, brethren? Let Methodist people everywhere rally to the support of their "Advocate," and avoid the possible misfortune of its discontinuance by the General Conference in 1892.

We ought to have at least 1500 cash subscribers on the South New Orleans District. In the city of New Orleans we ought to have at least 3000. And why not?

Affairs in North Alabama.

A. W. M'KINNEY.

Winter lingered long. We had snow here on the 4th and 5th of April, which days were as cold as any in January. But the balmy days of spring have come at last, and buds and flowers are springing into new life. The greatest thing in North Alabama is Methodism. On his return from conference, Bro. Todd organized an Epworth League, which is now about 100 strong. Young and old have joined and take part in the meetings.

School has been fuller this year than usual. We closed on the 8th of May. The time is propitious. The State Normal school is to be removed four miles from the city. But the advantages of Huntsville as an educational center are known, and already agents of other denominations are prospecting. Yet we creep on, when we could fly just as easily.

A revival has been in progress at the Missionary Baptist Church. The C. M. E. Church organized here two years ago, and has now a fair congregation and Sunday school. Dr. Brown, a graduate of Meharry Medical College, is the Presiding Elder. He is intelligent and a Christian gentleman much above the average.

The State Teachers' Association of colored teachers held its annual meeting here April 8-11. The annual address by the president, Rev. G. M. Elliott, was dignified, scholarly and logical.

The address of welcome was delivered by Rev. J. S. Todd, pastor of our church, which was responded to by Prof. E. C. Sylsby, of Talladega College.

Dr. DeForest, president of Talladega College, W. H. Mixon of Selma, and Prof. B. T. Washington, of Tuskegee State Normal School, took active part in the work of the association. But the center of attraction was, perhaps, the address of Hon. Mr. Harris, State Superintendent of Public Instruction; and that of the Rev. Mr. Wright, field agent of the A. M. A.

Mr. Harris said: "I must feel an interest in that people whom God has in his providence placed here. It is not color that makes the man or that makes the woman. But I would have every man to be manly and every woman to be womanly. You have struggled on and on, till many of you know what citizenship means. You are here, and here to stay, and should take an interest in the development of the country. For the same law that protects the colored man protects the white. The same law that protects the white woman protects the colored. There is only one question—that is the question of social equality. Whenever a white man steps down out of his own race (or steps up, as you may call it) and associates with other races on terms of equality, look out, for he is a villain."

The speaker went on to say that parents should keep their children's faces and hands clean, and let whisky alone. He knew a man who went to town with one dollar and bought ten cents worth of meal, ten cents worth of meat, and eighty cents worth of whisky.

Coming back to the race question, the speaker said: "I know a colored man who before the war was a shoemaker. He had earned and saved for himself $3000. His master offered to allow him to buy himself, and told him that he would take $1200 for him. The colored man replied that he could not afford to own a $1200 Negro. The war ended and the Negro was free with his $3000. The master did not have a dollar. But the colored man lent his old master the $3000 to commence business. Now," said he, "the race problem between these parties was forever settled."—Even so.

Mr. Harris went on to say that the Southern white man was and ever will be the Negro's best and truest friend. He had stated at the beginning that when a boy he played with colored boys and girls. [A voice in the audience repeated girls.] When visiting a Northern convention he noticed a colored man on the ground, to whom no one seemed to pay any attention. He sought him out and made his acquaintance. The man was Bishop Arnett, of the A. M. E. Church. He was a stranger in a Northern community, and no man had given him any attention. He wanted to see each race true to itself, and each respect the rights of the other. There was no distinction before the law between the races. The colored normal schools of Alabama receive $2500 more than do the whites.

Mr. Wright, agent of the A. M. A., was called on, and delivered a most excellent speech. He said that he could not say that he had played with the boys and girls of the colored race, as had Mr. Harris. He never saw a colored man till he was about grown. But he felt a call to the work of uplifting and enlightening our people in the South. A patriotic as well as a Christian call.

He said: "We have often felt that our work was misunderstood by both colored and white people. The white people thought that we came down here to teach the Negroes how to vote, and the Negroes thought that we were a poor class of white people who could not get anything to do at home, and hence came down to make a living off the colored people. But the results have been such as to cause us to thank God and take courage."

Easter Sunday was a high day in Huntsville. The Independent Order of Immaculates turned out in a body to listen to an able sermon by Rev. J. S. Todd, at Lakoside M. E. Church. A donation was given by the order for the benefit of the poor in our city, and the members of another organization made a donation to a widows' and orphans' home. This indicates a healthy growth of the true heaven of Christianity in Huntsville.

Our baccalaureate sermon was preached May 3, by Dr. W. H. Nelson, of the Central Alabama Conference.

A. Porter, Memphis, Tenn.

Reports the organization of Porter's Chapel and Sunday school, on Weeks Avenue, in a flourishing part of Memphis. The church is not completed, but will be next fall. The promises are most favorable for its future growth. Rev. J. L. Massey, Profs. H. Franklin, R. Hill, Jos. Read, Miss A. Orolley, and Mrs. H. Porter, are among the most active workers in the church and Sunday school.

P. R. Crump, Forest, Miss.

Easter Sunday was a grand day. The church was beautifully decorated and the program was carried out in full. As it was conference day the Presiding Elder, J. M. Shumpert, was present and gave many words of encouragement. Collected for missions, $10.25; for Presiding Elder, $12.50; total for the day, $22.75. Received 25 full members. Five subscribers for the SOUTHWESTERN.

D. Shelby, Shreveport, La.

Easter Sunday was observed in grand style in Fairfield Church. Collection, $2.45 for missions. The church was nicely decorated. We have a grand people.

A. B. Allen, St. Paul M. E. Church, Birmingham, Ala.

Our church is in a good spiritual condition. Several have joined the church since conference, and we have a large attendance each Sabbath. We are largely encumbered with debt, but we are doing all we can to cancel it. Last Sunday was rally day. Our members worked like heroes. The whole church was divided into three companies, with Mrs. M. Hall, M. K. Jackson, and B. Ash and Jones, leaders. The first reported $83; second, $81; third, $50; total, $214. We intend, God being our helper, to pay all claims against us and be entirely free. Everybody speaks hopefully of the church. On Monday night, after class meeting, the pastor and wife were agreeably surprised by a lively crowd of members and friends of St. Paul, who came and left our tables groaning with loads of good things. Mrs. Fulfur, Jones, McNeal, King, Glover, A. B. Speight, Lettie Gool, Pickness, Moore, Howard, Carter, and many others, were among them. Call again. You are always welcome.

C. H. Brown, Bolton, Miss.

The people received my family and myself kindly, and bought a new set of furniture for the parsonage. They gave me a pound party, which resulted in about thirty pounds. The Presiding Elder, Rev. J. Campbell, has held our first quarter. We observed Easter with good success. Collection, $10. We had a grand time Sunday, the 12th. Administered the sacrament to 84 persons and received five into the church. We have received twelve persons into the church since I have been here. I have the promise of five cash subscribers for the SOUTHWESTERN. She goes thundering through the State every week. God help her to go on.

M. Cooper, Paulding, Miss.

Our first quarterly conference convened March 25, 26, with Rev. J. M. Shumpert in the chair. The Elder preached an able sermon. The Lord's supper was administered to 98. Collection, $10.40. Elder J. M. Shumpert is the right man in the right place.

J. B. Ledbetter, Exprairie, Miss.

Our first quarterly conference was held at Bethel Church, April 11, 12. Rev. W. McDonald, our Presiding Elder, was on time, and Rev. S. R. Gipson, our beloved pastor, made a good report.

W. C. Bryant, Hampton Circuit, Ga.

Our first quarterly conference was held April 11, 12, by our beloved Presiding Elder, E. L. Hammett. All the reports showed progress. Paid Presiding Elder, $20; pastor, $42.09. Raised for missions, $9.51; for traveling and moving expenses, $14.30. Total since conference, $85.00. The Elder preached two soul-stirring sermons, and administered the Lord's Supper to 75.

PASTORS would confer a great favor to many lost friends if they would kindly read from their pulpits, the many lost friend notices which appear in our paper. Brethren, do unto others as you would have others do to you in this matter, and help parents to find their children, and children to find their parents, that were snatched away from them by the cruel hand of slavery.

Families visited	6,309,928
Families found without the Scriptures	757,581
Destitute families supplied	473,804
Individuals in addition	299,053

On an average one family in eight found without a Bible. Copies of the Scriptures distributed, 8,146,808, in 27 different languages. Some of the more important are as follows: In Welsh, 29,287; German, 473,920; Dutch, 11,807; Danish, 153,707; Swedish, 220,777; Italian, 57,883; Finnish, 2,314; Polish, 2,317; Hungarian, 2,543; Bohemian, 9,924; Chinese, 7,243.

Cost of this benevolent home work $862,557.93.

FUTURE WORK:

"A Bible in every home," was the "key-note" of the Fourth Supply; now it is "A Bible for every child who can read."

The work is maintained entirely by voluntary gifts.

We earnestly solicit your aid to meet the increasing demand for the Holy Scriptures.

This society has, in 12 years, spent about $100,000 in Scriptures for the best interest of church and state in Texas, and why not now, aid the society in the day of its need?

There are three mission steamers on the waters of the Upper Congo. They convey teachers and preachers to the various stations on the great river and carry supplies when needed.

It is said that for what it costs to fire one shot from one of our largest cannoes, a missionary and his family can be supported over two years in Japan. Would we not better spike the cannon and send the Gospel abroad?

The American Baptist missionaries on the Upper Congo have made discoveries which show that Lakes Mantumba and Leopold are connected and form a secondary course for the waters of the Congo. The Upper Congo Valley is one vast net-work of lakes and rivers.

General News Items.

With a population of fifteen thousand, the colored people of Indianapolis, Ind., have thirty-three churches, three doctors, three lawyers, four letter carriers, two clerks in the postoffice and eight policemen.

The Colored Press Convention recently held at Cincinnati, Ohio, was harmonious throughout. The election of officers resulted in the choice of John Mitchell, of Richmond, as president; L. G. Coppen, Philadelphia, vice president; Mrs. W. H. Heard, Philadelphia, secretary; Rev. Geo. W. Clinton, Pittsburgh, assistant secretary; Robert Pelham, Detroit, treasurer; T. Thomas Fortune, New York, historian, and an executive board of fourteen members.

The committee on Southern outrages made a report, which was adopted. It related especially to the "Jim-Crow" car legislation in the South, and recommended the appointment of a committee, whose duty shall be to act conjointly with the president and secretary to keep before the country every attempt made to insult and outrage the self-respecting members of the colored race, and to raise means to aid in testing such cases before the courts.

Good. Now let them all rally to the support of the American Citizens' Equal Rights Association in testing these laws.

Mr. Editor: I wish to inquire for my mother, Charity Florid. When we parted she went by the name of Charity Dulaney. But the last that I heard of her she went by the name of Charity Florid. I was living in Baton Rouge, La. She was the mother of four children: Emily, Victory, William and Edwin. Emily is the one she left in Mississippi with Mrs. Blunt, and the other three children were carried with her. She was sold to Isaac Jackson. When we parted I was quite small. I have not seen her in forty-four years. Any information will be gladly received, write to Emily Brown, Pickens station, Miss.

Mr. Editor: I wish to inquire for my sister. She was born in Madison county, Missouri, and belonged to a man named Sam Oaruthers. At his death she was taken from Cape Girardeau to New Orleans and then to Texas, by a man named Liv Cooper. Our mother's name was Hannah White, who lived on Caster creek, seven miles from Fredericktown. There were six brothers and sisters of us, Lewis, Isaac, George and Eliza White, who belonged to William White, one sister Elizabeth Ferguson, belonged to Andrew Ferguson of Mine La Motte, and a brother whose name was Frank Clay, lived in St. Francis county and belonged to Wade Clay. Our father's name was Frank Villan, and belonged to Judge Villan of Fredericktown, Mo. A man by the name of Daniel Smith went with my mother to Cape Girardeau in 1859-60. That was the last time she saw her daughter. Any one who can give us any information, will please address George Villan, Fredericktown Madison county, Mo.

Mr. Editor: My mother and step father with six children went from Greensboro, N. C., to Montgomery, Ala., in 1870. Father's name Moses Pinnix; mother's Londa Pinnix, and six children: Bro. Felix, Bro. Moses, Bro. James Morris Pinnix, sister Caroline Martha and sister Suzan Pinnix. Any information will be gladly received. Address W. R. Pinnix, Mt. Airy, N. C.

Letters from the Laity.

J. L. McGowan, Cold Springs, Texas.

Our first quarterly conference convened at Camilla Hill M. E. Church, April 11; 12. Rev. F. Parker, Presiding Elder, in the chair. Bro Parker is in the hearts of the people. We are glad to have him with us, and sorry when he leaves. He preached two splendid sermons, and administered the Lord's Supper to 92. Seven joined the church. Raised for the Presiding Elder $16.10, for missions $28.25. Our pastor Rev S. H. Grant's wife is very sick and has been for several days. But she is now better.

M. Halsendorf, Cordele, Ga.

Our pastor Rev. L. K. Rimbald, has done good work this year and is beloved by all his people. He has built a church since he has been with us this year. Presiding Elder John Watts, held his first quarterly meeting on the 11th and 12th in the church. On Sunday he preached two wonderful sermons.

Bertha A. McNeil, Marthaville, La.

The church here is spiritually alive under the charge of Rev. J. H. Pierre. He has built a parsonage 18x30 feet with four rooms. They had a grand rally on the third Sunday in April and realized $150 for building purposes, and have added to the church 51 members. The people are well pleased with the pastor.

James Beaver, Capleville, Tenn.

We have closed the first quarter up with great success. We expect to bring up every requirement in the benevolent money collections.

Wm. Prescott and Crawford Scott, Burton Crenit, Ga., sends us flattering reports of their Easter services. They express great satisfaction with their new pastor, Rev. A. Owens. Easter missionary collection $30.25. The church is enjoying great prosperity.

Anna Lamb, in an essay on work says: The stars are very numerous, but at night each gives its own light. One does not hold back duty because there are so many at the same occupation, but does all that he can. So it should be with us, anything that is in our duty we should do always with a ready mind, and in the very best way we can.

Science.

Koch's Consumption-Cure.

It cannot yet be said that the exact status of Koch's remedy is fixed; nor can we even yet say with certainty that this much-heralded cure is destined to survive among established methods at all. The most that is claimed for it by its most ardent advocates is that it seems capable of depriving the bacillus of the material in which it thrives best—i. e., of disintegrating and destroying tuberculous tissue. There has been no claim that it has any direct effect upon the existence of the bacillus, nor that it, having deprived the bacillus of its food, tends in any way to remove that parasite from the body, and thus to eliminate the possible source of danger of subsequent or more general infection. Under its influence in some forms of tuberculosis—especially of the skin—it has been shown that tissue which was of the very lowly organized variety characteristic of the disease has been at first in part and then wholly replaced by a tissue of higher organization, and one that is likely to be permanent.

In regard to tuberculosis of the lungs, there can be no question that improvement in the patient's general condition and also evidence of improvement at the site of the disease have followed the use of this remedy. The general improvement manifests itself by a gain in weight, lessening of fever, increased appetite, better sleep. The local improvement is surmised from certain changes to be observed by auscultation and percussion, together with a diminution in the severity of the cough and in the amount of expectoration, and also a diminution in the number of the bacilli in the expectoration or their complete disappearance from it. This has not always been the case. In not a few instances no improvement has resulted, and in other cases direct and most damaging results, including hemorrhage and even death, have been brought about by it. In the treatment of tuberculosis of the bones and joints results seem to have been widely different. It is certain that some cases have been benefited, and equally certain that others have not.—From the Editor's Table in The Popular Science Monthly for April.

Books and Current Literature.

With every issue the New England Magazine becomes wider in its scope, and is more artistically gotten up, it being the evident desire of the editors and publishers to make it take first rank among the great illustrated monthlies. The May number presents a varied and excellent table of contents. Mrs. Bernard Whitman writes in a lively, gossiping strain about the Puritans of early Dorchester, one of the suburbs of Boston. Lovejoy—Hero and Martyr, is a strong plea for remembrance of one of the early Anti-Slavery agitators. The writer of it, Thomas Dimmock, has made a special study of Lovejoy's work, and he brings sympathy, and calm, rational inquiry to his task. O. S. Adams writes an amusing account of some of the old antebellum newspapers. There is a fair installment of poetry and fiction. New England Magazine, 86 Federal street, Boston, Mass.

The May Arena opens with a remarkable paper by C. Wood Davis on The Wheat Supply of Europe and America. A notable feature is the debate on the subject, Is Spiritualism Worth Investigating? by Julian Hawthorne and Rev. Minot J. Savage. Abram S. Isaacs, professor of Hebrew in the University of New York, and editor of the Jewish Messenger, contributes the second paper on the world's great religions, entitled What Is Judaism? Dr. Henry D. Chapin discusses the Survival of Faith. Prof. J. W. McGarvey, of the Divinity School of Kentucky University, ably presents the Orthodox view of New Testament inspiration. The editor contributes a strong plea for freedom in an editorial entitled Is Socialism Desirable? Taken as a whole this number, which closes the third volume of the Arena, is one of the strongest and most attractive issues that has yet appeared of this review.

St. Nicholas for May presents a very tempting table of contents, beginning with an imaginative poem, "Morning," by the late Emily Dickinson. The departments, and the usual delightful jingles and pictures tucked in between the longer stories and poems, force one to confess that St. Nicholas not only gives good measure, but generously inserts small extra bits wherever space can be found.

Rudyard Kipling will contribute to the forthcoming number of Harper's Weekly a new story of life in India, entitled "The Last Relief."

James Lane Allen's new book, "Flint and Violon, and other Kentucky Tales and Romances," is announced as ready for immediate publication by Harper & Bros.

"Princeton College" is the subject of an illustrated article by Robert Bridges, which appeared in Harper's Young People April 21. Mr. Bridges was a member of the class of '79, and he tells several things which, although not found in the College Catalogue, every Freshman or prospective Freshman ought to know.

The May Century begins a new volume, and in it are begun several new features of what the Century calls its summer campaign. Examiner John Bigelow gives a chapter of secret history which he calls "The Confederate Diplomats and their Shirt of Nessus." In open letters, Mr. James Lane Allen replies to certain criticisms, and there are brief papers on "The Negro in Nashville," Homeopathy, and Vivisection.

If any well-informed man were asked what are the most important topics that have engaged public opinion during the month of April, and about which the public desires authoritative information, he would be sure to answer (1) the Italian difficulty, (2) the new Australian Commonwealth, (3) our reciprocity treaties with South America, (4) religious discussions caused by a large number of trials for heresy, and (5) silver coinage.

The Forum for May contains articles for every one of these subjects—on our Constitution and the demand of Italy, by ex-Secretary Bayard, who takes the same position taken by Mr. Blaine; on the Commonwealth of Australia, by Sir R. W. Cameron, the best authority in the United States; on reciprocity, by R. Q. Mills, ex-Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives, and by Senator Frye, who writes with special reference to the improvement of our Southern harbors; on changes of orthodox belief in our own time, by the Rev. Dr. Alfred Mearns, of King's College, London; and on Free Silver Coinage—Why Not? by Edward Atkinson. In this way the Forum tries to make good its claim to give its readers not only important information, but important information just when it is most desired.

NOTWITHSTANDING the notification to our readers that we could not afford the room to publish where their correspondents may write them, we continue to get such requests. Please don't send them, and thereby save your stamp and us the trouble of going over the matter. We publish the appointment of every pastor in our territory, and that is sufficient, except in the cases of Presiding Elders and pastors whose appointments are not named as postoffices. In such, and only in such cases, will we publish such requests.

I FEEL it my duty to say a few words in regard to Ely's Cream Balm, and I do so entirely without solicitation. I have used it more or less half a year, and I have found it to be most admirable. I have suffered from catarrh of the worst kind ever since I was a little boy and I never hoped for cure, but Cream Balm seems to do even that. Many of my acquaintances have used it with excellent results.—Oscar Ostrum, 45 Warren Ave., Chicago, Ill.

SPECIFIC OXYGEN is the only Medicated Oxygen in use. It contains a Geruicide and Disinfectant which kills the microbes or germs, and disinfects the membranes in the Head, Throat and Lungs. It quiets cough, it softens inebriety and heals the lungs. It purifies the blood.

"IT IS THE BREATH OF LIFE."
It is a Natural Narcotic, giving rest and sleep by revitalizing the prostrated nerves, instead of narcotizing or paralyzing them.

SPECIFIC OXYGEN is a natural and divine stimulant, perfectly harmonizing with nature's effort to throw off disease. Separate Specie used in Catarrh and Hay Fever.

"IT IS NATURE'S OWN REMEDY."
For the Relief of Nasal Catarrh, Hay Fever, Bronchitis, Asthma, LaGrippe, Catarrhal Deafness, and Nervous Prostration.

It is a Home Cure for Throat and Lung Diseases. We do not claim that it will cure every case, but we do say it will cure a larger majority of them than any other treatment extant. It is endorsed by physicians.

By permission we refer to the following well-known persons of our city who have used SPECIFIC OXYGEN:

Rev. M. B. DeWitt, D. D., editor "Cumberland Presbyterian Review."
Rev. C. S. Gardner, Pastor Edgefield Baptist Church.
Rev. J. W. Stagg, Pastor Second Presbyterian Church.

THE program rendered at the first session of the Illinois Itinerants' Club, at Bloomington, Ill., May 11-15, was a grand one. Rev. Drs. J. W. Hamilton, Chas. N. Sims, and Bishops Vincent and Merrill presided in the order named.

THE views expressed by one hundred American Bishops on the opening of the Columbian Fair which we published in a previous issue, should have been credited to the N. Y. Independent. It was an oversight which caused our failure to give due credit to our excellent contemporary.

REV. J. W. Winbush, pastor at Durant, Miss., writes us that the machine which Bro. Henry Barnes, of Owens, Miss., got with his paper, perfectly pleases the family. It sews like a charm and he would not exchange it for one that cost $55. Any one is at liberty to address them for further information. —"We told you so."

The spring conferences have all voted and the result on the woman question stands as follows:

	FOR.	AGAINST.
Previously reported.....	1,891	2,375
Troy Conference.....	52	141
Maine Conference.....	64	26
Vermont Conference.....	46	47

PASTORS would confer a great favor to many lost friends if they would kindly read from their pulpits, the many lost friend notices which appear in our paper. Brethren, do unto others as you would have others do to you in this matter, and help parents to find their children, and children to find their parents, that were snatched away from them by the cruel hand of slavery.

THE Louisiana State Sunday School Convention was the most successful the white people of the State have ever held. The marked feature was the spirit of Christian unity that prevailed. The time draws nigh, we believe, when the "other sheep" will be recognized as also a part of Christ's flock. The Holy Catholic Church of the creed must become one in fact—and then will the kingdom of God draw nigh.

MR. REYNOLDS and the Sunday School Convention assented quite ex cathedra that B. F. Jacobs, of Chicago, was the originator of the International Lesson system. We Methodists are good natured, and while we don't object to the other churches taking nearly everything we have, we think history will give the palm to Bishop Vincent, to whom it of right belongs. Some good brother will rise up next and claim the Epworth League as the child of our Southern sister.

Defeated, Whether "Disgraced" or Not.

AFTER a month's rumbling the mountain has brought forth a monse. Such is a proper designation of the long and meaningless tirade of abuse which the Rev. Dr. A. M. Green of the A. M. E. Church contributed in the form of a speech to the Crusader of last Saturday, in answer to our protest against the efforts of Wilberforce to revive the black code in Ohio. This she did by asking the State of Ohio to give her the Negro's proportion of the Agricultural College fund appropriated by the last Congress. This great central denominational school which enrolled, according to her own catalogue, 177 students last year, only 71 of whom were from Ohio, unblushingly asked for the money that belonged to the colored Baptist, Presbyterian, Methodist Episcopal and the children of other churches of that State. This she could not get, unless the State could see her way back into the re-enactment of her black laws, by reviving her separate school system. Wilberforce did not care how it come. All she was after, as Dr. Green started to say in his speech, was the golden fleece. But she didn't get it.

As a consequence there is to day in the state of Ohio, only one State Agricultural College, and that is open to both races. The shameful scheme was defeated and our people of other denominations are not to be sidetracked into Wilberforce A. M. E. University as a pseudo agricultural college for colored people, thanks to the vigorous and timely protests of the colored citizens of that state. Contrary to Dr. Green's assertion, we have no fights to make against the A. M. E. Church. We make no fight against the A. M. E. Zion, and the C. M. E. Church. Then why should we be found constantly at war with the A. M. E. Church? Simply because so many of her preachers are constantly misrepresenting us and our church. Our warfare is always in defense of our manhood, which Dr. Green so insultingly denies us, in his present effusion as others of his Church too often dare to attempt.

We assure them, however, that we shall ever be prepared to present them with foemen worthy of their steel. Having neither the space nor the inclination to harass our readers with the rehearsed fabrications which they have been reading from that source for the past quarter of a century, we dismiss Dr. Green and Wilberforce, minus the golden fleece, the appropriation, which belongs to no sect but to the people, whose children will enjoy its benefit in common.

THE Ecumenical Conference Executive Committee held a meeting in Baltimore May 4. The Committee decided as the opening date for the Ecumenical Conference in Washington, October 7, of this year. Rev. Dr. John F. Goucher, chairman of the finance committee, was invited to meet the executive committee at its next meeting, which it was determined to hold at Saratoga August 5. The program committee decided on the leading themes to be discussed by fifty eminent speakers. Rev. Wm. Arthur of London will preach the opening sermon. The conference will continue twelve days, and living questions will be dealt with, such as Biblical Criticism in its Latest Phases, Education, Temperance, Amusements, Labor and Capital, the Press, the Sabbath, Christian Giving, Place and Power of the Lay Element, Social Problems, Romanism, etc.

THE latest news from the Epworth Hymnal No. 2 is, that it will be ready about the first of July. Previous announcements fixing an earlier date are reluctantly recalled. But in this matter haste is at the expense of merit, and would cost more than waiting. The book will appear simultaneously East and West.

John Wesley and Slavery.

Tyerman, whose magnificent volumes are par excellence the supreme authority on all things relating to John Wesley, says (vol. iii, p. 115): "Let it be noted that besides all his other honors, John Wesley, the poor, persecuted Methodist, was one of the first advocates on behalf of the enthralled African that England had, and that sixty years before slavery was abolished in the dominions of Great Britain, he denounced the thing in the strongest terms it was possible to employ. In 1787, William Wilberforce, Granville Sharp, Thomas Clarkson and others, organized in London a society for the suppression of the slave trade. Wesley thereupon wrote as follows:

Mr. Thomas Funnell:

LEWES, SUSSEX, Nov. 24, 1787.
My Dear Brother—Whatever assistance I can give those generous men who join to oppose that execrable trade, I certainly shall give. I have printed a large edition of the "Thoughts on Slavery," and dispensed them to every part of England. But there will be vehement opposition made, both by store merchants and slave holders, and they are mighty men; but, our comfort is, He that dwelleth on high is mightier. I am,
Your affectionate brother,
JOHN WESLEY.

The conflict for emancipation in the British colonies lasted forty-six years, and triumphed August 1, 1834. Wesley died four years only after it had begun. As with especial love and reverence we turn to the last writings of St. Paul, his letter to Timothy—so do we contemplate the last words John Wesley ever penned—his letter to William Wilberforce who had brought before Parliament the question of the abolition of slavery. Six days later John Wesley died. Here is the immortal letter in full. (Vide Tyerman, vol. iii, p. 650)

LONDON, February 24, 1791.
My Dear Sir:—Unless the divine power has raised you up to be as Athanasius contra mundum, I see not how you can go through your glorious enterprise, in opposing that execrable villainy, which is the scandal of religion, of England, and of human nature. Unless God has raised you up for this very thing you will be worn out by the opposition of men and devils; but if God be for you, who can be against you? Are all of them together stronger than God? O! be not weary in well doing! Go on, in the name of God, and in the power of his might, till even American slavery, the vilest that ever saw the sun, shall vanish away before it. Reading this morning a tract wrote by a poor African I was particularly struck by that circumstance—that a man who has a black skin being wronged or outraged by a white man, can have no redress, it being a law in our colonies, that the oath of a black, against a white, goes for nothing. What villainy is this! That he who has guided you from your youth up may continue to strengthen you in this and all things, is the prayer of, dear sir,
Your affectionate servant,
JOHN WESLEY.

A Fraud!

The general public is hereby warned against the fraudulent representations of a troupe styling themselves the "New Orleans University Glee Club," under the management of a Mr. F. S. Thomas, which is said to be raising funds for an industrial school in the South. The faculty and trustees of New Orleans University know nothing of such a troupe. They have fraudulently assumed our name and are guilting our friends, especially in the North. All friendly exchanges please copy.

A. E. P. ALBERT,
President Board of Trustees New Orleans University.

THE Germans of New Orleans honored the memory of Von Moltke by a great assemblage. The most striking feature was the rendering of Luther's hymn by a chorus and orchestra:

"Ein feste burg ist unser Gott Eine gute Wehr und Waffen."
A mighty fortress is our God,
A bulwark never failing.
Our helper amid the flood
Of mortal ills prevailing.

A German Lutheran pastor, a Jewish rabbi, and an Episcopal clergyman took part in the exercises. The Roman Catholic clergy were conspicuous by their absence. Luther's hymn would have acted on them as holy water is reported to act on a certain personage whom popular imagination invests with hoofs and horns. Germany still stands by the Reformation, and by Martin Luther, her greatest son.

Old Folk's Home.

The attention of the members of the Louisiana Conference is earnestly invited to pp. 197, 198, La. Conference Minutes 1891; every church in the conference is pledged to raise the money to pay the note of $581.25, which is due on the Old Folk's Home property. This must be paid before June 1, of this year. Unless this is done the $500 paid last year is lost. Pastors and presiding elders, please attend to this matter at once and send the money to Rev. J. W. Hilton, president, 139 Poydras street, New Orleans, care of this office.

Political Review.

President Harrison has his face turned to the East and is slowly making his way to Washington from the Pacific Coast. Patriotic ovations were extended him everywhere. He succeeded in favorably impressing the people everywhere, and the indications point now to his re-nomination and election. The felicitous manner in which he rebuked the plea of the mayor of Memphis for white supremacy by telling him and the nation that majorities must rule was especially pleasing to our people.

There is a vast accumulation of unsolved diplomatic problems before the State Department just now. The Italian and Behring Sea complications; the Canadian reciprocity and Newfoundland fisheries negotiations; the Chilean troubles; the Spanish agreement; the Venezuelan treaty; the Haytian coaling station; the refusal of China to receive our minister; the trouble over the failure of a consul at Victoria to toast the Queen and quite a number of minor matters.

The canvass for the Speakership of the National House has fairly set in, with the indications favorable to the selection of a Southern free trader and free silver coinage candidate.

The National Farmer's Alliance proposes to go into the next presidential campaign under the name of the Reform Party, and nominate an ex-Federal and an ex-Confederate. The party will nominate state tickets this year in Ohio, Iowa and other western states. Such will not be the case in the South however.

"Mark the prediction!" says the Aberdeen, Miss., Weekly. "The Mississippi alliance will, when the test comes, hold its sub-reasury proclivities subservient to its love for the Democratic party. Its members know, as we all know, that the only salvation possible to the South lies by and through this great and long-lived party, and to desert it, or strike it would be to commit political suicide."

White supremacy must not be endangered. Do you see the point?

Among those now being prominently named for the Republican nomination for Governor of New York, are the Hon. Andrew D. White, ex-president of Cornell University; Channcey M. Depew, Cornelius N. Bliss and Cornelius Van Cott in New York, and ex-Mayor Frederick A. Schroeder in Brooklyn, all men whose fitness for the Governorship is unquestionable.

In Ohio Major McKinley will probably be nominated by acclamation.

A peaceful revolution has just taken place in Nebraska, whereby Gov. Boyd, Democrat, who was elected by a plurality of votes last November, has been ousted and replaced by Gov. Thayer, Republican, who holds over.

There were three candidates for Governor at the election in November—Mr. Boyd, Dem., Mr. Richards, Rep., and Mr. Powers, Ind. The result of the balloting was close, there having been 71,331 votes cast for Boyd, 68,878 for Richards and 70,187 for Powers. The supreme court of the State declared that Boyd was not a citizen of the United States, having never been naturalized.

The lottery agitation is intensifying and the warm notes of the coming storm are heard from every section of this State. We advise our people to stand for high moral principle against vice and immorality in this matter.

THE number of convicts in the United States, as given by the recent census, is 45,233, an increase of 13 to the 1,000,000 as compared with the previous census. Of these the foreign-born element furnished 14,725, the colored population 14,587, and the native whites 13,715. These figures are rather striking. By the census of 1880, and the same proportions still hold good, the native white population was in round numbers 37,000,000, the foreign 6,670,000, and the colored 6,580,000. The foreign born and colored population, therefore, furnishes two-thirds of the convict class, with only one-third as great numbers as the native white population. The latter, numbering 37,000,000, has but 13,715 convicts. The two former, numbering 13,250,000, has 29,412 of the convict population.—Pittsburg Post.

City Church Notes.

Rev. H. C. Wilson and his people are thankful to Judge Ephraim Turner, of Gretna, for the use of his court room in which to hold services, since they have been driven out of their church by the high water.

Pursuant to the request of the preacher's meeting requesting every pastor to raise $15 each to pay the note of $585 due on the Old Folk's Home, Rev. T. G. Montgomery of First Street Church has raised for the purpose $18. The committee at that church Mrs. Clarissa Fields, Mrs. Harriet Clark, Mrs. Alice Green, and Mrs. Eliza Gantt were determined and they have succeeded abundantly. Let every church in the conference take hold at once, follow this wholesome example and forward the money to president J. W. Hilton, Simpson Chapel, New Orleans. A speedy and successful rally must be made at once or the $500 already paid will be lost and the old folks thrown out homeless. Let everyone reading these lines, contribute something to save this splendid property.

Rev. H. C. Armston, Asbury Chapel, Algiers, writes. The water is nearly in my church. The plantations are all under water from 2 to 6 feet. I am trying to stand by my people in their distress, but I fear I shall have to leave soon, for I am unable to get a living here.

THE Iowa Methodist for May contains fine, large and accurate portraits of Drs. Hartzell, Gray and Chadwick. The Methodist is one of our best and most welcome visitors. Its thorough loyalty to our official publications makes it one of the most efficient allies of all our Advocates. Success to you Dr. Fairall.

THE West Tennessee Whig calls its colored readers "Negro books and wenchies." Why on earth, do our people continue to patronize such papers? Patronize no concern, of whatever kind, that fails in according you the respect due you.

In Japan people travel largely in jinrikishas, i. e., two-wheeled carts each drawn by a man. When he landed at Yokohama, Bishop Goodsell could not find a jinrikisha man willing to take him as passenger. Every man who surveyed the ponderous episcopal frame shook his head in refusal. At last the Bishop proposed that two men pull and a third push.

Personal.

—Rev. M. C. B. Mason, of Loyd Street Church, Atlanta, Ga., who was reported sick some weeks ago, has recovered and is now busily engaged in a glorious revival, which has already resulted in eighteen accessions. The altar is crowded with seekers every night. We are glad to announce that Bro. Mason will graduate as a Bachelor of Divinity from Gammon, on the 18th inst., and will attend the next commencement exercises at New Orleans University, when he will there receive his Master of Arts degree in cursu.

—Revs. L. F. Abernathy and Green, of Calcasieu, made a pleasant call last week. They were here attending the State Sunday School Convention.

—Rev. H. C. Wilson, of Gretna, left last Saturday to visit our churches in St. Charles, St. John and St. James.

—Rev. C. D. C. Bryant who was appointed to Campti, has been changed to Columbus, and is having a good time. Has built a parsonage and is preparing further improvements. Has also just commenced a protracted meeting with evidences of great success.

—Bishop Mallalien continues to plead for the New Orleans University Medical School. He has just closed the last of his spring conferences, and is now attending the Bishops' Meeting at Greencastle, Ind. From there he comes directly to this city, where many warm and loyal hearts will be glad to welcome him home again.

—Rev. E. Lyon, who has been in Iowa, doing effective service in the interest of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society, returned last week.

—Rev. Hiram C. Wilson, having been driven from Gretna by the high water, requests his correspondents to address him at No. 445 Constance street, near Third street, New Orleans.

—Rev. Z. T. Gayden, of West Baton Rouge, made a pleasant call last week.

—Bishop Bowman has recovered from the Grippe.

—Bishop Joyce has been dedicating churches in Ohio and West Virginia.

—Mrs. Dr. J. W. Mendenhall mourns the death of her father and mother at Wooster, Ohio. They died within a few days of each other.

—Bishop Foss preaches the annual sermon at Drew Theological Seminary May 17, at the Williamsport Dickinson Seminary June 13 and 14, at the Wesleyan University June 21.

—CLAFLIN University, Orangeburg, S. C., has honored herself in conferring the degree of Doctor Divinitatis upon President C. N. Grandison, of Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C. The Doctor is a born orator and is an honor to his race.

—Bishop Mallalien made a very earnest plea in behalf of the Church Extension Board before the Chicago Preachers' meeting last week. He gave a graphic description of our work in the South and its needs.

—Dr. J. C. Hartzell's father, of Moline, Ill., has been a class leader from the time a class was organized in that section. When with his young wife he removed to the new west fifty-four years ago, an Indian chief was greatly pleased with his "white squaw," and offered him four ponies for her.

NEXT to the great injustice perpetrated on the Negroes in this country no greater danger threatens the safety of the Republic than the flood of foreign vice and ignorance that is constantly pouring into this country from Europe. More than 100,000 immigrants of that class, steerage passengers, have landed in this country during the four months of this year, and the stream flows steadily on.

Humors of the stomach, salt rheum, and blood disorders, are cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

DAILY BREAD.

Nothing is worth a thought beneath,
But how I may escape the death.
That never, never dies!
How make mine own election sure,
And, when I fall on earth, secure
A mansion in the skies.
—Charles Wesley.

It is no great matter to live lovingly with good-natured, humble and weak persons, but he who can do so with the troward, willful, ignorant, peevish, and perverse bath true charity.—Selected.

What a desolate place this world would be without a flower! It would be a face without a smile—a feast without a welcome! Are not flowers the stars of the earth?
and are not our stars the flowers of heaven?—Selected.

One of the best things you can give your minister is to give him your attention in the house of God.
It will warm his heart, brighten his hopes, quicken his efforts, give fervency to his prayers, and bring a blessing to yourself.—Selected.

The right and true christian faith is not only to believe that the holy Scriptures and the articles of our faith are true, but also to have a sure trust and confidence to be saved from everlasting damnation by Christ; whereof doth follow a loving heart to obey his commandments.—John Wesley.

Let us be warned against that bateful custom of painting things beyond the life. Let us make a conscience of magnifying or exag-gerating anything. Let us rather speak under than above the truth.
We, of all men, should be punctual in all we say, that none of our words may fall to the ground.—
John Wesley.

In 1729, I began not only to read, but to study, the Bible, as the one only standard of truth, and the model of pure religion. Hence, I saw in a clearer and clearer light, the indispensable necessity of having the mind which was in Christ and of walking as Christ also walked.—John Wesley.

You seem to apprehend that I believe religion to be inconsistent with cheerfulness, and with a social temper. So far from it, that I am convinced, as true religion cannot be without cheerfulness, so steady cheerfulness cannot be without true religion.—John Wesley.

I believe religion to be contrary to all preciseness, stiffness, affection and unnecessary singularity.
But I do not yet see any possible case wherein trifling conversation can be an instance of it. In the following Scriptures I take all such to be flatly forbidden: Matt. xii, 36; Eph. v, 4, and iv, 29; Col. iv, 6.
—John Wesley.

To judge whether any action be lawful on the Sabbath or no, we are to consider whether it advances the end for which the Sabbath was ordained. Now the end for which the Sabbath was ordained was the promotion of holiness. Whatever therefore tends to advance this end is lawful. Whatever does not tend Horace Mann gives this bit of advice to boys: "You are made to be kind, boy"; generous, magnanimous. If there is a boy in school who has a club foot, don't let him know you ever saw it. If there is a boy with ragged clothes, don't talk about rags in his hearing.

If there is a lame boy, assign him some part of the game that doesn't require running. If there is a hungry one, give him part of your dinner. If there is a dull one, help him to get his lessons. If there is a bright one, be not envious of him;
for if one boy is proud of his talents, and another is envious of them, there are two great wrongs, and no more talent than before.
If a larger or stronger boy has injured you, and is sorry for it, forgive him. All the school will show by their countenance how much better it is than to have a great fuss.
And remember who said: "Love your enemies," and "Bless them which curse you."—Selected.

Hymns 502, 521, 574.
Scripture Lesson, Psalm 126.
Text, James 5: 20: Let him know, that he which converteth the sinner from the error of his way shall save a soul from death, and shall hide a multitude of sins.

Introduction: The text is very emphatic. It is very positive.
When the text says "let him know" it means that everything contained in the text is very important; and, that it is very true.

1. The text teaches that sinners are to be saved by human effort.

Every converted soul has been led to Christ by the prayers and persuasions of some christian.

The preacher's business is to convert sinners.

The Sunday-school worker ought to be a soul winner.

The father and mother must save the children.

God alone can pardon and save,
but the christian can and must say to the sinner "Behold the Lamb of God that taketh away the sins of the world."

All christians should do this. The youngest, and the oldest, the lowest and highest, the poorest and the richest all must strive to win souls.

2. The sinner is a wanderer away from God. "He that converteth the sinner from the error of his way," leads him from the paths of sin to the ways of holiness.
To do this the christian must

(a) Love the sinner.

(b) Pray for the sinner.

(c) Plead with the sinner.

(d) Set a good example to the sinner.

(e) Must be patient with the sinner.

(f) Must have faith that the sinner will be converted.

3. In the case of every converted sinner two important things always happen.

First, His sins are all washed away in the blood of the Lamb.
Though they were red like crimson they shall be as white as snow.

All his sins are freely forgiven.
Whenever we confess our sins God is faithful and just to forgive us our sins.

The text declares that a multitude of sins shall be hidden. God promises to remove the sins of the converted soul as far away as the east is from the west. He says he will cast them behind his back.
He says he will remember them no more forever.

In these ways God hides the sins of the converted sinner.

When thus hidden they shall never rise up in judgment to condemn him.

Secondly, When the sinner is converted his soul is saved from death.

Before he is converted his soul is dead in trespasses and sin. His soul is separate from God, and that is the beginning of eternal death.

In conversion the soul is born again, and a new life begins.

He now loves the things he once hated, and hates the things he once loved.

His conscience is alive, and he sees and knows what sin is, and he resists the tempter, and avoids sin.
His affections are made alive. He loves God. Loves to do his will.
Loves to keep his commandments.

Loves to serve him in all things,
and he also loves his neighbor.
He shows his love by kind thoughts,
by kind words, by kind deeds.

But salvation from death means that all fear of death be will taken away. It means that God will be with the soul in the dark valley.
All impenitent, and unconverted sinners will be banished from the presence of the Lord and the glory of his power. They will be cast into the lake of fire prepared for the devil and his angels. This will be eternal death.

The converted sinner at death will be taken by angels to heaven, just as Lazarus was taken to Abraham's bosom.

The converted soul will never see death, but will be given an eternal home in heaven.

In that blessed country there will be no sorrow, nor crying, nor pain nor death.

Let every christian take this text to heart. Let him think of it night and day. Then let him go to work earnestly to convert sinners, so that they may be saved from death, and brought at last to heaven.

Meridian Academy.

We beg to extend an invitation to the many friends of Meridian Academy, and of education, to be present May 27-29, at the commencement exercises of the class of '91. This will be the first class of graduates (eleven in number) sent out by this school.

Free admission. It is hoped that the friends and patrons will avail themselves of the pleasure and benefit of being present. The faculty and students are making efforts to make the occasion pleasant and entertaining.

The fact that a new college at this point is to be built soon, is a grand reason why the friends of this school desire to have present a majority of their friends. It may seem strange that an educational point so important as Meridian bids fair to be, should have such limited provisions for the means of education. Meridian, so to speak, is the first city in the State, the greatest railroad centre, and embraces a vast colored population, who are eager to sustain the means of an education.

The probabilities of a new college here are more favorable now than ever. A donation by the Freedmen's Aid Society has already been appropriated, subscriptions are being collected, and a general canvass of the State by some able representatives will be made during summer, when the work of building is expected to be in progress.

Notwithstanding many disadvantages, the faculty has labored with much success. Not only Methodist children have received much benefit from the work, but many others.

J. H. Burnside, class orator;
Miss S. C. Cole, secretary.

A note from Rev. J. S. Hill, president of Morristown Normal Academy, Morristown, Tenn., says:
"Our school was never so crowded as this year, and never a better class of students or more thorough work done. Our new building will go up this summer."

The musical entertainment given by the musical department of the New Orleans University, under the direction of the music teacher, Mrs. M. Littlefield, a week or two ago, was a very creditable affair.
The paper on "Esthetics," by Mrs.
Littlefield, especially was a mine of wealth and beauty. It showed ripe scholarship, an appreciation of the subject, and such a versatility of thought and language as captivated every heart. The young people too, performed their parts splendidly.

[Rec'd April 29, '91.]

The Plains, La.—Mr. Willie Robelair, a young man aged 18, died April 15. He was with his father at Lindise Station, La., who bought some groceries and sent them home by his son Willie, telling him to stay at home that night, because the crowd was not respectable.
Willie was persuaded by some of his friends to disobey his parent. The crowd with which he went was a whiskey-drinking one, and one John Van-saw, intending to kill one Beamer, shot and fatally wounded Willie. He died Wednesday, April 15. On his dying bed he acknowledged his wrong, begged pardon of his father and mother, and had them good-bye. This is a fair warning to young men. Revs. A. Governor of the Baptist Church, and T. A.
Brown of the M. E. Church attended the funeral.

WHAT IS SCROFULA

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings, which causes painful running sores on the arms,
legs, or feet, which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or the many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors," which,
fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption
and death. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by
the remarkable cures it has accomplished,
often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. Some of these cures are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla.
"My daughter Mary was afflicted with scrofulous sores neck from the time she was 22 months old till she became six years of age. Lumps formed in her neck, and one of them after growing to the size of a pigeon's egg, became a running sore for over three years. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla, when the lump and
all indications of scrofula entirely disappeared, and now she seems to be a healthy child." J. S. CARLILE, Naughton, N. J.

Ventilation.

G. W. HUBBARD, M. D.

Dr. Henry Hartshorne says: "No educated person denies the importance of ventilation; but scarcely one in a hundred of the best educated people give enough practical attention to it. We need ventilation in order that we may breathe, and we breathe for the purpose of purifying the blood. When a person is entirely submerged in water for a few minutes he dies simply because the water has kept the air out of his lungs. If a man goes into a beer vat lately emptied of its liquid, but containing carbonic acid resulting from fermentation, he falls insensible, and unless quickly taken out he loses his life. Sleeping in a tight room in which charcoal is burning has frequently been fatal.

The atmosphere is composed of about one part oxygen and four of nitrogen. When breathed out from the lungs it contains less oxygen, a considerable portion of carbonic acid, while the quantity of nitrogen remains unchanged. By breathing, the worn out particles of matter are removed from our system, and in return it receives the life giving oxygen.

During ordinary respiration we take into our lungs about thirty cubic inches of air. Warm blooded animals cannot exist any considerable length of time without fresh air. The story of the "Black Hole of Calcutta" is too well known to be repeated. The following example illustrates the same principle; The steamer Londonderry was overtaken in a storm on the Irish Sea. The passengers, two hundred in number were ordered below and to prevent water from getting in the hatches were battened down, and before their suffering and alarm compelled the captain to set them at liberty seventy two had died of suffocation. After the battle of Ansterlitz three hundred prisoners were crowded into a prison and two hundred and sixty died in a short time from inhaling the poisoned air.

In addition to the carbonic acid given off from the lungs, a considerable amount is formed by burning lamps and fire in stoves and grates. Carbon Monoxide is a still more dangerous impurity and frequently escapes into our rooms from stoves and furnaces.

Scarcely a week passes without witnessing a death of one or more persons from inhalation or illumination of natural gas. People unacquainted with gas fixtures frequently blow out the gas light instead of cutting off the supply of gas by turning the stop cock.

Whenever we enter a crowded and ill-ventilated room we detect an unpleasant odor which proceeds from the poisonous organic matter thrown off from the lungs. Few of us would care to go to a second-hand clothing store and purchase under garments for our personal use, neither would we like to patronize a restaurant where the dishes used by preceding guests had not been washed, yet with scarcely a protest we breathe the air that has just been exhaled from lungs polluted from whiskey, snuff and tobacco and perhaps reeking with disease.

In the school-room children breathing irritated air become dull and stupid and cannot learn their lessons; and in churches hearers of the Gospel become sleepy and unattentive.

Persons who habitually breathe impure air are slowly poisoned and their systems rendered susceptible to the attack of numerous diseases. The practical question is, how can we secure the best possible ventilation?

In school-rooms and churches apertures should be provided in the ceiling for the escape of impure air, and all windows should be so arranged that they can be lowered from the top. The secret of good ventilation without unpleasant draughts consists in providing a considerable number of small openings for the entrance of pure air and the escape of impure air.

No system has yet been invented by which a good supply of pure air can be secured in cold weather without the expenditure of considerable amount of fuel. School-rooms, churches and dwelling apartments should contain not less than five hundred cubic feet of air to each person, and this should be changed at least twice every hour.

Our Symposium.

Don't forget to make your regular pastoral visits; offer a prayer; don't stay too long; don't go to the same place too often; visit all the members. Do these things and success is yours.—Southern Christian Recorder.

Four or five weeks ago one of the most distinguished advocates of the admission of women said: "I contend that women should have the privilege of going, and that those who wish should have the right to vote for them; but I have never seen a woman that I would vote for." We differ from him at both points; for we know a hundred women for whom—if we did not think it antisciptural, likely to weaken their influence, and to prove injuries to the church—we would gladly vote. Such is our respect for their intelligence, intellectuality, and piety.—Christian Advocate.

A teacher should not be appointed simply because he is black, nor rejected because he is white, but all should come and go upon their merit. There are no good reasons why white and black may not teach side by side in harmony just as lawyers and doctors practice side by side in harmony.—Weekly Test.

Three murder societies have their tap-root in the Roman Catholic Church—the Mollie McGuire, the Clan na Gael, and the Mafia. The pope himself was the first boycotter, and issued murderous edicts against all who presumed to differ with him. He cursed everybody who would give the heretic a crust of bread or a night's lodging.

The Roman Church is intolerant and fosters intolerance. Hence these murder organizations, a "horrid brood," are her legitimate offspring. Confessed murderers are walking the streets of our cities to-day because protected by these societies of thugs. The American people must deal with them. And when the time fully comes they will know how to do it.

That the reader may see how true are the above statements, let him imagine an effort to organize an oath bound murder organization among Presbyterians, Methodists, Baptists, or any other Protestant denomination. It is unthinkable.—World Wide Missions.

THE BEST
APERIENT

In modern pharmacy is, undoubtedly, Ayer's Cathartic Pills. Except in extreme cases, physicians have abandoned the use of drastic purgatives, and recommend a milder, but no less effective medicine. The favorite is Ayer's Pills, the superior medicinal virtues of which have been certified to under the official seals of state chemists, as well as by hosts of eminent doctors and pharmacists. No other pill so well supplies the demand of the general public for a safe, certain, and agreeable family medicine.

"Ayer's Pills are the best medicine I ever used; and in my judgment no better general remedy was."

Ever Devised

I have used them in my family and caused them to be used among my friends and employees for more than twenty years. To my certain knowledge many cases of the following complaints have been completely and permanently cured by the use of Ayer's Pills: Constipation, biliousness, indigestion, headache, neuralgia, rheumatism, dropsy, sick headache, dyspepsia, flatulency, and all other ailments of the bowels. I know that a moderate use of Ayer's Pills, continued for a few days or weeks, as the nature of the complaint required, would be found an absolute cure for the disorders I have named above.—J. O. Wilson, Contractor and Builder, Sulphur Springs, Texas.

"For eight years I was afflicted with constipation, which at last became so bad that the doctors could do no more for me. Then I began to take and soon the bowels recovered their natural regular action, so that now I am in excellent health."—Wm. H. DeLauney, Dorset, Ontario.

Our Children's Legion.

For Our Boys and Girls.

BY UNCLE CEPHAS.

Good Rules for Boys.

Boys, try to commit the following to memory: Hat lifted in saying "Good-by" or "How do you do?"

Hat lifted when offering a seat in a car or in acknowledging a favor.

Keep step with any one you walk with.

Always precede a lady up-stairs, and ask her if you may precede her in passing through a crowd or public place.

Hat off the moment you enter a street door, and when you step into a private hall or office.

Let a lady pass first always, unless she asks you to precede her.

In the parlor, stand till every lady in the room is seated, also older people.

Rise if a lady comes in after you are seated, and stand until she takes a seat.

Look people straight in the face when speaking or being spoken to.

Let ladies pass through a door first, standing aside for them.

In the dining room, take your seat after ladies and elders.

Never play with knife, fork, or spoon.

Do not take your napkin in a bunch in your hand.

Eat as fast or as slow as others, and finish the course as they do.

Rise when ladies leave the room, and stand till they are out. If all go out together, gentlemen stand by the door till ladies pass.

Special rules for the month are that all noise in eating and smacking of the lips should be avoided.

Cover the mouth with hand or napkin when obliged to remove anything from it.

Use your handkerchief unobtrusively always.

Always knock at any private room door.

Dear Uncle Cephas: We have a nice Sunday school. Our teacher's name is Mrs. Threlkeld. Our pastor is Rev. R. Threlkeld. We all love him. We have a nice every day school. Our teacher is Mr. Thos. Blakeney. He is a good teacher. I have four brothers and three sisters. My father takes the SOUTHWESTERN. My father and my mother both belong to the M. E. Church. Two of my brothers and two of my sisters belong to the M. E. Church. I am a little boy 11 years old. I hope the Lord will bless you, and all that take the SOUTHWESTERN. I read my Bible every night.

Your Nephew,
JOSEPH CROFF.

Hattiesburg, Miss.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I am not a member of the church, but I hope to be one. I go to day school every day, and I love my teacher, his name is Mr. Smith. I have three sisters and one brother, and I am the oldest boy.

Your Nephew,
HARRY HARRIS.

Clarksville, Tenn.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I am a girl 14 years old. I go to Sunday school every Sunday, and to day school. We have a good pastor, his name is P. L. Jackson. He is loved by all.

Your Niece,
KITTY HARRIS.

Clarksville, Tex.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I am 23 years old. I am superintendent of our Sunday school. We have 53 on roll. My sister takes the SOUTHWESTERN. She highly appreciates it. Rev. L. J. S. Bell is our pastor this year. We like him very much.

YOUR NEPHEW,
A. L. PARKES.

Edwards, Miss.

An Unprecedented Offer!

We have made arrangements with the Chicago Manufacturing Company to supply one of their first-class Singer machines for only $14 cash. We will order a machine like the cut here shown, and send the SOUTHWESTERN a full year besides! It is a handsome oil-polished walnut, of latest design, Gothic cover, with beautiful panels, four end drawers and a swing drawer, nickel-plated, and warranted five years.

Each Machine is furnished with the following equipment: One Foot Hemmer, One Oil Can with Oil, One Gauge, and Screw, One Extra Check Spring, One Package of Needles, Five Bobbins, One Tucker, One Foot Ruffler, One Set of Plate Hemmers, four different widths up to seven-eighths of an inch, One Binder and One Thread Cutter. The Improved Tension and Thread Liberator is used on this Machine. The manufacturers offer to refund the money if purchaser is not fully satisfied with the machine.

We receive many letters inquiring about the sewing machine premium, and how to obtain it. In order that all may understand the matter, we state in addition to the announcement, that remittances should be made to Hunt & Eaton, 139 Poydras street, either by check, money order, or by express, naming the nearest or most convenient freight depot to which it is to be sent. Then we order the factory in Chicago to ship the machine. The company ships it, and receives from the railroad a bill of lading which, with the warranty, is sent to us, and which we send to the subscriber. This bill of lading is good and sufficient evidence that the machine has been forwarded, and holds the railroad company responsible for its safe delivery at the station named as its destination, and in due time, save unavoidable delays. In case of its loss the railroad which caused its loss is responsible, under the laws of the land. If not arriving in due time, show the bill of lading to the station agent and he will look it up. Don't give up the bill of lading, but it may be shown to the railroad agent. All orders are sent the same day as received, and the bill of lading is sent to the subscriber the same day we get it. We started this scheme with a view to helping our patrons, and shall carefully and faithfully carry out our part of the agreement in every case.

The Spring Medicine.

The popularity which Hood's Sarsaparilla has gained as a spring medicine is wonderful. It possesses just those elements of health-giving, blood-purifying and appetite-restoring which everybody seems to need at this season. Do not continue in a dull, tired, unsatisfactory condition when you may be so much benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla. It purifies the blood and makes the weak strong.

The New Orleans Picayune is one of the newest and most reliable papers published. Its Editorials are judicious and timely; it gives all the news without fear or favor; its Associated Press and Special Southern Telegrams cover all important Foreign and Domestic News; its Commercial and Market Reports are complete and are accepted standards; its Letters from New York and Paris, and the Special Contributions of Pearl Rivers, Catharine Cole, Mollie Moore Davis, Jennie Inne, Marie Points and others are unfailing sources of interest and information and are of a high order of literary merit. The Picayune is printed in clear, new type, of size sufficient to be read without straining the eye.

To keep abreast of the times and know all worth knowing that a newspaper should tell, send Three Dollars for three months' subscription to the Daily Picayune, or subscribe for its splendid Weekly Edition at One Dollar a year. The Weekly is sixteen pages, and is issued every Thursday morning to reach all subscribers before Sunday.

Happy and content is a home with "The Rochester," a lamp with the light of the morning. For catalogue, write Rochester Lamp Co. New York.

Dr. KING'S ROYAL GERMETUER

Does this more pleasantly, more safely and more surely than any other remedy known to medical science.

THESE FIVE THINGS

In which it differs from ordinary medicines, account largely for its wonderful popularity:

1. It does not taste like medicine. It is as pleasant as lemonade, and, instead of being a most refreshing drink. Persons who object to all other medicines, take this with real pleasure because it is good.

2. It never nauseates. The most delicate stomach finds in this a perfect remedy without a single objection.

3. It never escapes of one disease for another. It does not set up one form of disease in order to relieve another, as is the case with so many deadly drugs.

4. It does not patch simply. It cures. It reaches, as nothing else does, to the hidden sources of disease in the blood, and removes the cause. It does this with an ease and power that has never been equaled.

5. It is harmless, and may be safely given to have one day old. It is free from Alcohol and Opium.

All persons living in malarial districts should keep this great family remedy on hand. It will break any fever in less time than quinine and anti pyretic, and leave none of their unpleasant and harmful effects.

For Malaria, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Debility, Kidney Trouble, and for Blood and Skin Diseases, there is nothing to be compared with it.

For Ladies and Children it is far the best.

Circulars with testimonials, etc., mailed free. For sale by druggists and by Kit Williams, agent, 202 Canal street, New Orleans.

PASTOR KOENIG'S NERVE TONIC

In its Worst Form.

Boston, La. Co., Wis., Dec., 1883.

Rev. J. C. Bergen writes for the following: James Kooney, who was suffering from St. Vitus Dance in its worst form for about 15 years, was treated by several physicians without effect. Two bottles of Pastor Koening's Nerve Tonic cured him.

St. Francis, Wis., Oct. 24, 1883.

A member of my congregation used Pastor Koening's Nerve Tonic with good results. The patient was so nervous that he could not find sleep for weeks. He suffered from the most intense anxiety, which bordered on insanity. I gave the person some of Koening's Nerve Tonic and he continued to use it. The appetite returned gradually, the anxiety disappeared, the headache left, and to-day the sufferer, who had almost despaired, is enjoying excellent health.

Rev. E. K. Kamp, Pastor.

Free. A Valuable Book on Nerve Diseases sent free to any address, and poor patients can also obtain this medicine free of charge.

This remedy has been prepared by the Reverend Pastor Koening, of Fort Wayne, Ind., since 1874 and is now prepared under his direction by the

GOLDEN TEXT.
Your iniquities have separated between you and your God. (Isa. 59. 2.)

LESSON HYMN, 7. 6.
O Bread to pilgrims given,
O Food that angels eat,
O Manna sent from heaven,
For heaven-born natures meet:
Give us, for thee long pining,
To eat till richly filled;
Till, earth's delights resigning,
Our every wish is stilled.

Jesus, this feast receiving,
We the Unseen adore;
Thy faithful word believing,
We take and doubt no more;
Give us, thou true and loving,
On earth to live in Thee;
Then death the veil removing,
Thy glorious face to see.

Time—About B. C. 725.
Place—Hosea's messages were probably all delivered in the king dom of Israel.

Rulers—Hoshea, king of Israel, and, probably, Hezekiah, King of Judah.

Connecting Links—Hosea prophesied during a very long period, probably sixty years. It is not easy now to define precisely when and where each prophecy was delivered.

QUESTIONS FOR HOME STUDY
1. Sin, v. 4.
What is Israel declared to be?
What sin had increased with prosperity?
What would become of their altars and images?
Why had Israel no king?
Of what evil in speech had they been guilty?
What followed from their wickedness?
2. Sorrow, v. 5-15.
What would cause fear to the people of Samaria?
Who would sorrow because of a lost glory?
What was to become of their idols?
Who then would be ashamed?
What is said about Samaria's king?
What high places would be overthrown?
Where would thorns and thistles grow?
What would be the people's prayer?
From what time had Israel sinned?
What did God desire to do to them?
To what is Ephraim likened?
How would Judah be humbled?
What were the people exhorted to do?
What reason is given for so doing?
What sorrows had they known?
What future evils to the people are predicted?
What to the King of Israel?
Why did all these sorrows come?
(Golden Text.)

TEACHINGS OF THE LESSON.
Where in this lesson are we taught:
1. That ingratitude is sin?
2. That sin brings sorrow?
3. That sin ends in death?

HOME WORK FOR YOUNG BE-BEANS.
Find a passage where Isaiah compares God's ancient people to a vineyard.
Find a passage where Jesus compares his disciples to the branches of the vine?
Find a passage where Jesus compares the Jewish nation to a vineyard.

THE LESSON CATECHISM.
[For the entire school.]
1. What sin did the Israelites constantly indulge in? The sin of idolatry.
2. What was the chief form of their false worship? They worshipped a calf made of gold.
3. Why did God send calamities upon them? To bring them back to him.
4. How did he tell them they should reap if they sowed in righteousness? They should reap in mercy.

5. What was the cause of the alienation of this nation from God? "Your iniquities have separated," etc. (Golden Text.)

Doctrinal Suggestion.—Suffering from sin.

THE CHURCH CATECHISM.
54. What fruits doth this faith produce? Justification, regeneration, sanctification. (Rom. 5. 1; John 1. 12, 13; Gal 2. 16; Thess. 2. 13.)

55. What is justification? Justification is that act of God's free grace in which he pardons our sins and accepts us as righteous in his sight for the sake of Christ. (Eph. 1. 7; 2 Cor. 5. 21; Rom. 3. 24; 5. 19.)

Charming people, these exceptional people! Here's a medicine—Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for instance, and it's cured hundreds, thousands that are known, thousands that are unknown, and yet yours is an exceptional case! Do you think that that bit of human nature which you call "I" is different from the other parcels of human nature? "But you do not know my case." Good friend, in ninety-nine out of a hundred cases, the causes are the same—impure blood—and that's why "Golden Medical Discovery" cures ninety-nine out of every hundred. You may be the exception. And you may not. But would you rather be the exception, or would you rather be well? If you're the exception it costs you nothing, you get your money back—but suppose it cures you?

Let the "Golden Medical Discovery" take the risk.

Hail, Columbian!

We began to tell you last week about the COLUMBIAN CYCLOPEDIA. Here is a picture of the COLUMBIAN REVOLVING BOOK-CASE, made to hold a full set of the Cyclopaedia, 32 volumes, nearly 26,000 pages, and 7,000 illustrations. Size of the case, 14 inches square by 18 inches high; price, $2.50 (and cheap at that) when sold separately, but with the first 16 volumes of the Cyclopaedia it costs only $1.50, or only $1.00 with the first 22 volumes of the Cyclopaedia, or free with the full set of 32 volumes paid for at once—only $25.00 for the set in cloth binding.

The Columbian Revolving Book-Case is furnished either in oak, antique finish, or in hard maple, cherry finish, as you prefer. It is knock-down as well as revolving, held together by four rods and four screws; may be taken to pieces in five minutes, and put together in ten minutes. It is a beautiful piece of furniture, though so fabulously cheap.

Happy the home made rich with a good crop of bright children, whose inquiring minds and bright wits are daily educated and sharpened by contact with a good Cyclopaedia.

And such a "Revolver" as the Columbian! Well loaded and used, it is better for home defense than Winchester Rifles or Gatling Guns.

The Columbian Cyclopaedia is
A Cyclopaedia of Universal Knowledge and an Unabridged Dictionary of Language in one; 32 volumes, nearly 26,000 pages, and 7,000 illustrations. Cloth binding, per set, $25.00; half-Morocco, per set, $32.00. Specimen pages free; sample volume 60 cents, postage 10 cents;—sample returnable if not wanted, and money refunded.

MENTION A GREAT OFFER THIS PAPER.
cash and a further payment of $30.00 in 16 installments of $1.25 each will secure immediately, by express, volumes 1 to 16, in cloth binding, the remaining volumes being delivered as the installments are paid. 25 cents a volume extra for half-Morocco binding.

ITALIAN Consul Cortes has been recalled from this city to Rome to render a personal account of the circumstances connected with the Italian lynching.

A NOTE from Bishop Walden now in Europe, says: "The Indiana Conference is in charge of Bishop Bowman, and the Holston, East Tennessee, Central Tennessee, and Tennessee Conferences are in charge of Bishop Joyce."

WE invite the attention of our readers to the card of the Afro-American Real Estate Association, in another column. The corporation is in the hands of some of our most substantial colored citizens, and we take pleasure in commending it to the attention of our people.

JUNE 14, the second Sunday in June is Children's Day. Let every charge observe it. Don't wait, but write us at once for the "Pearl Gatherers," the rich program prepared by the Board of Education for this year. We have a large supply at this office.

BISHOP Mallalen is making himself felt in all the South. He is doing a herculean work and with presence, voice and pen is an inspiration to the church with which he comes in contact. His plea for help for a medical college in New Orleans should be responded to liberally, and the church should see that the money needed for carrying forward our work in the Southern States is provided, and that liberally.

THE Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church has sent to every pastor two copies of its last Annual Report with two specimen copies of the next Children's Day Exercise called the "Pearl Gatherers." One copy both of the Report and of the Pearl Gatherers should have been placed in the hands of every Sunday school superintendent in Methodism. One copy of the report and of the exercises has also been sent to every supernumerary and supernumerary preacher. If any of the above parties have failed to receive these documents, or any other person wish the same, and will send a postal card to Rev. C. H. Payne, 150 Fifth Avenue, New York, the request will receive prompt attention. Every minister and Sunday school superintendent in our church should read these valuable publications of the board.

Twenty-Four Years at the Front And a Few of the Results of the Struggle.

BY REV. I. B. SCOTT, D. D.

I believe him a braver man who having espoused the cause of the lowly withstands the jeers and hisses of those unfriendly to his cause, than is he who under the inspiration of the moment charges a battery in action or otherwise braves the rigors of war. Without doubt he is a brave man who makes a true soldier in battle; and I would not detract one iota from the feeling of reverence and admiration we have for such a one. But who questions for one moment the moral courage of him who in the face of scorn, derision and a prejudice so bitter that it leads not only to ostracism but to heartless persecutions and at times even to death. Who I say questions the bravery of the one amid such surroundings gives himself to the elevation of the degraded and despised.

There certainly is no one! I am sure this description does not overdo the position occupied by many devoted men and women who came South during reconstruction days to work in our midst as preachers and teachers. They were scorned, they were derided, they were persecuted and a few put to the death. In those days ostracism was the least of the evils heaped upon these God-sent workmen. In fact it would have been a pleasure to many of them to have been let alone. May God bless their memory even more than He has their labors.

Among the very first of these laborers to arrive was the Rev. John Braden now president of the Central Tennessee College. Dr. Braden is too well known to require any introduction to the readers of the SOUTHWESTERN. Still it will not be out of place to state that he was born in the city of New York, August 18th, 1825. He graduated at Ohio Wesleyan University in 1853. The next year he joined the Cincinnati Conference and continued in the active ranks there and in the Tennessee Conference till he took charge of the Central Tennessee College in 1867. His wife, whom I feel safe in saying, is loved by every Central student whose good fortune it is to know her, was a Miss Laura Collier of Hillsdale, N. Y. Their only daughter, Miss Mary E., has grown up at the Central. She is a finished musician and is thoroughly conversant with every phase of her father's work.

The Doctor has labored here long and well. His experience as a preacher among our people gave him a thorough knowledge of the home life of the boys and girls committed to his care. He had not only preached to them, but broken bread around their humble boards, rejoiced with them in their prosperity and sorrowed with them in the time of reverses and affliction. He came to the college in its day of small things; when its only building was the memorable old gun factory. He came here when he was hissed as he passed along the streets and hooted at as the "Nigger teacher." How much more enjoyable to have been ignored altogether! But it is not my purpose to call up the unpleasant past of which the city of Nashville has proven herself as ashamed of as we are. No, it is better to forget that if possible and think on nobler things.

Well do I remember when one cold winter night during the seventies I met Dr. Braden for the first time. Not the least demonstrative, and yet affable and courteous. Business right through, life too short to waste—few words and to the point. Well, I was not just accustomed to that style of a man but still "I guess he'll do" I thought. At any rate, I put in and soon concluded he was all right; he simply wishes to know you before embracing. If you are all right he is too.

As a preacher, the Doctor is quite popular with the brethren of his conference. He is thoroughly identified with them in their work. The Tennessee Conference honors him, notwithstanding he is the only white man in it. He has served both as pastor and presiding elder. For years he was secretary of the conference, and more than once represented it in the General Conference. As the brethren became qualified he has gradually turned these posts of honor over to them. But not to desert the conference or "snk in his tent," but to stand by and encourage them. They understand if they need him they have but to call on him. And this they do not fail to do. If there is a church to be dedicated, the Doctor must take part. Is there a district conference or Sunday-school institute, his name must be on the list; and occasionally he must attend a wedding or be present to say the last words over some departed friend. In short, Dr. Braden understands the people and the people understand him. They love him and trust him. With him no manly man is ever so ignorant that he is made to feel his inferiority; neither is there one so highly educated that he must be ignored in order to hold him down.

As an educator the Doctor has impressed the whole South. Even in the early days he was elected secretary of the Tennessee State Teachers' Association, (white.)

Among the public school authorities of Tennessee his name is a synonym for scholarship and general efficiency. In many towns and counties a note of recommendation from him would not only secure for the holder the position sought but preclude the necessity of examination as to literary attainments. In the school-room Dr. Braden is perfectly at home. He believes in absolute thoroughness. The students passed from his classes will in nine cases out of ten pass anywhere. Equally at home in any department of the college he would often drop in to a recitation room and betray such a degree of familiarity with the subject in hand that more than one boy would afterward whisper, "I'll be bound Dr. Braden studied up on this lesson just to rattle us."

During these twenty four years as president the Doctor has seen this school develop, from its very humble beginning in the old gun factory, into one of the largest and most effective in all the South. The literary departments embrace every course, from the lowest to the highest. In the line of the professions it is exceptionally well equipped. Its theological department has its representatives not alone in every Southern conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, but in every colored denomination at the South. Its Meharry Medical College has representatives in every Southern State. The pharmaceutical department is supplying colored druggists with efficient poison dispensers; and the dental school has long since made itself felt, especially by those who find it necessary to have teeth extracted. The law department is also at work and those who have gone forth are gradually elbowing their way in among the many able men of their profession. And this is not all; the great industrial wing must not be forgotten. I verily believe this arm of power with its various departments is destined to accomplish as much for the development of the Negro and the South as all the other departments combined. If the professions live in our midst it must be upon the industry and thrift of our people. The Central Tennessee College is pushing ahead on all these lines. During these years the Doctor has enrolled upwards of 6000 students, who have gone forth to enter almost every avocation in life. Among these the lawyers are numbered by the tens, the doctors by the scores, the preachers by the hundreds and the teachers by the thousands. Of these various professions there was a sufficient number in our last General Conference to hold a rennion.

Here are the thousands who have come in direct contact with the man; but only think of the tens of thousands who have come in contact with these students, either as clients, patients, parishioners or pupils. By him and them waves of influence have been set in motion that will extend away into eternity. And when I think of Dr. Braden's labors I can but think of the scores of others who labored and endured, but were not permitted to see the fruits of their devotion. Many have died and were buried on the field where they fell. I know where a number of such graves are myself. Some died violent deaths. Sacrificed for God—for humanity—for the Negro! Such devotion! It seems we ought never to forget them! Some, like the Doctor, linger and labor still—but all are going. The question very naturally suggests itself: What shall we do to commemorate these heroes—these heroines? In answer, it strikes me, nothing would be more fitting than that the boys and girls who knew and loved them should erect at the National Capital, or in some central Southern city, a monument that would be an honor to the living and sacred to the memory of the dead. If not, why not? Had they not done the work they did, and at the time they did, who would have done it? When would it have been done? The Lord only knows, for we see no alternative. During all these years of labor and waiting, Dr. Braden has been at the front and in the thickest of the fight. So have many others. What shall we do to show our gratitude? They have wrought a great work. We are building on the foundation they laid.

The Great American Problem.

Some time ago The Times sent out the following questions, to distinguished men throughout the country—to both Democrats and Republicans, to white and black:

1. If there is a "Race Problem" what is it?
2. How can the colored man best aid in its proper solution?
3. How can the white man best aid in its proper solution?

In reply Prof. J. G. Townsend says:

Editor Times—

In response to your circular sent me on the 28th, I permit me to say briefly as you request conciseness:

- (1) The whites of the South principally claim the existence of a "Race Problem" and their uniform question is "What shall we do with the Negro?"

They (the Southrons of Anglo-Saxon extraction) do not wish social intercourse with Negroes through the fear of consequent dreadful amalgamation, or miscegenation, nor political affiliation for fear of Negro domination. They want the Negro in reality under or, in profession simply, away.

The recollection of his former servitude and the enforced thought of his present constitutional habits and actual enjoyment of civic immunities and honors intensify a bitter, Christless, and senseless prejudice against the condition of poverty, ignorance, and superstition supposed to be represented by the Negro's black skin.

In their frenzy to keep the Negro under, these whites resort to savage and inhuman treatment which tends to stir up the baser passions of his nature with strong feelings of resentment.

(2) The colored man can best aid in the proper solution of the alleged problem by the cultivation of piety, fraternity, the intellect, and manual dexterity; by the establishment of industries, and race unification.

Get the thing the whites want and worship—Mammon—and they will not be slow in making friends of unrighteous Mammon.

Invest along with the whites in all honorable and legitimate money-making enterprises and buy and establish comfortable and respectable homes and before the lapse of 250 years you will not know except by looking at your persons whether you are white or black.

Christian and industrial education is going to do the work for us.

(3) The white man can best aid in the proper solution of the problem by taking Christ as his Exemplar and doing all in his power for the elevation of the Negro race by the kind of education recommended above.

I can conceive of no other practical solution.

In dealing with the Negro the white man, as does the Negro, must always act in accordance with the answer to this question—How would Christ act if he had a case like this to deal with?

Very respectfully,
J. G. TOWNSEND.

Presiding Elders of Colored Conferences to the Front!

Presiding Elders' Convention.

The presiding elders' convention previously announced, will meet in Chattanooga, Tenn., June 23, and continue in session till the 26th, inclusive. The editor of the SOUTHWESTERN, who has had some practical experience in the presiding elders' convention, warmly commends the convention project. Be on hand, Doctor, and tell us how to secure twenty-five thousand subscribers upon the ADVOCATE list.

Dr. E. W. S. Hammond says: "I am in full and hearty sympathy with the movement, and am exceedingly anxious that our meeting shall command the respect and receive the attention of the entire church."

The venerable Dr. Wesley Prettyman strongly advises the holding of a convention in our branch of the service. He will be there.

All the Tennessee presiding elders, Price, Phillips, Bradford, Anderson, Wright, Provine and Boyd, are enthusiastic over the idea of holding a convention.

Rev. H. N. Brown, who bears Gammon's honors, says, Amen! to the proposition, and thinks all the presiding elders should answer the call.

Dr. Braden, than whom our cause has no truer friend, regards it as a step in the right direction, and is hopeful that it will be productive of much good to all the interests of Methodism.

Dr. L. M. Hagood, who brings much ability and sturdy energy to his new position as Presiding Elder, votes yea.

May we have a "Pastors' Symposium" in connection with the convention? What is meant is this. Invite the pastors to write, in as brief manner as possible, upon the topic: In what way can the presiding elder best aid the pastor towards securing success in church work? These papers could be forwarded to be read in the meeting. Could we not learn from them something that might increase our efficiency?

A Veterans' Permanent Fund.

REV. JAY BENSON HAMILTON.

"A Century of Dishonor" is the striking title of a powerful volume portraying the sin of the American nation in its dealings with the original Americans. Just as true and terrible a volume could be written about the superannuated ministers of Methodism. It could fittingly bear the title, "A Century of Neglect." Our church is not to be censured by comparison with other churches for this evil condition of things. We do better by our veteran ministers than any other large Protestant church in this country. Giving full credit for all that has been, and is being done, no one will assert that the best is more than justice; no one will deny that the least is gross injustice. The annual collections of the whole church for this cause average a dime from each member and probationer. The average allowance is less than $120 for each claimant. Is it asking too much to fix twenty-five cents per capita as the least average amount each church ought to raise?

Annual collections will always be variable and uncertain. A permanent fund is essential to insure an even and regular provision for a steady and certain need. The Book Concern dividends are now an annuity upon an invested fund of $2,400,000. If every Methodist family would subscribe for an official Advocate; if every Methodist church, Sunday school, Chautauqua Circle and Epworth League, would buy all their supplies of our own Book Concern; if all Methodists would buy nothing anywhere else that they can buy of our own book depositories, the annual sales would soon reach $5,000,000. The dividend to the veterans of five per cent upon the business done would amount to $1,000,000 every four years. The problem is very simple and practical. For every dollar you spend at our book depositories you receive one dollar's worth and at the same time loan the dollar for one year and make it earn five per cent for the veterans.

Beside the annual collections and the dividends from the Book Concern, we need a permanent fund for the veterans. We propose to the Church to raise one million dollars for this purpose and suggest the following plan:

To avoid all discussion as to administration and distribution, let the fund be under the control of the annual conferences. Let each conference build up its own fund. The income can then be added to the annual collections from the churches and be distributed in the usual way by the Conference Board of Stewards. The General Conference will probably devise a plan to level up the conference allowance to the veterans. We presume it will never adopt any plan that will supersede local funds; local collections, local distribution and administration.

We solicit the co-operation of Methodist ministers and laymen in the formation of a league to raise $1,000,000. Fifty-thousand annual subscribers of $5 each would contribute $1,000,000 in four years. We have issued a Subscription Card for the "Veterans' League" upon the basis of five dollar pledges for four years. Send a two-cent stamp and receive the League Card. Sign it and hand it to your pastor. Pay the money to him and ask him to send it to the treasurer of the permanent fund for the veterans in your annual conference. If fifty thousand Methodists will join our League, the million dollars is sure to be raised. You can take as many five-dollar pledges as you please, the more the better; you can pay them annually, or the whole amount in advance, as you choose. Who will be the first to join the "Veterans' League?" Address Jay Benson Hamilton, Hackettstown, N. J.

Letters from the Districts.

Knoxville District, East Tennessee Conference.

E. PROVINCE, P. E.

Dear Brethren: Let us push every interest of the church. Send in your reports of what you have raised on missions. Let us advocate and pray for all the grand causes of the church.

A. J. Phillips, Texarkana, Ark.

Camden is a town of four or five thousand inhabitants, and over one-third of the inhabitants are colored. There are three churches among the colored people, and we feel that there is room for the M. E. Church, for the people are friendly toward our church and think we ought to build, as we have a few members who are waiting and praying for our church to come. We need money to purchase a lot. Rev. J. M. Airhart is the preacher there, and he wants to stay and build the church. For the sake of our church in Camden, let all who can send one dollar, and Rev. Airhart will acknowledge it through the SOUTHWESTERN.

Marshall District, Texas Conference.

WADE HAMILTON, P. E.

The Sunday School Institute of the Marshall district will convene at Mineola, June 18, 9 a. m. Every Sunday school superintendent will be expected to report: What kind of literature is used in his Sunday school. The number of scholars on the roll. Number of conversions this year. The amounts collected on Easter and Children's Day.

The district conference will convene at Queen City, Aug. 6, at which time we hope all the pastors of the Marshall district will have collected every dollar of their benevolent money, and be able to report at the district conference.

Program of the District Conference of the Aberdeen District, Upper Mississippi Conference.

J. C. ECKLES, P. E.

Convenes at Starkville June 17 to 21.

The need of an educated minister, G. Johnson.

The best time to take conference collections, A. McGlocklin and I. Ogilvy.

How to be loyal to the M. E. Church, E. Hutchinson.

How shall a preacher prepare for the pulpit? H. R. Hasou.

How shall a minister make a success of his charge? D. Shelby.

The need of the SOUTHWESTERN in every family, H. Daniel and W. Emmit.

Local preachers must select their subjects and be ready to give an intelligent talk on them. The Sunday school superintendents must be present to talk on the Sunday school work. One class leader from each charge is expected to be present. Also, the district stewards.

S. S. Wright and committees.

W. Wesley, Palestine, Tex.

The SOUTHWESTERN is as fresh and new as ever. No minister and no member can afford to do without it. Owing to the quarantine having prevailed so long on my district, I have been unable to do scarcely anything for the interest of the SOUTHWESTERN. Now that the clouds have about cleared away, I hope to be able to push vigorously all the interests of the church.

Presiding Elder Landry, of the South New Orleans district, has issued an address to his preachers, in which he says:

"The experience of every intelligent pastor is that the putting off of the benevolent collections for the last of the year is fraught with danger. To persist in this way is to invite defeat. Let us make a new departure on this line, by taking up our Educational, Missions, Church Extension and, if possible, our Episcopal funds at once and be ready to report at district conference, and thus avoid even the possibility of a failure.

Our discipline requires that something be raised for each cause, and it is essential to the dignity of our district that you do so.

For Children's day, second Sunday in June next, let the rally cry be by each child: 5 cents for the cause of Christian education and the evangelization of the world.

On the second Sunday in July you are to have a missionary rally which is to be known as the Missionary Sabbath. Organize at once for the occasion and make this a day of consecration of body and soul, and silver and gold. Let young and old be included in this great feast of love. See Discipline 1888, ¶ 370.

To assist in the creation of a greater benevolent interest on the district, and otherwise help the Presiding Elder and pastors, I have, after prayerful thought, appointed the following co-laborers as district agents:

Rev. L. G. Adkinson, D. D., Educational Agent.

Rev. T. G. Montgomery, Missionary Agent.

Rev. Reese Thompson, Church Extension Agent.

Rev. J. W. Hilton, Episcopal Funds Agent.

Rev. H. J. Wright, Quarter Centennial Jubilee Agent.

Our district conference at Thibodaux, August 28, 1891, is to be one of the grandest ministerial gatherings of the season. On Saturday, the 29th, the roll of pastors will be called and each will report his work and collections. Sunday, 30th, will be observed as a Grand District Quarter Centennial Jubilee of Preachers and People.

Forest City District.

W. R. R. DUNCAN, P. E.

Our first round on the district was completed during the last days of April. The pastors are all at their posts of duty assigned them at the last session of our conference, with the exception of Bros. J. F. Richmond, H. E. Roseman, and Bros. E. H. Clark and E. Harrison, who have returned to the Louisiana Conference.

The work on the district is prospering grandly. Each pastor and family seem to enjoy good health.

Come up to the mark, my dear co-laborers. Let each man be a faithful dispenser of God's word.

May the second round be a successful one in the conversion of many souls.

Brethren, take Christ and our Methodist polity and conquer for Him who is our every stay. You have no bosses (the A. M. E. Church is to be blamed for such falsehoods), but, the very best of brethren and friends. Push the SOUTHWESTERN.

Letters from the Pastors.

SPECIAL TO CORRESPONDENTS.—Please take notice, 1st, That all anonymous letters go directly to my waste basket; 2d, Letters must be written on only one side of the paper; 3d, No frivolous questions will be noticed; 4th, Abbreviations should not be used; 5th, Notes and items must be condensed so as to insure brevity; 6th, We return no manuscript.

St. Paul Church, Shreveport, La., T. J. Johnson, P. C.

I found on my arrival to St. Paul a cordial welcome, which gave me a good heart to proceed immediately to the indebtedness. I found a debt of $2,485. With the members and friends the trustees have paid $379.55. We are to have a grand rally the third Sunday in May, to meet one of our notes when Rev. Stephen Duncan, P. E., of the Shreveport District, and other brethren will assist in the grand union rally. We have placed a grand Estey organ in the church at a cost of $300, and have a choir organized, and Dr. J. B. Maxlin and William Walker have assumed the debt of the instrument with the help of members and friends of the church.

I. H. Grant, Cave Springs, Ga.

We observed Easter in good style. Rev. F. M. Gordon, professor in the Deaf Mute College; our day teachers, Dr. W. H. Harris, H. T. C. Kittels, D. C. Warren and Miss Lucy Tarver took part. Chubb's collection, $31.18; at Cave Spring, $45. Total, $76.18. Rev. J. McHenry preached the Easter sermon. Our faithful willing workers reported as follows: Jeffie Samuels, $1.04; John Burge, $1.05; Miss Savannah Shepherd, $1; Miss Katie Cook, $1.27; Miss Anner Kenney, $1.30; Thomas Shepherd, $2.40; Robt. Chubb, $1.50; Isah Jones, $1.71; Charlie Owens, $1.11; Charlie Samuel, $7.11; Sidney Gordon, $1.90; Miss Mary Boyd, $1.63; Miss Cornelia Ware, $6.26; Miss Burther Grant, $1.35; Miss Susie Johnson, $1.10; Miss Maple Green, $1.24; Miss Laura Lane, $1.25; Miss Pollie Kelehan, $3; Miss Amelia Kelehan, $1.40; Miss Willie McElendon, $3.50; Miss Caro Leake, $1.19. Our money has been forwarded. We will finish our benevolent collections on Children's Day. We have a grand man for our Presiding Elder, I mean Bro. H. Allen. We are going to build a $1,500 church at Cave Spring this year. We are under the impression that we have swept the field of the Savannah Conference in Easter collections. We are also preparing to carry the banner on Children's Day.

Wm. T. Trammell, Sylacauga, Ala.

Our Presiding Elder W. F. Smith came over to Springhill, Sylacauga circuit, April 11 and 12, and held my quarter. The conference was a success. When I came here our people were worshipping in temporary quarters but we are now better prepared for the future. At the conference the Presiding Elder collected $9.45 and added thirteen souls to the church. We want to make this a year of jubilee to Dadeville District, and to all the friends of Methodism. We are rallying to build a good church. The Marble City Land Company agrees to assist us in this undertaking. We hope in the near future to be able to praise God under our own vine and figtree. The plat of ground on which we are building our temporary church is not ours, but we are to hold it free of all rents until we can purchase a piece of ground of our own. We need help; we need the church. This is a thriving town and we wish to erect a good church that will be of lasting benefit to all our people.

R. McAlpin, Canton, Miss.

March 29 I dedicated a new church on this circuit, assisted by Rev. B. Stewart. We are getting along nicely. This is a great field.

S. S. Wright, Natchitoches, La.

Our first quarterly conference was held at Asbury with Rev. S. Duncan in the chair. We had a good quarter; made some repairs on the church property amounting to $40. One convert, one on probation. Sunday-school in a good condition; taken up in the quarter, $33; paid to the Rev. S. Duncan, $12.50. Our district conference will take place here Aug. 12. Just before the quarter a company of young ladies and gentlemen, headed by Mr. C. Henry, gave an entertainment for the pastor. Next morning a committee presented the writer with $17.50. Elder Duncan is the same as he was six years ago; he can preach and sing all day and is fresh at night.

P. Pruitt, Clency, Tex.

My quarter met March 28-29. Presiding Elder Morgan preached a good sermon.

Wm. Campbell, Starkville Circuit, Miss.

My first quarterly conference convened April 11-12, Rev. R. Sewell, P. E., in the chair. Our new Presiding Elder is loved. The Elder gave a grand lecture and preached a soul stirring sermon. Collection paid Presiding Elder, $12.50; pastor, 20.

L. Felder, Montgomery, Tex.

Easter program was very successfully carried out.

C. A. Taylor, Sweet Home, Ark.

April 11 and 12 Rev. Geo. W. Lacey was with us and held our first quarter. Reports showed the work was alive. The Presiding Elder preached for us and all were made to rejoice. Paid pastor this quarter, $49.25; Presiding Elder, $10.

J. H. Swann, Belton, Tex.

My first quarterly conference convened April 11, Rev. Mack Heuson in the chair. Reports showed much good had been done this quarter; fourteen souls had been converted, five backsliders reclaimed and thirty-seven accessions. Pastor's salary was fixed at $415; Presiding Elder $70. Paid pastor, $28; Presiding Elder, $11. Sunday the 12th was a season of great joy. The Presiding Elder preached two sermons of unusual instruction and power. The minds of the people were aroused about the dear old SOUTHWESTERN.

A. Martin, Knoxville Circuit, Tenn.

Our Easter services will be long remembered here. The program was rendered nicely. The following ladies and gents read essays: Mrs. L. C. Charleston, Mr. J. S. Holland, Mrs. A. McMillan, Mrs. J. Bannerster and the writer. Collection $10.80.

J. C. Houston, Yazoo City, Miss.

We have just closed one of the most successful revivals that Yazoo City has experienced in many years. After three or four weeks preaching in our church the heavenly flames rapidly spread over the city from church to church. The results were as follows: M. E. Church, 105 additions; Baptist, 90; A. M. E. Church, 45. Revs. D. A. Bragg and I. W. Davis rendered much valuable assistance. Elder J. Campbell held conference during the revival and preached a strong sermon which proved very profitable.

J. W. Pierce, Lafayette, La.

Rev. E. E. H. Morant, P. E., held my first quarterly conference. I have received six in church since conference. The church is progressing better than ever before. Rev. S. E. H. Morant, P. E., spent four days with us. The people are delighted with Bro. Morant as their Presiding Elder; and they are doing all they can for the pastor, and they will try to have all the conference money by the district conference.

B. H. S. Ferguson, Holly Springs, Miss.

We have just closed a glorious revival which lasted two weeks, resulting in ninety six souls very happily converted. The meeting was effective in Rust University to the conversion of about fifty-three students, and in the State Normal to the conversion of about ten or twelve and in the Miller Institute to the conversion of several and the rest out in town, Methodist, Baptists and C. M. E's shared in the benefits. Quite a large number of old persons were converted, some 40, 50, 70 and 101 years old. We were assisted at Asbury by Dr. Libby, Profs. Bragg, Sawyer and Boyd, Revs. Payne, Cooper, Jones and Somerville. On the closing day, April 19, assisted by Prof. Sawyer, we received sixty into the church, baptized forty-seven and more to follow. Several joined the University church under Dr. Libby. God's name be praised; the fire still burns. Rev. Payne, of the C. M. E. Church, has run only one night, resulting in three converts.

P. O. Jamison, Starkville, Miss.

Our first quarterly conference convened April 18th, Rev. J. O. Eckles in the chair. Eleven had been received in full membership. On Sunday the Presiding Elder preached an able sermon to a large audience and administered the sacrament to 150 persons. At 7:30 p. m., Rev. T. H. Bunton, of Aberdeen, preached a soul stirring sermon to a crowded house. Paid Presiding Elder, $12.50; pastor, $77.35.

N. Cannon, Fayette, Miss.

Our first quarterly conference was held March 14, 15, by Elder S. A. Cowan. The work is in a healthy condition. The Elder preached three reviving sermons. The SOUTHWESTERN was not forgotten.

M. P. Franklin, St. Martinsville, La.

Our first quarterly conference was held March 21, 22, by our new Presiding Elder, Rev. S. E. H. Morant. Everything went on nicely, and to the satisfaction of all concerned. The church was well pleased with him. The church was packed to overflowing to hear him preach. He preached one of his best sermons and everybody went away rejoicing. Collection $18.75; paid Presiding Elder, $10; pastor, $43.50.

The grand rally at our church in Natchez, Miss., for their new church resulted in the collection of $135. Among the ministers present were Revs. J. C. Hibler, S. A. Cowan, Presiding Elder, and Bro. Buffington, pastor.

T. Larkins, Morgan City, La.

Please correct collections on Easter Sunday. Not $72.25, but $72.5.

G. J. Izard, Richmond, Texas.

Rev. I. B. Scott, D. D., P. E., held his first quarterly conference here April 18. Encouraging reports were presented. The Doctor lectured and preached two sermons of great power. The visible result of the day's work was the reception of ten on probation. Several came forward for prayer. Paid the Presiding Elder, $11.05; pastor, $59.30, and $12 for benevolence. Both Sunday-school and church are spiritually alive.

H. L. Kennedy, Hardsboro, Miss.

Our first quarterly conference was held April 4-5. Rev. B. L. Crump, P. E., preached three sermons. Collection for Presiding Elder, $15; pastor, $58. Protracted meeting closed April 5, with seven accessions to the church, and two converts. Easter collection, $12.

June Lemons, Richmond, Ark.

My beloved Presiding Elder, Rev. H. W. Harris, held my first quarterly conference Saturday and Sunday and preached three soul stirring sermons to a crowded house. Paid Presiding Elder, $6; pastor, $19.45, and we have collected for benevolent purposes $65.00. At night we had about eighteen to come forward for prayers. I am doing all I can for the SOUTHWESTERN.

Thos. Cole, Marshall, Tex.

Prof. S. S. Reed, superintendent, Prof. H. B. Pemberton, of Wiley University, with the assistance of the officers and teachers, carried out the Easter Program to the letter. Collected $38, donation $15; total, $53. The church is alive. We are reaping the harvest of our beloved Brother McMillan's work of 1890. Twelve into full connection, baptized four adults, three deaths. Rev. Wade Hamilton, Presiding Elder, is much beloved. The quarterly conference was a success; $20 for Presiding Elder, $20 for pastor.

J. W. Richmond, McMinnville, Tenn.

Rev. J. P. Price, P. E., held my second quarterly conference April 12. He preached one of his good sermons. Collections during the quarter, $10; received in full, fifteen. Organized one Epworth League with eighteen members and it is doing good work. We have done $35 of repairs on the parsonage; raised for all purposes, $95.35. We are looking out for our new house. The people say the church is in better shape than it has been in fifteen years. We raised $23.35 in our quarterly meeting.

H. J. Wright, Donaldsonville, La.

St. Peter M. E. Church observed and used the Easter service program. There was a good attendance. The church was beautifully decorated. Miss Elsie E. Landry, the superintendent, Miss Alice E. Hampton and Mrs. H. J. Moore, teachers of our Sabbath and day school, took prominent part with the pupils and in the decorations of the church. Miss Hampton is the principal of Donaldsonville Academy, with Miss Landry and Mrs. Moore assistants. These three ladies are heart and soul in the work of lifting our people up. Collections for missions sent off to the missionary treasury, $7.

THE Nebraska Advocate says: "In management for the entertainment of the General Conference, Bishop Newman has displayed a very superior order of generalship as those who are on the inside can testify."

Few men have been so highly honored by those who are without as has Phillips Brooks, the great Boston preacher, who has recently been elected Bishop of Massachusetts by the Episcopal Church. His selection has elicited the praise of the press without respect to sect or party.

OUR types last week made us seem to contradict ourself, as to whether or not we had "any fights to make against the A. M. E. Church." What we meant was that ours, in every case, was self defense. We have no purpose in the world to antagonize the A. M. E. or any other church in the accomplishment of their work, so long as they do not make it a part of their mission to misrepresent us to further their own work.

WE commend to our readers the plan suggested by Dr. Hamilton, in another column, for the establishment of a Veterans' Permanent Fund, for our superannuated preachers. Read it. Those worthy heroes deserve the united energy of the church to make such a plan a permanent and blessed success. And then, we must remember, that we will too soon become such veterans. We become old and disabled like a flash.

THE minister who would not crawl on his hands and knees to proclaim the Gospel to a people who are too poor to pay him, is not worthy of his place, and ought to retire as speedily as possible. On the other hand, the strong and healthy congregation that will solicit and use the time and strength of a financially straitened minister without any thought of material reward, needs to learn some of the first principles of the Gospel, and ought at once to set about the lesson.—Nashville Advocate.

THE Northwestern in commenting upon the Italian imbroglio very pertinently remarks:

"We are embarrassed in this controversy because the men who murdered the Italians in New Orleans previously assented to the existence of the corrupt court machinery which made the acquittal of the Italians possible. The vigor and determination shown by the leaders of the mob might have cleansed the courts, and banished venality from the jury box, if they had addressed themselves to that wiser work. Italy is embarrassed because the murdered Italians belonged to a murderous mafia. The 'white-man's league' in Louisiana has hands as red as those of the mafia. Italy has reason to protest, but her arrogant officials cannot help doing the right thing in the wrong way.

Misrepresentations Corrected.

We emphatically endorse, and commend to our brethren throughout the church, the following resolutions adopted by the Delaware Conference at its recent session in Cambridge, Delaware.

WHEREAS, Many untrue things are said about us, and many misrepresentations made concerning our standing in, and relation to the M. E. Church. And

WHEREAS, These things are done by bishops, preachers and others in Negro religious organizations, when they know their utterances are false and misleading. Therefore,

Resolved, That we realize our status in the M. E. Church to be not that of slaves or inferiors, but peers of the other races constituting the membership of our church.

2d. Resolved, That we most earnestly protest against and denounce the conduct of this class of Negro preachers, who vilify and misrepresent us in the South because of our membership and standing in the M. E. Church, and then go North in disguise, begging for and securing money from our white Methodist people, in order to sustain alien organizations in the South.

3d. Resolved, That we are satisfied with the old vine, and bid the branches God speed in every good work.

4th. Resolved, That we will everywhere enlighten our people upon the benefits accruing to us by reason of our sticking to, and remaining in the great and grand Methodist Episcopal Church, which gives us back for benevolent purposes about five dollars for every one we raise.

Apostles of Retrogression.

No greater curse attends our people than the class of men who are constantly seeking to secure some selfish advantage or other for themselves, which they could not obtain upon the score of merit, by constantly reviving or maintaining the color line, which they pretend to despise so much in white people. The other day Wilberforce University was seeking to do that very thing, to get a few thousand dollars out of the agricultural school fund in Ohio, at the risk of reviving the "black laws" in that State; and now comes a case of a similar character in Illinois. We clip from the Chicago Daily News:

"A HOSPITAL FOR NEGROES.—The colored people of the city are divided on the question of a separate hospital for the race. A few prominent colored men have raised money and will soon open a hospital at 29th and Dearborn streets. The opposing faction is bitterly fighting the undertaking on the ground that it will do much to keep up and foster race prejudice. John J. Jones, a colored attorney, who is antagonistic to separate institutions, says that in all the Chicago hospitals Negroes receive treatment similar to that of the whites. He says that few who have been agitating the matter of a separate hospital have raised money from prominent white people, representing that the masses of the Negroes desired such an arrangement. The lawyer says their motive is not to benefit the race, but to gain some cheap notoriety and make a few dollars for themselves. A series of meetings to protest against the establishment of the hospital will be held."

Another Fraud.

To the editor of the SOUTHWESTERN, 139 Poydras street, New Orleans, La.

My Dear Brother:—I have had several communications of enquiry concerning a young man who is traveling in various parts of the South, representing himself to be from Africa, and connected with the Central Tennessee College. We have several students from Africa and they are in attendance at school, or present in the city. One, calling himself the son of a King Oetawayo, going by the name of Omashaw was here for several weeks during the summer of 1890. It was vacation and he worked for a short time, giving a few lectures about Nashville, making some money, telling the people that he was intending to secure an education and remain here and go to school at the college; under this pretense he aroused considerable sympathy and considerable aid was given him. He left here without any other reason than that he wanted to be traveling, went from here to Memphis and I heard he told the same story there, secured considerable money, aroused considerable friendship and spent his money in questionable places.

He has been traveling through the country representing himself as connected with the Central Tennessee College, which is entirely false.

J. BRADEN.
Central Tennessee College, Nashville, Tennessee.

THE action of the Grand Jury in its failure to find true bills against the lyuohers of the Italians murdered March 14, was so much in keeping with inst what everybody here expected, that we inadvertently failed to call attention to the fact last week. By a process of special pleading the crime was smothered over, and saddled upon the whole community, hence no one was specially amenable (!) This is the kind of justice that all along has been reserved for Negroes. Dagones under the name of the innocents, gave many such doses to that race.

They are now receiving their share of the same medicine. "Vengeance is mine; I will repay saith the Lord." We have no sympathy with lawlessness and mob law; but cannot help reflecting upon the fact of how things are swung in a circle in this world; and how men come to fall into the same pits which they had dug for others. "The Lord God omnipotent reigneth."

THE Negro question has come up with more or less prominence in the Arkansas Legislature this season, and there has been the usual amount of talk about the colored man "knowing his place" and keeping in it. But the climax was reached on last week when in the course of debate a member of the House said in reply to an opponent that the Democrats or his own county were not like the people of Little River county, "who went about shaking hands with niggers." To a certain class of Southern minds no more serious charge could be made than that of "shaking hands with niggers." And it is not to be wondered at that this was the signal for a personal encounter between the parties in question. They were finally separated, but not until one had hurled an ink-stand at the other and received a cuspidore in return. But now that they have fully relieved themselves of the least suspicion of any fondness for shaking hands with "niggers," it is an open question whether the "niggers" would really care to shake hands with either of these members—Central.

The question is hardly an open one. Only a renegade of a Negro would stoop to shake such hands.

THE Central Christian Advocate, very pertinently suggests that "Now that the Pope has given his approval to the coming World's Fair at Chicago that the Roman Catholic Church avail itself of the opportunity of making in the educational department of the fair a thorough exhibit of the parochial school system. The people of this country in particular would like very much to know just what is taught in these schools and how it is taught. All the text books used either by the scholars or teachers should be placed upon exhibition together with the educational appliances, and the methods of instruction should be clearly explained. Here is the chance for the Catholics to show that their schools are all that they claim for them. As the 'godless' public school will be fully represented, this arrangement will enable us to make a very profitable comparison of the two systems."

Will he do it?

"BRING out the old doctrines, make repentance the porch, faith the door, holiness the temple—religion itself; hold that no one of these can be possible without perfect consecration of self and goods."—Bishop Warren.

P. O. Jamison, Starkville, Miss.
It was a success. Collected $29, our full apportionment for the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society, which I have forwarded to Dr. J. O. Hartzell. Also collected $7.70 for church expenses. Total for the day, $36.70.

N. H. Williams, Greenville, Miss.
Grand occasion. Quarto-Centennial Jubilee collection, $13.70.

Geo. W. Lewis, Reidville, Ga.
We observed the Quarter Centennial Jubilee of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society. The program was nicely carried out. Collection, $12.25, our apportionment being only $12. We desire to make special mention of the work done by Sister Nancy Williams. God bless the dear woman. She is a noble worker in the M. E. Church.

N. R. Clay, Aberdeen, Miss.

We celebrated the Quarter Centennial with appropriate addresses and music. Oration by Prof. Geo. W. Drake, late of Jefferson, Tex. The claims of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society were fully and clearly put before our people, as never before, which was fully demonstrated when the collection was taken, which amounted to $50. We have also raised money enough to have the church repainted inside and outside, which cost $150. The financial movement of the church exceeds by far that of any previous year in its history. Rev. F. H. Bunton has awakened the church up all along the line.

B. F. Woolfolk, Providence.

The quarter-centennial of the Freedmen's Aid was celebrated May 10. We had a grand time. Collection, $11.

THE suggestion which we have given touching the wisdom of establishing mission schools in connection with every one of our churches, we rejoice to announce is bearing wholesome fruit in many quarters. The Aberdeen District Herald is fully alive to the importance of the subject. It says: "We have advised our ministers wherever it is practicable to establish in dependent schools. We have several such schools now within the bounds of our district, and we are glad to report favorable results."

This is the only way that the masses can be reached.

Let every pastor and Presiding Elder take hold of the matter until every church becomes or has connected with it a mission school. Teachers can be found whenever needed.

Gov. Tillman of South Carolina, like Gov. Nicholls of this state, refuses to accept that state's share of the federal appropriation for mechanical and agricultural colleges, as stipulated under the law which requires the state to pledge to make an equitable division of the fund between the two races, where separate schools prevail.

This attitude, nearly all the Southern States have taken. They want the money but they do not want the Negro to share equally from its benefit. What an outrageous shame! Secretary Noble however is firm, and will not pay over the money to the states until they accept the conditions.

—Dr. W. L. Davidson, the agent for the South, of the Sunday School Union, is pushing a vigorous campaign of work in Tennessee and Kentucky. Every day and night for five weeks is filled solidly. The Doctor recently spent a week with our church in and about Chattanooga, Tenn. The Methodist Advocate speaks in highest terms of the value and success of his work.

—Rev. W. S. Rollins, has moved from Louisville, Ky., to Indianapolis, Ind. Where he requests correspondents to address him.

—Mrs. M. O. Merritt, for several years a faithful and efficient missionary among our Baptist brethren in this city has had recently to retire from the work on account of failing health. She is now permanently located in Cincinnati, Ohio. The change of climate having greatly improved her health. She has accepted work as pastor's assistant in the Mt. Auburn Baptist Church, of that city. A note from her says: "My prayer goes up daily for the work in New Orleans."

—Secretary Blaine is reported to be quite sick in New York.

—The meeting of the Church Extension Board here last week, brought quite a number of the brethren together at this office, viz. Presiding Elders Williams, Marshall, Landry, Morant. Revs. H. J. Wright of Donaldsonville, T. A. Brown, Zachary, B. Bolden, Boyce, W. S. Harris, F. T. Chinn, E. Lyon, A. J. Pickett of this city, and Bro. A. B. Gibson, of Glencoe.

—Mr. Earl M. Cranston, son of Rev. Dr. Earl Cranston, of the Western Methodist Book Concern, and Miss Florence Pitkin were married in Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, Denver, Col., April 16. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. David H. Moore, assisted by the father of the groom.

—Rev. Dr. Emory J. Haynes, formerly of the Methodist Episcopal Church, but who united with the Baptist Church several years ago, has returned to his first love. At the last session of the New England Conference he made application for membership, was accepted and appointed pastor of the People's Church, Boston.

—Rev. Dr. O. H. Warren, editor of the Northern Christian Advocate, has been confined to his room for two weeks with the grippe. Great is the gripe.

—Rev. C. W. Bennett, D.D., professor of historical theology in Garrett Biblical Institute is dead. Prof. Bennett was one of the able men of our church, and was greatly beloved by his colleagues and students at Garrett Institute. The funeral was attended by a throng of people.

—Rev. Dr. Joseph M. Trimble, of Columbus, Ohio, honored and loved throughout the church, is critically ill.

—Mrs. Sarah Tribbey Baldwin, mother of Mrs. Eliza N. Frye, wife of the editor of the Central, died at Chicago, April 15, in the eighty-eighth year of her age. Mrs. Baldwin had been identified with the Methodist Episcopal Church from her youth.

—Rev. E. B. Clarke, of the Holston Conference, is dead.

—After several weeks absence, holding conferences in the East and attending the Bishop's meeting at New Castle, Ind., Bishop Mallalien returned to this city last Friday. All hearts rejoice to welcome him back home.

—Mrs. Lewis, wife of J. W. Lewis, is quite sick. She is suffering from a cancer. We hope for her speedy recovery.

—The editor goes to Holly Springs Friday afternoon to attend commencement.

Our printer, Mr. James Pendergast has been blessed by the advent of a bright little girl, which arrived Saturday evening. Pendergast is building a nice residence on Barone street, and we congratulate him on such evidences of a smiling Providence.

A SELF-CONCEITED and bombastic editor of a colored paper declares that nobody is battling the difficulties that confront the race "but the few Negro newspaper men." He says:

"The preacher advises him to lay it before God. The teacher has his mouth locked behind a fat salary, while the politician, with but few exceptions, blows for what's in sight."

The Natchez Reporter demolishes the snob with the following caustic retort:

"The truth is, no particular class nor profession of men is fighting the race battle alone, but every one from the least to the greatest is doing his best. The preacher in his study, studying the word of God and lifting up his voice from week to week from the pulpit, for that righteousness that exalteth a nation. The teacher in his school room, imparting culture, decorum and loyalty, is throwing up an impregnable wall in defense of our rights. The business man, standing behind his counter keeping his books, is defending the race against the imputation that as a race we have no business capacity. In fine, the lawyer, doctor, politician, and every honest hard handed toiler, be he ever so humble, is defending, and nobly too, the claims of the Negro to inalienable rights of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, and is there an editor in the land that can do more?"

Old Folk's Home.

The attention of the members of the Louisiana Conference is earnestly invited to pp. 197, 198, La. Conference Minutes 1891; every church in the conference is pledged to raise the money to pay the note of $581.25, which is due on the Old Folk's Home property. This must be paid before June 1, of this year. Unless this is done the $500 paid last year is lost. Pastors and presiding elders, please, please attend to this matter at once and send the money to Rev. J. W. Hilton, president, 139 Poydras street, New Orleans, care of this office.

DAILY BREAD.

Who suffer with our Master here,
We shall before his face appear
And by His side sit down;
To patient faith the prize is sure,
And they that to the end endure
The cross; shall wear the crown.
—Charles Wesley.

Revivals reveal the peculiar talents of heretofore diffident Christians.

Revivals in which the Holy Ghost is honored give permanent results.

Revivals reach some people who could not be moved in any other way.

Revivals inspire the kind of singing that should last all year around.—Selected.

He that made the Captain of your salvation perfect through sufferings, has called you to walk in the same path, and for the same end; namely, that you may learn obedience by the things which you suffer.—John Wesley.

It is a great step towards Christian resignation to be thoroughly convinced of that great truth, that there is no such thing as a chance in the world; that fortune is only another name for providence; only it is covered providence.—John Wesley.

When the son of man shall come in his glory, and assign every man his own reward, that reward will undoubtedly be proportioned, (1) to our inward holiness, our likeness to God; (2) to our works; and (3) to our sufferings.—John Wesley.

I have often found an aptness, both in myself and others, to connect events that have no real relation to each other. So one says, "I am as sure this is the will of God as that I am justified." This is an exceedingly dangerous way of thinking or speaking. We know not what it may lead to. It may sap the very foundation of our religion.—John Wesley.

No man has a right to require a church free from all defects. Such an institution is impracticable in this world. God has chosen the best plan that circumstances allow, to help his people, and it does not become short-sighted men and women to ignore or to find fault with his arrangement, because it is not absolutely perfect.—Rev. J. A. Wood.

There is nothing new in life, yet nature wears always new aspects of beauty and meaning. The sunrise, the sunset, the summer sky, are these not always new? The Gospel is old—from eternity, yet the holy Christ has the dew of his youth. He is forever beautiful, and his words are as fresh as the springs of the morning.—Selected.

Man is always dependent on God for success in his work. God is never dependent on man for his success even in man's sphere of work. Hence man owes everything to God, while God owes nothing to man. It is a privilege to work for God; but he who does best and most for God is "an unprofitable servant" whom God has honored in spite of his unprofitableness.—Selected.

No drunkard shall enter the kingdom of heaven. That Scriptural declaration settles beyond dispute the duty of every Christian man toward the liquor traffic. If we write down murder, drunkenness and blasphemy as sins which shut souls out from heaven, then whoever does not seek to save men from those is not seeking their salvation. Whoever makes it easier to commit these is helping men to perdition. This reasoning will not seem severe to any except to those who are friendly to the whiskey traffic.—Central Baptist.

The genuine revival means that somebody has got a mighty hold on God. It is not an accident, or an incident, but it is a set thing. Somebody has been with God about the matter. Somebody has been bearing sins in a burdened way before God. Somebody has got in dead earnest about the things of sin and salvation. Somebody has become mightily stirred about the coldness, worldliness, deadness of the church, and God has been wrought on by their clamorous desires and burdened sorrowful hearts. The secret of the revival is that somebody has been hiding themselves with God in the secret place.—Selected.

A story of answered prayer is related by Mr. Newberry, who is laboring as a protestant missionary in Italy. He says, "Some years ago one of our helpers out in a country district was in need of money. He had none for a week, and had often been that way before. So his wife came to me and said, 'We must have money. Why don't God provide for us now in our need?' I said, 'Have you not got Jesus Christ? And with him you have all things.' She said there were not even any vegetables in the garden, and it looked as if they must starve. I said we should get down on our knees and pray. We had prayer and while we were on our knees the postman's knock came to the door. Finding no one to take the letter from him, he came up to my room and knocked at the door. He handed me a registered letter, which he could only deliver to myself and receive my signature that I had received it. It contained a remittance from a friend in America who had been blessed at some of our meetings two years ago. So God answered our prayers. If we didn't grumble so much, but praised the Lord for his blessings, he would answer our prayers at the time, and bless us more abundantly than he does.—Selected.

Dr. Scott F. Hershey, pointing out, in an article in the Christian Intelligencer, the dangers of cigarette smoking, says:

"If I was to say that this terrible habit was likely, in the near future, to prove more hurtful to the American race than the drinking habit, it would be thought exceedingly extravagant. Yet this is what I believe; am fully convinced of it, from my scientific studies and experiments and my observation. Every scientific expert's opinion confirms mine.

By way of remedy, Dr. Hershey suggests the following:

1. Parents should exercise proper government with their boys when they are small. A great many boys eight and ten years old are at this work of self-destruction. Parents are responsible in the beginning. They should look upon such things with as much horror as if they would learn their boy had committed a crime. Parental government is too weak.

2. Ministers and teachers, in pulpit and school-room, should get in earnest. I suggest that every minister who reads this preaches in his church the plainest and strongest sermon he can on the subject. Talk plain to parents.

3. Business men should prohibit its use by their employees.

4. Young ladies should assail the habit. They are disgraced at the smell and breath produced by the habit. Let them say so.

A loving word is always a safe word. It may, or it may not, be a helpful word to the one who hears it, but it is sure to be a pleasant memory to the one who speaks it. Many a word spoken by us is afterwards regretted, but no word of affectionate appreciation to which we have given utterance finds a place among our sadly remembered expressions. Looking back over our intercourse with a dead friend or fellow-worker, we may indeed regret that we were ever betrayed into a harsh or hasty or unloving word of censure or criticism in that intercourse, and we may wish vainly that we had now the privilege of saying all the loving words that we might honestly have spoken while yet he was with us; but there will never come into our hearts at such a time a single pang of regret over any word of impulsive or deliberate affection which passed our lips at any time. We have reasons to be on our guard in our speech in most directions, but we can be fearlessly free in our loving utterances. Apart from any question of the good we do to others by our words of love, we are personally the gainers, for now and for hereafter, by every such word which we speak out explicitly; and we are sure to be the losers, now and by-and-by, from every such word which we ought to have spoken and failed to speak.—Selected.

In a large city in Scotland a faithful minister of Christ was one winter's day visiting among the wretched poor. He climbed up into a garret at the top of a very high house. He had been told that there was a very poor old woman there that nobody seemed to know about. He went on climbing till he found his way into that garret-room. As he entered the room he looked around. There was a bed, and a chair, and a table with a candle burning dimly on it, a very little fire on the hearth, and an old woman sitting by it, with a large Testament in her lap. The minister asked her what she was doing there. She said she was reading.

"Don't you feel lonely here?" he asked.

"Na, na," was her reply.

"What do you do here long winter nights?"

"Oh," she said, "I just sit here w' my light and w' my New Testament on my knees, talkin' w' Jesus!"

Gilbert Academy and Agricultural College.

Closing week: May 24-28. Sunday 24, 11 a. m.: The annual sermon, by Rev. W. P. McLaughlin, D.D.

Thursday, 8 p. m.: Graduates, Grammar School. A class of sixteen persons.

W. D. GODMAN, Pres.

The dispatches say that the Commissioners of the State Negro College met on the 10th, in Atlanta and decided upon Savannah, Ga., for the location of a college, Savannah having given a large tract of land and $10,000.

The state of Texas has promised to build a university for colored students, but the Legislature is inert and the people are as dumb as an oyster upon the subject. The law provides for the location of this branch and Austin has been decided upon by a vote of the people. If this institution is not needed now it never will be and the people never will get it unless they make some effort to get it.—Union.

The catalogue of the Meharry Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical Departments of Central Tennessee College, Nashville, Tenn., for 1891, exhibits great prosperity. This excellent institution has already graduated 121 Negro physicians, 14 dentists and 1 master of pharmacy. There were in these several classes the past school year 94 students principally from the South.

May 1st was observed in honor of John McDonough, by the public school children of this city.

When this benefactor of the children left his magnificent gift of $2,000,000 to the cities of Baltimore (his birthplace) and New Orleans (his home for half a century), he expressed a desire in his will that the children of the schools should each spring strew flowers on his grave.

This wish was fulfilled on May 1st, in the 25 McDonough school buildings in New Orleans and the one in McDonoughville across the river, where he died in 1850.

In each of these schools, with memorial services, his bust was decorated with flowers by the children.

These buildings and their furnishings have cost over $900,000, and a large invested fund remains.

There are six colored pupils in the graduating class at Atchison, Kan.

Hon. J. H. Dismukes, of Nashville,

Tenn., a colored man is dean of the Law Department at Central Tennessee College.

The closing exercises of Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., will come off May 31, June 3.

Sunday at 3 p. m., annual sermon by Rev. W. P. Thirkield, D.D., president of Gammon Theological Seminary. June 1, 2, Oral Examinations.

A personal note from Rev. W. H. Hickman, D.D., Atlanta, Ga., says:

"This has been one of the most prosperous years in the history of Clark University. We enrolled 456 students coming from 15 different states. 75 boys in the shops distributed among the 8 different trades. We have sold $15,000 worth of goods, such as wagons, carriages, harnesses, shoes, etc. There were 18 girls in the 'model home' work, and 75 were taught more or less in the principles of home-keeping, nurse-training, etc. Our outlook was never better."

Anniversaries of U. S. Grant University, May 22-28, 1891.

At Athens, Sunday, 24, 11 a. m.—Baccalaureate sermon, Rev. A. H. Tuttle, D.D.

7:45 p. m.—Annual sermon, Rev. J. C. Hartzell, D.D.

Monday, 7:45 p. m.—Address before the Alumni, Rev. D. N. McInturf, A.M.

Tuesday, 8 p. m.—Address before literary societies, by Rev. John Reed Shannon, Ph. D.

Wednesday, Commencement.

The Priscilla Lee Bennett Hall will be dedicated at 3 p. m., Sunday, May 24, by Dr. Tuttle, assisted by Chancellor Spence, Dr. W. L. Hypes, and Dr. J. D. Walsh.

At Chattanooga, Sunday, May 24, 11 a. m.—Baccalaureate sermon by Rev. G. E. Ackerman, D.D.

7:45 p. m.—Sermon before the Young People's Christian Association by Bishop I. W. Joyce, LL. D.; Rev. John Reed Shannon, Ph. D., alternate.

Thursday—Commencement.

Our city public schools will close May 29.

Rev. Dr. W. H. Hickman, president of Clark University, Atlanta, Ga., has been chosen by Dr. Lyman Abbott, chairman, to discuss, at Lake Mohonk Conference, the question of the co-education of the races.

Commencement exercises of Straight University take place at Central Church, this city, May 29, 7:30 p. m. President Oscar Atwood favored us with a kind invitation.

I suffered for more than ten years with that dreadful disease, catarrh, and used every available medicine which was recommended to me. I cannot thank you enough for the relief which Bly's Cream Balm has afforded me.—Emanuel Meyers, Winfield, L. I., N. Y.

We've heard of a woman who said she'd walk five miles to get a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription if she couldn't get it without. That woman had tried it. And it's a medicine which makes itself felt in toning up the system and correcting irregularities as soon as its use is begun.

Go to your drug store, pay a dollar, get a bottle and try it—try a second, a third if necessary. Before the third one's been taken you'll know that there's a remedy to help you. Then you'll keep on and a cure'll come.

But if you shouldn't feel the help, should be disappointed in the results—you'll find a guarantee printed on the bottle-wrapper that'll get your money back for you.

How many women are there who'd rather have the money than health? And "Favorite Prescription" produces health. Wonder is that there's a woman willing to suffer when there's a guaranteed remedy in the nearest drug store.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets regulate the Stomach, Liver and Bowels. Mild and effective.

Obituary.

Carey, Miss.—Sister Rebecca Jefferson was received into Mount Gilliam M. E. Church March 29, and died the next day in full triumph of faith.

On Saturday, May 2, little Pierre Landry Thomas, the eight-year-old son of Mr. Isaac Thomas, died. He was playing with a pistol that had been found by him and another little boy, while Mr. Geo. Thomas, his uncle, was in the field at work, and finding cartridges for the same, they loaded it. It accidentally went off, and the ball lodged in the body of little Pierre, killing him instantly. The funeral was attended by the writer.

Bro. Richard Norris met his class at Solomon's Temple last Sunday and told the members that he would never meet them again in class, and died that night and went home to heaven. D. D. Goodwin, Pastor.

Mexia, Texas.—Bro. Austin Phillip, a member of Whiten Chapel M. E. Church, aged 54 years, departed this life April 11. He leaves six children, and relatives and friends to mourn. J. D. Mead, P. C.

Alleyton, Tex.—Bro. Willie Bracy died in Alleyton April 5. He joined the church in 1884, under Rev. E. Cogswell, and lived a faithful Christian up to his death. He leaves a Christian mother, four brothers, three sisters, and a host of friends to mourn his loss. Rev. Jas. Brawley attended the funeral. G. R. Smith.

Greer's, S. C.—Amanda Francis Robertson, wife of Rev. B. Robertson, departed this life April 16. She died in peace, and leaves a husband and eight children to mourn her loss. B. Robertson.

In Memoriam.

The Epworth League, Chapter 5340, of Chattanooga, Tenn., mourns the loss of Sister Jimima Johnson. They have adopted the following:

Resolved, That we feel very keenly the loss of our sister. We have lost one of our most conscientious and Christian-hearted members, whose bright and smiling face will long be remembered and sadly missed.

Nellie Calloway, A. R. Jackson, Lula C. Henderson, Committee, Wiley Memorial Church, Chattanooga, Tenn.

Pearlington, Miss.—Sister Rebecca A. S. Peters, nee Gilbert, was born Sept. 12, 1865, entered Straight University in November 1879, and was converted and joined Central Church, New Orleans, January 20, 1880. She returned home June 12, 1882, and joined the M. E. Church May 8, 1883. She was married to M. M. Peters, a local preacher of our church. She lived a devoted wife and a consistent Christian. April 23, the wheel of life stood still.

Sister Emily Avery departed this life April 23. She was a faithful member of the M. E. Church. She leaves a husband, father, sisters, brothers, three children, and a host of friends to mourn her loss. She told her husband to meet her in heaven. Her funeral was preached by the writer.

O. H. Flowers, P. C.

Canton, Miss.—Sister Fannie Davis, the wife of Rev. P. H. Davis, pastor of Canton charge, departed this life May 7, in full triumph of faith. She was a member of the M. E. Church ten years. She leaves a husband, four children and a host of friends to mourn her loss. She told her husband to take good care of the children and bring them home to heaven. Her funeral was preached by Rev. R. McAlpin. Her remains were carried to Brandon, Miss. Rev. P. H. Davis was accompanied by Rev. R. McAlpin and many friends from Canton.

Bro. Chatman Jones, after some time struggling with disease, March 26, entered that rest that remaineth for the people of God.

Bro. London Red, more than a hundred years of age, and whose membership in the church was of long standing, died April 8.

The importance of purifying the blood cannot be overestimated, for without pure blood you cannot enjoy good health.

At this season nearly every one needs a good medicine to purify, vitalize, and enrich the blood, and we ask you to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. It strengthens and builds up the system, creates an appetite, and tones the digestion, while it eradicates disease. The peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation of the vegetable remedies used give to Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiar curative powers. No other medicine has such a record of wonderful cures. If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other instead. It is a Sarsaparilla, and it is worthy your confidence.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Our Children's Legion.

For Our Boys and Girls.

BY UNCLE CEPHAS.

Dear Uncle Cephas: Father takes the SOUTHWESTERN, and I take great pleasure in reading it to him. We had a grand time Easter. Rev. Neal preached at 11 o'clock, Rev. Anderson at 3, and our pastor at night, his name is Rev. Quinn. We all like him so very much. He lost his sister last month.

YOUR NEPHEW,
M. C. HOUGH.

Derola, Miss.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I go to Sunday school every Sunday. I am the secretary. Our superintendent's name is Mr. Wesley McNeil, we like him very much. Our pastor's name is Rev. A. Davis. There was some questions asked by one of my cousins: How many letters does the Bible contain? How many words? How many chapters? It contains 592,430 words, 1,189 chapters, 3,586,489 letters. Will some one tell me how many times the word Jehovah is found in the Bible? What is the middle book? The middle chapter?

Your Nephew,

EDDIE W. HENNINGTON.
Crystal Springs, Miss.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I am a little girl 6 years of age. My mother and father belong to the M. E. Church. Rev. W. Ellison is our pastor. I am glad when his preaching day comes, so he can teach us on the step-ladder cards. Mr. Z. Boren is our superintendent. Mama takes the SOUTHWESTERN, and she reads to me every week Our Children's Legion.

Your Niece,
HANNA J. CROWL.

Palmetto, Tenn.

Dear Uncle Cephas: Little country girls have not the chance to receive an education like little girls living in town, but I will try to do my best for the first time. As I grow older I will try to improve and do better. If the letter is only printed it will greatly encourage me. My mother is a member of the M. E. Church, and tries to live up to the rules of the church, and instruct her children all that's in her power, by telling us we must worship God and love him with all of our hearts. Rev. H. Henderson is our present pastor, Rev. I. C. Rucker our beloved preacher of last year has been removed. How we all missed him! Miss Agnes Gant is a nice young lady who is trying all in her power to instruct the little children. I hope she will receive her reward in heaven for the good she is doing on earth. Love to all the little cousins.

Your Niece,
SARAH ELIZABETH PAGE.

We have made arrangements with the Chicago Manufacturing Company to supply one of their first-class Singer machines for only $14 cash. We will order a machine like the cut here shown, and send the SOUTHWESTERN a full year besides! It is a handsome oil-polished walnut, of latest design, Gothic cover, with beautiful panels, four end drawers and a swing drawer, nickel-plated, and warranted five years.

Each Machine is furnished with the following equipment: One Foot Hemmer, One Oil Can with Oil, One Gauge, and Sewer, One extra Check Spring, One Package of Needles, Five Bobbins, One Locker, One Foot Ruler, One Set of Press Hemmers, four different styles, up to one-eighth of an inch, One Binder and One Thread Cutter, The Improved Tension, and Thread Liberator is used on this Machine. The manufacturers offer to refund the money if purchaser is not fully satisfied with the machine.

We receive many letters inquiring about the sewing machine premium, and how to obtain it. In order that all may understand the matter, we state in addition to the announcement, that remittances should be made to Hunt & Eaton, 139 Poydras street, either by check, money order, or by express, naming the nearest or most convenient freight depot to which it is to be sent. Then we order the factory in Chicago to ship the machine. The company ships it, and receives from the railroad a bill of lading which, with the warranty, is sent to us, and which we send to the subscriber. This bill of lading is good and sufficient evidence that the machine has been forwarded, and holds the railroad company responsible for its safe delivery at the station named as its destination, and in due time, save unavoidable delays. In case of loss the bill of lading which caused its loss is responsible, under the laws of the land. If not arriving in due time, show the bill of lading to the station agent and he will look it up. Don't give up the bill of lading, but it may be shown to the railroad agent. All orders are sent the same day as received, and the bill of lading is sent to the subscriber the same day we get it. We started this scheme with a view to helping our patrons, and shall carefully and faithfully carry out our part of the agreement in every case.

The Best Result.

Every ingredient employed in producing Hood's Sarsaparilla is strictly pure, and is the best of its kind it is possible to buy. All the roots and herbs are carefully selected, personally examined, and only the best retained. So that from the time of purchase until Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared, everything is carefully watched with a view to attaining the best result. Why don't you try it?

The New Orleans Picayune is one of the newest and most reliable papers published. Its Editorials are indelible and timely; it gives all the news without fear or favor; its Associated Press and Special Southern Telegrams cover all important Foreign and Domestic News; its Commercial and Market Reports are complete and are accepted standards; its Letters from New York and Paris, and the Special Contributions of Pearl Rivers, Catharine Cole, Mollie Moore Davis, Jennie Jane, Marie Points and others are unfailing sources of interest and information and are of a high order of literary merit. The Picayune is printed in clear, new type, of size sufficient to be read without straining the eye.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

Of Pure Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites Of Lime and Soda.

There are emulsions and emulsions, and there is still much skimming with which manufacturers as cream. Try as they will many manufacturers cannot so disguise their cod liver oil as to make it palatable to sensitive stomachs. Scott's Emulsion of PURE SCOTCH WHISKY COGNAC LIVER OIL, combined with Hypophosphites is almost as palatable as milk. For this reason, as well as for the fact of the stimulating qualities of the Hypophosphites, Physicians frequently prescribe it in cases of CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, BRONCHITIS and CHRONIC COUGH or SEVERE COLD. All Druggists sell it, but be sure you get the genuine, as there are poor imitations.

IN THE SPRING

AVOID SICKNESS BY PURIFYING THE BLOOD AND TONING UP THE SYSTEM.

Dr. KING'S ROYAL GERMETUER

Does this more pleasantly, more safely and more surely than any other remedy known to medical science.

THESE FIVE THINGS

In which it differs from ordinary medicines, account largely for its wonderful popularity.

1. It does not taste like medicine. It is as pleasant as lemonade, and, sweetened, makes a most refreshing drink. Persons who object to all other medicines, take this with real pleasure because it is good.

2. It never nauseates. The most delicate stomach finds in this a perfect remedy without a single objection.

3. It never purges or gives diarrhea for another. It does not set up any form of disease in order to relieve another, as is the case with so many deadly drugs.

4. It does not patch simply. It cures. It reaches, as nothing else does, to the hidden sources of disease in the blood, and removes the cause. It does this with an ease and power that has never been equaled.

5. It is harmless, and may be safely given to a babe and a young child. It is free from alcohol and Opium.

All persons living in malarial districts should keep this great family remedy on hand. It will break any fever in less time than quinine and antipyretic, and leave none of their unpleasant and harmful effects.

For Malaria, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Debility, Kidney and Liver troubles, and all the Diseases, there is nothing to be compared with it.

For Ladies and Children it is the best. Circulars with testimonials, etc., mailed free. For sale by druggists and by K. T. Williams, agent, 202 Canal street, New Orleans.

Price: prepaid, $1 per bottle; six bottles for $5. By permission we refer to the Manager of this paper.

In Its Worst Form.

I BENTON, La. Co., Wia, Dec. '88. Rev. J. C. Bergen writes for the following: James Koenig, who was suffering from St. Vitus Dance in its worst form for about 14 years, was treated by several physicians without effect. Two bottles of Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic cured him.

St. Francis, Wia, Oct. 24, 1888. A member of my congregation used Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic with good results. The patient was so nervous that he could not find sleep for weeks. He suffered from the most intense anxiety, which he based on insanity. I gave the person some of Koenig's Nerve Tonic and he continued to use it. The anxiety returned gradually, the anxiety disappeared, the headache left, and to-day the sufferer, who had almost despaired, is enjoying excellent health.

SECOND QUARTER—Lesson VIII. Captivity of Israel. 2 Kings 17. 6-18. Commit to memory verses 16, 18. May 24, 1891. B. C. 730-721.

GOLDEN TEXT.

Because ye hath forsaken the Lord, he hath also forsaken you. (2 Chron. 24. 20.)

LESSON HYMN, S. M.

Ab, how shall fallen man Be just before his God? If he contend in righteousness, We sink beneath his rod.

The mountains, in thy wrath, Their ancient seats forsake; The trembling earth deserts her place, Her rooted pillars shake.

Ah, how shall guilty man Contend with such a God? None—none can meet him, and escape, But through the Saviour's blood.

Time—B. C. 730-721.

Places.—1. Samaria, the capital of the kingdom of Israel. 2. The distant point to which captive Israelites were sent.

Rulers—Hoshea, the last king of Israel; Shalmaneser and Sargon, the kings of Assyria.

Connecting Links.—The captivity of Israel described in this lesson is the fulfillment of the prophecy given in the last. The "ninth year of Hoshea's reign" (B. C. 721) was the date of the second invasion of Israel and the utter destruction of the kingdom of the Ten Tribes. But in the first year of Hoshea's reign Shalmaneser had also invaded Israel and carried many away captive, and the two invasions are together alluded to in the lesson before us. The second siege of Samaria lasted three years, and was probably conducted personally by Shalmaneser. Meanwhile his prolonged absence from his capital enabled the usurper Sargon to seat himself on the throne, and it was to this new sovereign Sargon, and not to Shalmaneser, that Samaria at last surrendered.

QUESTIONS FOR HOME STUDY

1. Disobedience, v. 6-12.

What king conquered Samaria?

Where were the Israelites taken?

Under what King of Israel did this occur?

Against whom had Israel sinned?

Whose evil example had they followed?

Of what secret sins had they been guilty?

Where had they set up idols?

Where did they burn incense?

What provoked the Lord's anger?

What forbidden thing did they do?

2. Warning, v. 13-17.

By whom had God warned the people?

What had the prophet said?

In spite of this, what had the people done?

What had they rejected, and what chosen?

What false Gods did they make and worship?

To what evil did they compel their sons and daughters?

For what did they sell themselves?

What warning is given to each of us? (Luke 13. 3)

3. Doom, v. 18.

How did Israel's sin affect the Lord?

How did he punish them?

Who alone was left in the land?

What was the reason for this doom? (Golden Text.)

TEACHINGS OF THE LESSON.

Where in this lesson are we taught:

1. The power of evil associations?

2. The nature of true repentance?

3. That God hates sin?

HOME WORK FOR YOUNG BE-REANS.

Give the names of the kings of Israel who were most noticeable for their idolatry?

Give the names of the kings of Judah who sinned most in this way?

Find how many years after the destruction of the kingdom of Israel the kingdom of Judah was destroyed?

THE LESSON CATECHISM.

[For the entire school.]

1. Who removed the Israelites from their beautiful land? The King of Assyria.

2. How had some of the Israelites sinned? By worshipping images that represented the true God.

3. How had the rest sinned? By worshipping false gods.

4. To what does false worship always tend? To wickedness of life.

5. What was the result of Israel's idolatry? The Lord was very angry with Israel.

6. Who really removed the Israelites from their beautiful land? Their offended God.

7. What is the Golden Text? Because thou hast forsaken, etc. Doctrinal Suggestion—National iniquity.

THE CHURCH CATECHISM.

56. What is regeneration? It is the new birth of the soul in the image of Christ, whereby we become the children of God. (Eph. 1. 5; John 1. 12-13; 3. 6; Eph. 4. 24; 1 John 3. 2.)

57. What is sanctification? Sanctification is that act of divine grace whereby we are made holy. (1 Thess. 5. 23; Eph. 1. 4; Col. 1. 22; Heb. 13. 12)

We've heard of a woman who said she'd walk five miles to get a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription if she couldn't get it without. That woman had tried it. And it's a medicine which makes itself felt in toning up the system and correcting irregularities as soon as its use is begun. Go to your drug store, pay a dollar, get a bottle and try it—try a second, a third if necessary. Before the third one's been taken you'll know there's a remedy to help you. Then you'll keep on and a cure'll come. But if you shouldn't feel the help, should be disappointed in the results, you'll find a guarantee printed on the bottle-wrapper that'll get your money back for you.

How many women are there who'd rather have the money than health? And "Favorite Prescription" produces health. Wonder is that there's a woman willing to suffer when there's a guaranteed remedy in the nearest drug store.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets regulate the Stomach, Liver and Bowels. Mild and effective.

The Great American Problem.

OUR BROTHERS IN BLACK.

Bishop Haygood's Address at the Claflin University.

ORANGEBURG, S. C. April 30.—Bishop Atticus G. Haygood delivered an address before Claflin University to-day, which was in many respects a most remarkable effort. To-day was commencement day at Claflin, and the patrons of the institution were here from all over the state to attend the exercises and to hear the annual address of Bishop Haygood, who for nine years past has been the managing agent of the million dollar Slater Fund for promoting the education of the colored race in the United States. To-day he closed his stewardship of that fund, and retires to devote his whole time to his duties as Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, to which he has recently been elected.

His address to-day was his farewell to Claflin, an institution in which he is deeply interested and to whose support he has generously contributed from the fund under his charge. Bishop Haygood is too widely known as an author and preacher to need an introduction. His book, "Our Brother in Black," has given him the first place among scholars who have mastered, or attempted to master, the great problem of Negro education and its effect upon the relation of the two races to each other. There is probably no man living who is so thoroughly posted upon all the details of this question, and who had the opportunity of informing himself as Bishop Haygood. The immense audience which assembled to hear him, therefore, were prepared to regard him as one having authority to speak upon this subject, but it is safe to say that there was no one present to hear so powerful an exposition of it as he gave.

THE ADDRESS

was wholly extemporaneous, and was delivered with that simplicity of style which marks true eloquence. As he candidly remarked in his opening words: "Where my talk will carry me to or where I will come out I have no idea at all. I will speak until you get tired and then quit." Continuing he said: "I was satisfied nine years ago that one of the prime necessities of our American people pre-eminently for the Southern States was the education of the Negro race.

NOTHING TO RETRACT.

Nine years ago I believed that it was a sacred duty to help forward this work. On this subject I have made first and last about three hundred speeches, and I have shed oceans of ink in writing and arguing and begging and pleading for this cause. Not a word of all I have ever said as to the necessity, as to the duty, as to the practicability, as to the usefulness of educating this race have I this day to take back. Nor have I a single statement on this subject to qualify except as the experience of nine years would lead me to make the statement more emphatic. * * * But this I must say, and I say with a glad heart and a clear conscience, I have done my best, and if I were beginning to-day to do that nine years' work on this line, I don't believe I could do anything better except as the training and special knowledge I have acquired might help me to do it.

A MATCHLESS RECORD.

There are a great many things I would like to refer to this morning that are precluded by the lack of time. Some bare, naked statements I must submit without thinking them out. Some assertions I must submit without the detailed proof. It would take until the going down of the sun to finish it up right, and I want to say first of all as a broad statement, of which I feel absolutely certain, that in the history of the human race there is no chapter that matches the chapter that records the effort which has been made to educate the Negro race in the Southern States since 1865. Match it if you can anywhere! That is a great deal to say, and perhaps I had better offer a bit of proof about it. Twenty-six years ago there were not enough of these people who could read worth counting. Where one could read a thousand could not. So far as the argument goes this whole race at the close of the war was an untalented, illiterate race so far as knowledge of books goes. There are a few people living to-day who began this work before the thunders of war had fairly ceased, but most of the veterans of the first few years have gone to heaven. There was no other place for such people to go.

MISS MARTHA SCHOFIELD.

In touching upon the work of the pioneers in the work of educating the Negro, Bishop Haygood paid a high compliment to Miss Martha Schofield. The man who knows her, he said, and does not honor her, is a bad man. I count it a benediction in my life that I became to know Miss Schofield well. I am a better man to-day because I have known her. Resuming his line of argument, Bishop Haygood continued: As I have said, there is no chapter that matches this one. When these veterans began their work this was an illiterate race. I will not tire you with a long string of statistics. I will give you a few summary statements, and some of you who have note books had better take them down to look at when you get dispirited and think your race has a poorer chance in the world than it really has. I have it from the commissioner of the United States Commission on Education himself, Mr. Harris, not over three weeks ago, that there are in the Southern States

OVER TWENTY-ONE THOUSAND SCHOOLS for colored people, forming part of the public school system of the Southern States. There was a time, only twenty-five years ago, when there was not a single school of that sort in all this country. In these schools for colored people to-day are enrolled more than 1,100,000 boys and girls. I will give you another statement, not so precise, because it comes from the late census, which I fear is not reliable in any respect. To-day not less than 2,250,000 colored people in the Southern States can read. Match that chapter in the history of any country in twenty-five years! When did it ever happen before that in less than one generation two and a quarter millions of an illiterate race were taught to read? [Applause] It is something to applaud about, my friends. You had far better applaud that fact than if I made you a sky-scraping speech and thundered to you about the pyramids and Socrates and Caesar. There is more concentrated eloquence in the statements that there are in the Southern States 21,000 schools for the colored race, that 1,100,000 of your children are enrolled in those schools and that more than two and a quarter millions of your people can read, than anything I could say to you.

HIGHER EDUCATION.

I have made a careful estimate and there are about seventy institutions in the Southern States where what is called higher education is taught; where after the course is completed the young man or woman is prepared to teach his or her people. Engaged in these schools are about 1,000 men and women as teachers and 16,500 scholars. I have been intimately connected with forty of them, and it has been my duty to study them and the people in charge of them. Among so many teachers there are some trifling men, of course, but take them all in all, I undertake to say that they are trained and qualified for their work, that they are diligent, faithful people, and what to me is most cheering of all, I do not know a single one of these higher training schools for colored people in the South, with possibly one exception, that is not under Christian influence. We ought to take heart and be encouraged. Nine hundred qualified men and women under Christian influence preparing the teachers for a whole race of people! Aye, there is hope.

I have absolute faith in the power of Christian education, in the providence of God, to solve any problem which the human race ever tackled. You need not be thinking of this perplexity and that. I know as much and more about it than you do. I have been mixed up with it and, being a Southern man, I have had the opportunity for studying it. And if you ask me how I am going to solve the race problem, I say pardon me! It is not my business to solve it. What are you going to do about it? You say. I am going, by the help of God, to keep on doing right. I am going to keep on trying to help everybody, black and white, who needs the help that I can give. Therefore, when Southern or Northern, white or colored people talk to me about perplexities of this sort and that, and of solving the problem of the relations of the races in the future, the only thing I say is to do right to-day and let God attend to his future as he has attended to his past. I have absolute faith in Christian education, and no sort of faith in any other kind of education. I think the great school that does not honor God and believe in the Lord Jesus Christ and teach his moralities, the greater it is the greater the curse of it.

Old John F. Slater when he laid down a round million of dollars to help you folks had less metaphysics and more common sense in what he said about it than any man I ever heard of. He just said a few things like this. I want to help these people with their education. I want to help the schools and I want to help the most in the quickest way. I want to help the schools where the teachers are made and industry is honored. But he put this in above all. I want it all under Christian influence. And if I had found in my travels an infidel, or a deist, or an agnostic, or a fool at the head of one of these colleges I would not have given him ten cents. I do not mention this chapter in your history to make you prond, but to make you humble, to encourage you, to cheer you, to give you hope for the future. Oh! how much hope has to do with the life of a man! How much hope has to do with the progress of a race and the history of a people!

I bring you to-day not my speculations or philosophy. I bring you to-day the brilliant facts of a wonderful history, the Gospel of hope and good cheer. Lift up your hearts, O ye people! Look to the future with courage! Look to it with hope! Upon what will you base your hope? Upon your desires? They are vain! Upon your ambition? That is foolish! Bottom your hope for the future on the facts of history that God has made for you. Then you can be sure it will be a hope that will not disappoint you.

BE GRATEFUL TO GOD AND MAN.

I lay it down as a fundamental maxim in religion, morals and human philosophy that no man who is ungrateful to God for yesterday will trust God for to-morrow. No man who is not trusting God for his past will trust him for his future, nor will any people. An ungrateful man is a hopeless man. An ungrateful race is a hopeless race. I want a hope to be born in your hearts that will never die for the progress, the success, the Christian ennoblement of your race in this country. A man speaking to me the other day of the colored people said: How far can they go in education? I said, I don't know. They have not been going long enough for me to know. I don't know and I don't care. I shall be glad to see them go as far as they can. If there shall rise up amongst them an orator that shall rival Demosthenes I will applaud him when I hear him. If there shall come forth a poet who shall rival Milton I will read him with delight. I thank God that among my faults, and I have plenty of them, I have not that one which makes me afraid for a man who has not had my chance to have any chance at all for fear he should get ahead of me. Let the future as to education and training and Christian ennoblement, and all that belongs to Christian manhood and womanhood, be as great and glorious and large as it may be, hope for all things, for God has never failed you yet. [Applause.]

PREPARING THEM FOR FREEDOM.

Now I am going to say a thing or two that you will shake your heads at. But you may shake as much as you please if you will only think of them when I am gone. When I talk about gratitude for the past a great many colored people go back to the Emancipation Proclamation and their gratitude begins there. You certainly ought to be grateful for all that. If I were in your place I would be. But what do you stop there for? Why don't you go back one hundred years? Why don't you go back two hundred years? You say I have nothing to be grateful for before the war! Are you sure of that? What did we know of Africa three hundred years ago? Nothing!

When I was a school boy Mitchell's Atlas had one-half of that continent marked "desert," and 28,000 population, (1) showing by the interrogation that they were guessing at it. And they missed it by 200,000,000. That was as late as 1847. We know something of it to-day. I have just finished reading Stanley's two books. They were written by a hero, and by one of God's men, although he may not know it—the man who has blazed the way for civilization in that great and vast continent. What does he tell us? Of a vast population of people in a savage condition, ignorant, superstitious, cruel, idolatrous, some of them cannibals.

Eight or ten months previous to the war, while I was in the depot at Atlanta, I saw on their way to Texas about forty of the black people who were brought over on the bark Wanderer, almost the last, if not the very last, ship that brought captured Negroes from Africa to make them slaves in this country. What were these people? They were black people, men and women. They didn't know anything in the world except that they were away from home. They only knew enough of the English language to ask for food.

I am not here to ask any of you to fall in love with slavery. I don't love it any more than you do. If I am not too good to want it back, I am too selfish. It hurt me more than it did you. Why do I speak of these people—these poor, ignorant, savage people I saw in the depot in Atlanta? To let you see what your great, great grand parents were in Africa.

THE CONTRAST.

And here you are to-day in this college on this commencement day! Here you are, with all the glorious hope of this occasion, as far above those people as I am above the naked old Britons who used to run wild through the woods. My ancestors were naked savages too. The difference is, we got out of it sooner than you did. William the Conqueror ran over my ancestors and whipped them and made slaves of them. But we have turned them down now and the Saxon leads the world. What has this to do with hope? You folks believe in the Bible, don't you? You cling to that; that is your sheet anchor, and don't you listen to anybody who talks to you about your people, who don't believe in God and the Bible.

Let us go back in that old history to a wonderful scene. Israel has been three hundred years in slavery in Egypt. They had been brought out. God was giving his law through Moses. Suppose God had said: I am the Lord thy God that three months ago found out that you were in trouble in Egypt and got thinking about you and I have brought you out and you must trust me forever. How would that sound? No, but he said: "I am the Lord God of thy fathers." That gave five hundred years of wonderful history and all the ages back of it. In the great heart and thoughts of God they had been with him always. He was their God when he called Abraham out of Ur of the Chaldees. He was their God when they were making brick and building cities for Pharaoh, and never forgot them one hour. Do you believe all that? ["Yes! Yes! Lord!"]

EMANCIPATED AT THE PROPER TIME.

Now do you believe this? God would have brought them out one hundred years before if they had been ready. When they were prepared for emancipation, when they had learned the arts and trades of Egypt and were ready, not a day before nor a day after they were ready God brought them out of Egypt and set them up to be a people. And so it was that not one year before and not one year too late did God bring about emancipation to you people. The great eternal chronometer that never runs down struck the hour for you at the right time. Suppose that your great great-grandfathers in South Carolina had just come from Africa, and suppose they had been set free, as you were in 1865, what could they have done? They couldn't have made a hoe hill; they couldn't have broken a South Carolina mule and a Texas pony would have broken every one of their necks. [Laughter.] They didn't know the English language. At the end of the war 4,500,000 of them knew the language so well that Miss Schofield began organizing schools amongst you before the thunders of war had ceased.

What could you have done one hundred years ago? Why you would have starved to death. Look at the work of these students in all the industrial departments of this institution and compare that work with the sticks hardened in the fire with which your African ancestors attempted to scratch the soil and raise a few beans. Suppose you had been turned loose before you knew those things, would you have been here to-day? God never forgot you in the past and never made a single blunder about you. Trust him with all your hearts and do not be afraid.

Hope and gratitude go together. When the Israelites crossed the Jordan they raised a monument which they called Ebenezer. Looking backward it told of a history bright with the providence of God, and looking forward it recorded a prophesy glorious with his promises. Build your Ebenezer and put the year 1865 on it. Let one side look back to your history and say: Hitherto the Lord did help us; and let the other side say: He who has faithfully in the past, in spite of hardship and trouble and bitter training, brought us ready to be freemen, will make us freemen by the truth in Jesus.

THE PREJUDICE TO COLORED EDUCATION.

There are some folks who are opposed to the education of the colored race, but they are not known outside of the hamlets where they were born. There is not any respectable newspaper that reflect the sentiments of thoughtful public men that oppose it. There was a time when there was an immense to-do about it, but the result of this discussion has been to increase the number of your friends, and to hush almost entirely the voice of objection to your education. The fixed result of all the work that has been done in the cause of colored education is to convert the Southern white man to the belief that it don't breed an earthquake or cyclone for a Negro to learn to read. That is not all talk. South Carolina white men pay a large majority of the taxes, and there is not a man running for office to-day who would say down with the public schools, because the Negroes have a chance at them. Her Governors recommend and her Legislatures appropriate money to help Claflin. What is $5,000? you may say. It is nothing in itself, but when it comes with the recognition and approval of the grand old Commonwealth of South Carolina it means more for your future than a million out of old Slater's pocket.

Bishop Haygood cited the case of the recently established colored college in Savannah as a branch of the University of Georgia, and claimed that it indicated a miraculous change in the sentiments of the Georgia people. That sort of thing, he said, was not going to turn backward.

WHO PAYS FOR THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS? My people of the South have their faults, but if there is to be any hard talking about them I will do it myself. These white people down South are no common folks. People who could fight as hard as they did for four years can do anything they try to do, when God but gives them the chance. There is pluck, and bravery and endurance in them, and there is obstinacy in them, too. When we start we don't stop. The public school system for all the Southern States for the education of the colored people costs seven millions of dollars a year. Who pays for that? You know who pays for it! The

Letters from the Districts.

First District Conference, Holly Springs, District, Upper Mississippi Conference.

H. R. REVELS, P. E.

Will be held at Oxford, Miss., June 4, 5, 6, 7.

Preaching on Thursday night by Rev. C. W. Whitehead; alternate, Rev. S. D. Troupe, after which the conference will be organized.

The time of this conference will be chiefly employed in the discussion of questions pertaining to ecclesiastical polity, and especially that of our own church. The propriety of this course is apparent from the fact that we have many young promising preachers in this district who by such a discussion will be greatly assisted in properly understanding and administering the Discipline.

I find that many difficulties in some of the charges of this district result from the lack of such information as the above named discussion will yield; and in order that it may be thorough and instructive, I advise the brethren, and especially pastors, to read and study, as earnestly as they can, the Discipline of the M. E. Church, during the time intervening between this date and the conference.

The conference sermon will be preached on Friday night, the 5th, by Rev. J. N. C. Coggan; alternate, Rev. C. W. Butler.

On the 5th a statistical session will be held, commencing at 2:30 p. m., and as the business of this session will be to apportion to the charges the amount to be raised respectively for benevolent purposes, all pastors of charges should be present at that session.

The forenoon of each day will be employed in listening to the reports from pastors and discussing questions of law.

The candidates in the different courses of study will do well to prepare for a thorough examination on the same, and the examining committees are earnestly requested to be present on the morning of the second day of the conference. And as we do not name who will be called to preach on Saturday night, and at 11, 3 and 7 o'clock Sunday, it would be wise in each preacher to be prepared to preach if called upon to do so.

Huntsville District, Texas Conference.

F. PARKER, P. E.

Having made my first round over the Huntsville district, Texas Conference, I rejoice to report general progress.

Revs. W. L. Duncanson, L. J. Hogan, H. Dickson, C. G. Curtis, L. Felder, E. Holliday, T. Scott, E. Kelley, and S. H. Grant, observed Easter Sunday as Missionary Day with glowing results for missions. The church houses were beautifully decorated with flowers and pictures. Their essays, songs and music were all of a high tone.

Easter Sunday for missions, Children's Day in June for education, Jubilee Service Day, May 10, for Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society, and Good Tidings Day, October, as anniversaries of the M. E. Church, are days which lie deep down in my heart for obvious reasons. Dear pastors, to observe these blessed anniversaries as required by our church is simply putting more money for the treasurers' use and education of our members. Let every preacher from now on order programs from our invaluable book houses just as often as these days come, and study out the music, sing the sweet songs, preach sermons, lift collections, and thereby do your honest part in solving the great problem of salvation. By doing these things you will command greater respect from the people you serve.

At Dodge Circuit, Colmesneil, Willis and Livingston, good church bells have been secured by Bros. L. J. Hogan, T. Ward, C. G. Curtis and S. Kelly. It is delightful in traveling over the district hearing the chiming sounds of these bells calling our members to duty.

The church parsonage at Huntsville has been made almost entirely new, under the directions of Bro. Duncanson.

Bro. Hogan is building a good parsonage in Dodge Circuit.

Besides these, at almost every point the membership has been wonderfully built up, as are the Sunday schools. Cash subscribers to the blessed old SOUTHWESTERN are being taken at about all the circuits and stations. Bro. S. H. Grant, Cold Springs Circuit, leads the van in soliciting subscribers for this invaluable church paper. To say the least, my preachers are succeeding.

Rev. M. M. Mndrew was appointed by Bishop Foss to Corriggan Circuit, but refused to serve his work, so I was compelled to use a local preacher. He is doing a desirable work.

We have three church houses, one parsonage, seventy five members, three lively Sunday schools, and a large following of liberal hearted sinner friends.

April 20 I succeeded in raising $23, and bought over two thousand feet of lumber with the same, to continue the work on our new church house in Corriggan, 24x40 feet.

Bro. Mndrew has made a decided mistake, for which I am sorry, but the cause must and will roll on. Brethren, forward your money, as soon as you collect them, to the treasurers of the church, invariably, for it is needed.

Announce well for each quarterly conference, that all the members may be present and take the Lord's Supper every quarter at least. Continue to keep all honest and just claims before our people. Give your Woman's Home Mission sisters work to do. Don't neglect this society.

Baton Rouge District.

J. F. MARSHALL, P. E.

In taking charge of this district, March 14, it was a pleasure to meet the preachers and people from beginning to end.

The preachers seem to have taken hold with a determination to succeed, and the people rally with a will that makes one happy to see. It is not necessary nor prudent to mention the names of thirty preachers in this article; but suffice it to say that each preacher is trying to do his duty, and that as a general thing the people are pleased with and are working in harmony with their pastors.

As time passes, and something of interest transpires, each charge and preacher will receive due mention.

Clinton is a town with some antiquated features, but we have a royal class of people here, and pastor St. James serves them with a glad heart. It was cheering to the pastor's family and Presiding Elder to be visited at a late hour one night, after weary heads had not long been pillowed to rest, by a happy band of Christians, whose sweet music and well laden baskets made the hours fly by with lightness. Bros. J. A. Morton and R. C. Wishom are to blame for this intrusion.

At the Plains, where Bro. T. A. Brown has built, with his own hands, a church which for neatness and beauty would grace any town, I found them making floral decorations for Easter, which when complete were very fine. This is a good people and good work, and the pastor is highly esteemed.

We have been talking salvation all through the district. Many say later in the season, when the crops are laid by, is the best time for revival efforts. This, no doubt, is true so far as human agencies go. But why not keep up a revival spirit at all the services and garner as many souls for the Lord as possible now, for fear that the devil will reap too large a harvest of souls before the summer comes and goes.

It is encouraging to report that at Minson, Bro. D. G. Pharris has had a revival resulting in a number of converts.

Rosedale, Plaquemine, Bayou Goula, Baton Rouge, Jackson and Slaughter, with pastors E. Harris, J. D. Love, Joe Jones, W. R. Butler, J. A. Tircnit and A. A. Lacey, have all been visited with the "power from on high" for the saving of souls.

Let us continue in this good work, brethren, until all the churches awake to their most important duty—the bringing in the lost ones.

We will meet again soon

Monroe District.

S. PRIESTLEY, P. E.

All the brethren are at their work and have taken hold to make this year a grand success. None of the appointments were a mistake.

Up to date all the first quarterly conferences are far in advance of last year, financially and spiritually.

Jones Chapel and Millhaven are still talking of building new churches. Bastrop and Mer Rouge seem to bloom. Washington Chapel is springing up again. No bo has a new parsonage and looks promising. At Mt. Sinai and Butcher we have a man that leads God's host and sticks to the law. At Monroe the quarter had to be put off.

The pastors are making great preparations for the district conference at Bastrop, Aug. 21.

Texarkana District, Arkansas Conference

A. J. PHILLIPS, P. E.

We are now preparing for the second round, and we hope to have a revival on all lines of our church work. Brethren, begin at once to take the benevolent collections and send them at once to the treasurer at New York.

The first story of the new building for the Philander-Smith College is up, and they are compelled to wait for collections from the charges in the conference.

Brethren, set your day according to the plan, and send for Dr. Mason. He will come to your aid in raising the collections.

Take the quarterly collection before your quarterly meeting, so I can help you on your benevolent collections. Do not forget the SOUTHWESTERN. Let us have an increase in subscriptions for the paper this quarter. Brethren, let us have an increase on all lines this year. Do not forget your duty toward our school. At every meeting put some one of the benevolent objects before the people.

Dadeville District, Central Alabama Conference.

W. F. SMITH, P. E.

The past quarter has been one of disappointment to all of us, in consequence of the very inclement and unfavorable weather. Our work has been considerably hindered and our success has been nothing compared with our anticipations, but we cannot spend time lamenting over the past. Let us grasp the present and see it with vigor and earnestness, making the most of the opportunities as they present themselves.

Financially, we shall be compelled to do double duty and put forth extra effort in order to measure up to the demand. I would especially call attention to the benevolent collections. See to it that this vital part of Methodism and practical feature of religion, "giving," is not neglected. Our people must be educated into larger liberality, and as ministers we must lead them in this grand privilege and blessed duty. Let us bestir ourselves into new life and fresh activity.

I SUFFERED for more than ten years with that dreadful disease, catarrh, and used every available medicine which was recommended to me. I cannot thank you enough for the relief which Ely's Cream Balm has afforded me.—Emanuel Meyers, Winfield, L. I., N. Y.

The whole circuit is enjoying a revival. The Easter services were splendid.

N. S. Sterling, Hogansville, Ga., reports spiritual and financial prosperity on his charge.

G. C. Harden, Nolansville Circuit, Tenn.

Our revival has resulted in 22 conversions, 25 joined the church, and 16 are at the altar. The majority of our conversions are old people.

C. E. Alexander, Lewisburg, Tenn.

Our second quarterly conference was held April 18, 19, by Rev. H. Primm. We had a splendid time. Bro. Primm is no ordinary preacher. Paid the Elder $6.25; and pastor, $20.30. Forty-five partook of the Lord's Supper.

John Qualls, Pine Bluff, Ark.

Our young men and ladies of our city gave a leap year entertainment recently. Result $35.65, which was toward putting a new altar in our church.

H. W. Key, Memphis, Tenn.

Our Easter service was not held on Easter Sabbath, other services preventing; but we celebrated Easter on the fourth Sunday in April. We had a grand time. Collection, $10.

C. D. C. Bryan, Columbus, La.

I am now ready to build a new parsonage. The lumber is sawed. To-morrow we will commence.

P. Bennett, Milford, Tex.

Easter Sunday we had a grand time. Collection $6.20.

J. D. Mead, East Mexico, Tex.

Sunday, April 5, was a great and grand day. We opened our new church. Rev. A. M. Gragge, A. M., pastor of the A. M. E. Church, preached a wonderful sermon and raised $97.75. We have been twenty years getting our church at this place, but Rev. E. Lee, ex-Presiding Elder on this district, got a lot through hard work, and now we have built a church here which cost $500. Had a grand time Easter. We raised $8 for missions.

T. Scott, Prairie, Plains, Tex.

My first quarterly conference was held March 14, 15. The elder preached a splendid sermon. Paid elder, $9; pastor, $38.50; benevolences, $1.80. Added to the church, 10. Raised on Easter Sunday, $10.

S. McDonald, Marche, Ark.

My first quarterly conference was held April 4, 5, by Rev. W. H. Morris, Presiding Elder, who preached two able sermons. The elder was well pleased with the work, and spoke in behalf of the SOUTHWESTERN and secured several subscribers to the paper.

A. B. Logan, Shubuta, Miss.

Easter Sunday was a great day on the Shubuta circuit. The Sunday school exercises were conducted by Supt. Mrs. E. Carter. Rev. C. Frierson, a former pastor, preached a splendid sermon. Rev. N. Carter, of the Baptist Church, was also with us. Collection, $18.05. We are expecting to have a camp meeting. The editor will be expected to visit us when notified.

M. Q. A. Fuller, Quitman, Tex.

Rev. Wade Hamilton, Presiding Elder, held our conference April 11, 12. Reports showed general improvement. At the close of the conference a collection of $6.35 was taken up. On Sunday the elder preached a soul-stirring sermon, after which we had one of our old-time love feasts, and many testified for the Lord. Paid pastor this quarter, $33; Presiding Elder, $13.10; other collections, $3.50. The Presiding Elder made a strong appeal for Wiley University, and for the SOUTHWESTERN.

L. W. Coates, Blackshear, Ga.

I was appointed to this charge by Bishop H. W. Warren, D.D., and I like it very well. We are having success. We have had five accessions. Our first quarterly meeting was held March 21, 22, by Elder A. P. Melton. The elder assisted us greatly in our protracted meeting. Easter Sunday was observed as mission day at all the churches on the circuit. Collection, $11, which has been forwarded to the treasurer.

[That's business. Send every benevolent collection as soon as collected. The treasurer's receipt will be credited as cash at the annual conference.—Ed.]

D. H. E. Harrison, Bledsoe Circuit, Ark.

Our first quarterly conference convened on the 18th and 19th of April. Elder W. R. Duncanson preached a good sermon. Collection, $6.55.

P. H. Hailey, Red River Circuit, Tex.

Our first quarterly conference was held April 25, 26. The brethren made very good reports. The Elder, Rev. P. Morgan, preached a soul-reviving sermon, after which the Lord's Supper was administered to a large number. Two joined the church. Collection for Elder, $7.70. We have a large field here, but we have no church house on this circuit yet. We hope to build this year. We have two lots already and good subscriptions. We are doing all we can for the SOUTHWESTERN.

B. H. Washington, Ramer Circuit, Tenn.

Our Presiding Elder, J. B. Bradford, held his first quarter May 2, 3d. The reports of the church officials showed the work in a prosperous condition. At 11:30 a. m., the Presiding Elder preached a very interesting sermon and administered the sacrament to 37 communicants. Collection, $5.05.

Emanuel P. Harris, Rosedale, La.

Our church work at this place is getting along nicely. Sunday, April 5, Rev. E. Lyon, our Sunday School Agent, was with us, and addressed the Sunday school. Twelve accepted the saving principles of religion; and at 3 and 7 p. m. the grown people were much benefited by sermons from him. On April 9, 10, the Presiding Elder, Rev. J. F. Marshall, was with us to attend to quarterly duties. Estimated on pastor's salary, $650; Presiding Elder, $40. Ten persons have joined the church thus far.

R. G. Gibson, Mobile, Ala.

Our Sabbath school at Fowl River had a grand time May 3. Collection for Sunday school and Freedmen's Aid, $2.

B. F. Woolfolk, Abbeville, Miss.

Our first quarterly conference was held May 2, 3, by Presiding Elder H. R. Revels. Reports showed the work to be in a prosperous condition. Eight members had been received during the quarter. On Sunday, 11 a. m., the Doctor preached one of his best sermons, which was enjoyed by all. The Lord's Supper was administered to a great many. Collection, $17.15. Paid Elder $11.

R. P. Threlkeld.

We had a grand rally at our church on the third Sunday in April, and collected $112. Our church is much in need of repair. Hattiesburg has some of the best people in the State. I asked for only $100, and received $112. The following brethren preached during the day: Revs. P. Williams, Glenn, D. C. Cobbs, Clopton, Hanse and J. C. Carter. At night, after a sermon by the pastor, we collected $18.35 more. The church is financially and spiritually alive.

N. R. Randolph, Argodine, La.

Presiding Elder J. F. Marshall has held our quarterly conference. Reports showed an increase. Raised $42.15 this quarter. Paid pastor, $22.15. Presiding Elder, $3. We have in the treasury $11 for building purposes. This was done with only ten members. We have had one convert. The Elder preached one of his soul-stirring sermons.

D. G. Butler, Napoleonville, La.

Our Presiding Elder, Rev. P. Landry, was on time for his first quarter. His presence met the approval of the people, same as that of Presiding Elder Emperor Williams. We are glad to say that during his quarterly visit here among us a fire was kindled which has resulted in forty persons being at the altar of prayer. Out of this number thirteen are now converted.

A. Handy, Summit, Miss.

We had a nice time on Easter and raised $5 for missions. Mrs. E. S. Spriggs was with us and gave a concert for the church. We raised $27.30 to pay the indebtedness of the church. She also organized an Epworth League. We are always glad to see Sister Spriggs, because she always does good wherever she goes. I am still working for the SOUTHWESTERN.

J. H. Pierre, Marthaville, La.

After serving on the district for seven years under three presiding elders, Landry, Montgomery and Duncanson, and they have given satisfaction on the work in every way, we must agree with Elder Duncanson when he speaks of the need of education on the Shreveport district. We ask for your assistance in advising our ministers on all our circuits to get suitable teachers out of our own institutions of learning to assist our ministers in building up our people. We as ministers should take a deeper interest in the work of education, and also the work of the Sunday school. We should not preach too long and too loud, and we should make it our aim to preach that portion of the Bible that will edify our people the most. I cannot forget your instructions to me in regard to teaching and lecturing my people, and I have found it to work with success on every charge that I have served.

W. R. Butler, Baton Rouge, La.

Rev. J. F. Marshall, Presiding Elder, was on hand April 25, 26, and held our first quarterly conference. All the brethren were present with their reports. Steward's report showed $363.40 had been raised during the quarter. Paid pastor, $150; Presiding Elder, $11. Pastor's salary was fixed at $900; Presiding Elder, $88; benevolent collections, $135. Our revival closed with eight converts rejoicing in the Lord. We are still marching on to success with the best Sunday school in the Louisiana Conference. We are glad to know that Wesley Chapel ranks with the first class churches in this conference. God being our helper, we came up as usual with all of our benevolent money. Our people are well pleased with their new Presiding Elder. We find it impossible to do without the SOUTHWESTERN, for it speaks for us when we cannot speak for ourselves. God bless the editor.

M. Littlejohn, Wolfe City, Texas.

My first quarterly conference was held at Hickory Grove, Tex., April 4, Elder Peter Morgan in the chair. Elder Morgan addressed the conference in the interest of SOUTHWESTERN and Wiley University. Collection, $6.05; Easter collection, $1.80. Paid pastor this quarter, $11. Paid on old indebtedness, $11.50. Church insurance for three years, $6.50. Bro. W. J. Holland lost his little child Feb. 26. Bro. W. J. Holland is here doing all he can for Methodism.

Keep it Before the People.
To insure good health it is necessary to keep the liver in regular action, the blood in free circulation, the bowels free by gentle purgation, and the stomach cleansed of fecal matter, all of which Maguire's Cundurango will accomplish. 75 cents per bottle.

Old Folk's Home.

The attention of the members of the Louisiana Conference is earnestly invited to pp. 197, 198, La. Conference Minutes 1891; every church in the conference is pledged to raise the money to pay the note of $581.25, which is due on the Old Folk's Home property. This must be paid before June 1, of this year. Unless this is done the $500 paid last year is lost. Pastors and presiding elders, please, please attend to this matter at once and send the money to Rev. J. W. Hilton, president, 139 Poydras street, New Orleans, care of this office.

Better than Government Securities

REV. J. O. PECK, D. D.

There are thousands of unmarried pious women unaccustomed to business, and thousands of aged men who have no dependent relatives, but whose pious desire is to spread the Gospel of the Son of God by the means which they have in their possession. They are troubled oftentimes, and no little bewildered to know how they may invest their money so that it may be safe for their support while living, and then go to serve the Lord Christ whom they have gone to see face to face.

This matter was recently brought vividly to my attention by a letter I received from an aged man inclosing $14,000, which he wished to invest in an Annuity Bond of the Missionary Society. These Annuity Bonds are safer than any government bonds, while at the same time they pay to aged annuitants a better interest than the government pays on its bonds.

Behind every Annuity Bond of our Missionary Society is the guarantee and assurance of the whole Methodist Episcopal Church. By war, or catastrophe, our government bonds might be depreciated, but the bonds of the Missionary Society can never be depreciated, nor invalidated, while the Methodist Episcopal Church stands.

The brother who sent me above $14,000 says: "I did not suppose for a moment that having it recorded would make it more secure. Indeed, I would not have asked any lawyer's opinion in regard to that. The security of your bond does not depend on its having been signed by the treasurer with the official seal of the Society stamped upon it, nor yet on its charter; but on the good will and confidence of God's people in making the society their trustee, in carrying out the objects which are named in its charter, and in the manner in which the Society conducts its business. Those who trust the Society with their funds are proving that they are your creditors; hence, you are dealing with them on a credit system. Now, in order to increase their number and their benefactions, you must insure their confidence in every possible manner. As time advances, there can be no doubt that many unmarried, pious women, unaccustomed to business, and many aged men who desire the spread of the Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ, and who have no obligations in the way of near relatives, will make more and more Christian, benevolent and literary corporations their trustees. How important that nothing shall be withheld that might make them feel secure in their declining years and even after second childhood comes. Confidence may save a nation from panic, and the want of it may precipitate its overthrow.

"Again, very aged people oftentimes are but as children. I was at the bedside of an aged father who was miserable much of the time previous to his death, because he was fearful that his loved ones would not get what he intended them to have, just because he had not confidence in the security on which they would have to depend. My dear sir, make your patrons feel as secure as you can. The more you have of them, the stronger will be the Society, and the better equipped to fight the battles of our Lord. I have no fears myself with regard to this bond."

This brother withdrew his securities from a corporation where 10 per cent was guaranteed, to place his money in the Missionary Society. Banks are failing constantly, railroad corporations default their dividends, investment companies and private banks are breaking all over the land, but the Annuity Bonds of the Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church have never failed to pay a penny of their interest or principal, and never will.

We invite the closest scrutiny and challenge any flaw in the security of our Annuity Bonds. Thousands of widows, and other unmarried women who had a little money, just sufficient to support them comfortably, have been reduced to poverty through unfortunate investments. Aged men, who had laid away a competence for declining years, have through unfortunate placing of their money, been pinched with want in the closing years of life, by unwise investments. All such can find in the Missionary Society perfect security, for they need never have a thought of anxiety concerning their provision for declining years.

Interest is paid semi-annually upon our Bonds. The rate of interest varies a little, according to the age of the annuitant; the older the donor, the larger the interest.

Pastors and Presiding Elders of our church could not do a better service to many in their communities, than by calling their attention to the above fact, or by reading this article from their pulpits.

Any persons interested in the matter are cordially invited to correspond with Rev. J. O. Peck, D. D., 150 Fifth Avenue, New York.

General Church News.

Dr. Talmage's new tabernacle was opened in Brooklyn recently. It has a seating capacity of 5,500 and it has already cost $410,000.

The first Methodist societies were organized in 1759. In 1766 the movement commenced in this country. It is, therefore, 152 years since the first organization, and 125 years since the beginning in this country. At the close of the first century since Wesley's death we find nearly 5,000,000 of communicants in the several branches of the church in the United States, with about three and a half times as many adherents, which brings its total population here up to about 22,500,000. In the Wesleyan Church in Great Britain, Ireland, the several mission fields and other countries there are about 1,500,000 of communicants with a population of about 7,000,000. This gives a total membership in the world of about 6,500,000, and a Methodist following of about 30,000,000. These estimates are based on three and a half adherents for each member—a safe estimate. This is surely a remarkable result to have followed from the movement started by the Wesleys and their coadjutors.

The sum of £5,000, asked for by Mr. Stanley in order to place a steamer on the Victoria Nyanza for the use of Church Missionary Society missionaries, has now been made up.

CORRESPONDENTS must bear in mind that "brevity is the soul of wit" and is the best pledge for an early publication of their contributions. We cannot and will not attempt to condense or publish pieces of 15 and 20 pages. Ordinarily you ought to be able to say everything in which our readers would be interested on a postal card or on a page or two of note paper.

PROF. H. B. Pemberton, Marshall, Texas. "The SOUTHWESTERN is read with much interest, because it brings us fresh, wholesome and reliable news. God bless you."

General News Items.

Wm. Rector, a colored bootblack, has been awarded $10,000 damages by the district court, of New Boston, Tex., against the Texas and Pacific Railway Company, for the loss of his legs, caused by being thrown out of a moving train by a brakeman.

The Ohio state organization of the National Farmers' Alliance met in Columbus the 17th and adopted a constitution in conformity with the national constitution. The word "white" was stricken out where reference is made to the admission of delegates. The white and colored people of the South have separate organizations, but the Ohio Alliance has decided to make no distinction on account of color.

The colored people of Memphis, have paid nearly $20,000 during the past seven years for rent of the park there, to hold their picnics. They are now about to buy a park of their own.

Texas is booming. The physicians at the Massachusetts General Hospital have a case similar to that of Rev. Mr. Bothwell, of Brooklyn. The patient is Oscar Nille, nine years old, whose home is in Charleston, and the doctors are trying to extract a tamarind seed that the boy inhaled while playing, and which is now located in his left lung. Tracheotomy has been performed, but without success.

The Atlanta Times is agitating colored policemen for that city. And the Augusta Sentinel is calling for colored jurors in the courts of Georgia. May success attend their efforts.

Letters from the Laity.

Daniel Mosley, Grand Cane, La.

Our revival has resulted in three conversions and many more at the altar. Pray for us.

A. H. Haliday, Pinkley, Ark.

The members and friends surprised our pastor Rev. D. B. Honston April 17 with many nice things. The pastor and family says call again.

J. D. Francois, Edgar, La., says the people there were delighted with the recent visit of Presiding Elders Emperor Williams and W. P. McLaughlin. They collected on that Sunday $116 for their new church enterprise.

Rev. J. D. Davis has organized a Sunday school and a new work at Boggy, Ark. Bro. A. Smallwood says the outlook is promising. They need books for their Sunday school. Who will help them.

Mrs. W. E. Dwight, Melrose, Mass.

I have the charge of a Religious Periodical Bureau, connected with the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the New England Conference, whose object is to furnish our needy Methodist families in the far West with one of our church papers. Are there not those in your various charges in whose homes you would be glad to see a religious paper? Are there not many young people to whom the Epworth Herald would be a blessing? If so, please send me their names and addresses and I will see that they are supplied.

Emma Carr, Anniston, Ala.

The SOUTHWESTERN finds its way to my door every week, but I have been blind for two weeks and was deprived of reading it; but am glad to say I am able to read it again. We have a very dear pastor here, but a very few members and there is not much help. The Birmingham district Conference will be held in Birmingham this year. I earnestly beg all the brothers to bring me $1 to help us in our struggle. I also ask aid from the whole of the Central Alabama Conference to give us something. We had a grand time last Sunday. Our pastor administered the Lord's Supper at night and preached a grand sermon. Brethren please help us we want to get our church up before the next Annual Conference.

Books and Current Literature.

The Sanitary Era, or Progressive Health Journal is one of the best publications of its kind that has come under our observation. Price $1 per year. Single copy 10 cents. Wm. O. Conant, Publisher, P.O. Box 3059, New York.

The Postmaster General has favored us with a copy of the argument presented by him to Congress in favor of Postal Savings Banks. It is conclusive and should have the desired effect in bringing about this needed improvement in behalf of the laboring classes of our population.

The concluding part of Dr. Andrew D. White's paper on Miracles and Medicine, will appear in the June Popular Science Monthly. This portion of the record deals with changes of vogue in regard to saintly healing relics, theological intolerance of Jewish and other physicians, inoculation, anaesthetics, the history of the royal touch, and similar fetichisms.

The Preachers Magazine for May, edited by Revs. Mark Guy Pearse of London, and Arthur E. Gregory, is full of suggestions, helps and excellent articles. The Rev. T. G. Selby concludes his remarkable sermon on Man and His Divine Prototype. Mark Guy Pearse, under the heading of The Gospel of the Day, contributes a sermon on The Forty Days. The Homiletic Department contains several sketches of sermons by eminent ministers. The magazine is well edited and is suited to the wants of the pastor and teacher. $1.50 per year; single copy, 15c. Wilbur B. Ketcham, publisher, 5 Cooper Union, N. Y.

Elijah, the Man of God, by Rev. Mark Guy Pearse, is now ready. Price, 50c. Wilbur B. Ketcham, publisher, N. Y.

The Season for June just received, and will delight all who are fortunate enough to secure a copy. It is filled with beautiful designs for costumes, art-work of every kind of new and tasteful articles. Yearly subscription, $3.50. Single copy, 30c. The International News Company, 83, 85, Duane street, New York.

Knowledge is a unique little magazine which ought to have great popularity among all owners of cyclopedias. It undertakes to supply the information which one ordinarily seeks in his cyclopedia and fails to find there, because it is not "up to date"—it was published "last year," or, more probably, several years ago. Knowledge answers, during the year, several thousand such questions. It is published weekly, for the amazingly small sum of 50 cents a year; specimen copy free. John B. Alden, Publisher, 393 Pearl street, New York.

In preparation: Smiles and Tears. Poems and ballads, by Geo. Augustin, author of Romances of New Orleans, etc. Limited to 500 copies. Cloth 75 cents, paper 50 cents. Prospectus sent on application to Geo. Augustin, 17 Carondelet street, New Orleans, La.

How often must we exhort you that we take no notice whatever of communications that are not accompanied with the author's real name! This applies to any and every department of the paper.

We regret to record the death of Rev. Geo. Hill, pastor at Wytheville, Va. He passed from labor to reward May 19.

THE registration office in this city is now open. Don't neglect to register at once. This is a new registration, and no one will be permitted to vote unless he is registered. To wait later is to run the risk of being deprived of the privilege.

THE excellent article on Hygiene, by Dr. Walker, in another column, begun last week, is concluded in this issue. It is worthy of the attention of all our readers. Next week we will resume the series of articles on the same subject by Dean G. W. Hubbard, M. D., of Meharry Medical School, which we began some weeks ago.

Why do you persist in writing on both sides of a sheet paper, and with lead pencil, when writing for publication. Is it because paper and ink are so dear in your neighborhood? Why not follow our directions, and write on only one side? Unless you follow our advice, in this matter, we will have to decline to give any notice to your contributions.

THE convention of the presiding elders of the colored conferences, to meet in Chattanooga June 23-26, promises to be one of remarkable interest. All the presiding elders laboring in the colored conferences, white and colored, are requested to be present. The indications are now that at least 95 per cent of them will be there. The program appears next week.

AN event which should grow more and more popular and impressive was the celebration of the twenty-eighth anniversary of Emancipation Day by many of the colored men in different parts of the country, notably of Washington, where it was done on a scale worthy of general mention. Two thousand men were in line in the parade; public meetings were held in the churches. Among the speakers were ex-Senator Price, Alderman Lynch, ex-Representative Langston, and Prof. Gregory. Medals were given to children in the public schools for the best essays on Sumner, Jefferson, Lincoln, Garrison, various arts and trades, and the "Best Method to Advance the Negro Race."—Christian Advocate.

We rejoice to know that our people throughout the country are coming more and more to the importance of appropriately observing this anniversary. Our plea with our people is that they all unite in celebrating January 1 of each year as the anniversary of this great national event. There were many great events during the Revolutionary War, but we have only one Independence Day, July 4. Let us all unite in celebrating January 1.

The Time Limit.

While we are not disposed to stand in the way of what some people call progress "in this enlightened age," we have, some how or other, some reverence for the old land marks of our holy religion and Methodism, which rather checks us from espousing every new-fangled notion which seeks to break away from them. This expresses our position on the constant changes which have been made in the extension of our itinerant time limit. We do not believe in those hasty and revolutionary changes.

It is true that there are many new conditions with which we have now to contend which did not exist when Mr. Wesley lived and acted, but the principal reason which he gave for his preference of the shortest possible pastoral limit continues as true to day as ever. It is useless to argue that every preacher is appointed for only one year, although he may remain five years on the same charge. When a preacher and some of his people think he ought to stay five years, it is no small matter for him to be removed; especially is this true when that preacher is called to go to a smaller and less important charge. Again, since our Methodism is a unit, it is a great injustice to keep a preacher of exceptional power and merit on a starvation appointment for five years, because forsooth another preacher of no greater, but perhaps of inferior merit and qualifications, has not yet completed his five years. View the case as you will or may and you will find that the continual extension of our time limit has been a constant drifting away from the true genius of Methodism, and from the spirit of fairness which should characterize the relation of our ministry to each other and to the church. No church should have such a quit-claim on the best ministers for five years. Neither should any minister have such a claim on the best churches for five years. Justice all around demands such a system of rotation as does not involve an age nor a generation. We cannot speak for other portions of the church, but as far as the extension has applied in this section, it has not proved very beneficial. Of course there are some very gratifying exceptions. The following letter from our founder, John Wesley, may be read with profit in this connection.

The following is the copy of a letter written by Mr. Wesley to a preacher in this country, the original of which is preserved in the Museum of Dickinson College:

BRISTOL, Sept. 30, 1785.

My Dear Brother:—It gives me pleasure to hear that God prospers your labors, even on the barren soil of South Carolina. Near fifty years ago, I preached in the church at Charleston, and in a few other places, and deep attention sat on every race; but I am afraid few received any lasting impressions.

At the next Conference, it will be worth your while to consider deeply, whether any Preacher should stay in one place three years to gether? I startle at this. It is a vehement alteration in the Methodist Discipline. We have no such custom in England, Scotland, or Ireland. We except the assistant, who . . . (second) to stay more than . . . I myself may perhaps have as much variety of matter as many of our Preachers, yet I am well assured, were I to preach three years to gether in one place, both the people and myself should grow as dead as stones. Indeed this is quite contrary to the whole economy of Methodism: God has always wrought among us by a constant change of Preachers.

Newly-awakened people should, if it is possible, be plentifully supplied with Books. Hereby the awakening is both continued and increased. In two or three days I expect to be in London. I will then talk with Mr. Atlay on the head. Be all in earnest for God. Your affectionate Friend and Brother,

J. WESLEY.

How often must we exhort you that we take no notice whatever of communications that are not accompanied with the author's real name! This applies to any and every department of the paper.

Mary E. Simpson, Kosciusko, Miss.

Our Quarter Centennial Jubilee was celebrated at Wesley Chapel, May 10. Amount raised during the day, $13.50, and $11.50 was immediately sent on Monday morning to Rev. J. C. Hartzell, D.D., Cincinnati, Ohio.

The Jubilee Celebration of New Orleans University was of a high order. The Chapel was crowded, with many standing. Among those occupying seats on the platform, were Bishop Mallalieu, Revs. Emperor Williams, H. Taylor, J. F. Marshall, E. Lyon, T. G. Montgomery, W. P. Forest, C. Down, S. Davage, and many others. The addresses by Bishop Mallalieu and Rev. E. Lyon were especially interesting. The roll was called and $400 was collected. Bishop Mallalieu, we learned, agreed to make it $500, the full assessment levied for the cause from New Orleans University.

Political Review.

Since our last issue many important events have transpired that will have an important bearing on the political affairs of this nation.

The president has finished his triumphant "conquest of the continent," and is quietly at work at his desk in Washington. He won merited praise from all parties and conditions of people everywhere he went. His speeches—and he made many—were full of wisdom put in well chosen words. If any had doubts of his unanimous re-nomination two months ago, they are dispelled now.

Secretary Blaine has been quite ill in New York with indigestion, the physicians say, but an anxious nation feared something more serious. He is now pronounced convalescent, and the news is received with joy by all parties. Even the Democrats, who once were so prone to call him "Jingo" Blaine, showed a good deal of anxiety over his illness. Perhaps they could not help contrasting the masterly manner in which he has managed our great international questions with what the Secretary of the late administration might have done in the premises. Long live Blaine!

The pension department is in trouble again. Green B. Ranm, commissioner, has tendered his resignation to the president, which, however, has not been accepted. It appears that he has a wicked son, and that son held a position in the department which he dishonored. He had to resign a week before, and the commissioner, in order to clear the administration from all embarrassment, thought best to do likewise. The matter will be fully investigated. It is generally believed that the commissioner has been guilty of no wrong.

A "Trans-Mississippi" convention met in Denver, Colo., last week, to consider matters of interest to that section of the country. It recommended a national appropriation of $10,000,000 for the building and maintenance of levees on the Mississippi river, demands governmental supervision of railroads, favors the immediate construction of the Hennepin canal, the immediate completion of the jetties for a deep water harbor at Galveston, the repeal of all laws which in their effect work dishonor upon or challenge the sovereignty of silver, and demands its free and unlimited coinage.

Congressman Springer, of Illinois, has formally opened his campaign for the Speakership of the next House.

The Kentucky Republican State Convention was held last week. A full State ticket was nominated, headed by Hon. T. A. Wood for Governor. President Harrison was cordially endorsed.

The most important political event transpired last week in the organization of a "third party" at Cincinnati. Alliance men, grangers, socialists, anarchists, discontents, and knights of the devil, were gathered there and did the work. Senator Peiffer, of Kansas, was chosen chairman and leader. As usual in all such movements, delegates from States where such a movement would tend to weaken the Democratic party, were either absent or only spectators. Kansas and Ohio were most largely represented, and controlled the convention. It named itself the People's Party, endorsing many of the wild-cat schemes that have been advocated by the Alliance and other organizations.

To forecast the results of this movement now is not easy. Democrats, as usual, are complacent, because they won't tolerate it or allow it to exist in the Solid South. But in close States, like Ohio and Indiana, Republicans may lose votes by it. It has more than once been the lot of the Republican party to have to meet foes both in front and rear. That it has succeeded at all is almost a wonder when its foes include a solid Democratic South, Copperheads in the North, cranky prohibitionists, Mngwnmps, sulkers, fault-finders, revilers and traitors in its own ranks, and all the other forces of the evil one; and yet it lives, and bids fair to win again in '92. All concede that in a square open fight it would sweep the country, but its foes are now hoping that the People's Party will in some way cause its defeat, for a few among the best element in the movement are from the Republicans, and may stand by it, while the other kind can best be served by their own, the Democratic party, and when they vote will vote as they swear. It is hoped that this new party will draw its support from the Democratic party, which at one time or another has advocated all the wild schemes set forth. We shall see.

THE editor spent last Sabbath at Shreveport, and preached at St. James Church at 11 a. m., and at St. Paul Church at night. Those two churches, under the pastorate of their respective pastors, Revs. C. D. Shallowhorne and T. J. Johnson, are enjoying much prosperity, and are accomplishing much good for Methodism and the cause of Christ generally. Bro. Shallowhorne reports $466 collected this quarter, and 27 accessions, 14 of which were conversions. Paid pastor $260.50, and Presiding Elder his full quarterage. The Steward Sisters have had the parsonage nicely papered and carpeted with fine Brussels carpet. St. Paul Church, under the pastorate of Rev. T. J. Johnson, is moving onward and upward. The union basket meeting held last Sunday was a grand success. The church was crowded at every service. Among the ministers officiating were Revs. S. Dnnon, Presiding Elder; D. Shelby, James Robertson, C. D.

Shallowhorne, Perry Hall, Henry McCoy, S. Armstead, Carline, of the A. M. E. Church; Felders, of the Baptist Church, and the writer. Collection, $182.76. Total collected on debts this quarter, $660.06. The quarterly conference held Monday night was a very pleasant one. Presiding Elder, pastor and people, are all in good cheer. The rally of last Sunday gave some relief from the pressure of their debts, and now all breathe freer. They are determined, however, not to relax their efforts until the church swings clear of all debts.

Personal.

—Sister Christiana Brown, district manager of the North New Orleans District of the W. H. M. Society, left on last Sunday for Shreveport, to see the corresponding secretary on some important matter for the good of the work. Sister Brown is one of those kind of women that is always looking out with a keen eye. We bid her God speed, and wish her a successful trip and an early return. Since the above was put in type Sister Brown has returned and reports a successful trip.

—A note from Rev. A. H. Banks, Eola, La., informs us that Rev. E. Harrison has returned there from his work at Helena, Ark., on account of sickness. He is now sick at Eola, and unable to resume his work.

—Rev. Israel Townsend, Presiding Elder of the Birmingham District, Central Alabama Conference, notifies us that Revs. T. Ellis and T. Ham, of that conference, have been suspended from the church and ministry until the next annual conference.

—Rev. D. G. Butler, of Napoleonville, called last week. He reports 34 conversions, and general good feeling in his church and community.

City Church Notes.

(Brief items of news from the city churches will be welcome either handed us by pastors or laymen.)

Sunday-School League.

A largely attended meeting of the Sunday School League of the M. E. Church was held at Thomson Chapel Sunday, May 10. Present on the occasion were: LaHarpe Street Sunday school, with its superintendent, Prof. H. Weber, Messrs. Victor Joachim, Ernest Clovis and others; Sunday School Agent Ernest Lyon; I. H. Norwood, district superintendent; P. F. Kennedy, district secretary; D. B. Phillips, R. C. Metoyer, J. T. Newman, M. D.; W. S. Posey of St. Mary, Mrs. Oglesby, Mr. W. S. Chinn and others.

Service opened at 3:45 p. m., reading of Scripture by Rev. W. P. Forest, pastor. Singing by choir. Prayer by I. H. Norwood. Rev. Ernest Lyon, in a very elaborate manner, stated the objects and purposes of the League, dwelling at some length on the necessity of a revival in the work of moral training and religious instruction of the young.

Mr. Metoyer spoke on Christian Manhood.

Mr. W. S. Chinn said, among other things, that neglect of duty and ingratitude to God were the actual causes of our present depraved condition.

W. S. Posey and lady-president Mrs. C. Oglesby made timely remarks. The meeting was a complete success.

MISS M. E. HOLMES, Sec'y.

It being generally understood that the Hon. Frederick Douglass will, some time during the summer, tender his resignation as Minister Resident and Consul General to the Republic of Hayti. Several aspirants have announced their candidacy for the place. Were we to espouse the cause or any one specially, we would name the Hon. Louis A. Martinet, of New Orleans. We consider him, Paul Trevigne, Esq., or Major Dumas, of this city, better fitted for the position than any other prominent colored men in this country. The people of Hayti are French in language, thought and traditions. The gentlemen we have named are of French extraction. They speak the language; in fact it is their vernacular, and they are withal cultured and worthy representatives of their race. Mr. Martinet, especially, is pre-eminently qualified. He is one of the brainiest among the younger leaders of the race, and is as fearless and bold as a lion in the defense of their equal rights and manhood. He would reflect credit upon himself, his country, and his race if called to that important station. President Harrison could not possibly make a selection that would reflect so much credit upon his administration. We lift both hands in favor of L. A. Martinet.

The Presiding Elders' Convention.

An Appeal to the Pastors.

The presiding elders' convention to assemble at Chattanooga, June 23, is a matter that concerns you; concerns your charge, concerns Methodism, concerns christianity; therefore, as you have opportunity, you ought to unite in the laudable endeavor to promote its success. Will you lend a hand now? Your presiding elder, who labors with you day and night for the welfare of our beloved church, desires, beyond words to express, to be in attendance, but, in order to reach the place of meeting, he will be required to travel a long distance, involving no small expense. To be able to start upon the important trip he needs your sympathy and brotherly co-operation, manifested in a practical way. I don't not your readiness to help in the emergency, because true Methodist preachers, the world over, are as famous for generosity as they are noted for poverty. Allow me kindly to suggest that you take immediate steps to secure from each church within your bounds a collection, much or little, for the purpose specified, and forward it to your elder without a moment's delay.

The question whether his apportionment has already been met, in full up to date, does not enter into the consideration. I am not urging the payment of a debt, but rather trying, as fervently as I can, to appeal to your gratitude and affection towards your leader and the cause he essays to serve. I believe that your people, if given a chance, will be prompt to show their good will in a substantial way as regards what is here proposed. Brothers! improve the opportunity. I have written without solicitation.

DAILY BREAD.

Jesus! the name that charms our fears,
That bids our sorrows cease;
'Tis music in the sinner's ears,
'Tis life, and health, and peace.
He breaks the power of cancelled sin,
He sets the prisoner free,
His blood can make the foulest clean,
His blood availed for me.

—Charles Wesley.

THE WISE PREACHER.

Will plan his work.
Will work his plan.
Will do his level best.
Will be a soul winner.
Will wear a short face.
Will not try to be an angel.
Will be a man of one work.
Will expect to be growled at.
Will not preach party politics.
Will not seek fame as a lecturer.
Will not recognize social cliques.
Will not mistake noise for power.
Will have a lively prayer meeting.

Will steer clear of corner groceries.
Will not covet newspaper notoriety.

Will go around with both eyes open.
Will be neat in personal appearance.

Will be the friend of the young folks.—Selected.

Jesus heals all diseases as well as one. He does not expect you to bring him fruit in order to fetch the root. All you want he will give with a clean heart; all he asks of you is to claim your right.—John Wesley.

A calm, even spirit goes through rough work better than a furious one. Although God did use, at the Reformation, some sour, overbearing, passionate men, yet he did not use them because they were such; but, notwithstanding, they were so.—John Wesley.

A little girl was sitting on the floor when the sun shone in her face. "Go 'way! go 'way," she cried, striking out at it. "You move, dear, and it won't trouble you," said her mama. "I s'ant; I dot here first," said the little one.—Selected.

It is certain God does, at some times, without any cause known to us, shower down his grace in an extraordinary manner; and he does, in some instances, delay to give either justifying or sanctifying grace, for reasons which are not discovered to us. These are some of the secrets of his government which he is pleased to reserve in his own breast.—John Wesley.

Let the weakest, let the humblest, remember that in his daily course he, can, if he will, shed around him almost a heaven. Kindly words, sympathizing attentions, watchfulness against wounding men's sensitiveness; these cost very little, but are priceless in their value. Are they not almost the staples of our daily happiness? From hour to hour, from moment to moment, we are supported, and blest, by small kindnesses.—F. B. Robertson.

My unconverted friend I had hoped that during the closing hours of the old year you had determined not to walk with the person with whom you journeyed last year. Last year, you know, you would not walk with God, and so you walked with Satan, and had you been called to die you would have gone to spend your eternity in hell. I had hoped and prayed that, listening to the dictates of your own judgment and the teachings of the spirit of God, you would have commenced this year to walk with God. I am very sorry, for your sake, that you have let so many days of 1891 pass by and you are still refusing to do what you so fully know all your interests demand.

But, to show myself really your friend, I can not permit myself to refrain from reminding you that all this time you are resisting God's spirit and committing sin. You yield to Satan and refuse God's company. Why?—Selected.

white people pay ninety-five cents of every dollar of it. Am I boasting of it? No, I am very glad we do. I rejoice that we do. If you make good use of education they will contribute more, and if you do not they won't.

PULLING TOGETHER.

I am not boasting, but I want you people to understand that if the North built Olafin, South Carolina runs the public school system. It is the most wonderful thing in history. Here are these two great sections of the country that quarrelled fifty years, fought four, and have been arguing ever since. We don't agree about a great many things, and particularly we have split all to pieces on notions of the Negro. But here it is. A great big car of progress carrying nearly eight million of you, and the white ox bleached by the Northern snows on one side, and the brunette ox burnt by the Southern suns on the other, both pulling. It is true that we have our necks against the pole, and we are sort of pulling off from one another; but don't you forget it, the Southern ox is pulling the biggest part of the load. Now, diplomacy could not have brought that about. Political economy could not have brought that about. God Almighty brought that about. If you go back on God's providence you ought to perish. . . .

If I can by God's help in these closing words get your ears and your hearts I want to say to you that for any betterment in your condition, for more privileges, larger rights, you must look to God and yourselves and not to law or force. Congress cannot do it for you. The United States army cannot do it for you. Force cannot educate a man, and force cannot change another man's opinion about you either. The truth of the business is that outside power may hurt you a great deal easier than it will help you. If you want more and better things, higher rights, more privileges the sooner you quit looking to Congress and force and the more you look to God and your own hearts and hands and brains the sooner will you get them.

TOO ANXIOUS ABOUT RIGHTS.

After all these years of observation and study of the needs and peculiarities of your race I am satisfied that the saddest thing in the condition of your people to-day is that so many thousands of educated colored men have more anxiety about their rights than they have about their duties. The first effect of going to school is to increase a man's wants faster than his ability to supply them. In this, Bishop Haygood said, lay the great danger of all young men, white and black, who were poor and were fitting themselves for the world by getting an education. What makes the poor man is not having little, but wanting more. The unhappy poor man is the man who wants more than he can earn, and is mad because another man has it. The moment a man or woman allowed the desire for more than they could earn to creep into their hearts the devil was always there to suggest how they could gratify their desires, and then followed crime, disgrace and ruin.

IMPROVE YOUR TALENT.

God gave you a great lump of rights in 1865. Many of you have used those rights judiciously. Others have not. God will not trust your people with more rights if you abuse those you have. Every man who abuses his rights strikes a blow at the whole race to which he belongs.

THE DEMON OF STRIFE.

In this last speech I make in this ministry I cannot do you a greater service than to put you on your guard against your worst enemy. I don't know whether he is white or black. I don't know whether he was born in South Carolina or Massachusetts. I don't know whether he is a Republican or Democrat. Radical or Mugwump—the worst enemy of your race and my race is that villain who tries to create bad blood between your race and mine. He is your foe—he is mine! I hate him. I don't care where he comes from. He is a mean, bad man, without mercy in his heart, or conscience or grace. Don't listen to him, no matter where he comes from or whatever be his color.

WELL WORTH THE COST.

In closing Bishop Haygood said: What has been accomplished for your race is worth all that it has cost in money and services. Don't forget the maxim of John F. Slater, whose million has done more good in these past nine years than any other million ever did before it. Don't forget his three trainings: Head training that you may think right, heart training that you may do right and hand training that you may make an independent living for yourselves. Brain, head and heart and hand and trust in God and you have nothing to fear of the future.

Bishop Haygood's address was heard with conspicuous attention and good temper.

Schools and Colleges.

To the Teachers of the State of Mississippi.

A meeting of the colored teachers of the State of Mississippi is hereby called to meet in the city of Jackson, Miss., Saturday morning, July 4, 1891, at 9 o'clock. The object of the meeting is to discuss such measures as will add to the efficiency of our profession and schools, and consider such other matters as may be brought before us. Let every one come.

By order,

H. M. THOMPSON,
President.

W. H. REYNOLDS,
Cor. Secretary.

Mississippi papers please copy.

Hon. T. T. Allain, of Iberville, addressed a large assembly of students and friends at Gilbert Seminary, Winsted, La., last week. Mr. Allain is a member of the advisory committee of that institution, and is a great friend of education.

M. H. Hunter, Bastrop, La., says: "I have organized an educational society here, and Methodists and Baptists have all united in the laudable cause, and to day I have seventy scholars, and there are more to come."

Twelve graduates were sent out from Gammon Theological Seminary, commencement day, May 13. They go forth, almost without exception, to charges left open for them in the various conferences of the several States represented. A most admirable commencement address was given by Gov. Northen. His broad and generous tolerance, thoroughly endorsing the work of Gammon and the general cause for which it stands, was enthusiastically received by the great audience that filled Loyd Street Church. Diplomas were delivered to Ernest L. Chew, Memphis, Tenn.; William W. Beckett, Edisto Island, S. C.; Peter F. Curry, Ocala, Fla.; William D. Humbert, Darlington, S. C.; John W. Monttrie, Charleston, S. C.; Henry M. Murphy, Little Rock, S. C.; Jasper C. Hunt, Rome, Ga.; Charles L. Johnson, Eatonton, Ga.; John O. Tobias, Orangeburg, S. C.; John A. Rosh, Asheville, N. C. The degree of B. D., in cursu, was also conferred on Abraham L. Gaines, A. B., Atlanta; and Madison O. B. Mason, A. B., New Orleans, La. This degree was also conferred on President Charles N. Grandison of Bennett College, of the class of '89, and Pezavia O'Connell, of the class of '83, they having pursued a special course of studies since graduation, entitling them to this degree.

Rev. W. M. Hayes, of the M. E. Church South, the new Commissioner of Education among the colored people, preached the baccalaureate sermon. He enters upon his work with large plans, steadfast purpose, and enthusiastic devotion. All were delighted with the strength and spirit of the man, and felt that Bishop Haygood had made no mistake in directing the choice of a man by the General Conference, who now goes forth practically as his successor since his retirement from the Slater Board.

A largely attended meeting of the Alumni Association was addressed by the Rev. Prof. Chavis, B. D., of Bennett College, on Tuesday night. The address revealed ability of a high order, and was delivered in a forcible style.

Commencement Week at Philander-Smith College, Little Rock, Ark.

Secretary.

An Earnest Plea.

BISHOP W. F. MALLALIEU.

Our Medical School in New Orleans is an accomplished fact. It has matriculated two classes. The third will enter next fall. It has commodious quarters on one of the best streets of the city. It is within three minutes' walk of the great Charity Hospital, to which it has full charter rights for its students. The Charity Hospital is one of the largest and best in the United States.

There is no medical school to which colored students can be admitted within five hundred miles of New Orleans. It is most appropriate that a complete and first-class school should be established for these people in the metropolis of the Southwest. If this school can be made what its founders hope it will be, it will benefit millions of people for many generations.

Its plan and purposes are as broad and humanitarian as the Gospel. Never from its portals shall any one be excluded on account of race, color, religion or sex. It proposes a thorough three years' course, with advanced qualifications for admission.

The president of the Medical School is president of New Orleans University, of which the school is a component part.

In due time, in connection with the Medical School, there will be established a School of Pharmacy, a Dental School and a Training School for nurses. All of these of confidence in it—the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It's a faith that means business, too—it's backed up by money. This is what they offer: $500 reward for a case of Catarrh which they cannot cure. They mean it. They're willing to take the risk—they know their medicine. By its mild, soothing, cleansing and healing properties, it produces perfect and permanent cures of the worst cases of chronic Catarrh in the Head. It's doing it every day, where everything else has failed. No matter how bad your case, or of how long standing, you can be cured. You're sure of that—or of $500. You can't have both, but you'll have one or the other.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—U. S. Gov't Report, Aug. 17, 1884.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

are imperatively needed, and must be provided for in the immediate future.

The sick and the suffering, the dying who might have recovered if they had enjoyed the care of well trained physicians, appeal to every philanthropic heart for sympathy and help.

Women and children in poverty and sickness are called to endure unspeakable hardships that ought to be alleviated. They must not longer be neglected. The people perish for the lack of knowledge and the lack of care.

Every worthy colored young man who receives a medical education, lifts, in some measure, to a better and nobler life the long suffering race with which he is connected. Who would not share in the toil and honor of this noble effort?

It must be that there are benevolent people who would gladly supply all our needs, if they understood and appreciated them. Such persons should know that all funds contributed will be invested, cared for and disbursed by the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society, which is one of the three strongest benevolent societies of the Methodist Episcopal Church, thus giving the amplest assurance of the perfect security and wise and careful administration of all contributions and investments.

A gift of $10,000 will name a professorship, of the School of Dentistry, Pharmacy, or Nurses. A gift of $25,000 will name the school, thus procuring a monument more enduring than bronze or marble, while at the same time contributing an unspeakable boon upon the afflicted and distressed. Also $9,000 is immediately needed to complete payment on buildings already purchased.

Will all who desire to help this most worthy cause write to Bishop W. F. Mallalieu, 1428 St. Charles Avenue, New Orleans, La.?

Do you want to buy a Lamp?

Some folks get cheated in buying a lamp. Nobody ever gets cheated that buys the lamp with this stamp,—"The Rochester." It is not one lamp, it is one burner on 2,000 different kinds of lamps. And a wonderful burner it is indeed! Insist upon seeing the stamp of the genuine,—"The Rochester," and ask for the written guarantee. If the lamp dealer has not the genuine Rochester and the style you want, send to us for illustrated price list, and we will send you (boxed) any lamp safely by express.

Catarrh Cured.
A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease Catarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy, at last found a prescription which completely cured and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to Prof. J. A. Lawrence, 88 Warren street, New York, will receive the receipt free of charge.

A Triumph of Rascality.

The open and successful bribery and rascality of the Louisiana Lottery Company is without precedent in this country. It has gained a victory in the Louisiana Supreme Court which renews the public interest in the conflict that it was hoped would be ended by the Supreme Court.—Central Christian Advocate.

Peculiar

Many peculiar points make Hood's Sarsaparilla superior to all other medicines. Peculiar in combination, proportion, and preparation of ingredients. Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom. Peculiar in its strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "One Hundred Doses One Dollar." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's. Peculiar in its medicinal merits. Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown, and has won for itself the title of "The greatest blood purifier ever discovered." Peculiar in its "good name at home"—there is now more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers. Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad. No other preparation has ever attained such popularity in so short a time, and retained its popularity and confidence among all classes of people so steadfastly. Do not be induced to buy other preparations, but be sure to get the Peculiar Medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. The Household.

Hygiene.

T. A. WALKER, A. M., M. D.

The sick room over which often-times hovers the messenger of death, and into which comes the "Father Lights" chastising men and women for their sins, and after giving them the necessary chastisement, aids the skilled physician to snatch them, as it were, from the border of the grave, is a place where pure air is of positive need. Air properly admitted into the sick room, is a most important agent in the cure of disease, and the revivifications of the organs of vitality.

How should we let air into the sick room? By first wrapping the patient up well, so that a current of air cannot strike him or her, but allowing the face to be exposed, so that the organs of respiration can get rid of impure exhalations and receive in return a sufficiency of life-giving inhalations. By no means should drafts be allowed in the sick rooms.

The lungs are continually exhaling carbonic acid gas, and a vapor is being emitted which gives a peculiar odor to the breath. This being a scientific trism, the erudite, and those who lay no claim to erudition can readily see the paramount importance of a necessary amount of pure air being admitted into the sick room; the churches, halls, schools and sleeping apartments, to the end that the carbonic acid gas may be robbed of its deathly influence, and this bad-smelling vapor may not have the chance to become a means of transportation for disease.

Now, then, how can we ventilate these different apartments? In order not to allow drafts, small openings should be made in the ceilings or walls of our homes, so that pure air can come in. In churches and school rooms, windows should be arranged so that the sashes can be let down for a short distance from above, admitting pure air into these apartments. These apartments should have not less than five hundred cubic feet of air to each person.

Dietetics, or that branch of medicine which wards off as well as cures disease, by the selection of proper foods, is included in the list of hygienic means adopted for the well being of humanity. We should use our foods with due regard for the quantity consumed. People of sedentary habits need less food than those who do laborious work.

There is constant waste in the human economy, and he who exercises himself most, produces the most waste, and hence needs more food, or figuratively speaking, more fuel to keep the human engine in operation. The food we eat should be nutritious and easily digested. The blood is said to be a nutritious element; and in order for it to maintain its nutritious quality, nutritious foods must be used. Food, in order to be well digested, and perform its function of supplying recuperative material to the system, should be properly cooked.

The muscular system of man should be so managed that it will be healthy. Then, first the muscles should be exercised in pure air. If the air we breathe is pure, the growth of the muscular system is advanced, and we can use the muscular portion of our economy to better advantage. All students of physiology know that certain muscles are brought into play when the voice is used, and that these muscles need pure air to exercise its stimulating effect upon them, in order for them to do effective work. This being an established fact, our churches, halls and assembly rooms, where public speakers are wont to give vent to their opinions and knowledge upon different topics, should have a sufficient supply of pure air, so that the muscles concerned in assisting the voice, may not be hindered in performing their functions.

Light, one of the blessed elements, of a divine being was given to humanity, claims its share of attention as we speak upon the hygiene of the muscles. If plants need a certain amount of sunlight for their growth and vitality, the muscles also need the reviving influences of the sun. Plants that are confined to dark rooms, and do not get enough sunlight look pale and present but little vitality; muscles that do not get the proper amount of exercise, pure air and sunshine are feebly and poorly developed. Those of the gentler sex among our race, and among the whites, who occupy homes through which the rays of the sunlight can enter, and through whose multitude of crevices pure air can enter, and who exercise their muscles most in the open air, and are not closely confined in drawing rooms are in a great many instances more robust than their more highly favored sisters, and seldom complain of the diseases which are common to their refined sisters.

Take the women of our race, who during slavery and since, have lived in the rural districts and tilled the soil; and on the other hand take the working women of the other races, especially the peasants, and they do not suffer the torture and agony which women who mostly live in doors suffer, from diseases peculiar to their sex.

Why this? It is simply because they are continually taking into their systems enough pure air to enrich the blood; are taking the necessary exercise to make the muscles strong and enduring, and are not overworking the nervous system. Enough. Let us look these hygienic laws square in the face, and profit by their teachings.

THE MOST RELIABLE

To correct the constipated habit, remove sick-headache, relieve dyspepsia, to purify the blood, cure jaundice, liver complaint, and biliousness, Ayer's Pills are unequalled. They are an excellent after-dinner pill, assisting the process of digestion, and cleansing and strengthening the alimentary canal. When taken on the invasion of a cold or a fever, they effectually prevent further progress of the disease. Being sugar-coated and purely vegetable, they are the best medicine, for old and young. Ayer's Pills are indispensable to soldiers, sailors, campers, miners, and travelers, and are everywhere recommended by the medical fraternity. Dr. J. W. Haynes, Palouse, W. T., writes: "Ayer's Pills are the most evenly balanced in their ingredients, of any I know of."

"For more than twenty years I have used Ayer's Pills as a corrective for torpidity of the stomach, liver, and bowels, and to ward off malarial attacks, and they have always done perfect work."—E. P. Goodwin, Publisher Democrat, St. Landry, La.

"I was master of a sailing vessel for many years, and never failed to provide a supply of Ayer's Pills, for the use of both officers and men. They are a safe and reliable Cathartic and always give satisfaction."—Harry Robinson, 52 E. Pearl St., Fair Haven, Conn.

"For a long time I was a sufferer from stomach, liver, and kidney troubles, and having tried a variety of remedies, with only temporary relief, I began, about three months ago, the use of Ayer's Pills, and already my health is so much improved that I gladly testify to the superior merits of this cathartic."—Manuel Jorge Pereira, Oporto, Portugal.

Our Symposium.

President Harrison in his speech at Memphis, Tenn., said: This government of ours is a compact of the people to be governed by a majority, expressing itself by lawful methods. [Cheers.] Everything in this country is to be brought to the measure of the law. I propose no other rule, either as an individual or as a public officer. I can not in any degree let down this rule [cries of "No, no," and cheers] without violating my official duty. Therefore I think while I realize and sympathize with your difficulties, we must all come at last to this conclusion, that the supremacy of the law is the one supremacy in this country of ours. [Cheers.] I beg to leave with each of you the suggestion that each in his place shall do what he can to maintain social order and public peace; that the lines here and everywhere shall be between the well disposed and the ill disposed. I beg to assure you that I carry from the great war sentiment of no ill will to any one. [Cheers.] I am glad that the Confederate soldier, confessing that defeat which has brought him blessings that would have been impossible otherwise, has been taken again into full participation in the administration of the government that would be impossible otherwise; that no penalties, limitations, or other inflictions rest upon him. I have taken and can always take the hand of a brave Confederate soldier with confidence and respect. [Great cheering.] I would put him

UNDER ONE YOKE ONLY, and that is the yoke that the victors in that struggle bore when they went home and laid off their uniforms—the yoke of the law and the obligations always to obey it. [Cheers.] Upon that platform, without distinction between the victor and the vanquished, we enter together upon possibilities as a people that we can not over estimate. I believe this nation is lifting itself to a new life; that this flag shall float on unfamiliar seas, and that the coming prosperity will be equally shared by all our people. [Prolonged cheering.]

It is the duty of the church to keep the regular services, Sunday school teaching, prayer meetings, the pastor's weekly class for the instruction of the children, family prayer, private prayer, tract distribution, and all the other permanent activities, hard at work all the time for fifty-two weeks in a year.—Bishop J. H. Vincent.

MONEY FOR SOLDIERS.

BOUNTIES. PENSIONS.

Nearly every soldier who served in the late war is entitled to arrears of pay, clothing or bounty, under the various Acts of Congress. We give special attention to bounty claims of soldiers who served in the colored troops. Under the recent law every soldier who is totally or partially unable to earn his living is entitled to pension, whether the disability was contracted in the service or not. Every widow of a soldier entitled to a pension under the same law. Send us a statement of your case immediately as the pension begins from date of filing.

Remember we charge no fee unless successful, and soldiers will never receive what is justly due them unless they make application for it.

Honor to a Man Who Honors His Race and Humanity.

Prof. W. H. Crogman, A.M., who occupies the chair of Greek and Latin in Clark University, Atlanta, in christian character, scholarship, in his department, literary ability, general culture, and distinguished services, stands, it is safe to say, among the first four, if not at the very head, of the colored race. In all the particular mentioned, he would honor a professorship in any college in the land. The evening of May 5, the fiftieth anniversary of Prof. Crogman's birth was taken advantage of by his friends to give some expression of their high appreciation of him and his work. At the same time it brought out the history of his life. It is a history which ought to be set as an example before the youth of a race struggling under adverse circumstances and great opposition into manhood, usefulness and honor.

The whole plan of paying a tribute of recognition and honor to Prof. Crogman was conceived and directed by Dr. W. P. Thirkield, president of Gammon Theological Seminary, and was a unique success. Doctor and Mrs. Thirkield placed their annual reception to the seniors of the Seminary on that evening and included in the invitation the faculties of Clark and Atlanta Universities, as well as the faculty and the students of the Seminary and other friends. During the social festivities of the evening, Prof. and Mrs. Crogman, who had no suspicion of the sequel, were invited to take seats in the midst of the company. Dr. Thirkield in a happy speech referred to the milestone which the day marked in the life of "our ancient friend" and said that some weeks ago with a view to looking up the history of Prof. Crogman, he had sent out a number of letters to various parts of the world. He proposed to have these letters read.

It was found that Prof. Crogman was born fifty years ago on the Island of St. Martin. In 1855 he went to sea on a vessel on which Mr. B. L. Boomer was mate. Mr. Boomer from the first took a deep interest in him and afterwards took him to his home in Massachusetts. Mr. Boomer's brothers were sea captains. The boy Willie H. Crogman followed the sea with this family for eleven years. He visited many lands, and observant and thoughtful obtained a wide knowledge of various nationalities and parts of the world. His visits included especially England, various points on the continent of Europe, Calcutta and Bombay in Asia, and various places in South America. A letter from Mr. Boomer included the following:

"It has been my good fortune to know our good friend all the way from his fifteen to his present fifty, and it would afford me the greatest satisfaction if I could feel that his great success in all these years had in any manner been furthered by me. On the contrary his untiring perseverance, diligent, wise and studious use of his time and money, made him from the first independent of all save our love, respect and never ceasing interest."

In 1866 at the suggestion of Mr. Boomer that an academic education would make him more useful, Prof. Crogman then at the age of twenty-five began to earn means to attend an academy. He worked on a farm and in other ways laid by money till two years later in 1868 he entered Pierce Academy in Middleborough, Mass. He remained there two years taking an English course with French and book-keeping. Prof. J. W. P. Jenks, of Brown University, who was then the principal of the academy wrote as follows:

"During the twenty-nine years that I was principal of Pierce Academy in Middleborough, Mass., from '42 to '71, I never made any distinction of nationality, race, or color in receiving pupils, and, but in one instance, and that not while Prof. Crogman was there, was any race prejudice shown among my pupils, though till the war, there was not one year that the children of slaveholders were not members of the school, and quite frequently there were Negroes at the same time. My domestic relations were such that I took no boarders into my own family, and again I must confess with shame, that the boarding house over which previously I had some control, having been given up, I could find no boarding place for Crogman, and with difficulty a lodging room, on account of that race prejudice. So he was obliged to board himself under great disadvantages. A much more pleasing reference is to his splendid scholarship. Beginning with me in the elementary English branches, I may safely say, in them all, he accomplished in one quarter as much as the average student did in two, mastering almost intuitively, and with equal facility, both mathematical and linguistic principles. I formed him into a class of one, lest he should be hindered by the dullness of others. In the third quarter, he commenced French, and as I have often said, surpassed every one of the hundreds of students, in both rapidity of advancement and accuracy of scholarship. I need say no more, except that his record since leaving the academy, taking all the extenuating circumstances into the account, has reflected greater honor upon me as its principal, and his almost sole instructor while connected with it, than any other alumnus."

After completing this academic course, in the fall of 1870 Prof. Crogman started for the South to give his life to the christian education and elevation of his race. The Boston Preachers' Meeting took a collection to assist him in reaching his Southern field. He went to Claflin University at Orangeburg, S. C., where he acted for three years as an instructor in English branches. In this work he became impressed with the need of a knowledge of Greek and Latin and began the study of Latin by himself. To gain a knowledge of these branches he went to Atlanta University in the fall of 1873. This resulted in his completing there the full classical course. Prof. Francois of Atlanta University, who was one of his principal teachers there, was present at the reception and in a most happy speech paid a high tribute to Prof. Crogman's manhood, industry, thorough scholarship and rapid advancement during his college life, completing as he did the four years course in three years. He spoke also of Prof. Crogman's carrying off as his bride, one of their noblest and most gifted and cultured young ladies, Miss Lavinia Mott of Charlotte, N. C. Immediately on his graduating from Atlanta University, Prof. Crogman was called to a position in the faculty of Clark University, where he has been ever since, having occupied his present chair since 1880. Letters expressive of their highest appreciation of him and his work were read from several of his students who now themselves occupy prominent positions.

PECK MEMORIAL HOME.

Rev. G. W. Arnold, A.M., B.D., has been principal of LaGrange Seminary and is now pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Savannah, Ga. His letter included the following:

"I review with exquisite pleasure the eight years I spent under Prof. Crogman as my teacher, and regard him one of the most scholarly and foremost men of his race. His is a life whose influence is not bounded by any section of country."

Rev. E. W. Lee, A.M., is pastor of the A. M. E. Church at Rome, Ga., and secretary of his conference. His letter included the following:

"For twenty-one long years Prof. Crogman has been incessant in labors and continuous in self-sacrificing in order that he might break the fetters of ignorance and superstition, and give liberty to the captives. His earnestness and faithfulness in the class room, where he is so much at home, produces an eloquence more effective than a thousand orators upon the stage. Learned and yet modest, humble and yet dignified, he carries with him a personality that is his own. As to the result of his labors let the voices from a thousand hamlets in this adjoining states speak out; let the young men and women from a thousand homes who have imbibed knowledge and manhood at his feet come forward and tell the story. Looking back from his fiftieth anniversary Prof. Crogman may exclaim: My zeal for the work has not been vain. I now congratulate myself on having sat at his feet."

The Rev. Prof. J. M. Cox, A.M., B.D., occupies the chair of Latin and Greek in Philander-Smith College, Little Rock, Ark. His letter included the following:

"I became a pupil of Prof. Crogman in the 1878, and continued under his instruction until 1884. Under no other teacher could six years of my life have been spent more pleasantly and profitably. To him more so than to any other instructor I am indebted for my little store of knowledge and for the limited degree of success that has attended my labors for the last five years. Engaged now in teaching the very same branches in which I was instructed by Prof. Crogman, and anxious to do well my work and benefit my pupils, I often think of the many excellent qualities that characterize him both as a man and as a teacher. To those now assembled to do him deserved honor, I take pleasure in saying that I found him ever accurate in general knowledge, thorough in class room preparation, positive in demands and forceful in every utterance. System and method marked all his instruction, and his own inimitable way of conducting a recitation and of eliciting even from the dullest student remarks upon the lesson impressed me, as well as others, with the fact that he is certainly a master of his very high calling, teaching. His manly and helpful talks in connection with the recitation were always a source of inspiration to me, and caused me to make many a noble resolve. I trust that Prof. Crogman may long live to bless humanity and honor his calling."

Rev. R. S. Rust, D.D., honorary corresponding secretary of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society, was active secretary, and sole manager, of our educational work in the South from 1867 to 1888 and knew intimately of Prof. Crogman's work. His letter included the following:

"Yours in regard to dear Prof. Crogman received. It is the proper thing to do. He richly merits our gratitude and love for his grand work, and his pure life."

Rev. J. O. Hartzell, D.D., the present secretary also joined heartily in contributing to the testimonial to Prof. Crogman; but the letter he intended to write has not reached us.

A letter from Rev. E. O. Thayer, A.M., who was president of Clark University from 1880 to 1889, included the following:

"Is it possible that my young friend is celebrating his semi-centennial? What wonderful experiences have been crowded into those fifty years! Enough to make a man feel a century old. You have seen great changes in the condition of the South. You sometimes are tempted to be discouraged or impatient when the stream of progress seems to turn backward in a great eddy. Remember, Brother, that the Almighty Father of love rules and there can be no really backward movements in his work. The Southern school work demands all your powers of eloquence and gifts of teaching. Give kindest regards to her who shares your toils and honors, and to the little ones who will take up the work when you lay it down. God bless you with health, long life and an eternal crown."

Rev. W. H. Hickman, D.D., president of Clark University made a very appropriate speech, speaking in high terms of the faithfulness and excellence of Prof. Crogman's work.

Prof. Crogman has been a lay delegate to the last three General Conferences of the M. E. Church and has been one of the assistant secretaries of the last two. A letter from Rev. D. S. Monroe, D.D., secretary of the last two General Conferences included the following:

"Though a Southerner by birth, from my early manhood I was opposed to slavery, and I considered it one of the greatest privileges of my life, that it fell to my lot to be the first to nominate a man of African descent as an assistant secretary of the General Conference of 1884. I was certainly extremely fortunate in securing the services of one so efficient, educated, modest and gentlemanly as he whose fiftieth anniversary it is proposed to celebrate. So highly pleased were the conference and myself with his service in 1884, that it was my great pleasure to have him again elected in 1888."

The letter from Rev. C. H. Payne, D.D., Secretary of the Board of Education of the M. E. Church, included the following:

"With all my heart I gladly respond to your proposal with reference to the testimonial of brotherly regard for Prof. Crogman. I have known Prof. Crogman for years; indeed, our boyhood years were passed not many miles from each other. I have watched his course with a brother's interest, and have rejoiced to see his loyalty to principle and his fidelity to duty. Few men in our church have rendered more faithful or useful service in our educational work than Prof. Crogman; few men have steadily and unwaveringly maintained a more straightforward and manly course, or acted more wisely under all circumstances than has he."

A letter from Bishop Mallalieu included the following:

"Dr. Crogman is a man in whom I have had the greatest confidence. He is an honor to the human race. I wish the world was full of such men. I trust many years of honorable and enjoyable usefulness remain to him. Give him, and his wife and his children, my warmest congratulations."

Bishop Warren wrote as follows:

"I send you the heartiest congratulations on so long and honorable a life. How many men and women realize that they have been born to higher life by your teachings. May the blessings of a long life of such usefulness and honor be yours. Give my kindest regards to Mrs. Crogman, your worthy helper."

Some years ago a university of good standing conferred upon Prof. Crogman the degree of LL.D., but in his modesty he insists on declining the honor, and most of his friends defer to his wishes in not using the title, though they regard him as worthy of the honor it implies. Prof. Crogman, though closely confined to his lecture room for most of the year, has addressed with great acceptability not only his own people, on various occasions, but some of the most prominent audiences in this country, notably at Ocean Grove, in Beecher's Church, and at the National Teachers' Association. His address a few years ago at the meeting of the last named in Madison, Wis., was generally regarded as one of the ablest and most eloquent.

After the story of Prof. Crogman's life had been brought before the company by the letters and speeches, Dr. Thirkield, in behalf of the Professor's friends from all over the nation, presented him in succession, the interest with each item growing more and more intense, with an elegant gold watch, a beautiful set of Carlsbad china, nine handsomely bound volumes of ancient classics, and a large ornamental inkstand, from which rolled out one hundred dollars in gold, making, with other amounts added since, a substantial testimonial of over two hundred and fifty dollars. The china was especially appropriate, as it recognized the merits of Mrs. Crogman, who is also a graduate of Atlanta University, and who, in her character and services as his helpmeet, and as queen of one of the most refined and cultured homes, and as the mother of seven most promising children, is worthy of no less honor than the Professor himself.

Prof. Crogman expressed his thanks in behalf of himself and wife in one of the felicitous speeches for which he is noted, referring to the occasion as one of the happiest of his life.

This story of his life shows something of the adverse circumstances under which he has labored, the manhood, scholarship, usefulness to his race and humanity and the honor his indefatigable industry, perseverance, hard work, and Christian faith have achieved, and points the way to every aspiring youth, however lowly and unfavorable his circumstances.

One More Word About Children's Day.

So many vital interests depend upon the universal and proper observance of this day throughout our entire Methodism, that we are constrained to call attention to it once more.

Let no Sunday school fail to observe it. The children ought not to be deprived of the pleasure and profit sure to be derived from its right observance. Let our own program be universally used. It was prepared with special reference to our Methodist schools, and no other will be likely to serve as good a purpose. It is far the cheapest offered, nearly a million copies being printed and sold at about cost,—80 cents per hundred, with ten supplements containing all recitations free. By mail, $1.

Let every school take a collection in aid of needy and worthy students preparing for Christian work. This is the original object for which Children's Day was instituted. Kindly remember that this collection is not for local objects, but for specific connectional purpose, and by order of the General Conference should be sent to the Board of Education, 150 Fifth Avenue, New York.

Let every pastor and superintendent prepare for a great day. It is not too late. If not convenient to observe the regular Sabbath, June 14, fix upon a later date, but by all means give the children and the church the benefits of this beautiful and blessed Children's Day service.

Rev. N. H. Redick, pastor Wesley Chapel, Mobile, Ala., has just closed a revival in which nine were converted, and fourteen added to the church. This is the best year in the history of the church. The Sunday school is flourishing everything bids fair for a good year's work.

Rev. A. McGlocklin, Pleasant Hill, La., says that his statistical report to the last Annual Conference, from Fairmount, as it appears in the Minutes, is incorrect. It is made to appear that nothing was paid on pastor's salary. That is not correct. Fairmount paid pastor $150.

W. L. Duncan, Huntsville, Tex.

My second quarterly conference was held May 9, by Presiding Elder Rev. F. Parker. Reports showed much prosperity. Sunday the Presiding Elder preached. Seventy partook of the Lord's Supper. Paid the Presiding Elder, $17.15. Money raised for all purposes, $221.65. Our property is being improved. The parsonage has been made new. The fifth Sunday in May was rally day for the SOUTHWESTERN.

H. J. Wright, Donaldsonville, La.

Our second quarterly conference was held May 9, by Rev. Pierre Landry, our Presiding Elder. We had a good time spiritually and financially. The church is alive. The Sunday school is well equipped with all the books necessary for a good year's work. We regret exceedingly the loss to us of Mrs. H. J. Moore, of your city, one of our efficient Sabbath school workers, who had to leave for home on account of her health. May God bless her for years to come. Sunday at St. Peter M. E. Church was a high day. Judge C. J. Bush, Mr. I. C. Rogers, Mr. P. L. Corman, Rev. E. Baptiste, and several other ministers, were present. Realized in cash, $131.50. The different leaders struck 755 licks on the golden nails, pledging $755, for the purpose of remodeling our church. A resolution complimentary to Rev. Pierre Landry was adopted.

A. H. Banks, Eola, La.

The SOUTHWESTERN is an assistant preacher, or Presiding Elder, that visits my charge every week. Many persons read the paper who are not able to pay for it. They come around and ask for one of the "Advocates" that you have read, and in this way it makes its way in many families, and as soon as they are able to raise 50c. they say, "take this and send it and get me the paper." We are now in a revival meeting. Many souls are turning to the Lord. Last night, after a good service, my family and I were surprised by a large number of our members, and members of the Baptist church, and many good friends, led by L. Moore and sons, J. White, S. Daues and family, J. Heagen and family, P. Stack, R. Jefferson, A. Bernard, and our esteemed teacher, Miss Palla M. Brewer. They brought us many choice articles and provisions. Come again.

J. D. Pool, Plaquemine, La.

Our first quarterly conference convened April 12. Rev. J. F. Marshall, Presiding Elder, commended the cordial relations existing between pastor and people. The service on Sunday passed off very profitably. Elder Marshall preached a heart-touching sermon, which conquered sinners and comforted saints. The Lord's Supper was administered, and 56 partook of the same. Our revival, just closed, resulted in nine converted and four reclaimed. We have a great deal to do this year. Our people say it must be done. Look for an order soon from us for a bell.

G. A. Shanklin, Burnett and Lampasas, Texas.

I returned home to my appointment, it being my third year at this place. The people seemed glad to have me back, and received me with warm welcome. Presiding Elder Mack Henson held our first quarterly conference April 28, 29. We had an excellent time. Paid Presiding Elder $14. Paid pastor $29. Twenty eight partook of the Lord's Supper.

G. W. Townsend, Gonzales, Texas.

Presiding Elder H. Swann has held our first quarterly conference. We had a good time, and the Elder was greatly pleased with the work. We reported four accessions. Rev. Swann is much beloved. He preached two powerful sermons. Mrs. Isabella Smith, our school teacher here, closed her school on the 17th inst. Examinations and exhibitions were splendid.

Jos. Johnson, Bunkie, La., informs us of the instant killing of one, the death next day of another, and the serious wounding of another man, at the fair given there April 25, by Rev. Mack Jones, an A. M. E. Preacher. One horse burned down next day. Notwithstanding these troubles, our church and revival continue to command general interest.

J. A. Vincent, Jeanerette, La.

We are moving on nicely at St. Peter M. E. Church. Our first quarterly conference was held April 12, 13, by Presiding Elder S. E. H. Morant. He is the right man in the right place. Reports showed the work in good shape. Raised for all purposes this quarter, $185.50. We are having a revival. Up to date twenty-five souls have been added to the church, and fifty mourners are on the anxious seats. The church is crowded to overflowing at every service.

Wm. Bell, Bee Lake, Miss.

Our first quarterly conference was held April 18, 19, Elder W. McDonald in the chair. Report of the pastor showed that the work is alive both spiritually and financially. The pastor's salary for the year was fixed at $300. The Elder preached on Sunday at 11 o'clock, and administered the Lord's Supper at night. Two children were baptized, and two were received in the church. Collection for the Elder, $11.05.

L. C. McClendon, Hammett Hill, Miss.

Our first quarterly conference convened in the Salem M. E. Church, April 25, 26, with Dr. H. R. Revels, Presiding Elder, in the chair. The brethren were present with written reports, showing the work to be spiritually alive. Sunday, at 11 o'clock, Dr. Revels preached a soul reviving sermon. The Lord's Supper was administered, assisted by Rev. A. G. Houston, to fifty-eight communicants. The pastor's salary was fixed at $340. Collection during quarter, $13.25.

T. Allen, Sparta Circuit, Tenn.

My second quarterly conference was held April 18, 19, Rev. J. P. Price, Presiding Elder, in the chair. The officers were present with written reports, showing success. We are moving along grandly. There are but few people on this work, and the most of them are very poor. We have two Sunday schools, and they are moving along nicely. Sunday, 11 o'clock, Elder J. P. Price preached a grand sermon. Paid Elder, $6.50; pastor, $18.95; benevolences, $5.00.

J. A. Stewart, Richmond, Tex.

Our first quarterly conference convened April 25. Elder I. B. Scott was with us, and all of the brethren were present. On Sunday the Elder preached, and we had a grand time. Elder's collection, $4.50; pastor's, $22.45.

D. Scott, Sparta, Tenn.

My second quarterly conference was held April 18, 19. Rev. J. W. Richmond was with us and preached at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Presiding Elder J. P. Price administered the Lord's Supper to 67 persons. Collection $25. Paid Presiding Elder, $10; pastor, $35.

J. H. Rylander, Livonia, La.

My people and friends of our church, and members of the Baptist and Episcopal churches, gave me a grand reception Monday night, May 11. It was a grand surprise party. They brought as many nice things; groceries, chickens, money, dresses and ornaments. After singing some of the most cheering songs, Sister Bithy Smith, the "mother sister" of the Baptist Church, led in prayer and invoked the blessing of God upon the pastor and his family. The following persons were participants: Messrs. L. S. Johnson, F. K. Vickers, S. S. Peal, Wm. Peal, J. Fletcher, Misses Malissa Peal, Fanny Peal, Pinky Peal, Mattie Sealy, Ada Sealy, Messrs. J. G. Governor, D. Johnson, H. P. Armstrong, Chas. Meloin, H. Robinson, Geo. Ash, Geo. W. Peal, H. D. Robinson, Mrs. Patsey Rylander, Mrs. Ella Peal, Sarah Battice, Charity Hawkins, Fanny Porter, Nellie Melvin, Miss E. A. Bolden, Mrs. Ella Dennis, Mrs. Fanny Armstrong, Mrs. Glory Robinson, Messrs. J. R. P. Armstrong, Snoton Battice, J. A. Rylander, E. Robinson, Miss Emma Hincherson, Mr. E. M. Dennis, Miss Annie Willis, Mrs. Alice Rylander, Mr. Thomas Smith, Mrs. Milly Maze, Mrs. E. Smith, Mr. Wm. Maze, Misses Easter and Charissa Tilman, Messrs. Carter Tilman, H. Tilman, J. T. Willis, Henry Smith, Miss Mary Smith, Messrs. Hill Tilman, Wm. Fletcher, Misses Ida Tilman, Queen Thornton, Betty Smith, Sarah Porter, Mr. J. Sealy, Misses Catherine Williams, Matilda Hayney, Eady Sealy, Emma Porter, Messrs. S. Jackson, Geo. Porter, Luke Johnson, Misses Rachel Reilly, Emily Woodruff, Messrs. Henry Smith, Joseph Maze, A. T. McKneely, Miss Emma T. Rylander, Messrs. Geo. Jackson, James Harris, Misses Catherine Peal, Amanda Sealy, Nellie Porter, and Rev. F. A. Rylander.

THE Alpha L. & S. Circle gave a reception complimentary to the Hon. Jno. C. Dancy, Collector of Customs of Wilmington, N. C., in the parlors of Huntington Hall, Livingstone College, Salisbury, N. C., May 28. It was an excellent affair. We regret that we could not attend, but the committee has our thanks for a kind invitation.

THE Rev. Daniel Jones, of the Lexington Conference, one of our best and truest men has written us a strong manly letter against the convention of the Presiding Elders of the colored conferences to be held at Chattanooga, June 23. Bro. Jones objects to the color line involved. We hope to be able to publish it next week. Bro. Jones seems to overlook the fact that such conferences, therein designated as "colored conferences," spring right out of our book of Discipline, and that his, was one of the first conferences thus instituted.

AN Eastern Steamship and Colonization Company have written to the General Passenger and Ticket Agent of the Queen & Crescent Route, to find for them a tract of land in either Kentucky or Tennessee, of about one hundred and fifty thousand acres. The land to be suitable for truck farming, also for raising corn, wheat, trees and shrubs, and near enough to railroad to make shipping facilities handy. Any one having a body of land suitable for this purpose will please communicate with the undersigned, giving price, terms, location, and all particulars.

OUR people in the South are to be favored with the following Bishops in the plan of Fall Conferences, viz: Bishop Foster, at Central German Conference, Covington, Ky., Sept. 9; Kentucky Conference, Newport, Ky., Sept. 30. Bishop Warren, North Carolina, Winston, N. C., Oct. 15; Blue Ridge, Asheville, N. C., Oct. 21. Bishop Ninde, East Tennessee, Oct. 15, Morristown, Tenn.; Holston, Chattanooga, Tenn., Oct. 21. Bishop Joyce, Central Tennessee, Erin, Tenn., Oct. 21. Bishop Vincent, Tennessee Conference, Murfreesboro, Tenn., Oct. 21. Bishop Hurst, Austin, Waco, Tex., Nov. 25; Texas, Houston, Tex., Dec. 2; South German, Seguin, Tex., Dec. 9; West Texas, Victoria, Tex., Dec. 16. Bishops Walden and Goodsell remain abroad. Bishop Mallalieu presides on the Pacific Coast, in Arizona and New Mexico. He begins Sept. 9 and closes his round Nov. 1.

Delegates to the General Conference.

The Fall Conferences will soon begin to hold their annual sessions, when delegates to the General Conference to be held next May, in Omaha, will be elected. In view of that fact it is well for us to begin to consider the kind of persons that should be preferred for such an important mission. They should be first of all, men of God, and of solid piety. They should be wise, thoroughly loyal and well balanced defenders of the faith and of our Methodism. Self-conceited, and turbulent agitators, wrapped up in the all sufficiency of their rhetorical claptrap and foxfire oratory are neither needed nor desired. Such men are dangerous, and not to be depended upon in the enactment of the wisest legislation for the church, and in the selection of bishops and other general officers for the same. By methods peculiar to the ecclesiastical politician however, such persons, manage to ride into the General Conference, much to the injury of the cause we love so well. Under the circumstances it behooves us all, both lay and clerical conferences to look well before we decide who shall represent us.

The question should not be decided upon any other score than that of merit and ability to accomplish the best results. The question of whether one is a pastor, a presiding elder, a General Conference official or a supernumerary; or whether one has been there before or not, should have nothing whatever to do with our decision. The simple question is, or should be, is he the best man? Is he calculated to contribute the most tangible results for Christ and his church? If he has been there before; was he then, and has he since been faithful, and has he fulfilled our expectations; or have we another whom we could send in his place that could do as well or better? Such are the questions we should propound to ourselves, before deciding who should be our representatives in this great General Assembly of Methodism.

Against such interlopers. So far as we are concerned we would not turn on our heels to ask a single man for his vote; for we truly believe that if ever there was an office that should seek the man, and not the man the office, it is that of a delegate to the General Conference, or offices filled by that body. Let us be wise in our selection, and send men of God, of experience, wisdom and education. We cannot afford to send any other kind. Let the church see our substantial growth, by the representatives we select. Let no man who failed to properly represent us in the past be reelected; and let none who has given the best possible service he retired, unless his superior in gifts, grace and usefulness, can be had. Send no man simply because he wants to take a free trip to Omaha, at the expense of the church, but send the very best representative you can. The strength of many of the conferences rests in the fact that when they have found the right man they hold on to him until they can lay hands on a better one. This too is the only course left to us, if we would rivet the attention of the church upon such men as we deem worthy of the episcopacy or of any other office in the gift of the church. Cut this out for future reference, and make it the measuring line with which to take the proper dimensions for fit representatives, and we will thereby secure the best delegation we have ever had in any previous General Conference.

Those Grumbling Preachers. When, a few months ago, we criticized preachers who were constantly grumbling against the appointments given them, we meant no insinuation whatever against many of our most heroic pastors, who, notwithstanding their misfortune in the lack of educational training, are doing some of the most effective work that is even now being done upon many of our hardest circuits and stations. We have too high an appreciation of such men to reflect upon them in any way. We do not look upon every man who has a smattering of Greek and Hebrew as a philosopher, neither do we esteem uneducated people fools. Indeed, the glorious work that is now our heritage in this Southern field is but the result of the hard, self-denying, efforts of just such men. Men who were deficient in the book, but who were nevertheless giants in intellect, and in good judgment, and who were thoroughly consecrated to God and His work. We say all honor to such men! We never address or refer to them as some of our critics do, as Old Emp, Old Bill, and Old Sam, but as Father Williams, Father Murrell, Father Osborne, etc. Those who knew us from our youth up, will not accept any unjust imputations of our motive in this connection from any source. The class that we criticized exists, as every presiding elder and experienced member of the conferences will admit. They may be few. We hope they are. But that they exist is as certain as that there is counterfeit money afloat. Don't they drive the charge home to every guilty conscience? And does, or need any one wince unless he is struck? This is our mission; and this is what we strive to do. To condemn wrong wherever found, and to leave consequences with God. No one would notice offensively the snub here referred to, unless guilty as charged, or prompted by a diabolical spirit of meanness. The men we referred to belong to the class that we have to drop out of the traveling connection at every session of the conferences. All, except those who had "axes to grind," understood just what we meant.

Political Review.

The People's Party, that started with such a blow of trumpets a week or two ago, is already showing evidences of collapse. That it will not amount to much in the next presidential contest is now quite evident. The South is too hide-bound in its Democracy to join the movement in a national contest; and the West is more than apt to see the mission of the People's Party as the tail to the Democratic kite. As such, old Western Republicans will be wide awake against that snare.

New Orleans University.

We go to press amid the commencement exercises of New Orleans University. The week began with the Anniversary of the William Taylor Friends of Africa, Wednesday night of last week. On Thursday night those who had completed the English course received certificates. Last Sunday Rev. Dr. L. G. Adkinson preached the baccalaureate sermon. It was one of great power. Rev. Dr. Hartzell preached the University sermon to a crowded house at Wesley Chapel. Full account next week.

City Church Notes.

(Brief items of news from the city churches will be welcome either handed us by pastors or laymen.)

The corner-stone of Oshman Chapel M. E. Church, Rev. B. G. Ankrum, pastor, was laid May 17. We had a grand success. Collection, $44.70. Rev. H. Taylor, Dr. L. G. Adkinson, Prof. Winters, and several Baptist ministers were with us.

Sunday-School League.

The League met in its monthly session Sunday evening, June 17, at the Medical College on Canal street. President, Sister Ogglevie in the chair. The city superintendent, Bro. I. H. Norwood, reported that the work was in a growing condition, and that there was a manifest improvement in nearly all the schools of the League, and also a large increase as a consequence of the volunteer committee's work. District superintendents Kennedy, Slade and Harris also gave reports of the work they had done during the month.

First Street Sunday School, represented by Bro. Gordon Taylor, reported forty new scholars during the month and some conversions.

Mt. Zion, by Bro. Hinton, reported twenty new scholars and fifteen conversions.

Williams Chapel, Bro. H. Parker, reported twelve new scholars and five conversions.

Mallalieu Chapel, by Bro. Taylor, Miss E. M. Williamson being absent, reported twenty new scholars and some conversions.

Wesley Chapel, by Bro. W. S. Chinn, reported forty new scholars and some conversions.

LaHarpe, by Bro. Webber, reported eight new scholars and some conversions.

Union Chapel, by Bro. Ogglevie, fourteen new scholars and some conversions.

Thomson Chapel, by Bro. L. D. Thomson, six new scholars and some conversions.

Gretna. This Sunday school and people are suffering from the disastrous effects of the high water; but the superintendent was on hand and reported his work in a progressive condition. The church being under water, they were holding meetings in the court building, kindly tendered to them by the Judge.

One new Sunday school was organized, with forty scholars, by Bros. Crump and Johnson, of Mallalieu Chapel, in the First Sunday School District.

The superintendent of the Gretna school has made arrangements to open a new school at Harvey's Canal. The district superintendents are all invited to be present at the time appointed. We have twenty sabbath schools in the city. Eleven of these were represented at the last meeting of the League, and nine were absent. It is hoped that at the next meeting, the third Sunday in June, every school will be represented. The report from each school, showing increase and conversions, is not only a stimulus to the city schools, but also to our country work.

Important measures looking toward the further development of the work in this city, were discussed.

The League was glad to see the Rev. Emperor Williams present and joining heartily in the discussions.

There is to be a grand Sunday school rally at Mallalieu Chapel on the first Sunday in June, for the benefit of that school. All Sunday school workers and district superintendents are invited to be present.

The Sunday School Agent, who had just returned from the Northwest, was present and spoke encouragingly of the work, urging upon all to make an effort to get the grown young men into the Sunday schools, and then go in for conversions.

Several subscriptions for the SOUTHWESTERN were secured.

The following schools paid toward their assessments: First Street, $5; Mallalieu Chapel, $12, total assessment; Simpson, $6; Union, $5; Williams Chapel, $5.

Oshman Chapel Sunday school was reported by Bro. Norwood, in the absence of the superintendent, Sister E. Jefferson. Twelve new scholars and the Sunday school in a prosperous condition.

E. M. WILLIAMSON,
Secretary.

The New Orleans Preachers' meeting, which has been held at the New Orleans University, will not meet again until October 5, 1891.

J. W. HUDSON,
President.

Personal.

—President Thirkield, of Gammon Theological Seminary, has been visiting his parents at Franklin, Ohio. He will spend his vacation in New England.

—Bro. J. W. Lewis informs us that his wife is very sick, and is not expected to recover. His friends in the Louisiana Conference sympathize with him.

—Rev. John Qualls, Pine Bluff, Ark., informs us that the wife of Rev. Geo. W. Lacey continues very sick there, and is not expected to live.

—Rev. E. H. Clark, lately transferred from the Little Rock Conference, is now in charge at Wilson, La., where he desires his correspondents to address him.

—A telegram from Mrs. Libby to Dr. Hartzell, dated May 31, informs us that Dr. Libby, President of Rust University, is very sick. We hope he will soon be convalescent.

—Rev. J. M. M. Shumpert, Presiding Elder and Secretary in the Mississippi Conference, passed through this city last Monday, in company with Rev. B. L. Crump, Presiding Elder of Brookhaven District, on their way from the district conference of that district at Pass Christian, Miss. They report great prosperity on their districts. We were glad to meet them.

—Rev. Geo. W. Wells, A. M., Wiley University, Marshall, Tex., has our deepest sympathy in the loss of his mother. She died in this city, aged 65 years, May 29, in great peace.

The faithful sisters of Mt. Vernon M. E. Church, Beattville, La., held a union meeting recently, and raised $10 for church repairs. The church is being completed at an expense of $600. Rev. H. A. Sorrell is pastor. He was in the city last week and gave us a pleasant call.

REV. D. D. Goodwin, Cary, Miss., says: "Let us have the Presiding Elders' Convention by all means."

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

Peck Memorial Home

Peck Memorial Home is situated on the corner of Peters Avenue and St. Patrick street, just three blocks from New Orleans University.

The third year will open October 1, 1891. Young ladies from the country, desiring to attend the University and take the advantage of the opportunities offered at the Home, can write to Miss H. M. Hegeman, New Orleans, La., for information.

The design of the Home is for the improvement of the heart, head and hand.

The expense of each inmate is $7 a month for board, while they assist in the household duties.

All the young ladies attend New Orleans University for study from 8:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m., paying $1 a month for tuition. The total cost of each young lady per month being $8.

In regard to the Home, Mrs. J. C. Cochran, of Iowa City, Ia., writes: "I had often read in our 'Woman's Home Missions' of Peck Memorial Home and Industrial School for colored girls, and having the pleasure of a short sojourn in New Orleans recently, I determined to make it one of the first places of interest to visit. The location I found pleasant and healthful, the house commodious, with light, airy rooms, kept in perfect order and pervaded by an air of refinement."

"It pleased me to see the girls receiving such thorough training in the various departments of housework, sewing, school duties and devotional exercises. Nor are they denied healthful recreation, whereby their physical development is enabled to cope with their mental and moral."

"It seems that these girls must surely make practical women, full of a proper respect for themselves and their work. And whether they be serving for themselves or others, caring for their own homes or acting as missionaries and teachers among their people, in whatever sphere their future work lies, the training of Miss Hegeman and her assistant, Miss Elliott, will be reflected in earnest, faithful work, and in characters religiously, morally, mentally and physically developed."

Miscellaneous topics:—

What are some of the imperative needs of the times to secure more aggressive work on the part of the church among our people?

The need of a better system of church financing and its bearing upon the elevation of the standard of ministerial support. Are the results of the work of the M. E. Church, numerically and other wise among our people satisfactory? Why or why not? The demand for better educated young men in the itinerant work of our church and how may they be secured?

Shall we abandon our church and school work in the South, or vigorously maintain it at whatever cost of money and personal sacrifice?

Objects to be accomplished by Presiding Elders' Conventions and do they justify the expense incurred.

D. W. HAYS.

Above is God, come joy or ill,
Come life or death, come want and woe, Changeless his love exists, and still Boundless his great compassions flow
O people, by his mercy crowned,
Through thy full lives his praises sound
His ears are open to the softest cry,
His grace descends to meet the lifted eye;
He reads the language of a silent tear
And sighs are incense from a heart sincere.

DAILY BREAD.

Come, Holy Ghost, all quickening fire!
Come, and my hallowed heart inspire,
Sprinkled with the atoning blood;
Now to my soul Thyself reveal;
Thy mighty working may I feel,
And know that I am born of God.

A WISE PREACHER.

Will do pastoral work systematically.
Will not organize his church to death.

Will have a due measure of backbone.

Will look after the poor most tenderly.

Will religiously mind his own business.

Will be no less a citizen because he is a minister.

Will have a good word to say of his predecessor.

Will make it uncomfortable for churchy cronies.

Will not get the dumps every time he is criticised adversely.

Will insist upon due system in the church's financial department.

Will not apologize every time he takes up a benevolent collection.

Will not feel it his duty to straighten out all the kinks in town.

Will not fire his biggest sermon guns during the first two months.

Will fairly startle folks with sanctified inventions for pushing church work.

Will study current events, and use them to give point and pith to his sermon.

Will not be more popular with worldly outsiders than with his consecrated members.

Will not go around town looking for some protruding object against which he may butt his head.

Theunction from the Holy One is given to believers to this very end—to enable them to distinguish (which otherwise would be impossible) between sin and temptation.

It is my religion which obliges me to put men in mind to be subject to principalities and powers. Loyalty is with me an essential branch of religion, and which I am sorry any Methodist should ever forget.

It is a melancholy thing to see how Christian parents rejoice in selling their son or their daughter to a wealthy heathen! And do you sincerely call this a good match? Thou fool, by parity of reason, thou mayest call hell a good lodging place, and the devil a good master.

—John Wesley.

Be not anxious about tomorrow. Do to-day's only; fight to-day's temptation; and do not weaken and distract yourself by looking forward to things you cannot see, and could not understand if you saw them. Enough for you that God is just and merciful, and will reward every man according to his work.

—Charles Kingsley.

Dr. J. O. Ryle, Bishop of Liverpool, is an earnest, spiritual man, who never loses an opportunity to deal a heavy blow against the skeptical and worldly tendency of the age. He recently declared that the movement to throw open libraries, theaters, museums, picture galleries, and places of amusement on the Lord's Day, under the plausible pretense of affording recreation to workingmen, should be steadily resisted. These views should be insisted on by all ministers. Sympathy with workingmen is often a mere pretext. Those who would break down the Sabbath for their sakes are not concerned for workingmen, but they hate Sunday. The best way to decide questions concerning what shall be done on the Sabbath is by an appeal to righteousness. The question is not whether it will accommodate this class or that, but is it right? Whatever is right ought to be done, and in the long run will prove best for all classes.—Selected.

Be filled with the spirit. This is the apostolic injunction. It is a command binding on all believers. No one is excepted.

Be filled with the spirit. This is the privilege of the Pentecostal dispensation. The ascended Christ gave the promise, and it is fulfilled in the experience of all believers who wait in prayer for the full baptism that brings illumination and power.

Be filled with the spirit. Then there will be no room for unbelief or sin. Doubts may invade a divided heart, but they cannot live where the spirit dwells in his fullness. Sin may surprise and defile the soul that is only partially the Lord's, but it is repelled by the child of God who is filled with the spirit.

Be filled with the spirit. That is to put on the whole armor of God. The believer thus filled is armed both for resistance and aggression. He carries the shield of faith that quenches all the fiery darts of the wicked. He wields the sword of the spirit, before which no oppressor can stand.

Be filled with the spirit. Then men will take knowledge of you that you have been in communion with your Lord. Then they will feel and respond to the power of God as exhibited in the vigor, the consistency, the faithfulness of your life.

Be filled with the spirit. Then heavenly light will radiate from you as from a burning lamp; you will be all light in the Lord. Then gracious influence will exude from your consecrated soul, as perfume from flowers.

Be filled with the spirit. Then you will not be like an untuned instrument, not ready for the musician's touch. You will be responsive to every word of God and every breath of his spirit. Opportunities for Christian service will be recognized when met. Each day will have its full measure both of grace and of work.

Be filled with the spirit. Then your Christian life will be steady and strong. A feeble flame flickers with every passing breeze, and may be quenched. The lamp filled with oil and duly trimmed burns on until the bridegroom comes.—Selected.

Homiletics.

Hymns 448, 461, 442.
Scripture Lesson, Psalm 33.
Text, Romans 4-7: Blessed are they whose iniquities are forgiven, and whose sins are covered.

Introduction.—Paul quotes this encouraging and comforting text from the 32d psalm.

God has always been merciful and ready to forgive.

The Psalmist had proved this, and the text records his own experience.

All men have sinned and come short of the glory of God.

This is true of the heathen, and it is also true of those who live in Christian lands.

By nature and by practice all are sinners.

Sins are of two kinds, and both are spoken of in the text.

To wilfully break some known law of God is sin.

Such sins are called in the text iniquities—and the text says, "Blessed are those whose iniquities are forgiven."

There are other sins, which are the results of ignorance, or errors of judgment, or mistakes of thought, word or action. The text includes all such sins, and says, "Blessed are those whose sins are covered."

II, How can a sinner come to this glad and blessed experience so that he may know that all his iniquities are forgiven and all his sins covered?

(a) He must have the enlightenment of the Holy Spirit.

(b) He must follow the teaching of the Holy Spirit.

(c) He must turn from all his sins.

(d) He must give himself and all he has to God.

(e) He must have faith in the Lord Jesus Christ.

III, In what consists the blessedness spoken of in the text?

(a) The soul is delivered from the guilt and condemnation of sin.

(b) The soul has peace with God.

(c) The soul is adopted into the heavenly family.

(d) The soul becomes the heir of all God's promises.

(e) The soul comes into possession of a glorious hope of heaven.

IV, Some practical lessons.

(a) Every sinning soul may have forgiveness and salvation on the easy terms of the Gospel.

The terms are the same for all, repentance towards God and faith in the Lord Jesus Christ.

(a) Now is the accepted time and now is the day of salvation.

(c) If the offers of mercy are refused, death will come and shut the door of hope, and the soul will be lost forever.

There is no mercy, there is no forgiveness after death.

Which dear sinner will you have, death or life, sin or salvation?

Each one must answer for himself, and to-day is the only accepted time. This hour if you will accept of Christ will be the day of salvation to your soul.

Schools and Colleges.

To the Teachers of the State of Mississippi.

A meeting of the colored teachers of the State of Mississippi is hereby called to meet in the city of Jackson, Miss., Saturday morning, July 4, 1891, at 9 o'clock. The object of the meeting is to discuss such measures as will add to the efficiency of our profession and schools, and consider such other matters as may be brought before us. Let every one come.

The Epworth League and the American University.

The Board of Control of the Epworth League, at its late session in St. Louis, took the following important and unanimous action in relation to the American University at Washington, D. C.

WHEREAS, The Board of Control has learned with genuine satisfaction of the measures taken for the founding of a great National University in the City of Washington, District of Columbia, under the patronage of the Methodist Episcopal Church; and

WHEREAS, The Bishops representing the entire Church have endorsed the proposed University in unqualified language, therefore,

Resolved, That we, the Board of Control, representing the young people of Methodism, and recognizing the close relation between the Epworth Leagues and the American University, whose object is the higher education of the youth of our land, gladly unite in the endorsement of the Bishops, and commend this national educational enterprise to the Epworth Leagues of our Church.

This action is timely, and should inspire every department in our great church into active sympathy for this great national movement.

Clark University Commencement.

Dear Dr. Albert:

It is possible I should leave the narrative of this University Commencement to a younger hand, as not being in attendance all the time, I have not full information (the Scotch-Irish Congress called me off to Louisville, Ky.), but I will give this passing note of what I did see. Being a trustee from its foundation as a chartered institution, I have watched its rise with anxiety and hope, and can

There are some patent medicines that are more marvelous than a dozen doctors' prescriptions, but they're not those that profess to cure everything.

Everybody, now and then, feels "run down," "played out." They've the will, but no power to generate vitality. They're not sick enough to call a doctor, but just too sick to be well. That's where the right kind of a patent medicine comes in, and does for a dollar what the doctor wouldn't do for less than five or ten.

We put in our claim for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

We claim it to be an unequalled remedy to purify the blood and invigorate the liver. We claim it to be lasting in its effects, creating an appetite, purifying the blood, and preventing Bilious, Typhoid and Malarial fevers if taken in time. The time to take it is when you first feel the signs of weariness and weakness. The time to take it, on general principles, is NOW.

say in all truth that it has become to the colored race a fortress of strength and a tower of light.

Like all other schools, it has had its seasons of depression, but it is now an assured success, provided it can be endowed.

So far as the word "University" is concerned, it is but the germ of a University. However fondly we cherish the ideal and thought of the thing, we are many long miles from our goal. It is true we have a noble foundation of some four hundred acres of land, with possibly $75,000 worth of buildings thereon, but this does not make a university. We need the time-honored number of schools properly represented by the appropriate faculties, to enable us to take rank amongst the institutions justly entitled to that name. Who of your northern readers, sons of wealth, will aid us to a medical college, to a law college, but especially who will endow the chairs we now have?

On Sabbath last, May 17, Rev. W. H. Hickman, D.D., the President, preached the baccalaureate sermon in the University Chapel.

On Monday the students had a contest for prizes given to such as should excel in declamation. Richard A. Crolley took the first.

The second was given to Ida B. Marshall. Crolley, I learn, used an extract from one of the orations of Burke. Prof. Croghan complimented him on the wisdom of his selection. I could not but remind them that Burke was an Irishman. Poor Ireland, ever poor, but ever rich.

On Tuesday the Board of Trustees met and received reports. That of President Hickman was most encouraging. He asks a new college building to accommodate the growing demands of the institution.

On Wednesday the commencement exercises were held in Loyd Street Church, the largest church in our city, belonging to the Savannah Conference, which was filled to its utmost capacity.

The graduates acquitted themselves with credit to the institution and themselves, and all matters passed off agreeably.

There was but one college graduate, six in the normal department, one in music, and five in the mechanical department. The instructor in the blacksmith shop, a fine looking young colored man, was presented with a watch, as a testimonial from his pupils.

The Board of Trustees and Faculty conferred the degree of D.D. upon Rev. J. R. Crighton and Rev. W. D. Pare, and that of A. M. on Rev. J. W. Lee.

The enrollment of students this year was about 466.

The following is the list of graduates:

College Classical—W. H. Brinson.

Normal course—Rosa Dunoan, Dorthula Lawson, Ida Marshall, Susie Rogers, Sarah Stark, Josie Sheley.

Trade School—Blacksmith Department: S. O. Conyers, W. A. Spivia.

Wheelwright Department: B. R. Wheat.

Harness Department: L. T. Powers.

Paint Department: J. O. Green.

I see from late advices that the Board of Regents of our State University, at Athens, Ga., have boldly and nobly resolved to commence their colored college at once, and in Athens, the seat of their State University. All honor to Chancellor Boggs for this bold step.

The Rochester Lamp.

Perfect in Construction. Artistic in Design. Matchless in its Light.

Absolutely safe and unbreakable. Its light is purer and brighter than gas-light, softer than electric-light, more cheerful than either. A thousand tongues could not say more! A beautiful and good lamp it is indeed, and it is made in over 2,000 artistic varieties.—Hanging and Table Lamps, Baccarat, Vase, Study and Piano Lamps, in Bronze, Porcelain, Silver, Brass and Black Wrought Iron.

A written guarantee goes with every lamp. Ask for the lamp and the guarantee, and insist upon seeing the stamp of the genuine.—The Rochester Lamp Co. When this State withheld the $8000 per annum from Atlanta University because of the co-education of the races in its halls, I said to the friends of Athens, found a colored annex for yourselves, under the care of your own regents and faculty, and help us draw the men of color to our side in the coming conflict with Rome. Thank God, it is done. Now let the Secretary of the Interior send on the funds he withholds—and trust Georgia. In the days before the flood I trusted her, when the slave hunter Ellington, aided by Marshall John L. Robinson, attempted to take a freeman, John Freeman by name, out of Indianapolis, under the workings of the Fugitive slave law, and by the aid of Georgia defeated the villainous scheme.

In the summer of 1853 John Freeman, the valued sexton of Wesley Chapel, on the Governor's Circle, in Indianapolis, then my home, was claimed by a slaveholder named Pleasant Ellington, formerly of Kentucky, then of Missouri. Freeman was placed in prison, but as a favorable providence would have it, I returned home about that time and went at once to the prison to see my colored friend, and learned that he was from Georgia and a free man. He gave me the names of several Georgians, and claimed to be from Monroe, Walton county. I wrote at once to Monroe, and its people sent Leroy Pattile, Esq., their postmaster, up to Indianapolis to identify Freeman. We had a hard struggle to save him from the clutches of the slave hunter, as the within printed appeal will show, which you need not publish—but return to my files—but Georgia did her duty, and can again be trusted. All honor to the memory of the men of Monroe, Walton county, Ga.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. Distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels, are some of the more common symptoms. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet surely and efficiently. It tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and by thus overcoming the local symptoms removes the sympathetic effects of the disease, banishes the headache, and refreshes the tired mind. "I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness, or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble, I think, was aggravated by my business, which is that of a painter, and from being more or less shut up in a room with fresh paint. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla—took three bottles. It did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced." IN THE SPRING
AVOID SICKNESS BY PURIFYING THE BLOOD AND TONING UP THE SYSTEM.
Dr. KING'S ROYAL GERMETUER

Does this more pleasantly, more safely and more surely than any other remedy known to medical science.

THESE FIVE THINGS
In which it differs from ordinary medicines, account largely for its wondrous popularity:

1. It does not taste like medicine. It is as pleasant as lemonade, and, sweetened, makes a most refreshing drink. Persons who object to all other medicines, take this with real pleasure because it is good.
2. It never nauseates. The most delicate stomach finds in this a perfect remedy without a single objection.
3. It never causes of one disease for another. It does not set up one form of disease in order to relieve another, as is the case with so many deadly drugs.
4. It does not patch simply. It cures. It reaches, as nothing else does, to the hidden sources of disease in the blood, and removes the cause. It does this with an ease and power that has never been equaled.
5. It is harmless, and may be safely given to a babe one day old. It is free from Alcohol and Opium.

All persons living in malarial districts should keep this great family remedy on hand. It will break any fever in less time than quinine and anti-pyrene, and leave none of their unpleasant and harmful effects.
For Malaria, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Debility, Kidney Trouble, and for Blood and Skin Diseases, there is nothing to be compared with it.
For Ladies and Children it is far the best.

GOLDEN TEXT.
Them that honor me I will honor. (1 Sam. 2. 30.)

LESSON HYMN, C. M.

And can I yet delay
My little all to give?
To tear my soul from earth away
For Jesus to receive?

Though late, I all forsake;
My friends, my all, resign;
Gracious Redeemer, take, O take,
And seal me ever thine.

Come, and possess me whole.
Nor hence again remove;
Settle and fix my wavering soul
With all thy weight of love.

Time—B. C. 726.

Place—Jerusalem.

Rule—Hezekiah, King of Judah.

Connecting links.—This lesson dates one hundred and thirty-eight years after the last. The scepter of David had in the interval been wielded by Amaziah, Joash's bad son; Uzziah, Amaziah's good son; Jotham; and Ahaz.

QUESTIONS FOR HOME STUDY

1. Hezekiah's reign, v. 1, 2.

At what age did Hezekiah become king?

How long did he rule?

Who was his mother?

Whose good example did he follow?

Whose example ought we always to follow? (1 Pet. 2. 21)

2. Hezekiah's command, v. 3, 9.

With what good work did he begin his reign?

Of what persons did he call a meeting?

What two commands did he give?

Against whom had the fathers sinned, and how?

Of what four acts of wickedness were they guilty?

By whose direction was this evil done? See chap. 28. 24.

What result had followed to Jerusalem?

What had happened to the fathers?

What to the sons?

3. Hezekiah's covenant, v. 10, 11.

What purpose was in the king's heart?

What end did he hope to gain?

What promise gave him encouragement? (Golden Text.)

To what did he urge the priests?

What honor had the Lord given them?

TEACHINGS OF THE LESSON.

Where in this lesson are we taught:

1. That good rulers are a blessing?

2. That piety is the strength of a nation?

3. That God's ministers should be leaders in reform?

HOME WORK FOR YOUNG BE-HEANS.

Find two or three reasons for the affection of the Israelites for King Hezekiah:

(a) What he did to give good water to Jerusalem.

(b) What he did in defense of his nation.

(c) What he did to reform religion.

THE LESSON CATECHISM.

[For the entire school.]

1. How did Hezekiah act before the Lord? He did that which was right in his sight.

2. What did he do for the temple? He repaired it.

3. Whom did he urge to faithfulness? The priests and Levites.

4. What did he say was in his heart? To make a covenant with the Lord God.

5. What is the teaching of the Golden Text? "Them that honor me," etc.

EXPLANATIONS.

Hezekiah began to reign amid the most heathenish surroundings. His father was the worst man who had sat on the throne of Judah. According to all that David had done—He was not only on the side of Jehovah in the political strife between Jehovah's adherents and Baal's, but he was a thoroughgoing, whole-hearted worshiper. Opened the doors—caused the ritual service to be resumed. Filthiness probably refers to decay, but there may have been some pagan relics. Holy place—The temple proper, in distinction from the courts that surrounded it. Shut up the doors of the porch—the entire temple had been officially closed. Lamps—These should have been kept constantly alight before the Lord. Ye see with your eyes—The men who listened to Hezekiah had lost their loved ones. In a recent defeat one hundred and twenty thousand had been slain and two hundred thousand taken prisoners. The Lord hath chosen you—An exalted view of life. All our paths are directed by Jehovah. Minister—Their neglect of their ministry had been partly the fault of Hezekiah's heathen father, partly it had been their own fault. Doctrinal suggestion—The covenant of God.

THE CHURCH CATECHISM.

60. Is it possible for a justified or a sanctified Christian to fall from grace and perish? It is; for even the apostle Paul feared lest, after having preached to others, he himself should be a castaway. (1 Cor. 9. 27.)

61. How shall we guard against the danger of falling from grace? By watchfulness, prayer, and a life of faith in the Son of God.

It was Mr. Emerson who said "the first wealth is health," and it was a wiser man than the modern philosopher who said that "the blood is the life." The system, like the clock, runs down. It needs winding up. The blood gets poor and scores of disease result. It needs a tonic to enrich it.

A certain wise doctor, after years of patient study, discovered a medicine which purified the blood, gave tone to the system, and made men—tired, nervous, brain-wasting men—feel like new. He called it his "Golden Medical Discovery." It has been sold for years, sold by the million of bottles, and people found such satisfaction in it that Dr. Pierce, who discovered it, now feels warranted in selling it under a positive guarantee of its doing good in all cases.

Perhaps it is the medicine for you. Your's wouldn't be the first case of scrofula or salt rheum, skin disease, or lung disease, that has cured when nothing else would. The trial's worth making, and costs nothing. Money refunded if it don't do you good.

DeSiard, La.—Mr. James Washington, after six months illness, departed this life May 12, in full triumph of faith. He leaves a wife, seven children, mother, brother, two sisters and a host of friends to mourn his loss.

F. M. Lashington, P. C.

New River circuit.—Sister Amy Johnson died May 16, in full triumph of faith.

John Williams.

Lafayette, La.—Little Bend departed this life May 18, aged 9 months, while his parents were out in the field at work. He swallowed some unknown substance and death followed. He was the only grandson of Bro. John Forrest.

B. J. Reddix, P. C.

Wilson, La.—Rev. P. W. Clark's little boy, Henry M. Clark, aged 1 year and 5 months, departed this life May 18. It is twice in thirteen days that the angel of death has visited that family. The funeral was attended by Bros. C. Spears and L. Taylor, two of his local preachers.

E. H. Clark.

Lovelady, Tex.—Sister Fannie Obanion died at White Rock, May 17. She leaves four children, fifty-six grandchildren, and a host of friends to mourn her loss. She was 85 years of age. The funeral was attended by Rev. Bell, of the C. M. E. Church, and the writer. Her last words were, "Hallelujah, hallelujah, I am just waiting on Jesus."

A. Alexander, P. C.

Corinth, Miss.—Sister Mary Heard departed this life May 18. She died as she had lived, a consistent Christian. She leaves a husband, one child and many friends.

O. Gillespie.

Sister Louise Hays, a member of St. James M. E. Church, departed this life May 17. She died in full faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. She leaves a host of relatives and friends to mourn. The funeral was conducted by the pastor.

Moses Smith, Waco, Texas.

Gibson, Texas.—Mrs. Pamlee Finetney Twitty departed this life May 15, aged 55 years. She lived a pure Christian up to the time she departed this life. While husband and church feel that they have lost a true Christian and friend, heaven has gained a saint.

Church Polity.

The call for a convention of the presiding elders of the colored conferences is not addressed to the colored presiding elders, but to all the presiding elders of such conferences. The purpose is to consider the nature and difficulties of the work, and the needs of those conferences. The next call we hope will be for one representing all our Southern conferences.

If T. H. M. turns in his Bible to Amos, 9 ch., 13 verse, he will find the passage which he desires, viz: "The plowman shall overtake the reaper." And if he will write to this office and get a small Concordance, which can be bought for a trifle, he then can find, without any trouble, any passage of Scripture which he may wish to consult.

Why do you persist in writing on both sides of a sheet paper, and with lead pencil, when writing for publication. Is it because paper and ink are so dear in your neighborhood? Why not follow our directions, and write on only one side? Unless you follow our advice, in this matter, we will have to decline to give any notice to your contributions.

The Presiding Elders' Convention.

I am aware that to insist on the attendance of brethren at a remote distance from the place is asking a good deal, but I submit if the interests to be subserved is not of such paramount importance as to fully justify it. Under the circumstances no one concerned, can afford to remain away except in the case of unavoidable detention.

Will persons other than presiding elders be at liberty to attend the convention? Certainly. The pastors of our churches will find a warm welcome. Leading laymen, also should come and "look in upon the body," and come into contact with the spirit of aggressive Methodism. There will be inspiration for all.

Our presiding elders and pastors are all busy the year round, hence, no matter what the date fixed upon for the meeting, some sacrifice would have to be made on the part of those desiring to be present. What does it mean? It means "beyond the rubs" for our entire colored work. It means a "forward movement" towards grander achievements for our Christ and Methodism in this decade. It means that those of us to whom this work is so largely committed are to be drawn more closely to gether in sympathy, fellowship and aim; not from any sinister prompting, but with a single eye to more rapid expansion and substantial growth.

Does it not draw the color line? I do not so understand it. The white and colored work is organically one; one in spirit and in purpose, but as regards the classes of persons to whom our ministrations are respectively addressed, there is a difference. And when the question of doing the greatest good to the greatest number is under consideration, its recognition as a matter of radical preference caused by our peculiar surroundings, must be eminently proper.

Letters of endorsement continue to arrive and in most every case accompanied with the promise of the writer to be on hand if possible.

Rev. J. M. Shumpert, the able secretary of his conference, says: "I wish the convention the largest measure of success."

Rev. Geo. B. Lynch, pastor at Oberlin, Ohio: "Just the kind of convention we need."

Rev. J. Campbell: "I have no doubt a meeting of the kind will result in great good to our work in the South."

Rev. W. G. Colby, talks to the point: "There is a felt necessity for the convention, if for no other reason than becoming acquainted with each other. The officers of our grand army should know each other, to better direct the battle."

Rev. F. Parker: "Trust the convention may prove a success, every inch of the way."

Rev. R. Sewell, speaks out: "The meeting is timely. Am satisfied it will do much good. We need to understand each other better and the proposed convention will help toward this end."

Rev. B. L. Crump: "A step in the right direction. It meets my approval and I shall do all in my power to promote its success."

Rev. F. L. Baxter, who has prepared a neat, conveniently arranged class leader's book, says: "I heartily approve the proposed convention."

Rev. W. H. Coffey: "The work demands the meeting."

Rev. W. F. Smith: "Such a meeting of the brethren will do great good."

Rev. J. F. Marshall, highly honored throughout Louisiana, writes: "The holding of such a convention should be productive of much good in the advancement of the work in our immediate field of labor."

Welcome! Welcome!

Rev. S. J. Harris, pastor Wiley Memorial Church, where the convention is to be held sends out the following lines which the brethren will, no doubt, read with delight:

"I take this method of saying to the presiding elders and others who may find it possible to attend the proposed convention, that I have the full concurrence of my church in extending you a hearty welcome to our church and city. We shall spare no pains to make your stay in our midst pleasant in every respect. All who may contemplate being in attendance and desire to be provided with accommodations, while here, will please notify me at once.

S. J. HARRIS,

304 Lookout street."

Dr. W. H. Hickman, president Olack University is in favor of the meeting and expects to be present.

"Women in the Lay Electoral Conferences."

BY CHAS. E. BROWN.

The New York Christian Advocate of April 2nd, says: "They (women) have sat without dispute in certain conferences, it is true, but not legally."

I respectfully submit that the reasons given by the Advocate for asserting that women are not legally eligible as members of the Lay Electoral Conferences, are not conclusive. The Advocate avers "that from the beginning women having held no offices in the Methodist Episcopal Church, it was necessary to pass a specific act before they could be lawfully appointed or elected to any;" and that "Even their eligibility to be stewards, class leaders and Sunday school superintendents was called in question and the General Conference of 1880 made that legal by passing a law for the purpose."

Upon what authority does the Advocate make this statement? What "specific act" did the conference pass by which women may be "lawfully appointed or elected to" the offices referred to?

During the entire history of quarterly conferences in the Methodist Episcopal Church, women have officiated as leaders and stewards; not merely officers de facto but officers de jure; and by virtue of their office have taken part in the proceedings of the quarterly conferences and voted upon the questions brought before them.

The truth is, that in 1880 the eligibility of women to be stewards, class leaders and Sunday school superintendents was called in question by those who claimed that the pronouns he, his and him when used in the Discipline with reference to stewards, class leaders and Sunday school superintendents must be construed to exclude women. The question before the conference was, not whether women should be made eligible to the offices named, but what construction would be placed upon the law as it then stood. The answer of the conference was: "The pronouns he, his and him when used in the Discipline with reference to stewards, class leaders and Sunday school superintendents shall not be so construed as to exclude women from said offices." This answer is a declaratory statute giving a common sense construction to the law as it already stood. It didn't pretend to confer new powers upon women, but it forbade, in express terms, the narrow, limited construction that had been put upon the pronouns referred to, by a few ultra conservatives. It merely asserted, in substance, that women under the law of the church as it then stood were entitled to hold the offices of steward, class leader and Sunday school superintendent, and therefore to be ex officio members of the quarterly conferences. While this declaratory or interpretative statute did not make women eligible to the offices indicated, it gave an interpretation under which women have since been elected to Electoral Conferences. As members of the quarterly conferences women have the same right to speak and to vote that male members have. That they have the qualifications of electors and the right to vote for delegates to the Lay Electoral College, no one denies. Will the Advocate deny that it is the universal principle both in civil and ecclesiastical law that an elector is eligible to the office voted for, unless specifically otherwise stated in the law? By the application of this rule, women are eligible to membership in the Lay Electoral Conferences, and, being eligible as members of the Electoral Conferences, they must necessarily possess the right to vote for delegates to the General Conference.

The following, adopted by the General Conference of 1872, was another interpretative or declaratory statute:

"The General Conference holds that in all matters connected with the election of lay delegates, the word 'laymen' must be understood to include all members of the church who are not members of the Annual Conferences."

I am aware that there are those who, while admitting that "the plain, obvious meaning of the language" of this resolution is to recognize the eligibility of women, still claim that in view of the circumstances under which this resolution was adopted, it should not be construed as including women. Those who claim this assert that it only means to declare that local preachers are laymen; but no one so far as I know, not even the Advocate, has ever claimed or pretended that that resolution had the effect to make laymen of local preachers. They were laymen before as well as after the adoption of that resolution. The resolution simply declares the status of all church members who were not members of the Annual Conferences, under the law as it then stood.

In conclusion, I desire to congratulate the Advocate upon the progress it is apparently making towards adopting the position that the General Conference has full power, without any amendment of the second restrictive rule to declare the eligibility of women as officers of the church and as members of the Lay Electoral or General Conferences; and that the most those who oppose admission of women can claim is, that "women having held no offices in the Methodist Episcopal Church," it is "necessary to pass a specific act before they can be lawfully appointed or elected to any."

Commencement week at New Orleans University, May 28-June 2 was a memorable one in the history of this excellent institution. It witnessed the closing of the grandest year's work in its successful history. Thursday evening May 28, those completing the English course entertained their friends with a fine program which was creditably executed, at the conclusion of which they were awarded certificates as follows:

Laura F. Albert, Lula R. Gattin, Madison A. Pack, Ida L. Porter, Elizabeth E. Robinson, T. D. Turner, J. P. Warren, Lucille F. Weathers, Oora C. Burrell, Wm. E. Burrell, Matthew S. Davage, Delphine L. Henderson, Jos. B. Randolph, Ella Rose, James Sample, Thos. M. Smith, U. G. Talley, Emma L. Tharp, Alice C. Vinet, and H. B. Woods.

Friday 29, the Mallalien Literary Society observed its anniversary with a charming program of a very high character. It included a solo by Miss Lillie LeBeuf, oration by J. H. Reed, "The March of Intellect," solo, Water Oresses, Miss Florence Henry, oration, Miss Eloise Bibb, "The Mind of Man;" instrumental solo by Miss Laura F. Albert; farewell oration by Miss Olivia M. Anderson; oratory, "Over Jordan," by the society.

On the same day at 5 p. m., the placing of the first timber on the foundation of the model school building, now in process of construction, and in which 400 additional students will be accommodated, was joyfully witnessed by a large congregation of students and friends. Rev. A. E. P. Albert, D.

D., president of the Board of Trustees delivered the address; while the congregation sang the Doxology. On Sunday, at 9:30 a. m., the annual love-feast was held, when many precious testimonies were given. Rev. Dr. Adkinson preached the baccalaureate sermon. It was one of great power. Rev. Dr. Hartzell preached with remarkable effect the university sermon to a crowded house at Wesley Chapel at night.

The temperance anniversary, at night, gave full assurance that the seeds planted in the University W. C. T. U. will bring forth an abundant harvest during the vacation, and in all the future.

On Monday the Board of Trustees held its annual meeting, apart from its regular work, the greater portion of its action was to commend and compliment president Adkinson and Mrs. Adkinson for their very satisfactory management of the school. Rising votes of thanks were tendered them for their faithfulness and their eminently wise and successful administration. The work of the faculty too, as a whole, was commended.

At night the alumni held their annual banquet. It was a feast of good things, intellectually and "epicureanly." The address of Bishop Mallalieu, wherein he showed how we may attain the highest usefulness and eminence in spite of circumstances, was a masterly effort.

The greatest day of the feast however, was Tuesday June 2, commencement day proper. The exercises were held on the university campus, under outstretched tarpaulins; where several thousand happy spectators witnessed the inspiring exercises. All our city pastors were present, also the following prominent visitors: Revs. A. S. Jackson, and S. T. Clanton, D. D., of the Baptist Church; O. A. LeBeuf of the A. M. E. Church; Geo. W. Henderson, A. M., and Prof. A. L. Henderson, of Straight University; Rev. O. H. Crawford, of the Congregational Church; Presiding Elders, Priestley, Williams, Duncan, Landry, McLaughlin, Marshall, and Revs. R. Thompson, of Franklin, A. Luster of Woodlawn, Frank Harvey of Central, Mrs. Rev. T. J. Johnson of Shreveport, Mrs. Senator Richard Sims, Senators T. T. Allain, and T. B. Stamps, Profs. Geo. H. Fayerweather, and B. M. Hubbard of Alexandria, Dr. I. E. Mullon, and Messrs. L. A. Martinet of the Crusader, and H. H. Blunt, etc. At 2 o'clock the graduating classes headed by bishop Mallalieu and the faculty filed upon the platform. The following program was then executed:

NORMAL DEPARTMENT.

Music, "He was Despised," Miss L. Vignes. Prayer by Bishop Mallalieu. Oration, Miss Emma Anderson, "Advantages of a thorough home training." Oration, Miss Eloise Bibb, "There is always room on top." Oration, Miss Adele

Boucree, "Woman." Music, "Hear me, Norma," dnett, Misses Wright and LeBeuf. Oration, Miss Laura P. Brown, "Life's Keystone." Oration, Miss Rosa Holmes, "The coming teacher." Oration, Miss Zillah F. Lawson, "Life is what we make it." Music, "Showers of Blossoms," Miss Laura F. Albert. Oration, Miss Pazetta Thompson, "Requisites for a successful teacher." Oration, Miss Elizabeth Williamson, "God in history." Class history, Miss Jennie M. Johnson. Music, Class Song, Class of '91.

CLASSICAL DEPARTMENT.

Music, Miss Eloise Bibb, "Sebastopol," guitar concerto. Oration, Miss Olivia M. Anderson, "Christianity in the nation's progress." Oration, Miss William Porter, "God in the universe." Music, Mrs. F. Walker, "Farewell to the piano," Beethoven's last composition. Oration, Mr. John H. Reed, "The evening of the nineteenth century." Oration, Mr. Daniel F. Ross, "History the source of human inspiration." Music, class song. Conferring of degrees. Music, farewell song, Mrs. J. C. Littlefield, "I'll pray for thee."

Where all did so well it is hard to discriminate. All reflected credit on themselves and their Alma Mater, and gave evidence of the best training and prophecy of a useful future.

The graduates were:

Classical department—Miss Olivia M. Anderson, William Porter, John H. Reed, Daniel F. Ross. These received the degree of A. B.

Normal department—Emma Anderson, Eloise Bibb, Adele Boucree, Laura P. Brown, Rose Holmes, Zillah F. Lawson, Pazetta Thompson, Elizabeth Williamson, Jennie M. Johnson. These were awarded normal diplomas.

A diploma was also conferred on Miss Eloise Bibb as having completed the musical course, and certificates of proficiency in music on Misses Jennie Adkinson, Pazetta Thompson, Laura F. Albert, Gretta Marshall, Victoria Chinn and Mrs. F. Walker.

President Adkinson also announced that the Board of Trustees had conferred degrees as follows: Dr. I. E. Mullon, Revs. E. Lyon, M. C. B. Mason, J. W. E. Bowen, A. M., in cursu; Rev. Albert Hodgett, D. D., pro honoris.

Rev. Dr. A. E. P. Albert, addressed a few words to the class and the audience, and after the singing of the doxology, the exercises were closed with benediction by Dr. Albert.

The session just closed has been the most prosperous in the 13 years of existence of this school, 562 students were enrolled, and many were turned away for want of room to accommodate them.

The new building however will enable the school to accommodate the 1,000 students, that are confidently expected next session which opens October 5th. No institution in all the South is doing more for our people than New Orleans University.

The University has also a well-equipped medical school, located in its large brick building, at the corner of Canal and Robertson streets. The efficient faculty of the institution is as follows: L. G. Adkinson, A. M., D. D., president and professor of mental and moral science; Harvey J. Clements, B. S., professor of natural science; Alexander P. Champor, A. B., professor of mathematics; Miss Ida M. Harvey, M. M., professor of Latin and Greek; William P. Winter, A. M., professor of belles lettres and principal of normal department; Miss Fane Adkinson, professor of penmanship, typewriting and stenography; Miss Attila Fair, professor of elocution and geography; John W. Collett, professor of vocal music and teacher in college preparatory; Mrs. Marian Littlefield, professor of instrumental music; Albert R. Adkinson, principal, third grade; Winter, first assistant, third grade; Miss Cora L. Armstead, teacher first and second grades; John H. Reed and Miss Olivia M. Anderson, instructors.

Industrial department—Mrs. M. A. Adkinson, dress-making and sewing; Miss L. P. Brown, cooking; Miss Cora L. Armstead, laundry; E. Eugene Osborne, carpentry and cabinet work; Hillard J. Carter, printing; Paul D. Kennedy, tin-smithing.

Letters from the Districts.

I Hear Footsteps. Victory! Victory!

H. N. BROWN, P. E.

What is it I hear? Tramp, tramp, they are coming. Who? The preachers on the Marion district. Look! Look! Two thousand members in line. Souls are being converted, Christians sanctified, and two thousand more getting ready to fall in line. "For a great door and effectual is opened unto" the Methodist Episcopal Church; and we are marching. We are now encamped by the Alabama, in Selma, Ala.

They said that we could not come into this Magic City, lorded by other Methodisms, but then the battle is the Lord's, and we are here. One year ago we had nothing in this place. A few poor and discouraged members made up our lot of inheritance, but now we have a nice church, 28x50, in which we are holding revival meetings. Some have been converted and eighteen added to the church this quarter, and the good work goes on. The church is to be finished soon. The district conference meets in this church July 23, 1891. At this place we are sadly in need of a good bell to call the people, and as we did not collect any gold or silver before leaving Rome, we are too poor to buy. Who is he or she that will send a bell to Rev. O. Nelson, Selma, Alabama? Friend, if you want to speak day and night for God, send that bell to the above address. To him that believeth all things are possible, that bell will come. Send it on friend. We are looking for it, and God told you to send it.

Look here! Who is that fellow yonder? Rev. B. G. Smith, of Gammon School of Theology, Atlanta, Ga. Of what church? M. E. Church. What is he doing here in Greensboro? Preaching. Preaching where? In that church where the Presbyterians once worshipped. What do you say? Has that old church got here at last? Yes, she is here. Why, I thought they said that she was so old and gray that she had lost her strength, and could not come to Greensboro? Yes, but that is a mistake. That old mother is stronger than all her children.

Hush! I thought I heard the train coming. Wonder why there are so many people on the train today? Look yonder! What a cloud of dust is rising out of the streets. Buggies, hacks, carts, horses, mules and people on foot. Oh! I'll tell you what is up. The quarterly conference of the M. E. Church is in town to day.

Say, they tell me that the people in Pickens county did not want the M. E. Church there, and that they went to Mr. Whiteman to keep her out? Somebody did inform Mr. Whiteman that we were not wanted there, and he said that we must go, but the people did not say so.

Well, did you go? Yes, we went and bought a lot and built a new church, and will hold our next quarterly conference there. That is the way we went in Pickens county.

Friend, if I had the money I would build a new M. E. Church in every town on my district, and trust God and the people to get my money back. Do you think you would get it? Brother, I don't think I would get it, I know I would get it. It is no trouble to get the people, if you can get the church and put a preacher there to feed them. But will they feed him? Yes, they will give bread for bread, but the preacher must set the first table.

There are six or more places on my district where I could have self-supporting churches in three years' time, or less, if I could but build churches there now. Delay has taken the people from us in many of our best cities.

May God raise up some man or men who will feel it a duty to build or help his poor people in having places of worship.

Nelson Burton, Waxia, La.

Rev. T. S. Randle, of Opelousas M. E. Church South, preached in St. Paul M. E. Church April 19.

S. McDavis, Hazlehurst, Miss.

We are having a good time here. Sunday, April 26, we had a grand rally, and raised $36.50, and $10 for missions. Total, $46.50. We secured one subscriber for the SOUTHWESTERN.

J. W. Sheppard, Wedowee, Ala.

Our first quarterly conference was held April 25, 26, with Rev.

W. H. Smith, Presiding Elder, in the chair. He preached to a crowded house on Sunday. Paid Presiding Elder, $8.85; pastor, $7.30. Sacrament was administered to 78.

F. Harvey, Central, St. James Parish, La. The Lord has been with us this year. We are moving along nicely, and have paid for our church. We are having a grand revival; 40 souls have been converted. Our Sunday school is the best we ever had. Ten scholars have joined the church.

E. S. Hicks, Columbus, Ga.

Our first quarterly conference was held here April 21, 22. We had a very good time. Presiding Elder Watts is loved by all.

S. Ray, Fort Payne, Ala.

My first quarterly conference was held April 25. Presiding Elder I. Townsend was on hand. The reports of the brethren showed great improvement, and the outlook for the M. E. Church is bright. On Sunday, at 11 o'clock, the Presiding Elder preached.

J. T. Gibbons, San Antonio, Texas.

St. Paul M. E. Church, San Antonio, was never in a more prosperous condition than now. We have just closed a successful revival with 60 conversions, and the membership greatly revived.

H. W. Walton, Marianna, Ark.

This is a growing town. I am trying to organize our church here. I have secured the Masonic Hall for temporary use for religious services.

J. C. Crowley, New Gascony, Ark., has been sick two months, but is now convalescent. He reports his work in a prosperous condition. He is preaching at Ray's, where we now own a lot, and services are held in the Odd Fellows' Hall. He has nine members there, and thirty-six at New Gascony.

A. Owens, Millen, Ga.

Our Easter collection was not $30.25, as reported in a previous issue, but $3.25.

W. H. Jones, Greer's Depot, S. C.

We have five churches on this charge, and all are in a good spiritual condition. Several have joined since conference. We have a large attendance each Sabbath. Sunday, May 17, was rally day at Wesley Chapel. Collection, $74.55.

S. H. Nevills, Greenwood, Miss.

We had a fine quarterly conference on the 25th and 26th of April. Rev. W. McDonald was on hand. We had a grand time. The Elder preached a good sermon and we baptized eight adults and fifteen children, and gave the Lord's Supper to 124. Collection, $24.50. My people, led by Mr. S. J. Leonard, brought me 103 pounds of all kinds of eatables.

J. W. Fishburne, Newberry, S. C.

The corner-stone laying of the Newberry Chapel was a grand success. The Grand United Order of Odd Fellows laid the corner-stone. Several distinguished divines were present and assisted in the ceremony, after which a collection was taken up, and the Rev. Dillard, of the Presbyterian Church, was the first to contribute one dollar.

P. B. Bowie, Clarksdale, Miss.

My first quarterly conference was held April 11, 12, by Presiding Elder J. W. Davis. We had a grand time. The Elder preached a soul-stirring sermon, after which eighteen came forward for prayer. Raised $7.25.

Wm. Josey, Belleville Circuit, Texas.

My first quarter was held May 2, 3, by Rev. W. H. Logan, Presiding Elder. The Presiding Elder preached, administered the Lord's Supper, and baptized one infant. Sunday, May 3, we had a good time. Collection, $18. Paid Presiding Elder, $10. Six persons came forward for prayer.

F. D. Bowers, Houma, La.

The Athletic Club of Houma, composed of the teachers in the parish of Terrebonne, gave on the evenings of May 1 and 2, a grand exhibition and concert, for the benefit of Wesley Chapel M. E. Church, and made the sum of $66.35. Donated to the church $40.15. Hon. H. H. Ford, president; H. H. Davis, vice-president; A. C. Kane, treasurer; D. E. Griffin, secretary; Steward Kimble, general manager.

Henry Dickson, Huntsville, Tex.

Rev. F. Parker, our Presiding Elder, was with us and held his second quarter May 2, 3. He preached two wonderful sermons on Sunday, and administered the Lord's Supper to 85 members. Having closed a successful revival, with five converts, Elder Parker did the baptizing. Collection for pastor, $43; Presiding Elder, $13.20; missions, $16. J. S. Sandalls subscribed to the SOUTHWESTERN for six months. Our Willing Workers made good reports.

C. M. Moore, Coffeeville, Texas.

Had a glorious time on the occasion of Presiding Elder Wade Hamilton's quarterly visit. Collection on that day, $17. He has raised $120 since conference. He speaks in high praise of his Presiding Elder and people.

The Montgomery, Ala., Argus says: "Last Sunday was a bright day in the history of St. Paul M. E. Church, of which the Rev. E. M. Jones is pastor. At 3 o'clock the Rev. R. M. Cheeks preached a fine practical sermon to a very appreciative audience. And at night the pastor preached a special sermon to the Queen Esther's Court. The Queen Esther's Court contributed $6, and the Zion Star Benevolent Society contributed $3. The collection during the day was about $50. The church is nicely finished, and fast coming to the front."

G. W. Rieves, Walnut Grove, Ala.

My first quarterly conference was held May 2, 3, with Rev. G. W. Rieves in the chair, in the absence of the Rev. W. Prettyman, Presiding Elder. He did not come until the third day. This was the first time that he had ever been on this part of the district, and as he was coming from Decatur to Blountsville, some one tried to stop him, so he got lost three times on his way. The white people of Blountsville were out on Sunday to see him, and some one told me that they were going to lynch him if he ever comes again. Notwithstanding such troubles, we raised and paid him $8.

G. Orange, Ackerman, Miss.

My first quarterly conference convened April 23, with Rev. R. Sewell, Presiding Elder, in the chair. It was a very pleasant session. Pastor's salary was estimated at $875; Presiding Elder, $50.

J. R. Stackhouse, Dublin, Miss.

I was assigned to Dublin, Miss., by the Bishop. When I got there I found ten members and no church. I went to work like a man of God, and to-day we have 27 on the roll and a lot to build on. We have a house rented for the present. Our quarterly conference was held April 7, 8, by the Rev. J. W. Davis, Presiding Elder, and he preached two soul-reviving sermons. The Bishop did us no harm when he sent Elder Davis here.

L. D. Thompson, San Felipe, Austin County, Texas.

Our quarterly conference was held April 25. Paid Presiding Elder, $20; pastor, $2.25. Easter Sunday we collected $9.80.

P. H. Travis, Gainesville, Ga.

Our first quarterly conference was held May 2, 3. M. M. Alston, Presiding Elder, presided. Paid pastor, $50; Presiding Elder, $15; trustees, $35; for missions, $7.70. The Elder preached a soul-stirring sermon, and administered the Lord's Supper to 65 persons.

W. McIntosh, Argenta, Ark.

Our first quarterly conference was held on the 3d inst. by Wm. H. Morris, Presiding Elder, and though in the beginning of the year we had no place in which to worship, and only one member, reports showed that we have organized, and have nine wide awake members and a good Sunday school. We have also sent some subscribers to the SOUTHWESTERN, and with our small number we are looking forward to the time when we will have a place in which to worship. We are also anxious for the SOUTHWESTERN to secure the 25,000 subscribers that she is now striving for, and will do all that we can to increase the number.

L. J. S. Bell, Edwards, Miss.

We have just closed a revival of great spiritual power. Twelve conversions and sixteen accessions during the meeting. We have added twenty-one persons to the church since conference. Among the converts there were two old gray headed men brought to Christ. One person joined us from the Baptist church. Baptized nine adults at the altar Sunday, May 3. The Sunday school is doing well.

H. Henderson, Hamburg, Miss.

Our first quarterly conference was held February 28 to March 1. Rev. S. A. Cowan, Presiding Elder, was with us. He preached three sermons. Collection, $9. The pastor's salary was fixed at $320; Presiding Elder, $40. We also observed Easter Sunday, collection $3.60, and had a nice time. We have a revival all through the work. Seventeen conversions up to date, and many anxious mourners desiring to come. I am much in love with Presiding Elder S. A. Cowan.

A. J. Ford.

A revival which had been going on for five weeks closed with 74 converts added to the church. Fourteen families became members of the church. The state of our church at this place was never better. The Sabbath school and services are crowded every Sabbath. The old Church Extension debt, of twenty years' standing, is being paid cheerfully by the people. Our beloved Presiding Elder is now at home enjoying the spiritual atmosphere of the church. Our people are perfectly delighted with him. The Alexandria Academy is nearing the close of its second session. The school has grown steadily in influence and power with this part of Louisiana. Prof. Hubbard and his able assistants are sparing no pains in making this school felt with the people of Central and North Louisiana.

AFTER using Ely's Cream Balm two months, I was surprised to find that the right nostril, which was closed for over twenty years, was open and free as the other, and I can use it now as I could not do for many years. I feel very thankful. —R. H. Cressingham, 275 18th Street, Brooklyn.

Letters from Congo and Angola.

(From June African News.)

Banana, Independent State of Congo, April 14, 1891.

Last night I slept aboard our steamer the "Annie Taylor." No such cabins on any other river steamer on the Congo. Mrs. Teter was very ill when she came aboard, two months ago (when Bro. Teter went to work to put in the boiler) but is now much better. She will require a year at home to restore her fully. This steamer, with her splendid cabin accommodation, will be the best and cheapest sanitarium for Congo workers they can find this side of Europe or America. She is running, and will get all the work she can do. She has made one trip to Boma and return. We go on to Angola in the Galboa at noon to day. I will visit our mission station in that province, and return to Congo. I hope in five or six weeks from this date, to open new fields in the North Congo region. We are now just starting on a brief excursion up Banana creek, in the "Annie Taylor."

We anchored here yesterday at 4 p. m. No boats for hire here, so we remained abroad. At about 5:30 p. m., Rev. A. E. Withey, our Presiding Elder for Angola district, came aboard, and remained all night. He is looking well, and reports general good health among our people, and prosperity in their work; including abundant self-support in all our Angola stations. Two of our dear children went to heaven last November, Sammy Mead, and his baby brother, Bro. Withey says that Sammy was manifestly ripening for heaven for a year before he went.

Thursday Evening April 17.
We came ashore this morning, and got all of our goods through the custom. We arrived at the Mission Americana at 2:30 p. m. Bro. Burling and family all well.
WILLIAM TAYLOR.

Letters from the Laity.

N. H. Williams, Greenville, Miss.

Easter was a grand day for Asbury Chapel Sunday school. The church was beautifully decorated. At 11 a. m., our pastor preached at the A. M. E. Church. At 3 p. m., he preached to his own flock, on the resurrection of Christ, after which he went through with the Easter program, which was grand. Collection $3.65. Our school is becoming more and more interesting.

We have many obstacles to fight, but we mean to hold on like grim death, and not give up one inch.

Lulu D. Price, Sturges, Miss.

The first quarterly conference convened April 18th, with Rev. R. Sewell, Presiding Elder in the chair. Reports showed the work to be in a prosperous condition. The report of the pastor showed two deaths this quarter. One the mother of the presiding elder, who died in full triumph of faith after forty or more years faithful service for Christ. Her burial was conducted by Rev. Jas. Price. Estimating committee reported pastor's salary $435, Presiding Elder $50, superannuated preacher $5. On Sunday April 19th Sabbath school opened with 40 scholars, we had a grand time with the lesson. After a grand lecture by the pastor, at 11 o'clock the Presiding Elder gave us a soul-stirring sermon, subject, the preeminence of Christ. Collection $16. Eighty-seven came to the communion table. At night the pastor preached a soul stirring sermon.

Books and Current Literature.

The opening poem in the June St. Nicholas is by Mr. C. P. Cranch, whose "Last of the Huggummers" will be recalled by the fathers and mothers of the present generation of the Magazine's readers as one of the greatest delights of their childhood. The present poem is a delicate, graceful fancy, and has been appreciatively illustrated by R. B. Birch, who has drawn a frontispiece and two smaller pictures for it. The three serials, the departments, and the beautiful pictures must not be overlooked.

A never failing charm of the Ladies' Home Journal is that it is always abreast of the season; somehow it presents just the things one wants most to see at the particular time it comes out; this seems especially true of the June number, with its dainty pages for the Brides of June, Florence Howe Hall's In Church, or at Home! The Journal promises also some particularly delightful things for each of the coming summer numbers. Issued at $1 a year, or 10 cents a copy, by the Curtis Publishing Company, 435 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa.

The June Century has an interesting frontispiece portrait of Geo. Mifflin Dallas, formerly Vice-president of the United States. This portrait accompanies the second and last instalment of the papers extracted from Mr. Dallas' journal, written when he was American Minister to the Court of the Ozar Nicholas I. Gen. Sherman's last speech, delivered at the Press Club dinner to Henry M. Stanley, Jan. 31, is for the first time printed in this number. One of the principal subjects of this number of The Century, and a timely one in view of the current communcements, is the education of women. In "Topics of the Time" another popular financial study is given, entitled Modern Cheap Money Panaceas. There are also editorials on Judicial Control of Contested Election Cases, and Law or Lynching, the latter having to do with the mob incidents of Cincinnati and New Orleans.

With over 120 illustrations, the Cosmopolitan for June sets a fast pace in the handicap for magazine honors. The frontispiece is a portrait of Madame de Pompadour, and pertains to a bright sketch of a summer spent in the home of that famous woman, by Amelia Rives and her guests. Thomas B. Connery, formerly managing editor of the New York Herald, gives interesting reminiscences of the first work of Stanley for that journal. Perhaps the most valuable article of the number is that contributed by Mr. Abner L. Frazer to the literature of the farmers' movement. The Cosmopolitan prize of $200 for the best article on "the needs of the farmer, his hours of labor, and the national legislation necessary to his prosperity," was awarded by the judges to this gentleman. Cosmopolitan Publishing Co., Madison Square, New York, price, 25c.

The plans and purposes of the new expedition to the Arctic regions are well set forth in the current number of Harper's Weekly, by Lieutenant R. E. Peary, U. S. N., the projector and leader of the enterprise. Among the portraits published are those of the Ozarowitz of Russia, Prince George of Greece, Thomas W. Wood, President of the National Academy of Design, and F. D. Millet, Vice-President.

The current number of Harper's Bazar opens with another superb illustration from Worth's establishment, received by special arrangement from the Bazar's Paris artist. Juliet Corson's articles on Sanitary Living are concluded.

Harper's Young People for May 21st contained a poem for Decoration Day entitled An Old Soldier, by Margaret E. Sangster.

HYPNOTISM—This subject, which is now attracting such wide-spread attention, and about which there is such a difference of opinion, is considered practically in No. 3 of the Fowler & Wells Library, under the title of How to Magnetize; or Mesmerism and Clairvoyance, a practical treatise on the choice, management and capabilities of subjects, with instructions on the manner of procedure, by James Victor Wilson. It will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price in stamps, 25c. Address Fowler & Wells Co., No. 775 Broadway, New York.

Talks by George Thatcher, the celebrated minstrel, containing his monologues, parodies, songs, sketches, poems, jokes, etc. An entertaining and funny book. It is published by the Penn Publishing Co., Philadelphia, Pa. For sale by F. E. Hansell & Bro., publishers, 94, 96, Canal street, New Orleans, La.

A letter from a little girl in Chili, published in Our Post office Box in Harper's Young People for May 26th, gives one of the best accounts we have yet read of the Chilean insurrection and its causes.

The fourth volume of The Arena opens with that vim and vigor which has characterized this brilliant review from its inception. The contributions are able and timely, and their authors embrace many of the best thinkers of the day. Julian Hawthorne contributes an admirable paper on The New Columns. Julius Chambers, the editor of the New York World, writes on the Chivalry of the Press. Two striking religious papers are written by Prof. James T. Bixby, who writes on Evolution and Christianity from the standpoint of the higher criticism, and Rev. T. Ernest Allen, who discusses Herbert Spencer's Doctrine of Inconceivability. The story and poem, a brilliant character sketch, together with the vigorous editorial notes, make up an exceptionally brilliant number.

The June number of Harper's Magazine contains the opening chapters of Peter Ibbetson, a novel written and illustrated by the celebrated artist George du Maurier. Henry Loomis Nelson writes a timely article on Town and Village Government.

Modern Miracles, being Manifestations of God's Love and Power, by Leila Thomson, with a preface by Rev. Alex McLaren, D.D., has just been published by Robt. Carter & Bros., 530 Broadway, New York. It shows how in a higher, a spiritual sense, miracles are still being wrought by the same divine power by which they were performed when the blessed Christ was sojourning among men upon this earth. The little book is a mine of precious things.

A very attractive Table of Contents is presented by the New England Magazine for June. The wisdom of the editors and publishers is shown by the manner in which they are broadening the scope of the magazine from month to month, while retaining their hold on the special constituency to which the magazine specially appealed in its beginnings. Mr. Mead takes a very rational view of the habit of looking backward, and says that our reverence for the Puritan fathers, interpreted through their lives, should only make us live more vitally in the present, and not escape from its burdens into an atmosphere of antiquarianism and inactivity. In An Anti-Slavery Hero Sidney H. Morse writes an appreciative account of George L. Stearns, the Boston philanthropist and friend of Garrison, Phillips, and Lincoln. Mrs. Lillie B. Chase Wyman contributes a paper called A Southern Study, in which she deals with the color question South of Mason and Dixon's line in a very rational and unbiased way. Good poems and sketches complete a very entertaining number.

A Quarter of a Century of Christian Education.

Our Jubilee!

Let every district conference be a jubilee celebration of the quarter-centennial of success of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society. This Society is the mightiest home missionary agency operating in the South for the common good of humanity; and deserves the most faithful support of all our people. The Society never collected so much money in the prosecution of its work, and never needed so much money as to-day. The continual prosperity of the work and the providential openings that God presents to it make it imperative that more money be devoted to this cause. In order to assist our pastors and presiding elders in presenting the facts to our people on this important subject, we propose to issue a special jubilee edition of the SOUTHWESTERN early in July, which will be full to the brim with just the kind of information our people need on the subject. Let every church order extra copies for general distribution. Send your orders at once, or you will not be able to get them at all. $3 per hundred; smaller or larger orders in proportion. Order with the cash, to Hunt & Eaton, 139 Poydras street, New Orleans.

AFTER an able debate the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church has vetoed the appointment of Doctor Briggs to the chair of Biblical Theology in Union Seminary, by a vote of 440 out of 500.

EVERY man should strive to make his mark in the world; but ambition, arising from a vain struggle at place-seeking, is indeed bad, and should be frowned down. An unholy ambition has wrecked many a life.—Southern Christian Recorder. That's so.

MEMORIAL Day May 30 was quite generally observed all over the North, and to some extent in the South. The G. A. R. of this city decorated the graves at Chalmette cemetery; the colored from 1 to 3 m., and the whites the balance of the day. Revs. E. Lyon, and A. S. Jackson were the orators for the colored G. A. R. and Bishop Mallalieu for the white G. A. R. The separate observation of such a day, by such people, makes patriotism hang her head in shame.

THE Board of Trustees of Central Tennessee College, Nashville, Tenn., at its recent annual meeting, adopted resolutions of condolence over the death of Hon. Thomas H. Caldwell, President of the Board, who had died since their previous annual meeting. He had been a faithful and warm friend to the College since its organization, was one of the original members, and lent his counsel and labors for the success of the College. For over a quarter of a century he had been its faithful friend. He was a Christian gentleman, and a warm and earnest defender of the church of his choice; and was true to the interest of the colored people at large, having spoken in favor of them at a time when it required courage to favor the emancipation in Tennessee, and when friendless and stricken with poverty he gave them his legal counsel in his own county and elsewhere.

Obstacles to Race Progress.

The obstacles that obstruct the progress of the Negro in this country are viewed and discussed daily objectively, but scarcely ever is the question viewed or discussed subjectively, or from within. We see too often the obstructions that others offer to the progress of the race, but pay too little attention to those that the race itself piles up in the way of its own progress. As Bishop Haygood tersely puts it, we are too much more anxious about our rights than we are about our duties. No one who has put himself to any trouble to know, will deny that American prejudice, in church and state, in pulpit and pew, in the halls of legislation and in the courts of justice, asserts itself incessantly and everywhere, against this people. While that is true; it is equally true that our people are largely the victims of their own sins and folly. While we have made commendable progress in education, in the acquisition of wealth, and in the development of character; and while even our enemies have had to acknowledge the progress made; it remains true that our ignorance is now very largely the result of our own negligence; our poverty, of our prodigality and extravagance; our love of dress and senseless displays; and our moral deficiency, of our reckless disregard of the rules of propriety. These things are true. But apart from these, there are other obstacles to which we now specially refer; and unless we free ourselves from them, we will be seriously hindered in all our future progress.

The first of these is our political subservience. Too many of us are political slaves, instead of patriots and humanitarians. When any question arises touching the organization of a movement, having for its object the advancement of the equal rights of the race, too many of us are inclined to consult our political masters as to whether we should join it or not; and we are too apt to consult the political effect of such a course upon our future. We want to know too often whether such a course will enhance or retard our appointment to a portership or spittoon cleaner-ship in the federal service, before we take our stand. Another thing, many such movements are gotten up by political tricksters, having no other interest than to foster or feather their own political nests; who, as soon as they are given an office, become satisfied that the race has no further rights to advance. In this connection, we conclude that there is no other ground for us to occupy, than that the question of human rights and equality must be made supreme to any and all political considerations; and as the patriot O'Reilly has advised us, we should use parties and our political rights as a club with which to battle for our civil rights. Let the race be as divided as it pleases in party fealty, but as united and impregnable as Gibraltar in its advocacy and defense of equal rights. Let that be the very first consideration. The man that is seduced by the love of money or office to betray himself and his race in this matter, should be, as he deserves to be, transfixed with the spear of the remorseless scorn and contempt of an outraged people, in the depths of infamy, by the side of Judas Iscariot and Benedict Arnold.

Another very serious obstacle is the selfish jealousy existing between the leaders of the people. This spirit, unfortunately, is fostered by the enemies of the race. Its success means the weakness and total impotency of the race. This disposition in church and state asserts itself in the spirit which says: "If I can't, you shan't." This is one of the chief reasons why colored men, contributing ninety-five per cent to the Republican vote in the South, get scarcely, if any, political consideration from the national administration. The same reason is largely responsible for our failure to get a colored bishop and other General Conference recognition in our church. Serious as are these obstacles, they dwindle into insignificance when compared with the hydra-headed monster internal race prejudice, which is being nurtured in certain quarters. No greater calamity could befall this people than to divide them further on the score of color within the race itself. This mission involves the setting of "the father against the son, the son against the father; the mother against the daughter; and the daughter against the mother; the mother-in-law against her daughter-in-law, and the daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law." To nurture this monster is to have henceforth "five in one house divided; three against two, and two against three." Can we afford to have such a state of affairs? What home among our people is secure against such a devastating calamity? A Negro is a Negro in the sight of prejudiced white people, whatever may be the proportion of white and Negro blood that courses his veins; and only the blindest folly, inspired by the devil himself, could possibly drive us into such a suicidal course, as to entertain prejudice and suspicions against each other on the score of color. The very idea is monstrously wicked; and the man or woman that advocates it is more dangerous than the leprosy, the Asiatic cholera and the yellow fever, the deadly nightshade, arsenic or strychnine, and should be shunned as deadly poison. "United we stand, but divided we fall." We plead then, as the means to our progress, absolute freedom in the advocacy of human rights, loyalty to chosen leaders, and the fraternal unity of the race, and of all the races.

A Colored Bishop.

The Cleveland (Ohio) Gazette says: "Recently the M. E. Church South has elected a colored man, Atticus G. Haygood, bishop."—S. W. O. Advocate.

The Advocate doubtless found the above in our correspondence. We noticed the mistake and forgot to correct it. Bishop Haygood is not an Afro American. In fact the M. E. Church has no colored Bishops.—Cleveland Gazette.

That's true, "the M. E. Church has no colored bishops" as yet; but she has what is of far greater import to the race, and to the common destiny of mankind, than a hundred bishops, black as midnight could possibly be. She has more than a score of seminaries, colleges and universities, in which over 6000 of our boys and girls are being educated as teachers, preachers, physicians, lawyers and mechanics, every year; by an army of over two hundred of the best equipped educators in the country. This work she has been prosecuting at a cost of over $3,000,000, during the past twenty-five years. This is more than ten times as much as all colored churches in this country combined, and all the nugrateful wretches who are cooantly calling us slaves in the Methodist Episcopal Church, have or possibly could have done for the substantial advancement of our people in this country. In fact our church is so busy providing leaders, teachers and preachers for our colored sister churches in this country, and ultimately for the redemption of Africa and the salvation of the world, that she has not taken the time to discuss the question whether the A. M. E. Church and kindred colored Methodist bodies had any white bishops or not. The election of a colored bishop in our church, however, is a fact recorded in the book of fate. The work which the old Mother Church is doing for our people, the spirit in which she does it, and every conceivable indication on the dial of progress, unite in the prophecy. Possess your soul in patience. A decade will not pass before this day dream becomes a reality.

Political Review.

No political event has transpired during the past week. The President is preparing for his summer vacation. Secretary Blaine is now better, and has gone to Bar Harbor, Maine, for rest and recuperation.

Speculation continues rife as to the future of the Peoples or third party. The prediction that it will draw from the Democratic party in the South so as to endanger the loss of a single southern state to the party, in the next presidential election, is the merest bosh.

The only danger exists in the West, where old time Republicans who have gone after the third party idol will no doubt soon come to full realization of the deeply laid scheme of the Democratic party to capture the presidency by the sharp piece of Democratic jugglery which is playing, and by means of which it hopes to get control of the National Government. It makes no difference who is nominated; the Solid South will give its vote to the Democratic nominee. Northern Republicans of third party tendencies will probably make a note of this.

Echoes from Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Jubilee Celebration.

W. M. Bell, Bee Lake, Miss.

Jubilee services were carried out. We had a grand time. Collection for Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education work, $10, which we have forwarded to the treasurer.

City Church Notes.

(Brief items of news from the city churches will be welcome either handed us by pastors or laymen.)

Rev. Stephen Priestley, Presiding Elder of the Mouree District, preached an excellent sermon last Sunday night at Pleasant Plains Church; subject, "Impatient." Pastor Price and his people rejoiced to hear him.

The revival at First Street Church closed with 18 converts and 7 backsliders reclaimed. The church is in a growing state. The Holy Spirit was with us on the occasion of the baptism last Sunday. T. G. Montgomery, pastor.

NEXT week we will publish Bishop Mallalieu's great oration, delivered on Memorial Day, at Chalmette May 30. Send in your orders for extra copies, and scatter them among your people.

Personal.

We rejoice to learn that the school authorities of Fort Worth, Texas, have exonerated Prof. Isaiah M. Terrell, A. M., principal of the colored high school, from the groundless rumors against the Professors character started by some spiteful enemy. Professor Terrell is a graduate of Straight University; is a high toned christian gentleman; and is devoted to the elevation of his people. We congratulate the professor on his complete vindication.

Rev. J. C. Hartzell, D.D., Corresponding Secretary of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society, paid us several very pleasant visits while attending the closing exercises of New Orleans University. The Doctor is doing a great work in his responsible position, and deserves the prayers and the cordial and united support of the whole church. He occupies the most difficult station in the church. He stands upon the danger line, at the point where the waves of the complicated race and color question lash against each other. For the success with which he has and is meeting all the complications that there arise, his name is highly spoken of throughout the church. God bless the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society. God bless Dr. Hartzell; and continue to use them for the furtherance of His cause and kingdom.

J. J. Maya, M. D., of the class of '89, Meharry Medical College, died suddenly of congestion of the brain, at Paducah, Ky., June 6.

Mr. Chas. Murray, of our church at Morgan City, La., gave us a call while on a visit here last week.

Rev. O. T. Walker, D.D., one of the editors of the Angusta (Ga.) Sentinel, is now on a foreign tour. He has visited Rome, and is now on his way to Egypt and Palestine. His letters to the Sentinel are thrillingly interesting.

Rev. M. C. B. Mason, A. M., B. D., was prevented from attending the commencement at New Orleans University last week in consequence of the illness of his wife. We hope she is now convalescent.

Rev. B. A. Imes, of the Congregational Church, Memphis, Tenn., has tendered his resignation, but such is the appreciation in which he is held by his people, they absolutely refuse to accept it. What the outcome will be we cannot predict. Bro. Imes will visit Europe as a delegate to the World's Conference of the Congregational Church, to be held in London in July.

The University of Buffalo, New York, has conferred on the Rev. W. H. Nelson, of the Central Alabama Conference, the degree of Doctor of Divinity. This honor comes to him after the completion of a special course in Hebrew and the Semitic languages, including Assyrian, Aramaic and biblical criticism, carried on with that University since 1889. Well done, Dr. Nelson.

Central Tennessee College has honored itself, by conferring upon the Rev. Daniel Jones, of the Lexington Conference, the degree of Doctor of Divinity. Dr. Jones is an able, but a modest and high-toned Christian gentleman.

Upon a motion offered by Rev. H. W. Key, at the commencement exercises of Central Tennessee College, Nashville, Tenn., a congregation of 1500 people warmly endorsed the grand work of President Braden, who has been connected with Central Tennessee College as president for the last twenty-four years. The whole South joins in this expression of the highest love and admiration for this heroic man.

The Rev. Dr. T. C. Carter, of the Methodist Advocate, Chattanooga, Tenn., is to be congratulated upon the acquisition he has made in securing the assistance of the Rev. H. M. Hilton, of Iowa, in the editorship of his paper. We extend a hearty welcome to Bro. Hilton in his new field of operation.

Rev. W. S. Fitch, formerly of the Louisiana Conference, has recently been transferred from the St. John River to the New England Southern Conference.

Dr. J. W. Mendenhall has been delighting the students of the Wesleyan University with his lectures on "The Higher Criticism" and the "Three Great Biblical Problems."

Dr. Asbury Lowry, of the Dixie Life, has just passed his seventy-fifth birthday. He writes: "I am living without fear. Not a tremor disturbs my soul."

The recent death of the Rev. Dr. Jos. M. Trimble, of Ohio, removes one of the best known and most venerable of our ministers in the West.

We regret very much not to have met our old friend, the Rev. Dr. T. N. Boyle, of the Erie Conference, when he was through here two weeks ago. He preached at Union Chapel, to the great edification of that people.

Rev. Frank Harvey, Central, La., called last week. He is happy. The Lord has given him great success. He has just closed a revival wherein 65 converts and 28 backsliders have been added to his church. Praise the Lord.

Rev. W. D. Godman, D.D., principal of Gilbert Seminary, Winsted, La., passed through here Monday a week ago on his way North. Mrs. Godman and Miss Inez Godman accompany him. The Doctor has not enjoyed very vigorous health this year, but is nevertheless much improved, and is buoyant with the hope of larger success for Gilbert Seminary in the future. The year just closed was one of the best in every way.

The Associated Press dispatches of last week brought us the terrible news that the Alonzo S. Weed, publisher of Zion's Herald, Boston, Mass., fell off the platform of a moving train and had both his legs crushed and mangled. They have since been amputated. He was dragged from under the wheels by the collar, and narrowly escaped with his life. Grave fears are entertained that he will not recover from the accident and the shock.

Rev. J. M. Buckley, D.D., LL.D., editor of the Christian Advocate, preached the baccalaureate sermon at Drew Seminary, May 17.

Mrs. Homer Eaton, wife of our junior publishing agent, mourns the death of her brother, Arthur W. Saxe, M.D., of Santa Clara, Cal., who died of heart disease May 26, in the 71st year of his age. He was an eminent physician and surgeon, and a practical scientist. He was widely known in the profession through his papers read before medical societies and his contributions to medical journals. He was a member of the Academy of Science of California, and prominently identified with its most important work. He was for some time a member of the State Senate, though it was not in accordance with his tastes or wishes. He was a life-long member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and in every position was a man of commanding influence.

Prof. Chas. J. Little of Syracuse University, has accepted the professorship of Biblical History and Christian Archaeology in Garrett Biblical Institute, Evansville, Ill., made vacant by the death of Dr. C. W. Bennett. Dr. Little's departure from Syracuse is greatly regretted.

Rev. Dr. J. W. E. Bowen and wife, Washington, D. C., are rejoicing over the advent of a daughter in their family.

His many friends will regret to learn that Bishop Vincent has been compelled to recall some of his engagements, and take a season of rest. Since the bishops' meeting in Greencastle he has not been well.

The commencement exercises at New Orleans University last week brought many friends from the country to the city. Among those who came to witness the exercises who remembered us with pleasant calls were, Mrs. E. S. Spriggs, of Durant, Miss; Revs. A. Moore, A. Luster, Frank Harvey, Reese Thompson, S. Mitchell, and Presiding Elders Priestley, Marshall, Landry and Duncan. They all reported their works in prosperous condition.

Rev. Nelson Britton, of Waxia, La., is in this city in answer to a telegram notifying him of the death of his son-in-law, Arthur Mancel White, who departed this life May 11. He died in full triumph of faith, aged 38 years. He leaves a wife, two children, father, mother and other relatives to mourn his loss. The funeral was attended by Rev. H. C. Armistead, of the M. E. Church, and Rev. E. Jones, of the Baptist Church, in Algiers, La.

A note from President Libby, of Rust University, Holly Springs, Miss., informs us that his health is such that he is obliged to go North to seek rest. His present prostration is no doubt the result of his too zealous efforts in pushing the building of New Rust Hall. We hope for his speedy restoration.

Mrs. Christiana Brown, district manager of the New Orleans district, visited Mandeville last Saturday and Sunday. She found the woman's work in a fair condition, and reported a good time. She left for Donaldsonville yesterday in the interest of the work there.

DAILY BREAD.

Hark! how the watchmen cry!
Attend the trumpet's sound;
Stand to your arms, the foe is nigh,
The powers of hell surround.
Who bow to Christ's command,
Your arms and hearts prepare;
The day of battle is at hand—
Go forth to glorious war.
—Charles Wesley.

Ninety-five per cent of the whole population of New Zealand profess religion.

In Africa, within five years, more than 200 natives have suffered martyrdom for their faith.

O, how I long for heaven! Surely, there will be no divisions, no strifes there, except who shall sing with most affection to the Lamb that sitteth upon the throne.—John Wesley.

We have need to gird up the loins of our mind, and run faster the small remainder of our race. "One thing!" let us mind one thing only; and nothing great or small, but as it ministers to it.—John Wesley.

One had need to be an angel, not a man, to converse three or four hours, at once, to any purpose. In the latter part of the conversation we shall doubtless lose all the profit we gained in the former.—John Wesley.

Do you believe this world is to be redeemed? Do you? If not, you had better throw away your Bible with its hundreds of precious promises, and stop repeating the Lord's prayer. Jesus taught us to pray, "Thy kingdom come."—Selected.

I meditate on (the Scriptures) with all attention and earnestness of which my mind is capable. If any doubt still remains, I consult those who are experienced in the things of God; and then the writings whereby, being dead, they yet speak. And what I thus learn I teach.—John Wesley.

In the temple of thy heart, beloved believer, there is a secret place within the veil where dwells often all unknown the Spirit of God. Do thou bow in deep reverence before the Father, and ask that he may work mightily. Expect the spirit to do his work; he will make thy inner man a fit home, thy heart a throne for Jesus, and reveal him there.—Andrew Murray.

Let us remember that if we want to know much of God, we must walk close by his side, and have our ear so sensitive that we shall hear every word that he says, and let him do the most of the talking. It becomes ignorance to be very modest while in the august presence of infinite wisdom. Our walking with God will be profitable in proportion to our capacity to listen reverently and teachably to all of his utterances.

Each one of us is bound to make the little circle in which he lives better and happier; each of us is bound to see that out of that small circle the widest good may flow; each of us may have fixed in his mind the thought that out of a single household may flow influences that shall stimulate the whole commonwealth and the whole civilized world.—Dean Stanley.

When a man gets to cutting down sin, paring down depravity and making little of future punishment, let him no longer preach to you. Some modern divines whittle away the Gospel to the small end of nothing. They make our divine Lord to be a sort of blessed nobody; they bring down salvation to mere salvability, make certainties into probabilities, and treat verities as mere opinions. When you see a preacher making the Gospel small by degrees and miserably less, till there is not enough of it left to make soup for a sick grasshopper, get you gone. As for me I believe, in the colossal; a need deep as hell, and grace as high as heaven. I believe in a pit that is bottomless and a heaven that is topless. I believe in an infinite God and infinite atonement, infinite love and mercy; an everlasting covenant ordered in all things and sure, of which the substance and the reality is an infinite Christ.—Spurgeon.

A young man who was employed in a telegraph office in England became greatly distressed in mind over his sins. He did not know how to find peace. One morning he was lifting up his heart in secret, and saying, "God be merciful to me a sinner," when there was a call at the wire. He saw that it came from the mountains of Windermere. There was the address and then these words: "Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world." "In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace." This and the name was all. A strange message to send by telegraph. The explanation was that a servant girl wrote her pastor, who was on a vacation, asking him the question, "What must I do to be saved?" He had no time to reply by letter, and so sent the telegram. Those two texts opened the gateway to peace for the girl and the young man in the office. He called it a message from heaven.—Selected.

Homiletics.

Hymus 418, 427, 437.
Scripture Lesson, Eph. 2.
Text, Romans 5:1. Therefore, being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ.
Introduction, The apostle Paul in the first four chapters of his Epistle to the Romans from which the text is taken very clearly shows, and proves five things.

First, The universal sinfulness of the human race, or, in other words, that all men are sinners.

Secondly, That all sinners are without excuse for their sins.

Thirdly, That all sinners are in a helpless and hopeless condition without God's mercy and grace.

Fourthly, That God has provided a plan of redemption and salvation which includes in its scope the last son and daughter of Adam.

Fifthly, That salvation is offered upon terms with which all may comply, and, hence all may be saved, if they will accept the terms of the Gospel.

II. Through whom is justification and peace with God made possible to the sinner?

(a) Not by the sinner himself, for, he has broken the law of God and must suffer the consequences.

(b) Every sinner must obey the law of God, all the time, and in every particular. But this the sinner has not done, and so by future obedience he cannot atone for the past, because perfect obedience is already required for the future.

(c) Not all the angels in heaven by anything they could do or suffer, could secure for the sinner justification and peace. They as well as man are under the law of perfect obedience.

(d) Jesus the son of God is the only being in the universe who can secure justification and pardon and peace for the sinner.

II. How may justification and peace with God be obtained?

The text plainly answers this question.

All sinners are justified and find peace by faith in the Lord Jesus Christ.

(a) It is not by suffering.

(b) It is not by giving to the poor.

(c) It is not by giving to church, nor by joining the church.

A man may do all things and be lost forever.

The one thing to do is to have faith in Jesus.

But this implies sorrow for all past sins, forsaking of all sin, consecrating all we have to the service of God, and finally fully trusting God for Christ's sake to forgive and save.

III. Peace with God the result of justification.

The peace the text speaks of is in the soul.

When in sin we are at enmity with God, we do not love him, we do not serve him, we are afraid of him.

When we are justified by faith the burden of sin is removed and we find rest. It is what Jesus promises to all who come to him. Matt. 11: 28, 29, 30.

It is a quiet calm that fills the soul.

It is a sure hope that God loves us, and we love him and so the soul is full of peace.

It is freedom from all fear.

Those that have the peace spoken of in the text have no fear of death.

He has no fear of being dead.

He has no fear of the coming of Christ and the resurrection morning. He has no fear of hell and the judgment.

And so he has great and precious peace.

Let every burdened, troubled, sinful soul come to God in the name of Jesus, and repent of all his sins and accept Christ for his Saviour and he will surely find pardon and peace.

"Come all ye souls by sin oppressed,
Ye restless wanderers after rest;
Ye poor, and maimed, and halt, and blind,
In Christ a hearty welcome find."

Obituary.

Shreveport, La.—Tannie M. Maclin, wife of Dr. J. B. Maclin, was born in Nashville, Tenn., June 29, 1865. She was converted at St. Paul A. M. E. Church, in that city, March 14, 1879. She was educated at Fisk University, Nashville, Tenn., and was among the first and youngest teachers in the public schools of that city, where many a loving heart will sorrow for the fact that is no more. She was happily wedded to Dr. J. B. Maclin, January 1, 1891, to whom she brought a wealth of affection.

Though a victim to the ravages of an insatiable disease, she bore her affliction with a fortitude and patience which made the duties of those who administered to her few wants pleasant, though sad. A few weeks ago, when she felt the nearness of her end, she called her husband and friends and tried to give cheer and comfort to them. In expressions of affection and gratitude for their kindness and attention, she said of the people of Shreveport, that she had been received not as a stranger, but as a royal guest. Being handed some water, she said, "I shall soon be drinking from the cool stream of Jordan, for which I will never thirst again." Though faint, she sang the song which led to her conversion, "Jesus, I my cross have taken." A little while before her death she said, "I am blind and cannot see. I see my mother; she is here. You are blind to what I see, and I am blind to what you see. We are all blind." Her last whispered words were, "Safe in the arms of Jesus. Saved, saved, saved. I am going away over in the promised land. My name is written on the lamb's book of eternal life. I am glad that I haven't got to die any more." She died May 19, The funeral services took place at St. Paul M. E. Church, May 20. The following ministers took part in the services: Revs. C. D. Shallowhorne, T. J. Johnson, Presiding Elder S. Duncan, Carolina and Prof. D. W. Boatner. A large concourse of friends bore the mortal remains to their last resting place.

T. J. Johnson, P. C.

Marche, Pulaski county, Ark.—H. W. Wilson departed this life May 13. He died suddenly, and was not converted. He leaves a wife and four children to mourn his loss.
S. McDonald, P. C.

New River—Sister Susy Carroll departed this life May 28. She was the mother of our church. Before she died she told all of her sisters and brothers to meet her in heaven. She leaves a husband and two grandchildren to mourn her loss.
Jno. Wilson, P. C.

Clarksville, Texas—Sister Nancy McDonald, the wife of Bro. Lewis McDonald, departed this life April 13, aged 48 years, in full triumph of faith, leaving a husband, five daughters and two sons to mourn her loss.

Sister Jane Lee, a member of St. Paul M. E. Church, departed this life May 20. She said she was not afraid to die. She was just waiting on the Lord. She leaves six children to mourn her departure.

From Friend to Friend.

Goes the story of the excellence of Hood's Sarsaparilla and what it has accomplished, and this is the strongest advertising which is done on behalf of this medicine. We endeavor to tell honestly what Hood's Sarsaparilla is and what it will do, but what it has done is far more important and far more potent. Its unequalled record of cures is sure to convince those who have never tried Hood's Sarsaparilla that it is an excellent medicine.

A Request to the Brethren of the Mississippi and Upper Mississippi Conferences.

I am obliged on account of the state of my health to go North for rest; therefore, please send all money for Rust Hall Rebuilding Fund direct to Rev. J. C. Hartzell, D.D., 190 West Fourth Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Yours truly,

C. E. LIBBY,
President Rust University

The board of directors of Harper Industrial Institute, a college recently organized under the auspices of the A. M. E. Church, Baton Rouge, La., have kindly invited us to be present and participate in the ceremonies of the laying of the corner-stone to their new college building, Tuesday, June 16, 1891, at 2 o'clock p. m. The enterprise deserves great success.

Commencement at Rust University.

Commencement week at Rust University, Holly Springs, Miss., May 23-29, was one of the grandest in the history of that institution. May 23d, Rev. A. E. P. Albert, D.D., lectured in the opera house to the Independent Society upon "The March of Civilization;" and next

A signal service to weak womankind is the finding of lost health—the building-up of "a run-down" system. Nothing does it so surely as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures all the derangements, irregularities and weaknesses peculiar to the sex. It's the most perfect of strength-givers, imparting tone and vigor to the whole system. For overworked, debilitated teachers, milliners, seamstresses, "shop-girls," nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, it is the greatest earthly boon, being unequalled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

"Favorite Prescription" gives satisfaction in every case, or money paid for it is promptly refunded. That's the way it's sold; that's the way its makers prove their faith in it. Contains no alcohol to inebriate; no syrup or sugar to derange digestion; a legitimate medicine, not a beverage. Purely vegetable and perfectly harmless in any condition of the system. day at 10 a. m., preached the Baccalaureate sermon at our church there to a crowded house. Rev. C. M. Moss, Ph. D. of the Illinois State University preached the university sermon at 3 p. m., and lectured on "The Making of a Man" on Monday night. Sunday night Rev. J. C. Eckles preached the annual sermon. On commencement day the graduating class reflected credit upon themselves and their faithful teachers.

On Friday the corner stone to the imposing structure, Rust Hall, that is going up, to replace the one destroyed by fire nearly three years ago, was laid. It was an occasion of sublime interest. Rev. J. C. Hartzell, D.D., Corresponding Secretary of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Educational Society, was master of ceremonies, and the venerable Dr. R. S. Rust, the Honorary Corresponding Secretary of the society, accompanied by Mrs. Dr. Rust, and in whose honor the school is named, was the centre of attraction. Their addresses were thrilling and inspiring. The whole town, of all creeds and races, seemed present, and entered fully into the spirit of the occasion.

The writer and Mrs. Albert were delighted with the very pleasant and perfectly homelike entertainment extended them by the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Libby, President of Rust. Mrs. S. Johnston, and the girls at Rust Home, extended their appreciated hospitalities, which we much enjoyed. Other members of the faculty whom we met and whose association we there enjoyed were Profs. D. W. and W. T. Byrd, Prof. and Mrs. L. D. Bragg, and D. H. Sawyer, and T. A. Green, J. M. Mulvaney, Misses Gibson, Dogan, Barnes and Juliet Caldwell, M. D. and Cora F. Murphy.

Commencement Week at Central Alabama Academy.

Began May 2d, with the Baccalaureate Sermon preached by Rev. W. H. Nelson, Ph. D.

The students met at the school building and marched in a body to the Lake Side M. E. Church where the services were held.

The congregation was the largest ever known on a similar occasion. Rev. J. F. Humphrey, pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, J. Betts, pastor of the Missionary Baptist Church, A. L. Scott, pastor of the A. M. E. Church, J. J. Smith, Esq., and J. O. Hobbs, and Samuel Bolden of the Primitive Baptist Church, all having resigned their congregations for the occasion were present and occupied seats on the platform.

Gloria Patri was sung by the school and audience, and the 23d Psalm was read responsively and Rev. J. J. Smith Esq., of the Primitive Baptist Church led in prayer.

The sermon by Dr. Nelson was a masterly effort and was attended with power.

Monday and Tuesday the annual examinations took place. The annual concerts were given on Tuesday Wednesday and Thursday nights.

These exercises were well attended by patrons and friends, and great interest was shown towards our work. Rev. G. W. Mann, pastor of the M. E. Church at Athens, Ala. was present during the week and delivered several addresses to the students.

The annual prayer meeting was held Wednesday, May 6th at 11 o'clock a. m. It was indeed a time of refreshing.

Thursday, May 7th, was Jubilee day. The regular program, as prepared by Dr. Hartzell, was used. Many of the patrons and friends of the school were present and joined heartily in the services. Addresses were made by Rev. G. W. Mann and Dr. Nelson, setting forth the work and mission of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Educational Society. The collection for the society was $25.

The graduating exercise took place Friday at 11 o'clock a. m., at the M. E. Church, Miss Minnie B.

Manning, of Huntsville, graduated from the Normal Course. She read an excellent paper—subject, work. The class address was ably delivered by Rev. J. S. Todd, pastor of Lake Side M. E. Church.

The exercises of the week and the work of the school year ended with a grand reception given by the school in honor of the class of 1891. The chapel was crowded. All were entertained with a program of literary exercises and served with refreshments, after which students, teachers and friends departed, feeling that a successful year's work had closed.

The enrollment this year is 213, against 148 last year. Four teachers have been employed and have done faithful service. One new building has been erected. We are thankful for the past and buoyant with hope for the future.

(P. S.) The visit and service of Dr. Nelson was a benediction, not only to the school, but to the entire community. He preached several times with great power, and delivered several addresses which left lasting impressions on all who heard him. His lecture on Education, delivered to a large audience at Lake Side M. E. Church was entertaining and instructive even to the untutored, and although delivered from manuscript, it was hailed with applause by students and teachers.

Be Sure

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation, curative power superior to any other article. A Boston lady who knew what she wanted, and whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below:

To Get

"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me to buy their own instead of Hood's; he told me that they would last longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was. I had taken it, was satisfied with it, and did not want any other."

Hood's

When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling real miserable, suffering a great deal with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly stand. I looked, and had for some time, like a person in consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me so much good that I wonder at myself sometimes, and my friends frequently speak of it. Mrs. ELLA A. GORR, of Terrace Street, Boston.

BY UNCLE CEPHAS.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I am a little girl 13 years old. My father and mother belong to the A. M. E. Church. I am not a member of the church, but I hope to be. I go to school every day. Our pastor is A. D. Payne.

Your Niece,
VIRGINIA NORWOOD.

Dear Uncle Cephas: This is my third letter to you. I am a boy 16 years old. We have Sunday school every Sunday, and I am a member of the Sabbath school. On last Sunday Rev. John Byah preached a fine sermon and his text was "On this rock I build my church."

YOUR NEPHEW,
PHILEAS TURNER.

Hague, Fla.

Dear Uncle Cephas: My father and mother live in the parsonage, caring for our pastor, Rev. W. Hartley Jackson is our pastor, every one loves him. I go to school. My teacher is Miss Pinkie Powels. I also go to Sunday school. My teacher is my pastor. Our superintendent is Mr. J. F. Barnes. I am 11 years old. Elder Jackson takes the good old SOUTHWESTERN. I read it weekly. Will some of the little cousins tell me, is there more than one archangel? If so, where in the New Testament is it found. God bless you and your dear wife and daughter. I saw you once in Jan. '89. I will write again.

Your Niece,
IRENEA S. BOWERS.

Paris, Tex.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I take the good old SOUTHWESTERN and greatly enjoy reading it. Our protracted meeting is going on. Pray for us. Rev. I. C. Knicker is our pastor. We are preparing for children's day June 14. We hope to have Dr. Albert with us at our camp-meeting. All my family belong to the M. E. Church except one. Brother, truly God is good to the children of men. Why can't they serve him? I will ask my cousins a question. How many times did Josiah go around the world of Jerico?

Your Niece,

Science.

Those who are disposed to class oratory among the lost arts must reconsider that conclusion in view of the President's tour. He has been traveling across the continent to the Pacific, and every day he has made two or three clever speeches, good-natured, varied, full of tact, and expressing his views courteously, and the whole country reads in surprise, and a great many worthy people say that here is a great man who has been somehow concealed under a visionary hat, but who will be henceforth estimated at his true value, and undoubtedly re-elected to the Presidency by the acclamation of his party. If oratory can so radically change the general impression in regard to the President, it is certainly not a lost art. On the contrary, it seems to confirm the wisdom of the saying that in a country of parliamentary government successful statesmen must be great orators. It is, however, true that none of the President's except Lincoln have been especially distinguished as orators, while two of the greatest American orators, Webster and Clay, sought the prize in vain. President Harrison's grandfather was preferred as a candidate to Henry Clay.—Harper's Weekly.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS
Cures Indigestion, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Nervousness, and General Debility. Physicians recommend it. All dealers sell it. Genuine trade mark and crossed red lines on wrapper.

An Unprecedented Offer!

We have made arrangements with the Chicago Manufacturing Company to supply one of their first-class Singer machines for only $14 cash. We will order a machine like the cut here shown, and send the SOUTHWESTERN a full year besides! It is a handsome oil-polished walnut, of latest design, Gothic cover, with beautiful panels, four end drawers and a swing drawer, nickel-plated, and warranted five years.

Each Machine is furnished with the following equipment: One Foot Hemmer, One Oil Can with Oil, One Gauge, and Screw, One Extra Check Spring, One Package of Needles, Five Bobbins, One Tucker, One Foot Ruffler, One Set of Plate Hemmers, four different widths up to seven-eighths of an inch, One Binder and One Thread Cutter. The Improved Tension and Thread Liberator is used on this Machine. The manufacturers offer to refund the money if purchaser is not fully satisfied with the machine.

We receive many letters inquiring about the sewing machine premium, and how to obtain it. In order that all may understand the matter, we state in addition to the announcement, that remittances should be made to Hunt & Eaton, 139 Poydras street, either by check, money order, or by express, naming the nearest or most convenient freight depot to which it is to be sent. Then we order the factory in Chicago to ship the machine. The company ships it, and receives from the railroad a bill of lading which, with the warranty, is sent to us, and which we send to the subscriber. This bill of lading is good and sufficient evidence that the machine has been forwarded, and holds the railroad company responsible for its safe delivery at the station named as its destination, and in due time, save unavoidable delays. In case of its loss the railroad which caused its loss is responsible, under the laws of the land. If not arriving in due time, show the bill of lading to the station agent and he will look it up. Don't give up the bill of lading to the railroad agent. All orders are sent the same day as received, and the bill of lading is sent to the subscriber the same day we get it. We started this scheme with a view to helping our patrons, and shall carefully and faithfully carry out our part of the agreement in every case.

Everybody Knows

That at this season the blood is filled with impurities, the accumulation of months of close confinement in poorly ventilated stores, workshops and tenements. All these impurities and every trace of scrofula, salt rheum, or other diseases may be expelled by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the best blood purifier ever produced. It is the only medicine of which "100 doses one dollar" is true.

My God, my everlasting all:
I trust in Thee alone.
Do thou my waywardness recall:
And bind each broken bone.
The anguish of my soul disperse:
With rays of sacred love.
And do thou still with me converse,
Of heavenly joys above.

FACE the sunshine, and all your shadows will fall behind you.

South with it.

PREACHERS and others who are already planning to boom the railroad excursion spirit among our people in all the States wherein the separate car laws have been adopted deserve the scorn and contempt of our people. Let us make these great railroad corporations feel the degree of our dissatisfaction in this matter, and they will co-operate with us in seeking their repeal. Of course our ministers will not countenance such excen-sions, as our Conferences have taken positive grounds against them.

Address at Chalmette of Bishop Willard F. Mallalieu, D.D., on Memorial Day, May 30, 1891.

This is an auspicious hour.
Throughout the length and breadth of our broad land peace prevails.

We enjoy such a high degree of material prosperity as is given to no nation.

We are sharing as never before the blessings of education.

Men of wealth are consecrating their millions to the establishment of universities and schools for special training.

The names of Peabody, Slater, Haud, Stanford, Fayerweather and a host of others illustrate the lavish generosity of the times in which we live.

Besides all that is done by individuals, and associated charities, and by many of the churches, we recognize with supreme pleasure the fact that every State of the Union is making continually increasing appropriations for the support of public schools.

The spirit of the age, and emphatically the spirit of our free American institutions require and demand the education of all the children.

The time is not far distant when the school house for all the people, will be on every hillside, and adorn every valley, and gladden every prairie where our citizens congregate in communities.

The spelling book, the multiplication table, and American history, with other useful and fundamental elements of a sound American education must be taught to all the children of all the states.

But let us not fail to recognize the fact that our country is presuably the land of Bibles, and Sabbaths, and Sanctuaries.

Let us never forget that the highest welfare of a nation does not consist in its material wealth, nor in its purely intellectual attainments, but in its moral integrity, and in the purity and thoroughness of its religious and spiritual life.

No truer or wiser words ever fell from mortal lips, or were ever written by uninspired pen than those we find in the farewell address of the immortal Washington. He says, "Of all the dispositions and habits which lead to political prosperity, religion and morality are indispensable supports. In vain would that man claim the tribute of patriotism, who should labor to subvert these great pillars of human happiness, the firmest proofs of the duties of citizens. The mere politician equally with the pious man, ought to respect and cherish them. * * And let us with caution indigne the supposition, that morality can be maintained without religion. Whatever may be conceded to the influence of refined education on minds of peculiar structure, reason and experience both forbid us to expect that national morality can prevail in exclusion of religious principle."

Because the American people have given heed to these most profound and patriotic utterances, they have come to the position of wealth, intelligence, and highest christian character and privileges.
It is not yet a hundred years since "the Father of his country" passed away, and yet in this brief space of time some of the greatest questions that ever confronted a people have been met and permanently settled by the citizens of the republic.

First of all we have defined the limits of our public domain; to do this we have extinguished all Spanish claims to Florida, all French claims to the Valley of the Mississippi. We have acquired all that portion of Mexican territory north and east of a line from the mouth of the Rio Grande to El Paso, and from thence to the head waters of the Gulf of California. We have settled our northern boundary lines with Great Britain. So that, exclusive of Alaska, we have a compact, well-bounded territory of nearly 3,000 miles from East to West and nearly 2,000 from North to South. And this domain constitutes, in all essential respects, one of the most important and valuable portions of the habitable globe.

Again, we have settled the question, forever it is to be hoped, that there is but one flag for the entire country.

The early colonists were mostly of kindred blood, generally speaking the English language, and all professing the christian religion.

In the progress of events it came about that we had permanently settled our territorial boundaries before we were confronted with the question as to whether there should be two flags or only one.

No thoughtful person has ever studied the topography of the country without being compelled to concede, that, if ever the country should be divided, the line of clearance would not be from East to West, for the simple reason that the principal mountains and rivers
all run North and South.

And, then, the multiplying lines of railroads run East and West, so that the country was bound together by an unbreakable net-work of mountains, rivers and railroads.

To attempt to divide the country was in direct opposition to the plans of God, the decrees of nature, the will of the majority of the people, and the highest welfare of universal humanity, and so, thank God, we have but one flag for this broad land, and that the most illustrious, the most beautiful, the most glorious, the best worth dying for of, any kissed by the gentle breezes of peace, torn by the storm of battle, shadowed by clouds of adversity, or glorified by immortal victories.

Whatever then, may be the records of the past, whatever the attachments, the loves, the devotions, the memories, of any throbb-ing heart in this company, let us all together thank God, to-day, that the old flag—the flag of Washington and his immortal fellow patriot, waves in undimmed glory all over our magnificent domain, and here beneath its flushing stripes, and gleaming stars, we lift our strong right arms, and pledge our utter and complete loyalty to all it represents to the latest breath of life, and the last drop of red blood pulsating in our hearts.

Again, it has been settled forever, that this land of ours must really be the home of the free as it has always been the home of the brave.

We may well believe that honest and sincere men had world-wide differences of opinion in regard to the prevailing institution that differentiated the conditions of social, civil, and industrial life in the North and South.

The Southern people of thirty years ago were not responsible for the introduction of slavery; they were responsible for its perpetuation. The institution had environed them from their birth. Those who controlled affairs thought it to be indispensable to the prosperity of the South, and hence they were ready to defend it to the last extremity.

If ever mortal men demonstrated the thoroughness of their convictions by the most dauntless courage, by the most reckless bravery, by the most extraordinary self-sacrifice, by the most persistent support of the cause they had espoused, then was this done by the armies and the people of the Confederacy for four long years of bitter, bloody, ruinous war.

But there were arrayed against them the spirit of the age, the aspirations of humanity, the principles of the Gospel, the Providence of Almighty God, and the millions of the North more numerous and as equally brave as themselves, and so the cause for which they had risked everything on earth was lost, and the institution which really had been a curse to blacks and whites was destroyed. Its destruction has proved a blessing to the whole country, and especially to the South, for it has resulted in removing the hindrances to general progress, in stimulating every form of honorable industry, and making available for the benefit of the people the immeasurable resources of climate, soil and mineral productions with which the South is so richly endowed.

"Not as we hoped, in hush of prayer,
The Messenger of deliverance comes,
But borne on battle-troubled air,
And heralded by roll of drums."

"Not as we hoped, but what are we,
Above our broken hopes and plans,
God lays, with wiser hands than man's
The corner-stone of Liberty."

We have come together here in the closing hours of this beautiful day to commemorate the heroes who lie buried beneath these billowy rows of grassy mounds that spread about us.

They are laid to rest, far away from home and kindred. They died without the gentle, loving ministries of mother, wife or sister.
They were torn and mangled by shot and shell; they were pierced with bullets or bayonets or smitten with the sword. They fell upon the open battle field, in the forests and thickets, in the trench or in the deadly breach, on the red ramparts, slippery awell, with faces forward, forgetful of all but country, duty, God. Or, it may be, they wasted away in camp or hospital from slow and painful disease the result of wounds, privations and hardships. But, by whatever means, they died beneath the sky of the land they loved, and have found their resting place beneath the flag that was dearer to them than life itself.

Their country, like a loving and tender mother, has laid them away in these holy places, in these solemly consecrated national cemeteries where, as we trust, they may remain till the resurrection of the just.

And once more we scatter flowers upon these graves, we offer our tribute of love and comradeship, we pledge our sacred faith to snailtain the principles and cause for which they died, and join in heartfelt prayers that the richest blessings of God may abundantly be bestowed upon all parts of our common country, that the hand that has led us thus far may still sustain us, and that liberty and union, one and inseparable, now and forever, may be the portion and inheritance of all our people, world without end—Amen.

A Blaze of Enthusiasm in Favor of the Presiding Elders' Convention.

At the convention in Chattanooga the presiding elders will plan for the better cultivation of the widening field and, also, do their utmost to awaken more intense enthusiasm among all the workers.
Almost every mail brings responses from the brethren scattered over the territory, heartily endorsing the convention. Rev. H. R.
Revels, D.D., ex-Senator and, for some time, president of a college, but now doing efficient service as a presiding elder, writes from Holly Springs, Miss.: "I fully approve of the wise project and believe, if it is properly conducted, that all whom it will concern will rejoice in its results."

Rev. G. A. Sissle, the young and promising presiding elder of the Lexington Conference, says: "I am heartily in favor of the convention and will try and give my presence."

South Carolina has been heard from through Rev. D. M. Minus, Orangeburg. He is in favor of whatever tends towards the "advancement of the cause of Christ and the elevation of our people." He says further: "I heartily approve the movement and shall be present if the Lord will permit."

Rev. J. O. Eckles, of Mississippi is in sympathy with the movement and will be heard in the convention. Rev. W. McDonald who is also a standard bearer of the same state, hopes "the meeting will be a success in every respect," and will endeavor to be present.

Rev. Mack Heuson, who has done much to influence the growth of Methodism in the West, writes from Austin, Tex.: "I am in favor of anything, founded in reason and seasoned by divine grace, to better our condition, and will lead to a better understanding among ourselves touching questions raised by many persons concerning our work as a church in the South." He expects to be there, as does also, Rev. W. H. Logan, of Navahota, who speaks on this wise: "I trust the convention will be the means of bringing about much that will be beneficial to the cause of Christ and Methodism."

Rev. E. C. Brown, Conference corresponding secretary, sixth General Conference District, Epworth League, has this to say: "I do most heartily endorse the movement on foot."

Dr. J. E. Wilson, Florence, S. C., who was an honored member of the General Conference of '88, says:
"I think such a meeting may result in some good to the cause and I trust it will be largely attended."

There are other letters upon my table but, lack of space forbid my making further quotations at present. If coming into touch with so many of the presiding elders as I have been for the past few days, through the medium of correspondence, can arouse such pleasing sensations, what a thrill may we expect to experience when we meet face to face in the convention and grasp each others hand! But an higher than a social attraction will be found there. We confidently look for a rich, spiritual baptism which shall lead all present to exclaim: It is good, indeed, to be here. Let the church devoutly pray for a blessing upon her devoted ministers.

D. W. HAYS.

Objects to the Convention.

WINCHESTER, KY., May 26.

Dear Dr. Albert:

I know that your precious time,
as well as the space in the columns of your valuable paper, are pressed down with the stirring events of this busy age, and yet I feel this morning that I shall ask you to have a little patience with me as I send you these few stray thoughts that break away from this mass of thought that crowds my mind. I will be brief, and, although I am to express views in direct antagonism to those held by true and tried friends of mine, yet the occasion seems to require their utterance and the fruits of my rashness thus be left to be gathered in after years.

In your columns I observe a call for a convention of the Presiding Elders of the Colored Conferences to meet in Chattanooga, Tenn., June 23, 1891. I must confess I have been puzzling my weak brain ever since to discover the reason for such call, for none, so far as I can learn, has been stated, and doubts have arisen in regard to its wisdom. The old mother church is at this hour putting forth all her

God-like energy to obliterate each and every hindrance to universal human elevation.

I am not willing to give the least shadow of my influence as a member of her body that will imply a doubt as to her doing this. It strikes me that if I meet with my brethren in Chattanooga in a distinctively classified body of Presiding Elders in the M. E. Church, I help to raise a suspicion somewhere that there is some grievance or complaint or dissatisfaction on my part with the machinery of our Methodism, and that there is a little friction somewhere, or that I am unrestful. I have no shadow of fault to find with her to-day, and I shall try and be careful not to seem to have, for we must confess that the shonts of her traducers are heard all over the land because of the attitude we as a race occupy in her ranks. Agencies are everywhere at work to make us restless and uneasy. Isaiah says "it is a day of trouble and of treading down and of perplexity."

Whatever may be the leading motive, I feel it will be misconstrued to the detriment of the unity of the church, and I am willing to put myself on record as against contraction, but for broadest human expansion. Our old mother church, God bless her, is at a stupendous work now. Laboring with more potency and telling effect in polishing, refining and blending human character and putting it in the shape the great head of the church intended to have it than any other church on earth. Although derision, stigma, ridicule meet her at every step in this mighty battle for human rescue, yet see her

Unshaken as eternal hills,
Immovable she stands.

Her highest intellect, her noblest genius, her broadest minds are steadily at work reaching down their hands to help us up. Some of the bravest hearts in all the earth are in this church of ours, giving prayers, tears, consecration and money without stint to fix us right here and hereafter.

This convention may possibly bring anxiety and pain to hearts within as well as without the pale of our beloved church. If there is a real need for a convention, then that need should be felt by every Presiding Elder within the broad limits of church domain. The very same influences that demand this for us should be our incentive to all. If this is not true then we lack that homogeneity, that ones-ness we so proudly claim as among its chief virtues. Yours for victory,
D. JONES.

WE hope every church in our territory will see to it that its Presiding Elder is financially enabled to attend the Presiding Elders' Convention in Chattanooga next Tuesday. A contribution of a dollar or two from each charge will amply foot the bill. Every district should be represented. The Queen and Crescent and other roads will give reduced rates. Get full information from railroad agent at points from which you start.
The rate will be full fare one way and one-third returning, on certificate plan. All who can should attend.

Bishop Joyce will be at the convention; also Dr. Hartzell. The latter will deliver an address on "Christian Education; Our Defense and Hope." And if life last we will certainly be there.

Cards are out for the marriage of Miss Mary M. Price, the interesting daughter of Rev. and Mrs.
Jesse P. Price, of Nashville, Tenn., to Mr. Carter B. H. Ransom, of the same city, next Wednesday evening. We extend our congratulations.

Letters from the Districts.

Alexandria District, Louisiana Conference.

S. E. H. MORANT, P. E.

The Alexandria District has work in eleven parishes of this State, as follows: Grant, Rapides, Avoyelles, St. Landry, Calcasieu, Acadia, Lafayette, St. Martin, Vermillion, Iberia and St. Mary. No small quantity of our cotton, corn, rice and sugar are grown in these parishes. The climate is healthful, and the country is well stocked with cattle, fowls and fish. I've traveled 1236 miles and preached forty one sermons. Many persons have come forward and given me their hands with the promise of giving their hearts to God. The district is blazing forth with revivals. Brethren, send in your reports of the number of souls saved.

God in his providence ordered that Bishop Newman should appoint me Presiding Elder of this district, formerly known as the LaTeche. I received it with many doubts and fears. I saw, however, that there was but one way to success, and that was to rely confidently upon the strength of my Savior, and ever press forward to the work set before me, and he would carry me through.

I started on my first round at Alexandria, which is the headquarters of the district. I boarded the train at Franklin and in a few minutes we were at Baldwin, the station above. It is here where the friends and patrons of our church send their children, going to Gilbert Seminary, at Winsted, La. Dr. W. D. Godman, D.D., its president, has and is doing much to advance the interest of this institution on a firm and solid basis for all future time.

Reaching Alexandria at 6 p. m., our beloved pastor there, Rev. A. J. Ford, greeted me with a hearty welcome. A home was provided for me in the family circle of our friend, Mr. John Mayo, who has since departed this life, and has gone to the bright shore above. Bro. Ford and his people are united and working with willing hands and hearts, strengthening the weak places in Zion. This is Bro. Ford's fourth year, and it bids fair to be the most prosperous of all. He engaged the services of Sister Mary Karkick to aid him in his revival efforts. God blessed them with a sweeping revival, in which 73 souls have been soundly converted and added to the church.

Alexandria is stirred deeply, and the power of God is manifested in showers of salvation to old and young, the glory of God fills the church, and the people are shouting for joy. Prof. B. M. Hubbard, and the Alexandria Academy, with Prof. Rogers and Miss Alice E. Thomas, his able assistants, are giving our people an educational impetus such as they have never experienced. The school is a feeder to the New Orleans University. Dr. J. C. Hartzell has taken it under the care of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society, and aids the teachers in a very substantial manner. The Academy is a success and needs a suitable building.

At Pineville, Bro. Jules Angustus is doing well under the circumstances, that somewhat hinder the full success he might have if it was not that at this season of the year many of his people go to other places to find employment, which reduces the number of the membership and congregation. Nothing daunted, however, he and his people are engaged in a revival which has thus far resulted in twelve conversions. The church is revived and substantial progress is manifested in all lines.

At Cheneyville, Bro. A. G. Davis reports five accessions. The church building at Leconte must be finished, says Bro. Davis. We pray the Lord it may.

At Bunkie, Bro. Joseph Johnson begins his first year well, and he won the admiration and respect of all. Six souls have been converted and added to the church.

At Bouville we met our good old friend and former Presiding Elder, Rev. H. T. O. Abbott. He seemed to be in a melancholy state of mind, and did not like his change. I owe much of what I am to his guiding influence. He was my first Presiding Elder, and as such was very helpful to me. I was a headstrong, make or break sort of a fellow, and inclined more to break things than to make them, and would have made a ministerial failure long since and dropped out of sight had it not been for his care and forbearance. Push out from the shore, my brother, you know the Lord helps those that help themselves. Bishop Newman to live on my district. About this time I was ready to carry out his commands. So away to Franklin I went, gathered my family up and settled them in Alexandria. The good people of Alexandria and Bro. Ford arranged and gave us a grand reception and a sumptuous repast. After we had retired for the night, a surprise and pond party came. They ponded us with a whole lot of good things. Come again, friends.

Next morning I was off for Eola. Bro. Banks, the pastor there, is a tower of strength to his neighborhood, and commands the respect of white and colored. He is lifting up his people.

At Waxia, Bro. Nelson Burton has captured the hearts of his people, and a great work will be accomplished there this year.

At Washington, Bro. Moore is closely contending for the first place on the district. Go in Bro. Moore and win if you can. Push ahead, Bro. Ford, and hold the fort if you can; you are in the lead now, but Moore is after you.

Opelousas, like Alexandria, has taken a boom and is looking up the hill of prosperity. Bro. Robert Anderson, our popular pastor there, has many disadvantages to labor against. The place is so intensely Catholic. However, he has proven himself to be the man for Opelousas.

At Lake Charles, Bro. Edward Powers is fully determined to build the church this year. Lumber is on the ground and enough has been subscribed to complete the building. What we need is a nice church at Lake Charles. It will be a tower of strength.

At Rayne, Bro. A. J. Johnson, a supply, will have a hard time, but the Lord has promised to provide for and help the needy ones of his flock.

The next point visited was Lafayette. It is strange how some good men drop down on themselves without a struggle. Some of us will fail, but there is honor in the failure, because we did what we could to succeed and failed only because success was impossible. Bro. J. W. Pierce has an opportunity here, and if he takes off the brakes his Gospel train will move. He has a hard place, but God will give him the victory if he works and trusts.

At Breau Bridge, Bro. Horace King is at war. The sky is filled with the smoke of battle. So much so that we could not see our way clear. We hope by our next visit peace will have been declared.

At Oade, Bro. Richard Drake, another Lyon in make up, is pushing right on and up. A new church will be an assured fact at Oade within the next few months. The lumber is on the ground and negotiations are being made to build it at once. Bro. Drake commands the respect of white and colored.

St. Martinsville has a very religious atmosphere. Bro. Moses P. Franklin is one of those men that knows how to make the most out of a difficult situation, or in other words to find honey where one would least expect to do so. He has ceiled the church very nicely throughout. His people are proud of him and seem ready and willing to help push the chariot along, and expect to have a sweeping revival.

At New Iberia, Bro. W. B. Anderson, our popular pastor here, is wide awake in church and Sunday school work. He looks forward for a sweeping revival this year. The Easter service was an excellent affair. The program was carried out in full. Mrs. Celestine Estes, the amiable and Christian teacher of the day school, and assistant superintendent of the Sunday school, had trained the children to perfection in every part of the program. The church, which was beautifully decorated, was crowded. Not alone in New Iberia was this so, but elsewhere on the district. Bro. Anderson and the trustees are planning to remodel the ohnroh, in a manner that will be creditable to the community and to themselves. We need a church that will correspond in appearance with the parsonage that is near it. We have many good things we could say of Bro. W. B. Anderson, his wife and Sister Estes and their noble work, but space will not allow it.

At Abbeville, twenty-five miles westward from New Iberia, we have a circuit with three preaching points on it. Bro. A. J. Proctor is the popular pastor. He has the hearts of the people. He is certainly beloved by them all. We went to Briggs Chapel in company with Bro. Proctor, where we held the quarterly conference, preached and addressed the Sunday school.

At Campbell's Settlement, thirteen miles away, on Sunday night we preached and administered the Lord's Supper. Monday morning fifteen miles more were gone over, to Zion's Chapel. Bro. Proctor has the work well in hand.

We preached again Monday night at Olivier. Bro. S. Tillman has been working earnestly. He has a new bell and will dedicate it to the service of God and the church on the first Sunday in May. He is working and looking for a grand time.

At Hubertville, Bro. Carr is holding on in his quiet way, looking ahead for better times.

At St. Peter, Bro. Vincent is pushing right onward and upward. His praise is on the tongues of old and young. He has ceiled the church, put new pillars under it, raised it higher from the ground, and added a nice recess back of the pulpit. His revival is blazing. Twenty-five souls have been converted and fifty more lie at the mourner's bench every night.

At Jeannerette, Bro. M. J. Dyer is holding the fort. We had a pleasant home with him and his dear family. Sister Dyer ably supplements Bro. Dyer's sermons with her songs and hymns of praise. Bro. Dyer has drawn the good people of Jeannerette to him, and they are now in the midst of a glorious revival, with the altar crowded with mourners. Bro. Dyer has also another work at Pattonville, at which place he expects to erect a new church building. The lumber has been engaged and within the next few weeks it will be delivered and the carpenters set to work. He is a man of experience and noble heart, and above all, has an abiding faith in God. He expects a year of great prosperity and success.

At Sorrell, I found Bro. Bibbs sick in bed, but much better than he had been. He certainly will make his mark in the history of our conference. Only let him push a little more. He and his people are planning for a new church building, and are making every effort to start it. The settlement where it is proposed to erect it is a good location and easy of access to the people, and they are quite numerous.

At Glencoe we met Bro. Edward Fields. The people say he is a field, too. One thing is sure, and that is that there is but one Edward Fields in the Louisiana Conference. He has taken hold of his people, and they of him, and they are moving right onward to success. They have raised nearly $400 since conference, and are about to build a parsonage, a much needed building at that place. All debts against the church have been paid, and only the debt for building the parsonage is to be met. The lumber and carpenters have been engaged, and ere this reaches the eyes of the public it will be under way of construction. On one Sunday alone Bro. Fields collected over $300 to carry on this good work. As soon as the parsonage gets well on the way to completion, he will engage his people in a sweeping revival. Sister Mary Karkick will be an immense help in that direction. I advise him to secure her services. She has done good work for Bro. Ford at Alexandria, bringing scores of converts to Christ. She is open to the call of any of our brethren who wish to wage war against sin and win souls for Christ.

I finished my first round with the impression that the Lord has walked with me hand in hand, leading and guiding all the way, ever true to his promises. The Holy Spirit attended all our efforts. Our quarterly conferences have been well attended by our people, who take deep interest in the proceedings. The Alexandria district will trouble some of the leading ones to get out of her way. We are coming.

The Woman's Home Missionary Union Meeting at St. Paul Church, Shreveport, La., May 31, was conducted for Rev. T. J. Johnson, pastor, by Rev. Stephen Duncan, Presiding Elder. The collections were as follows: E. Bellia, 50c.; Ann McLelland, $1; Roxy Gary, $3.20; Amanda Harris, $2.25; Maria Johnson, $1; Eliza Patterson, $2.40; Harriet Humphrey, $1; Catherine Coles, $5.05; Anna Tally, $5.25.

The members and friends of Rev. A. Alexander, Lovelady, Texas, brought him sixty pounds of choice groceries on the night of April 23. This was an agreeable surprise. Miss M. D. Alexander, L. A. Allen, A. Bailey, J. Cross, E. Martin, E. D. Doi, and others were in the party.

D. W. Nelson, Hagen, Ark., was given several presents from some of his Sunday school scholars, for which he expresses thanks.

F. Smith, Cookeville, Tenn.

Presiding Elder A. Phillips has held our first quarterly conference. We are getting on very nicely. Quarterly collection, $6.50, which was paid to the Elder. Paid pastor, $17.25.

R. Hays, Kosciusko, Miss.

Our first quarterly conference was held April 25, Rev. J. M. Nevills in the chair. We had a glorious time. On Sunday the Elder preached a soul-reviving sermon. Forty-seven partook of the Lord's Supper. Collection, 70c.

M. J. Dyer, Jeannerette, La.

Our revival resulted in 17 accessions, and 59 mourners. Our financial rally resulted in the collection of $115.

Hanover Williams, Shady Grove, La., reports 22 conversions, and a great revival on his work.

On Wednesday night, June 3, upon the arrival of Miss Jennie Wright at Donaldsonville, La., her father's charge, the ladies and gentlemen of Donaldsonville, with a good crowd of Rev. H. J. Wright's Catholic friends, headed by a band of music, gave Miss Jennie, one of the New Orleans University scholars, a welcome surprise and pond party.

A. B. Venable, Bonchett Circuit, La.

We have organized our Sunday school into a missionary society, with thirty-four members enrolled. Our school is poor. We have no books or periodicals, such as we need. We ask some good friend to help us. Send the books to Mansfield, La., care of A. B. Venable.

T. Larkins, Morgan City, La.

Our revival is a glorious success. Sister Mary Karkick is here laboring with us, and Mr. Joshua Thomas is happily converted. We are having a grand time.

A. J. Proctor, Abbeville, La.

We are doing very well, although we have had some trouble with our Baptist brethren over a small church called Campbell's Chapel. When said church was erected the Baptists contributed towards it, and shortly after the whole membership came over to the M. E. Church, including one local preacher of that denomination. When the church was built they were not in possession of the land, but when the membership became Methodists we bought the land, and the deed is recorded with the clause of our discipline in the same. These brethren of ours (Baptist) have for the last three years been trying to have a lawsuit with us, so on the 18th inst they thought they would try it. They had one of our members and a legally elected trustee, arrested for putting a lock on said church door, but God was with our people. We won the case without any argument by our lawyer, and I would say that you ask God's choice blessing on Mr. Lastie Bronsard, our lawyer, for the way he conducted the case for us; also, Brother Wesley Moore, who suffered to be arrested and stood a trial before a justice of the peace for Methodism. We are gaining ground here. Wherever I am our church shall never suffer. I am called everything but a gentleman and a Christian by our Baptist neighbors, but I am going on to perfection. God is with us. We had this year four conversions and five reclaimed. The circuit is in a good spiritual condition, notwithstanding these troubles.

M. A. Hobson, Trenton, Miss.

Our second quarterly conference convened at Trenton, May 9, 10. Reports showed that very careful work had been done on our circuit. The Elder made a few striking remarks on several lines of church work. Elder J. Campbell looks carefully into all of the enterprises of the church. He preached a soul-reviving sermon on Sunday. Thirty-four partook of the Lord's Supper. The Elder said that the SOUTHWESTERN should be in each family of the M. E. Church. Collection, $6.80.

Stephen Green, Robeline, La.

On the 23d of March our Presiding Elder held our quarterly conference. He preached three sermons. On Sunday Rev. J. H. Pierre came from Marthaville with his congregation, and we had a glorious time. Rev. C. D. C. Bryan was also with us on that day, and preached at 11 o'clock. After him Rev. John Sparks, from Pleasant Hill, and Presiding Elder Stephen Duncan and myself, preached and closed the day's service. Collection, $23.50. We owe many thanks to our sisters for their kindness in preparing lunch for us. The Presiding Elder preached at night, and twelve joined the church and many came forward for prayer. Collections during the quarter, $122.25. At Bayou Seal we are building up the church that the storm blew down. We have nearly finished our new church, and will be able to get it in a few days. We are going to hold our second quarterly conference there. The people at Bayou Seal are alive spiritually and financially.

Elijah Knott, Oiler Spring.

Our third quarterly conference convened April 25, 26. Our beloved Presiding Elder, Rev. E. Provine, was present and preached one of his sermons and gave a lecture to the Sunday school on education.

N. Graham, DeKalb, Miss.

We have no church here, but hope to have one soon. Collection, $8.00.

A. W. Parker, Midway, Texas.

My family and I were kindly received by the people. A few night ago we were agreeably surprised by a pond party, that brought us many good gifts, for which we are thankful. Church and Sunday school are prospering. We are raising money to build at Madisonville. Our grand rally for that cause takes place the third Sunday in June. All who cannot come are hereby requested to help us by sending their contributions. Our beloved Presiding Elder, Wm. Wesley, was not able to visit us on account of small-pox quarantine and high water. We hope he will be with us soon.

J. Jones, Anderson, Texas

Our second quarterly conference was held May 9, 10, Rev. W. H. Logan, Presiding Elder, in the chair. The leaders and stewards made written reports. Amount raised on Sunday $37.55. On Sunday, 11 a. m., the Presiding Elder preached, after which he administered the Lord's Supper to 85. Baptized three infants. Raised for all purposes, $114.55; paid Presiding Elder, $21; pastor, $65.25; Missions, $12; Church Extension, $3; Freedmen's Aid, $2; Sunday school, $1; tracts, $1; education, $2.

F. J. Yeargin, Friendship, Tenn.

The benevolent committees gave a three-table supper, which resulted as follows: committee on missions, $2.75; committee on Tract Society and Sunday School Union, $4.50; committee on Freedmen's Aid Society, $1.50. Total collected for benevolent purposes, $10.25.

After all, the best way to know the real merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla, is to try it yourself. Be sure to get Hood's.

The Financial Possibilities of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Money is the great question of the hour. Every prayer seems to be answered but the prayer for money. The doors of opportunity are opened. The laborers are ready for the harvest field. But by the very reason of our success every great cause of the church is embarrassed for want of money. We make ceaseless and importunate appeals which seem to be successful, but we are not getting more than one-fourth as much money as we absolutely need.

There must be a revolution. Presiding Elders and pastors must unite together to bring it about. Somehow we must drill the host; call into action every communicant and every friend of the church for a world-wide movement to evangelize the world.

Turn to the thirtieth chapter of Exodus; begin at the eleventh verse and read to the seventeenth. Is there not a hint which we will do well to follow? There is a law for the collection for the service of the Tabernacle, and in that collection the rich man could not give more and the poor man could not give less than one half shekel. The result demonstrated the power of a united movement.

One Penny a Day.

Ought to be the least sum that any man or woman or child who takes the sacrament of the broken body and shed blood of Jesus ought to be willing to contribute for the forward movement of the church.

Is there no way to bring everybody up to this? Is there no way to follow out the divine suggestion in this thirtieth chapter of Exodus? Let the poor man and the rich man alike give one penny a day. There are other collections in which the rich man can give as much as he pleases, but let us have one grand, glorious collection that shall represent before God the equality of all souls, as the half shekel of silver, which was the atonement money, represented that equality in the wilderness.

We have struck a possible mine of great riches. There are two million two hundred and eighty-three thousand nine hundred and sixty-seven communicants in our church. There are at least five hundred thousand friends who could be rallied into this blessed alliance, making a giving host of two million seven hundred and eighty-three thousand nine hundred and sixty-seven.

A penny a day would bring us a daily income of twenty-eight thousand eight hundred and thirty-nine dollars and sixty-seven cents, and an annual income of ten million one hundred and sixty-one thousand four hundred and seventy-nine dollars. Now, what shall we do with it? Imagine a great committee appointed by the General Conference with such an amount at their disposal. Let us give:

To Missions	$3,000,000
Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education	750,000
Church Extension	750,000
Woman's Foreign Missionary Society	400,000
Woman's Home Missionary Society	400,000
The Educational Society	100,000
The Bible Society	150,000
Sunday School Union	50,000
Tract Society	50,000
Widow and orphan	600,000
Evangelistic work in cities	1,000,000

Let us add $50,000 to the endowment of one university in each state in the Union, each year, making 2,150,000. Let us give for the building and endowment fund of Bishop Hurst's University in Washington per annum for ten years..... 500,000

Total.....$10,200,000

Do not say that this is a wild dream. It is possible! It is practicable. It only needs the baptism of fire to bring it about. Every poor girl in the kitchen can do it; every mechanic can do it; every little girl and boy can do it. And the preachers can drill the people into it; and the presiding elders can drill the preachers into it; and the bishops can drill the presiding elders into it. And we trust the bishops need no one to drill them into it.

But after this universal collection, let others who are not satisfied with giving so small a sum give more. Let the heart have play. Let them plant missions, endow colleges, educate poor young men for the ministry, plant schools among the freedmen, support teachers. John F. Goucher, a wealthy member of our Missionary Board, is educating three thousand boys and girls at this time in India.

The financial possibilities of the Methodist Episcopal Church are bewildering. We stand a great army. But we are not drilled. We need another John Wesley. Ponder these statements. Pray for the advent of the drill-master.—World-Wide Missions.

Letters from the Laity.

A Lost Pastor.

The following from the official Board of Oak Grove Church, Central Alabama Conference explains itself:

Rev. C. Richwine came to our Annual Conference at Marion, Ala., January 29th. He was said to be a member of the North Carolina Conference, and was appointed to supply Oak Grove and Greensborough. He came on the Fifth day of February, and staid on the work until March 23, and said his family was in North Carolina, a wife and four children. He asked his stewards for the sum of $100 to send for his family. The stewards raised for him $78.50 and he borrowed $21 from Bro. W. S. Sander and $1 from another brother, with the understanding that he was to send for his family. He was carried by one of the stewards to the nearest post-office to send the money for his family, but after arriving at Greensborough he told his steward that he would go as far as Tuscaloosa, Ala., to meet his family and he has not been seen or heard of since. If any of the brethren know anything of his whereabouts we would be glad to learn. Address W. S. Sanders, Scott's Station, Ala. Speid Reid, Scott Skoult, Howard Amos, Abram Plant, and W. S. Sanders officers of Oak Grove Church.

Elizabeth Oscar, Union Chapel, New Orleans.

I thank those sisters who brought me something for the poor. Some gave coffee, tea, sugar, crackers, etc. As I went from house to house to see the sick and destitute of our poor people, I could not help but shed tears to see how poor some of our people are. None but the minister can tell the suffering and destitution of our poor people.

Annie Watt, Tampico Circuit.

The grand army of Christian education celebrated the 8th of May. It was a day to be long remembered by our good people of Paafra and Rock Hill. Several speeches were made. Verses were repeated by several of our distinguished friends. The sum of $5.05 was presented by a number of ladies. The Grand Army presented the sum of $10. Our church is alive.

Martina Burke, Boynton Chapel, Houston, Texas.

We are moving along slowly. Our membership is very small, still we are trusting that God will yet bring us to the front. Elder J. K. Loggins is our pastor. He has just started a protracted meeting, and we have one mourner. Pray for our success. Our Sunday school had their picnic yesterday, and we had a good time. We have forty scholars, and our number is still increasing.

M. R. Hite, Woodlawn, La.

Our Presiding Elder, Rev. P. Landry, was with us May 3, 4, and held our second quarterly conference and a grand love feast. Our people all love him so much that they are always glad when it comes the time for him to visit our church. Quarterly collection, $55.55. On May 10 our pastor gave a grand basket meeting and realized the sum of $70, making a total of $125.55.

Annie Jenkins, Manager of the W. H. M. Society for the Gainesville District, Florida Conference, has favored us with an earnest exhortation to the ladies of that district to rally to the cause of this society, and to do more for the Master's cause than ever.

R. H. Edmunds, French Camp, Miss. Our pastor Rev. N. B. Blackman, is a good man and an energetic worker. He is making strenuous efforts to improve his work and has devised plans for some much needed repairs on the church. He is also bringing the cause of the great SOUTHWESTERN squarely before his people. The first quarter was held May 2 and 3, with our efficient and affectionate Presiding Elder R. Sewell in the chair. We had a pleasant time. The Elder's lecture to the Sunday school was interesting and instructive. His Bible talk and sermon were timely, edifying and well received. The Lord's Supper was administered to 62 communicants.

Lost Friends.

We make no charge for publishing these letters from subscribers. All others will be charged fifty cents. Pastors will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report any case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.

Mr. Editor: I desire to enquire for my people. My mother's name is Ellen Smith, she used to belong to Frank Smith, who lived below Ucauto, Alabama. She married Caesar Curry, who was owned by Jim Curry, who lived below Dayton, Alabama. My oldest sister's name was Viney Ann Curry. My next was Tejenia Curry, and the youngest Mary Ann Curry. My name was Henrietta Smith, but is now Henrietta Colman, wife of P. C. Colman. Any information, please address me at Louisville, Miss., or to Rev. G. Orange, Ackerman, Miss.

Mr. Editor: I wish to inquire for my mother. She belonged to widow Catherine Brown, in Gilks county, Tenn. She was sold to Henry James, who lived in Conesville, Tenn., and who took her to Mississippi before the war. I don't remember of ever seeing my mother. I was very small when she was taken from me. All of the information that I have is from my father, his name is William Upshaw. He died about 15 years ago. She only had one child to my knowledge, and that's the enquirer, whose name was Millie Brown. My mother had three sisters and one brother, viz: Esther, Polly, Mariah and Green Trotter. Any information will be gladly received. Address Millie Davis, Lawrenceburg, Tenn., in care of Rev. J. H. Coppage.

Mr. Editor: I want to inquire for my brother whose name was Frank Oliver. He left Tallapoosa county between the years 1866 and 1869. His father was Charles Oliver and mother Peggy Oliver. He left a wife by the name of Emily, she was a Vine before they married. He used to belong to Mr. Samuel Oliver. Address Henry C. Oliver, Sandy Creek, Ala., in care of Rev. E. Frazier.

Poisoning by Narcotics.—Symptoms and Treatment.

The principal narcotic poisons are landanum, morphine and opium. Of landanum the fatal dose is at least two drachms, two grains and a half of the extract are said by Tanner to be equal to four grains of crude opium, while De Quincy could take sixteen ounces of the tincture of opium daily; infants have been killed by a single drop of landanum, which is equal to about the twelfth of a grain of opium. No one should use landanum, opium, or morphine without the express orders and daily watchful care of a physician, for all these drugs have an entirely different action in health and sickness, as will be shown in an article devoted to the so-called opium habit.

When an excessive dose of any of these narcotics is suspected, a physician should be immediately called, and pending his arrival every effort should be made to keep the patient awake. The symptoms of poisoning are gradually increasing giddiness, drowsiness, stupor, slow heavy breathing, weak pulse, pallor, and final coma. There may be nausea, and even convulsions. The first remedial action is to free the stomach by the means of emetics or the stomach pump; then rouse the patient by slapping the chest and neck with a wet towel, dashing cold water about the head and face, walking up and down—out of doors if that is necessary—giving electric shocks, and even artificial respiration when other means fail to rouse from the stupor which precedes death. Strong coffee may be useful as an adjunct. The case should be in the hands of a competent physician. In a word, keep the patient awake until the doctor arrives, loosen the clothing, and keep the head cool.

The treatment for suffocation by illuminating gas is the same, applied with the utmost vigor.—Harper's Bazar.

THURSDAY, JUNE 18, 1891.

A Quarter of a Century of Christian Education.

Our Jubilee!

Let every district conference be a jubilee celebration of the quarter-centennial of success of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society. This Society is the mightiest home missionary agency operating in the South for the common good of humanity; and deserves the most faithful support of all our people. The Society never collected so much money in the prosecution of its work, and never needed so much money as to-day. The continual prosperity of the work and the providential openings that God presents to it make it imperative that more money be devoted to this cause. In order to assist our pastors and presiding elders in presenting the facts to our people on this important subject, we propose to issue a special jubilee edition of the SOUTHWESTERN early in July, which will be full to the brim with just the kind of information our people need on the subject. Let every church order extra copies for general distribution. Send your orders at once, or you will not be able to get them at all. $3 per hundred; smaller or larger orders in proportion. Order with the cash, to Hunt & Eaton, 139 Poydras street, New Orleans.

THE excellent article on "The Negro Problem," which we published a week or two ago, should have been credited to Rev. A. G. Townsend, of Kingstree, S. C., and not to J. G. Townsend.

OUR people in Texas are preparing to celebrate their local emancipation day, June 19 in splendid style. That's all right, but don't overlook the fact that January 1st is national emancipation day. Let the nation observe it with becoming grandeur.

OUR people at Jackson, Miss., are preparing to enter their beautiful new brick church, Sunday, July 5, and those at Yazoo City, Miss., are preparing for a like joyful event Sunday, July 26. Well done, Revs. A. M. Trotter and J. C. Honston and their people. Dr. Albert promises to participate at both.

OUR good friend, Geo. H. Hazard, Esq., chairman of the committee on transportation of the Minnesota State Camp Grounds, Red Rock Park, near St. Paul, has favored us with a season ticket to the camp meeting, which takes place June 18-30. A glorious season is expected, and we should be glad to enjoy it, but unfortunately can scarcely hope to do so.

WE hope to meet every Presiding Elder of the Colored Conferences at the Presiding Elders' Convention, which meets at Chattanooga, Tenn., June 23. Thus far we have heard of only one objection to the convention, and the objection urged is such that could apply with equal force to our quarterly, district and annual conferences, as at present constituted. Pity, indeed, it is that our leaders can't harmonize with greater unanimity. As it is, however, we have reason to be thankful that only one objecting voice is heard. For once, let all attend that can possibly do so, and every one at the work will be blessed by the convocation.

New Bishops.

It is suggested that unless there should be fatality among our bishops before the next general conference no new ones will be elected. We venture a contrary opinion. Some of our bishops are in frail health. Others are aged. Their average age is sixty-one. Four of them have rendered nineteen years of episcopal service; three of them eleven years; five, seven years; six, three years. The church is growing, conferences multiplying, and the demand for episcopal service increasing. Before the year 1896 our present board is likely to be depleted by death or failing health. We understand one or two would be willing to retire now on part work and half pay. Unless we are disposed to let the episcopacy decline among us we must keep recruiting the force. At least two new members should be added to the board next year. We have the material. There will be plenty for all to do. Indeed, with the growing demand for our chief pastors at camp meetings, dedications, conventions and district gatherings, twenty-five general superintendents could no more than meet popular expectation. We now have but sixteen.—Michigan Christian Advocate.

Dr. Potts will no doubt find that his opinion will receive the indorsement and sanction of the great majority of our membership as represented in the next General Conference. Instead of two, however, we would have at least six new bishops elected, one of whom should be stationed at Charleston, S. C., another at Atlanta, Ga., or at some commanding point on the Atlantic seaboard, and another at Vicksburg or Birmingham. We must more fully mow the South if we would reap the rich harvest which is there ripe for our sickles.

In this connection it would not be out of place to say that our colored membership and ministry, throughout the church, fervently hope and pray that one of those elected may be a colored man. And, as Dr. Potts says, without reference to race or color, we say with reference to the colored bishop timber: "We have the material," while the necessity for one does not admit of an argument.

Royal Scandal.

No event of recent years has threatened the British throne so dangerously as has the bacarrat scandal, which culminated in the law suit which was tried before Chief Justice Coleridge, in London, last week.

Bacarrat is some kind of a gambling scheme of cards or other. Sir Wm. Gordon Cummings, one of Great Britain's distinguished generals, took a hand in such a game. He cheated and was discovered. The matter got in the courts on a suit for libel, when the facts were brought out that the Prince of Wales, the heir apparent to the British crown, was the distributor of the cards in the game; that he was a professional gambler, a real blackleg; and that he goes about the country with a complement of gambler's tools, with which he manages to beat his way ahead of his competitors.

There is a woman, too, connected with the scrape, who is in bad odor with the wife of the Prince, who was present, among others of the same class who witnessed the game.

The whole case smells to high heaven with the rankest odor of harlotry and corruption. The really respectable and Christian people, church conventions, etc., of Great Britain are outraged over the disclosure, and many of them have presented their protestations to the Prince of Wales.

The public feeling is such as to threaten the introduction of the subject in both Houses of Parliament and in the contests of the great parties. That their prince, Queen Victoria's apparent successor, who is to soon become the head of the church as well as of the State, should stand thus convicted as the personification of such villainy and corruption is a fact that the British mind cannot reconcile. That pack of cards seems to threaten the throne itself. Whereunto this scandal may lead, none, as yet, can tell.

The General Conference of 1892.

The commission on the entertainment of the General Conference of 1892 met at the Burnet House, Cincinnati, O., on Saturday, May 9, at 12 m. The entire commission was present, as follows:

Rev. A. J. Palmer, D. D., of New York, chairman; Charles R. Magee, of Boston, secretary; Amos Shinkle, of Covington, Ky., treasurer; Rev. J. B. Maxfield, of Omaha; Seneca M. Taylor, of St. Louis; James B. Hobbs, of Chicago; F. A. Chamberlain, of Minneapolis.

The main purpose of the meeting was to determine whether Omaha had met the conditions named by the commission as requisite to the location of the next General Conference in that city.

Communications were received from Omaha, giving details of arrangements with hotels and private families for entertainment of delegates; also a contract for the use of the new Opera House for the sessions of the Conference, and it was found that most of the conditions had been fairly met. Some of the items not being in proper form, it was found necessary to re-submit them for correction, and the commission adjourned until Thursday, May 14, at 9 a. m.

A messenger was dispatched to Omaha and reached Cincinnati on his return in time for the re-assembling of the commission. He having brought with him satisfactory answers from the brethren at Omaha concerning the matters referred to them, it was unanimously voted that Omaha had complied with the conditions upon which the next General Conference was located in that city.

THE bishops at their last session unanimously decided to submit to those Annual Conferences, which have not already voted upon them, three propositions: First, the proposition already submitted to the Spring Conferences. Second, the action of the General Conference on May 7, commonly known as the Neely amendment, which provides for a change of the Restrictive Rule by the addition of the words, "And said delegates may be men or women." Third, the resolution of the Philadelphia Conference on the equalizing of the number of ministerial and lay delegates in the General Conference. This will require that such of the Spring Conferences as have not already done so shall vote upon the Neely amendment; that the Fall Conferences shall vote upon the proposition already submitted to the Spring Conferences, and also upon the Neely amendment. In view of the difference of opinion that had already arisen, and might easily be intensified, this action on the part of the bishops will, we presume, receive the unanimous approval of the church.

THE baccalanreate sermon preached by the Rev. C. S. Smith, D.D., of the A. M. E. Church at Morris Brown College, Atlanta, Ga., a few weeks ago, is such a production as will compare with the best of its kind. It made our heart glad to read it. But, then, why shouldn't it! Dr. Smith is one of our own boys. Trained and thoroughly prepared for his great work in the Old Church, and in Central Tennessee College. Dr. Smith is the corresponding secretary of the S. S. Union of the A. M. E. Church, and one of her strongest men. We are proud of him, even if he didn't stay with us. Is it not a part of our duty to furnish proper leadership for all of our sister churches that so greatly need our help!

THE registration office in this city is now open. Don't neglect to register at once. This is a new registration, and no one will be permitted to vote unless he is registered. To wait later is to run the risk of being deprived of the privilege.

Political Review.

The President has made the following appointments: Leonard W. Colby, of Nebraska, to be assistant attorney general as provided by act approved March 4, 1891.

Joseph Reed, of Iowa, to be chief justice of the Court of Private Land Claims.

Matthew G. Reynolds, of Missouri, to be United States attorney for the Court of Private Land Claims, and Gustave Israel postmaster at Donaldsonville, La.

The Ohio Prohibitionists nominated a full state ticket last week. The platform denounces the liquor traffic in the usual terms; demands a revision of the immigration and naturalization laws to prevent aliens voting until one year after naturalization; declares for woman suffrage; recommends pensions to soldiers and sailors, their widows and orphans, graded according to time of service; it recognizes gold, silver and currency as the proper circulating medium, issued in sufficient quantities to meet demands.

The Iowa Prohibition State Convention adopted a platform and nominated a full state ticket. The platform adopted is long and complicated. It favors straight prohibition, free and unlimited coinage of silver, the Australian ballot reform, and the immediate abolishment of the United States internal revenue system, since its object is to encourage liquor traffic.

The impression is gaining, to the effect that the People's Party will not amount to a hill of beans in the next national election. The great factors will be the Republican, Democratic and Prohibition parties; and the indications are now most favorable to Republican success.

Personal.

—Mr. Logan D. Dameron, who was for so many years the manager and proprietor of the St. Louis Christian Advocate, died May 23.

—Bishop Vincent is to deliver an address at the approaching commencement of Randolph-Macon College, an institution of the M. E. Church South.

—Howard University has conferred the degree of Doctor of Divinity upon Bishop C. R. Harris, the best scholar on the bench of bishops in the A. M. E. Zion Church.

—Walter, Gov. Pinchback's youngest son, has been at the point of death for the past two weeks in Washington, D. C. He suffers from peritonitis. Some hopes are now being entertained of his recovery.

—Rev. and Mrs. I. Marcy, of Somerville, near Boston, Mass., will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage June 23. They were married in 1841. We extend our congratulations to the venerable couple, and wish them many more years of happy pilgrimage together.

—Rev. T. P. Jackson requests his correspondents to address him hereafter on St. George street between Peters avenue and Octavia street, New Orleans.

—The University of the Pacific has conferred upon Bishop Joyce the degree of LL.D. He is worthy and well qualified. The degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon Rev. F. J. Masters, Rev. S. J. Carroll and Rev. C. H. Atterbach, all of them excellent and worthy men and good scholars.

—Livingstone College (A. M. E.) Salisbury, N. C., has conferred the degree of Doctor of Divinity upon Bishops C. R. Harris and C. O. Petty; also upon Rev. Alex. Walters, of New York; R. H. G. Dyson, of Washington, D. C.; N. J. Green, of Providence, R. I.; G. W. Offley, of Harrisburg, Pa., and E. H. Curry, of Louisville, Ky. Quite a batch, isn't it!

—Rev. R. Alonzo Scott, who passed through this section a year or two ago with his troupe of Sunny South Singers, composed of a woman called Estella Scott, with two little girls, is in trouble. He has been pastoring a Baptist church in Charlottesville, Va., where he succeeded in arousing the bad blood of both races against him. The chief of police of Charlottesville has a warrant out for him, charging him with a felony.

—Rev. J. A. Rnsh, a graduate of Gammon Theological Seminary, has entered upon his work at Denver, N. C., in good earnest, as is shown by his interest in the SOUTHWESTERN. He thinks it indispensable and is sending in cash subscribers.

—Rev. D. G. Pharris, P. C. at Musson, La., is enjoying a season of great spiritual prosperity. Since January 25th twenty-five souls have been added to the church. They have also just ordered through our office one of the fine Blymer bells for the church.

—After several weeks' absence in the North and East, Mrs. Rev. Ernest Lyon has returned to her home in this city. She is looking the picture of health.

—Dr. Sandford Hunt, of the Book Concern, preached the baccalanreate sermon at Genesee Wesleyan Seminary on Sunday, June 14.

—Bishop Vincent has been confined to his house with an attack of bronchitis ever since the Bishops' meeting last month. His illness appears to be only temporary, but rest is absolutely necessary to a speedy and permanent cure.

—Prof. G. E. Ackerman, of the United States Grant University, is spending the summer in the North in the interests of that institution. Correspondents may address him at Cohocton, Steuben county, N. Y. Six hundred and seventeen students were enrolled in the university last year.

—By an unintentional oversight we omitted to mention the name of Miss E. M. Williamson among the teachers of New Orleans University last week. Miss Williams was the second assistant of the third grade.

—Morton C. Hartzell, our little Morton, graduated last week from the Woodward High School, Cincinnati; the youngest lad who ever graduated from that institution. The class consisted of 166 bright and promising young people, 97 of whom were girls. Among these was Miss Zenobia F. Cox, the first colored girl to graduate since separate schools for colored children have been abolished there. Of the medals awarded, six out of nine went to the girls.

—We rejoice to learn that Mr. Weed, of Zions' Herald, was not as seriously injured as the Associated Press dispatches made it appear.

—Messrs. Cornelius Smith, A. L. Wheeler and D. B. Richardson, friends from Baton Rouge, called last Monday.

—Rev. R. C. Hitchcock, D.D., ex-president of Straight University, was at the Ballard Normal Institute, Macon, Ga., recently, and addressed the school. He is now Field Superintendent for the A. M. A.

—Dr. Z. T. Gayden, of Port Allen, visited the city last Monday, and gave us a pleasant call.

City Church Notes.

(Brief items of news from the city churches will be welcome either handed us by pastors or laymen.)

The Sunday schools of the second District held a meeting at Mallalieu Chapel on the 7th inst. City Superintendent I. H. Norwood in the chair.

Mrs. Randolph, chairman of the volunteer committee of the district, reported twenty-four new scholars since the last meeting of the League, and that the work in the district is in a growing condition.

Bro. Johnson, superintendent of the First District, reported that the school lately organized by himself and Bro. Crump, has now an attendance of 75 scholars.

J. Gordon Taylor, Superintendent of the First Street M. E. Sabbath school, organized another Sabbath school at the Old Folks' Home, with 40 children. A growing interest is manifested in the Sabbath schools of the First District.

It was shown that the Sunday school had been the means whereby many young people had been led to Christ.

Rev. Mrs. Lyon, who has recently returned from the North, delivered a very interesting address.

The meeting adjourned, to meet the 28th of June, at its regular monthly meeting.

E. M. WILLIAMSON, Sec'y.

The monthly sacrament at Union Chapel, Rev. J. W. Hudson pastor, last Sunday, was a season of special religious interest.

Mr. Editor: The notice in your paper two or three weeks ago, from First Street M. E. Church, saying that they had raised $18 for the Old Folks' Home, is incorrect. It was the committees of the Old Folks' Home, and not First Street Church, that raised this money.

J. W. HILTON, President.

Boynton M. E. Church, Gretna. Rev. H. O. Wilson observed Children's Day last Sunday in good shape. Misses Netty Johnson, Hattie E. Brown, daughter of Hon. C. F. Brown, and Ophelia Benjamin, took prominent parts in the exercises. Rev. Isaac Morgan is Sunday school superintendent.

Schools and Colleges.

Alexandria Academy.

This has been a very prosperous year in every way. The Lord has blessed and cared for the institution. We closed this year as we did last, out of debt.

Friday, May 22, was commencement. A class of seven graduated from the English Course, and received certificates for same. The members of this class acquitted themselves grandly, both in the written and oral examinations, and in their declaiming did honor to the institution and credit to themselves. The church was crowded to its utmost capacity, and during the entire exercises there were continued outbursts of applause in appreciation of the work accomplished during the two sessions of the existence of the Academy. We enrolled 138 students during the session, representing five different parishes.

What we need is a larger recognition and help from the church generally. Under the fostering care of the New Orleans University, and the wise management of the principal, I bespeak for the Alexandria Academy a grand and a glorious future.

I would say to any in North Louisiana who are desirous of preparing for the great University, that that desire may be fully realized in the Alexandria Academy. I would say to the pastors of the Alexandria, Shreveport and Monroe districts, that you would do well to patronize the Alexandria Academy. It is your institution. Show your appreciation by sending us two students each next fall.

Brethren, the eye of the Lord is upon you. Let me exhort you to join in the battle of uplifting fallen and degraded humanity, by helping in this work.

DAILY BREAD.

A stranger in the world below,
I calmly sojourn here;
Nor can its happiness or woe
Provoke my hope or fear;
Its evils in a moment end,
Its joys as soon are past;
But O, the bliss to which I tend Eternally shall last.

—Charles Wesley.

Preachers and churches that never have revivals do not give the devil much concern.

A REVIVAL IS NEEDED.

When nobody is helped by going to prayer meeting.

When the preacher has to look at the pews to see who is in them before he opens his Bible.

Whenever there is trouble in the choir.

Whenever there are unconverted teachers in the Sabbath school.

Whenever the prayer meeting becomes dry and formal.

When the only way by which money can be raised for church purposes is by getting up a festival.

When there are people in the church who are not sure they have been converted.

When it is hard work to raise the preacher's salary.

When nobody wants to sit on the front seats at prayer meeting.

When the leading people in the church are not on friendly terms with one another.

When the devil is not doing anything to divide the Lord's people.

When parents are not much concerned about the spiritual condition of their children.

When people begin to shake hands with the tips of their fingers.
—Ram's Horn.

Pray do not measure all men by yourself; do not imagine you are the universal standard. If you deceived yourself, you should not infer that all others do.—John Wesley.

John Ruskin says: "It is only by labor that thoughts can be made healthy, and only by thoughts that labor can be made happy; and the two cannot be separated with impunity." Well said.

All places are alike to me; I am attached to none in particular; wherever the work of our Lord is to be carried on, that is my place for to-day. And we live only for to-day; it is not our part to take thought for to-morrow.—John Wesley.

Sympathy is one of the most vital forces of Christianity. Cold men seldom win. To reach a human soul in darkness and lift him up
into the light, we must be touched deeply with a sense of that soul's danger and need. Heart power is real power.—Selected.

A young man went off from his mother's house, went off to sea.
She prayed for his return day after day, month after month, and year after year. After a while he started homeward, and the ship was in the offing; but a sudden storm swooped, and that vessel was broken to pieces on the rocks, and it was supposed that all the crew perished;
but the night after there was a knock at the door of that aged mother's house. Her long absent son had returned, and the first words he uttered on entering the old homestead were: "Mother, I thought you would pray me home."
The grandest, mightiest, and most stupendous agency in the universe is prayer. It is second to nothing but omnipotence, and their shoulders touch.—Selected.

"Thou shalt have no other gods before me." (Ex. xx. 3). Not necessarily must we love anything less than we do, but we must love God much more. Things entirely harmless in themselves become idols when we think of them to the extent that we forget God. A secret idol is of the worst kind. A true disciple of Christ does not want any idols, and if one were in plain sight would break it down and grind it to powder; but it is these secret idols, these secret faults that gradually work upon the soul, bringing it lower and lower, until it is ruined. Then should we pray the prayer of David in Ps. xix. 12:

"Cleanse thou me from secret faults." Have I an idol? Do I love the Lord, with all my heart, soul, mind, and strength?—Selected.

Hymns 495, 515, 542.

—Scripture Lesson, II, Cor. 4.

Text, 2 Cor. 4:17, 18: For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory; while we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen;
for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal.

Introduction.—Every man and every woman has to endure afflic-tion, even the most fortunate will sooner or later meet with trials and losses and sorrows. No matter how bright life's morning may be, the clouds and storms will gather and surround the pathway. Many lives that seem happiest at the first seem saddest at the close.

Paul, the apostle who wrote the text had what must have seemed to all who knew him a very happy and fortunate commencement of his life.

He was well-born, was a freeborn Roman citizen.

He was the son of a rich father.

He had all the advantage of education.

He was honored among his own people.

But when he became a Christian he suffered the loss of all things.
He might have been a high official in the Jewish Church.

He might have had great wealth.

He might have had a home and all the comforts of home, and might have surrounded himself with many friends, but he sacrificed them all.

Yet Paul is the man who says earthly afflictions are light, see what Paul suffered as recorded in II Cor. ii: 23, 28.

And yet he calls them light afflictions.

I. Some characteristics of our earthly afflictions.

(a) They are common to all.
Saints and sinners are called to endure afflictions.

Good people lose their friends and prosperity, and health.

(b) All earthly afflictions are light afflictions, they are never so bad, but what they might be worse.

(c) They are of short duration.
The text says they are but for a moment.

For the true Christian they all end with the close of this short mortal life.

And it often happens that if we are true, and faithful and patient
God sends us speedy deliverance.

II. The result or outcome of earthly afflictions.

(a) They wean us from the things of time and sense. If we always had our own way; if we always enjoyed prosperity; if we were always in perfect health, we might love this world too well.

(b) They lead us to think more and more of bearing things. When we weep here on earth we think of heaven where tears we never know.
When we lose our earthly treasures we think of the treasures laid up in heaven. When we suffer pain and sickness we think of heaven where the people are never sick.
When we lose our friends we think of heaven where there are no separations.

(c) They develop in us all spiritual graces, such as patience, long suffering, gentleness, faith,
hope, and love.

(d) They fit us for heavenly and eternal joys.

The cross of nature is taken away when we accept trials as from the hand of God. The great company that John saw in heaven had come out of great tribulation, and had washed their robes, and made them white in the blood of the Lamb.
Heaven will be richer and dearer for all our earthly pains.

III. The same way to profit by earthly afflictions.

(a) By having constant and steady faith in God.

We must believe that God knows all about us, and that he loves us with a peculiar love as long as we are really his children.

Nothing can ever come to us but what God permits.

If we trust God in the darkness as well as in the light, then every event of life may minister to our good and help us on the way to heaven.

(b) By committing all our cares and interests into the hands of God.
God takes care of all his creatures. He feeds the ravens when they cry, he watches over the falling sparrow. But he cares much more for his children than for ravens or sparrows.

(c) By fixing our thoughts and affections on heaven we shall surely find great spiritual profit, even amid the severest afflictions.

We may live in the world and yet live above the world.

Enoch walked with God, and held communion with God.

John, the beloved disciple when banished to the rocky island of Patmos found that heaven was near him, and Jesus came to visit him.

So God will ever keep and bless them who trust in him.

Obituary.

Texarkana, Texas.—Sister Eliza Lau-rison passed from labor to reward May 19. She joined the M. E. Church eighteen years ago, and lived a faithful Christian. She leaves one daughter and sisters and brothers to mourn. Her funeral was attended by Rev. G. W.
Baber.

Brookston, Texas.—Morris Alexander, aged 19 years, departed this life April 19, in full triumph of faith. His funeral was attended by Revs. P. Morgan and W. B. Perry.

Monroe, La.—Hattie Wilson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Wilson, of this city, was cleaning a lamp, when it exploded and burned her to death, May 31.

Asbury Chapel, Algiers, La.—Arthur
M. White, 38 years of age, died May 11.
He said he was only waiting on the Lord. He leaves a wife, two small children, a father, mother, sister, and four brothers to mourn.

Sister Almontine Solomon, 29 years of age, after three months and seven days of suffering, died May 30, in perfect peace. She leaves a husband, six small children, an aged mother and sisters and brothers to mourn.

The day before Sister Solomon died, her baby, Lewis Solomon, Jr., died, three months and 7 days old.

H. C. Armistead, P. C.

Wytheville, Va.—God in his providence has seen fit to take from us our esteemed pastor, Rev. Geo. Hill, who passed sweetly away from labor to reward on the evening of May 19, in the presence of his wife and loving friends.
His remains were carried to his home in Staunton, Va., on the 20th. Revs. R. A.
Swann and Buckner officiated. Rev.
Hill was one of our faithful and earnest workers, and left the field only when his health would no longer allow him to cry aloud. His death was like that of a beautiful sunset without a cloud. In his death the East Tennessee Conference has lost a faithful preacher, and Wythe-ville a devout leader. We console ourselves in the words of the Revelator,
"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord; from henceforth, ye shall be with him; and they shall rest from their labors, and their works do follow them."

Death of Mrs. J. Sella Martin.

Mrs. J. Sella Martin, who has been a resident of the city for twenty years, and who for a number of years past has been one of the leading teachers in the public schools, died very suddenly at the residence of Bishop Brown, 1424 Rhode Island Avenue. Mrs. Martin was the daughter of Benjamin Lattimore, who was a prominent abolitionist, his house being one of the depots of the underground railroad, and brought up under such influences, she herself played a prominent part in the events immediately preceding the war. After the war she married Rev. Mr. Martin, and was with him when he went abroad to collect funds for missionary purposes and during the years that he was pastor of a white church in England. He was at one time the pastor of the Fifteenth Street Presbyterian Church in this city.

During and after the war Mr. Martin was prominently connected with the politics of Louisiana, and his wife was at all times interested and of the greatest service to him in all his undertakings.
He died in New Orleans about twenty years ago. Since then she has made her home in this city.—Washington Star.

Paducah, Ky.—J. J. Mays, M. D., of the class of '89, Meharry Medical College, practicing in this city, died suddenly this morning at 6:30 o'clock, of congestion of the brain. His parents live in South Carolina. Recently he returned from there, bringing his wife's brother with him to study under and help him. He had for some time been complaining with pain in the head. He went to bed feeling well, but at 4 a. m.
he arose and knocked for admittance on a door across the hallway. When he had gained admittance he said, "do you know what I am going to do," at the same time raising one hand above his head, and fell face foremost on a marble top dresser in the room, cutting a small gash just above the right eye. A physician was called in, but he died without a word or struggle. He had acquired a good practice among both white and black, and a good name. He was betrothed to one of the city school teachers here. An inquest and autopsy were held before his remains were carried home by his brother-in-law. Much distress is manifested here over his sudden demise. I happened to be in the city on my round, and rendered what assistance
I could. I was present during the autopsy and inquest.

"Well! Well!"

That's the way you feel after one or two of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets have done their work. You feel well, instead of bilious and constipated; your sick headache, dizziness and indigestion are gone. It's done mildly and easily, too. You don't have to feel worse before you feel better. That is the trouble with the huge, old-fashioned pill.
These are small, sugar-coated, easiest to take. One little Pellet's a laxative, three to four are cathartic.
They regulate and cleanse the liver, stomach and bowels—quickly, but thoroughly. They're the cheapest pill, sold by druggists, because you only pay for the good you get.
They're guaranteed to give satisfaction, every time, or your money is returned. That's the peculiar plan all Dr. Pierce's medicines are sold on.

Commencement Week at Wiley Uni-

The annual exercises at Wiley this year were of especial interest.

After the written examinations of Friday, a most interesting musical recital occupied Saturday night, May 23. It was skillfully arranged by Miss Rhole Damon, our instructor in music, but being suddenly summoned to the bedside of her dying mother, the work was taken up by her assistant, Miss Easter, and Prof. A. O. Coffin, to whom great credit is due.

The baccalaureate sermon by President Whitaker, on Sunday, was upon "The glory of cultured

The oral examinations occupied
Monday and Tuesday.

They reflected credit alike upon teachers and taught, and clearly revealed a steady upward progress in the methods and thoroughness of the school.

Monday night the Davis Literary Society gave a very enjoyable and profitable service, worthy of the young manhood of the coming

WHAT IS SCROFULA

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the arms,
legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or the many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors," which,
fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption
and death. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by
the remarkable cures it has accomplished,
often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. Some of these cures are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla.
"My daughter Mary was afflicted with scrofula sore neck from the time she was 22 months old till she became six years of age. Lumps formed in her neck, and one of them after growing to the size of a pigeon's egg, became a running sore for over three years. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla, when the lump and
all indications of scrofula entirely disappeared, and now she seems to be a healthy child." J. S. CARLISLE, Nauright, N. J.

Food.

As there is constant waste going on in our bodies, in order to preserve health and strength, it is necessary for us to consume a proper quantity of nutritious food.

Foods are divided into three classes: Proteids, Fats, Carbohydrates.

Proteids may be either of animal or vegetable origin, the former being represented by lean meat, casien in milk and albumen in the white of egg; the latter by peas, beans, and several kinds of seeds. The fats and oils may also be derived from animals, as butter, lard and tallow, or from vegetables, as sweet oil and cotton seed oil. The carbohydrates are represented by starch and sugar, the former is found abundantly in potatoes, rice, wheat and corn; the latter in sugarcane, sorghum, beets, and in some fruits.

A wholesome diet is obtained, by properly combining the three classes of food above mentioned; experiments have shown that sixteen ounces of meat, nineteen ounces of bread, three and one-half of butter furnish the solid food required, during twenty-four hours, by a man in good health and taking free exercise in the open air. The human milk, as far as it is known, is the one only perfect food found in nature.

Two objects are obtained by cooking food; first, it softens and disintegrates it, and second, it gives it an attractive flavor. The digestibility, and nutritive value of food depends largely on the manner of cooking. Boiling and stewing are the best methods for producing tenderness in articles of food; roasting and baking have a tendency to harden meat. Substances that are fried are apt to absorb grease in the process.

Physical exertion increases the consumption of fatty matter, as does also a lower external temperature.

Some races live almost entirely on animal food, while others confine themselves to a vegetable diet. A proper combination of the two varieties is considered most conducive to sound health. In regard to diet, people usually sin more by commission than omission; among the things to be avoided are the following:

1. Eating too much;—as only a certain amount of food can be assimilated, a larger amount will only give the digestive organs extra work to perform, without any corresponding benefit; because a certain kind of food is agreeable to our palate, it is no excuse for eating an excessive amount.

2. Eating too rapidly;—food should be well masticated and mixed with a proper amount of saliva before being swallowed. The American people as a rule are too much in a hurry, to spend sufficient time at their meals.

3. Eating too frequently.—Not less than five hours should intervene between meals. Sufficient time should be allowed for the stomach to digest the food given it, and then have a period of rest, the same as is needed for all the other organs of the body. Three meals a day are sufficient for a healthy adult, and no lunches should be taken between them.

4. Too many kinds of food at one meal.—Different articles require different periods of time for digestion, and while one may be digested quickly and easily, others require a longer time.

5. Drinking too much while eating.—Some people drink several cups of tea or coffee, or as many glasses of water during a single meal; if fluid is either warmer or colder than the body, an equilibrium of temperature must be restored, before digestion can proceed, and a portion of the fluid must be absorbed before the food can be acted on by the gastric juice.

6. Too much stimulating seasoning.—With the exception of salt, the unperverted appetite does not need any other flavoring for its food. Owing to erroneous training, many people cannot eat their food, unless it is saturated with vinegar or covered with pepper or mustard; and stimulating sauces of different kinds are found on nearly every dining table in our land. These stimulating condiments act as irritants to our stomachs, and have a tendency to induce the use of intoxicating drinks.

7. Eating when greatly fatigued.—After our energies have become exhausted by severe physical or mental exertion, our digestive organs are not in a suitable condition to digest and assimilate food, and the body and mind should have a short period of rest before eating.

It was intimated at first that the Union Directors would take the ground that the case, as one of transfer, was not subject to the veto power. But we now understand that position will not be taken.—The Presbyterian Journal.

Long sermons and prayers with no thought in them are very worrying to any congregation. Preachers should learn to abridge their sermons and prayers, especially when there is nothing edifying in them.—Christian Index.

"There is a great deal of talking nowadays," said Secretary Foster in Brooklyn, "about a billion dollar Congress, but the people should remember that this is a billion dollar country." Well said, Mr. Secretary, and it is neither a bankrupt country nor a divided country, nor a free trade country with impoverished masses, as the Democrats would make it.—N. Y. Press.

Books and Current Literature.

Blessed are They; or Thoughts on the Beatitudes, by Rev. Jessie S. Gilbert, A.M., of the Newark Conference is one of the best works of its kind that has recently come to this office. It is a beautiful booklet richly set with pearls. It is a neatly bound volume of 69 pages. Copies can be had from the author, at Millard Park, New Jersey.

The June number of Romance, the New York Story Club's magazine, is now ready. It contains seventeen stories, by charming story tellers. Romance is published monthly for the New York Story Club, by W. H. Benton, 30 East Twenty-third street, New York, 25 cents a copy, $3 a year.

The subjects that have had the greatest share of attention from thoughtful men for the past month have undoubtedly been Immigration. Our Currency, the case of Rev. Dr. Briggs, and the International Copyright Law, which will go into effect July 1. The June number of the Forum contains discussions of all these subjects. The Rev. Dr. Briggs himself contributes a criticism of the churches for insisting on non-essential parts of their creeds. Col. Theodore A. Dodge, who is perhaps our foremost military writer, has an essay reviewing the career of Von Moltke and its bearing on the warfare of the future. Sir Charles W. Dilke explains the rise and the political importance of the New Australian Commonwealth. General Francis A. Walker discusses the accuracy of the Census of 1890, particularly in the great cities.

The June number of the Treasury for pastor and people is up to high water mark in the excellence and variety of its matter, and most timely in its topics. Independence Day Service has been provided for in four articles by eminent preachers on many fresh lines of discussion. Rev. J. A. Billingsley's paper on Church Evangelistic Methods, is very suggestive and full of stirring thought. The Arrogance of Romanism and the World's Fair on Sunday, are themes which every American should read as treated in this number. Yearly $2.50. Clergymen, $2. Single copies 25 cents. E. B. Treat, Publisher, 5 Cooper Union, New York.

Since the departure of Amelie Rives Chanler from this country almost immediately after her marriage, we have had only brief newspaper paragraphs concerning her life and literary intentions. A recent paragraph in the daily papers announced the fact that she was hard at work upon a new novel destined to arouse the entire literary world by its artistic merit and bold originality. While many rumors were afloat, the Cosmopolitan Magazine had quietly secured it and placed it in the hands of a famous artist in Paris for illustration. It is announced now that the first chapters will appear in the August number of the Cosmopolitan. The story is likely to be the literary sensation of the year.

The Evolution of Wool Spinning and Weaving will be described by S. N. D. North in the July Popular Science Monthly. This is the sixth paper in the Monthly's illustrated series on The Development of American Industries since Columbus, and covers a notably interesting group of inventive labors. Under the title of Mau and the Glacial Period, Prof. G. Frederick Wright will contribute a record of the important facts that have come to light in the last two years bearing upon the connection of man with the Ice Age in North America. The paper will be illustrated.

The new religious military order of Monks of the Sahara is the subject of a striking article illustrated by Thunstrup, to appear in the next number of Harper's Weekly.

IT PAYS

To be cautious in the choice of medicines. Many are injured by trying experiments with compounds purporting to be blood-purifiers, the principal recommendation of which would seem to be their "cheapness." Being made up of worthless, though not always harmful, ingredients, they may well be "cheap;" but in the end, they are dear. The most reliable medicines are costly, and can be obtained at moderate prices, only when the manufacturing chemist handles the raw materials in large quantities. It is economy, therefore,

To Use

Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the valuable components of which are imported, wholesale, by the J. C. Ayer Co. from the regions where these articles are richest in medicinal properties. "It is a wonder to me that any other than Ayer's Sarsaparilla has a show in the market. If people consulted their own interest, they would never use any other; for it is not only the best, but, on account of its concentrated strength and purity, it is the most economical."—James F. Duffy, Druggist, Washington St., Providence, R. I.

Dr. A. L. Almond, Druggist, Liberty, Va., writes: "Leading physicians in this city prescribe Sarsaparilla. I have sold it for eighteen years, and have the highest regard for its healing qualities."

"Although the formula is known to the trade, there can be no successful imitation of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Without having the enormous facilities of the J. C. Ayer Co., it is impossible for other parties to put together such valuable ingredients, at the low cost of Ayer's."

It stands at the head of all similar preparations.—Mark A. Jones, Druggist, Cambridge St., Cambridge, Mass.

Dr. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

MONEY FOR SOLDIERS.

BOUNTIES. PENSIONS.

Nearly every soldier who served in the late War is entitled to arrears of pay, clothing or bounty, under the various Acts of Congress. We give special attention to bounty claims of soldiers who served in the colored troops. Under the recent law every soldier who is totally or partially unable to earn his living is entitled to pension, whether the disability was contracted in the service or not. Every widow of a soldier is entitled to a pension under the same law. Send us a statement of your case immediately as the pension begins from date of filing.

Elys Cream Balm For CATARRH
THE POSITIVE CURE.
ELY BROTHERS, 66 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.

Our Children's Legion.

For Our Boys and Girls.

BY UNCLE CEPHAS.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I go to Sunday school every Sunday. I am the teacher of the Sunday school. Our superintendent's name is Mr. Milton Wood, we like him very much. My uncle takes the SOUTHWESTERN, and I take much pleasure in reading it. He is the pastor of the M. E. Church. I would like for some of my cousins to tell me how many times hair appears in the Bible!

Your Niece,
ADA ALLISON.

Cafarnia, Mo.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I have read so many letters from the little boys and girls I thought I would write. My father, mother and I belong to the M. E. Church. Our church is getting along nicely, we raised $20 on our fair. I am not going to school now, our school closed Christmas. My teacher is Miss Fannie Clark. Will some one tell me, who was Mary and Joseph's father and mother.

Your Niece,
MARIA M. CLAYTON.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I have read so many letters from the boys and girls I thought I would write. I received many presents from my friends in honor of my 17th birthday March 2. I am going to school. My studies are sixth reader, theology, arithmetic, history, grammar and geography. I expect to teach this fall.

Your Niece,
ADDIE BURNS.

Dear Uncle Cephas: This is my first letter to you. I see so many little girls and boys writing I thought that I would write. I go to school every day. I read the Children's Legion to mamma and papa, and they love to hear me read it. We have Sunday school every Sunday. I belong to the banner class. I have one little sister and two brothers.

Your Niece,
JENNET WALLS.
Mission Valley, Victoria county, Fla.

Books and Current Literature.

The series of "Familiar Letters" by Horace Greeley is concluded in the June number of Lippincott's Magazine. The last letter is a very touching and pathetic one, written but a few days after the writer was defeated at the polls. "So many of my old friends," writes Mr. Greeley, "hate me for what I have done, that life seems too hard to bear." Life was not borne by the great editor for much longer, for but a few days after writing these words he died. This series of letters by Mr. Greeley will be of great value to the future biographer.

A double page portrait, drawn from life, of Thomas A. Edison in his laboratory, is published in Harper's Weekly for June 10.

Howard Pyle's romance of the Middle Ages, entitled Men of Iron, which has been one of the prominent and most attractive features of Harper's Young People for several weeks past, is concluded in the number of that periodical for June 9.

The Siterial Messenger deserves a place on the table of every lover of the study of the midnight sky. Published ten times a year. Annual subscription, $3. Carleton College Observatory, Northfield, Minn.

The current number of Harper's Weekly contains an interesting sketch of the recently organized order of Warrior Monks of the Sahara, illustrated by T. de Thulstrup. Harper's Bazar for this week contains a full-page portrait, drawn from life, of Miss Clara Barton, the philanthropist, with a brief sketch of her life and work written by Annie Whitemeyer. The number also contains two full-page illustrations of a variety of useful and entertaining papers on the fashions, household economy, and many topics of general interest.

An Unprecedented Offer!

We have made arrangements with the Chicago Manufacturing Company to supply one of their first-class Singer machines for only $14 cash. We will order a machine like the cut here shown, and send the SOUTHWESTERN a full year besides! It is a handsome oil-polished walnut, of latest design, Gothic cover, with beautiful panels, four end drawers and a swing drawer, nickel-plated, and warranted five years.

Each Machine is furnished with the following equipment: One Foot Hemmer, One Oil Can with Oil, One Gauge, and Screw, One Extra Check Spring, One Package of Needles, Five Bobbins, One Tuckor, One Foot Ruffler, One Set of Plate Hemmers, four different widths up to seven-eighths of an inch, One Binder and One Thread Cutter. The Improved Tension and Thread Liberator is used on this Machine. The manufacturers offer to refund the money if purchaser is not fully satisfied with the machine.

We receive many letters inquiring about the sewing machine premium, and how to obtain it. In order that all may understand the matter, we state in addition to the announcement, that remittances should be made to Hunt & Eaton, 139 Poydras street, either by check, money order, or by express, naming the nearest or most convenient freight depot to which it is to be sent. Then we order the factory in Chicago to ship the machine. The company ships it; and receives from the railroad a bill of lading which, with the warranty, is sent to us, and which we send to the subscriber. This bill of lading is good and sufficient evidence that the machine has been forwarded, and holds the railroad company responsible for its safe delivery at the station named as its destination, and in due time, save unavoidable delays. In case of its loss the railroad which caused its loss is responsible, under the laws of the land. If not arriving in due time, show the bill of lading to the station agent and he will look it up. Don't give up the bill of lading, but it may be shown to the railroad agent. All orders are sent the same day as received, and the bill of lading is sent to the subscriber the same day we get it. We started this scheme with a view to helping our patrons, and shall carefully and faithfully carry out our part of the agreement in every case.

CANCER

A LIFE SAVED!

READ THE TWO STATEMENTS.

An Extraordinary Case!

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 22, 1890.
Last April I was attacked with Chagras Fever in Spanish Honduras and was given up to die by two physicians. During that spell and since I have used a pound of quinine and quantities of other medicines without any benefit. From three to four days every week I have been down and have suffered untold agonies. Between these spells I could scarcely walk more than two blocks at a time. I did not expect to live through the coming winter. Ten days ago I commenced using Dr. King's Royal Genuin. I have had no fever since. All the symptoms have entirely disappeared. I have no pain or trouble of any kind. Am gaining strength very fast. Can walk miles at a time. My sudden and rapid improvement is simply wonderful. I have been a great blessing to me. I can not say too much in its praise. Any who wish to do so may call on me.

DANIEL PATTON,
481 Jeffrey Street.

NEW ORLEANS, June 1, 1891.
My improvement continued, and soon after writing the above statement I was able to go to work and have been working ever since. My health is now perfect. I never felt better in my life. I give this testimony gladly because I know that Genuin saved my life.

DANIEL PATTON.

Chagras Fever is known to be not only a most dangerous form of sickness, but also very difficult to cure. Genuin has been tried on a number of cases. In every known instance it has cured quickly and completely. It has a similar record as a remedy for Swamp Fever and Malarial troubles of all kinds. Properly used, it is the quickest and most infallible remedy for Fevers of all kinds, Dyspepsia, Debility, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Diarrhea, Dysentery and all diseases of the Blood and Skin.

These claims are sustained by evidences from thousands of the best people in the country, and the evidences multiply in our midst every day.

For sale by druggists and country merchants, and at the Genuin office, 392 Canal street, New Orleans. For full information, circulars, etc., call on or address Kit Williams, Agent, 392 Canal street. $1 bottle; six bottles for $5.

Cured After Thirty-two Years.
MILWAUKEE, May 25, 1891.
I am personally acquainted with a man who (in the year 1878, then forty-four years of age) commenced to take your medicine for epilepsy, which he had had for thirty-two years. The attacks which he had formerly every four weeks diminished as soon as he took your medicine and disappeared entirely since August, 1890. The man is so healthy now that he can attend to his business without fear. By this wonderful cure a large family has been made happy, and of this he is convinced and gladly testifies.

—A Valuable Book on Nervous Diseases sent free to any address and poor patients can also obtain this medicine free of charge.

This remedy has been prepared by the Reverend Pastor Koenig, of Fort Wayne, Ind., since 1878, and is now prepared under his direction by the

GOLDEN TEXT.

Come, and let us return unto the Lord. (Hos. 6. 1.)

LESSON HYMN, L. M.

And since, in God's recording book,
Our sins are written, every one,—
The crime, the wrath, the wandering look,
The good we knew, and left undone;

Lord, ere the last dread trump be heard,
And ere before thy face we stand,
Look thou on each accusing word,
And blot it with thy bleeding hand.

And by the love that brought thee here,
And by the cross, and by the grave,
Give perfect love for conscious fear,
And in the day of judgment save.

Time—B. C. 588.

Place.—Jerusalem; Babylon;

the plain of Jericho.

Rulers.—Nebuchadnezzar,

King of Babylon; Zedekiah, the vassal King of Judah.

Connecting Links.—Thirty-five years after Josiah's reformation

the kingdom of Judah was blotted out.

QUESTIONS FOR HOME STUDY

1. The City, v. 1-3.

What city is here referred to?

Who laid siege to the city?

Who was then King of Judah?

(Verse 1.)

At what time in his reign did the siege commence?

Until what time did it continue?

What finally caused the city's defeat?

At what date did this occur?

2. The King, v. 4-7.

Whither did the men of war go?

Which way did the king go?

Who followed in pursuit?

Where was the king captured?

Before whom was Zedekiah brought?

What was done to his sons?

What to the king himself?

How long was Zedekiah kept a prisoner? (See Jer. 52. 11.)

3. The People, v. 8-12.

Who came against Jerusalem a month later?

What ruin did he work in the city?

What was done to the city walls?

What was done with the people?

Who alone were left in the land?

To what decision ought sorrow to lead? (Golden Text.)

TEACHINGS OF THE LESSON.

Where in this lesson are we taught:

1. That God's judgments are sure?

2. That God's judgments are right?

3. That God's judgments are merciful?

HOME WORK FOR YOUNG RE-

BEANS.

Ascertain for what crime Zedekiah was tried by the King of Babylon.

Ascertain what special reason

the King of Babylon had to put out the eyes of Zedekiah.

Ascertain what special reason

he had to kill his sons.

Ascertain the name of the King of Babylon?

THE LESSON CATECHISM.

[For the entire school.]

1. What terror surrounded Jerusalem? A Chaldean army.

2. What horror was inclosed within its walls? Famine.

3. How did the Chaldeans enter the city? By breaking down the walls.

4. Where was the flying monarch overtaken? In the plains of

(with a brief interruption) a year and a half. The famine prevailed.—The people were maddened by hunger, and became uncontrollable. Broken up—Broken through. The king's garden was near the pool of Siloam. Toward the plain—Intending to cross the Jordan. Overtook him—The chances were all against his escape. His army was scattered—His followers deserted him. To the King of Babylon—Nebuchadnezzar had left his generals in charge of the siege while he opposed an Egyptian army which came to help the Jews. He returned not to Jerusalem, but to Riblah.

THE CHURCH CATECHISM.

65. What is the invisible Church?

The whole body of God's true people in every period of time.

66. Ought not all persons where the Gospel is preached to become believers in Christ and members of the Church? They ought; in order to have a visible union with Christ, the Head of the Church, and communion with his people.

(Eph. 5. 23; John 17. 21; 1 Cor.

12. 20.)

67. Who are to preach the word of God and administer the sacraments? Faithful men, called of God and set apart by the Church to the office and work of the ministry. (Heb. 5. 4; Acts 13. 2, 3;

1 Tim. 4. 14.)

Editorial Notes.

Be a Woman! On to duty!
Raise the world from all that's low;
Place high in the social heaven
Virtue's fair and radiant bow.
Lend thy influence to each effort
That shall raise our native human,
Be not fashion's gilded lady,—
Be a brave, whole-souled, true woman!

LET us have less politics and more business. Let us attend to our duties, and our rights will not need such strict attention.

DRUG shops, groceries and other places of business are now open on Sundays, in this city, just as if there was no Sunday law. What has become of our city government and the Sunday league?

SELFISH place seekers, should remember how the blessed Christ rebuked this disposition in the disciples that were anxious ever to occupy the place of greatest eminence in his Kingdom; and of the apostolic exhortation; "In honor preferring one another."

PRESIDENT Warren of Boston University, who ranks among the ripest scholars of his day, addressed the graduating class at the last commencement there, in Latin. The degree of A.B. was conferred upon 37 persons; the degree of Ph.B., 16; Sc.B., 9; LL.B., 40; M.D., 27; Ms.D., 2; S.T.B., 26; A.M., 1; Ph.D., 8.

Rev. F. Parker, of the Huntsville district Texas, whose friendship for the SOUTHWESTERN is shown in the many cash subscribers that he sends us says: "I am very anxious to see you have enough cash subscribers to make the paper independent. I carry the matter incessantly on my heart and in all my conferences."

THE following sentence occurs in Bishop Haygood's address at Claflin University concerning the advance in education among the Negroes: "Thirty years ago not a single school, and not more than one in a thousand able to read; to day, 21,000 schools, 1,100,000 scholars, 70 normal schools with 16,000 students, and two and a quarter millions able to read. Match it if you can."

THE Epworth League numbers over half a million members, a very small proportion of whom are of our people. No pastor or Presiding Elder has done his full duty to our young people until he has done all in his power to gather and organize them into the Epworth League. Let us see to it that every church throughout the South has an Epworth League connected with it during the next sixty days. Now is the time to organize. Write to Dr. J. L. Hurlbut, 150 Fifth Ave., New York, for full instructions. *

Children's Day Gleanings.

H. J. Wright, Donaldsonville, La.
The program for Children's Day was carried out to the letter. Miss Jane Wright was the Queen "Religion." The banner was made and painted by the pastor. The boys and girls acquitted themselves well. Miss E. E. Landry and Miss Alice E. Hampton filled their places admirably. We had a grand time. Little Mamie Wright, 4 years old, was the youngest speaker, and Sister Charlotte Williams, 67 years, was the oldest. We have sent our collection to Dr. Payne.

J. M. Nevils, Kosciusko, Miss.
The young people decorated the church very beautifully. The program was carried out to the letter. Notwithstanding the rain, we had a large crowd. Collection, $5.

O. B. Gibson, Glencoe, La.
The church was crowded to its fullest extent. Rev. E. Lyon, Sunday School Agent, gave us an elegant address. His talk was soul-stirring. Rev. E. Fields, our pastor, is doing a grand work. Collection, $12.80.

Wm. Coleman, Birmingham, Ala.
We had a grand time at Mt. Pleasant Church, North Birmingham. Our little Sunday school raised $5.05. Rev. R. H. Kellar was with us.

D. B. Harston, Brinkley, Ark.
Children's Day was observed in our new church with a crowded house. Collection, $8.

Geo. W. Lewis, English Eddy, Ga.
Children's Day was observed in grand style here. Collection, $21.50.

M. Adams, Indianola Circuit, Miss.
It was a grand success. The first held by the M. E. Church in the town of Indianola, Miss. This is a new work. We have no church building here at all. We worship in an old store. When our congregation gets too large we get the court house. We had it for Children's Day. Collection, $3.80.

L. Drake, Brewton, Ala.
We had a glorious time. Collection, $3.

J. Watts, Augusta, Ga.
The day at Augusta was carried out grandly. The house was crowded to its utmost capacity. The young people did great credit to themselves. Many were present who knew nothing of what we are doing for education in the South, who went away much wiser. Collection, $8. The pastor has his eyes on the benevolent matters of the church.

Edmund Holiday, Spring, Tex.
We had a nice time Children's Day. Collection, $2.10.

James L. Middleton, Hawthorne, Fla.
Our Children's Day was a grand one. Collection, $4.

P. H. Hill, Rosemeath, Miss.
Children's Day program was carried out to the letter, led by Mr. J. J. Martin and superintendent Rev. J. M. Dixon, at Wesley Chapel. Collection, $5.50. At Holly Grove led by Mrs. M. J. Blake, and H. Golden, superintendent. Collection, $7.55. Total, $13.05.

W. J. Holland, Gibson Circuit, Texas.
Everything combined to produce a delightful celebration of Children's Day. St. Paul Sunday school, under the leadership of Bro. W. C. King and Hon. Wm. Ross, raised $3.60. Wesley Chapel Sunday school, under the leadership of Bro. Thos. Reid and Hon. Jimmie Williams, raised $2.50. Arthur City Sunday school, under the leadership of Prof. C.

L. White, raised $2. We intend to lead Paris district. We have forwarded $8 to Dr. Payne, collection for Children's Day.

Leroy Diggs, Clinton, Tenn.
Quite a large number of old and young people were present, and took part in the exercises. Miss Minnie E. Johnson, one of our bright and efficient young ladies of Coal Creek, presided at the organ. Collection, $8.

J. C. Hibbler, Vicksburg, Miss.
The superintendent and assistant superintendent, Bro. J. D. Johnson and Sister M. C. Cavinas, deserve much credit for painstaking and successful efforts in making the occasion the grand one. Collection, $25.50. God is with us.

A. Taylor, Bonham, Texas.
Our Children's Day exercises passed off nicely, considering this was our first attempt at this place. Bros. Barnes and Hardeman, of Paris, were with us and lectured on the subject of Children's Day. Collection, $2.

John Qualls, Pine Bluff, Ark.
Bro. D. Patillo, the superintendent, and the writer, with the faithful corps of teachers, made the service the grandest in our city. The collection was taken.

A. Merida, San Saba, Texas.
Our Sunday school has just been organized. We had a grand time, although it had never been observed here before. Collection, $2.40. Miss Fanny Huling was our queen.

Schools and Colleges.

The Central Alabama Academy and What I Saw There.
W. H. NELSON, PH. D.

The above is the only school of the M. E. Church among the citizens of color in the great State of Alabama. For many years it bore the name of the Rust Normal Institute, but within the last few years, during the principalship of Prof. A. W. McKinney, the original name has been changed. But never in the history of this school has it been more prosperous than now and never was the outlook so bright.

There are several things which have contributed to the present prosperity and hopeful future. Among these may be named the wisdom of the Freedman's Aid and Southern Education Society in placing at the head of the school Prof. A. W. McKinney, a graduate of the old and reliable Central Tennessee College and a member of the Central Alabama Conference. He has succeeded in interesting the entire conference in the school, and hence the whole State. To-day the academy has a conference visiting committee, and many sons and daughters were counted who are the children of the preachers. And this is as it should be. Let us build up our own conference academy and prepare the children of our own State to go away for higher training. Let us send them to Prof. McKinney, for while they do not attempt university training they do prepare for it and give first-class practical English education.

Prof. McKinney has also a regular strong board of trustees, headed by the Presiding Elder of the district, the Rev. Wesley Prettyman, D. D., and the school has employed four first class teachers. Until now there never was a boarding hall thought of; at any rate it was not needed. Besides the new buildings, which are the only improvements that have ever been made since the founding of the school some twenty-two or twenty-three years since, the original college building has undergone several repairs, which make it cozy and desirable.

At the recent commencement of the Cincinnati Wesleyan College the degree A. M. in curia was conferred on Mrs. Mary L. Wells, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and on Mrs. Lillian L. Slack, of Springfield, O., both daughters of Dr. A. B. Leonard.

THE WORK DONE IN '90-91.

We reached the city in time to attend the examinations and preach the baccalaureate, or annual sermon, Sunday, May 3, to a bright class, who were to graduate the following week. Indeed, this is another step in the right way, for not until recently was this school properly graded; hence the students labored to no object, and becoming discouraged quit off school or went to other places.

A great concourse of students and patrons on Monday and Tuesday witnessed the examinations in readings, geographies, grammar (higher and lower), literature, rhetoric, complete arithmetic, algebra, latin, etc. There were other studies of interest, but in every single branch there is much credit to be given the students and praise to teachers for hard labor, which was evident all along the line.

NEEDS OF THE SCHOOL.

Certainly all our freedmen aid schools need greatly to facilitate their work, but there is no school in the country that needs the attention of Dr. Hartzell as much as this one. Why? Because Alabama is a great central Southern State, with a population of over 800,000 and over 300,000 illiterates among her citizens of color, and not a school of our church besides this academy of any kind. Now this school is small and unable to accommodate the children in Huntsville alone, to say nothing of those in the whole State. Can Methodism of our great church neglect Alabama, the seat of rebel secession? She has comparatively neglected us during the past twenty years on educational lines, but will she or can she do so ANY LONGER? Our school needs and must have at least one large building, to be used as a dormitory, school rooms and office. Without this we must perish for lack of knowledge, our children wander from us and our Methodism have no worthy following. But there is this additional pressure. Formerly the State Normal School has been in Huntsville and has largely shared in the education of the city and suburb; but now this school has been removed to the country, thus giving Huntsville entirely over to the Central Alabama Academy, which could not accommodate all at first, and what now with all the city and State?

THE FIELD INVITING.

But our school is wanted in Huntsville, and more so now than ever, being the only high school in this great city. Recently the city authorities have met and proposed to donate a lot of six acres of land in any desirable part of the city for our school, and forever exempt it (the land) from taxes. The attendance is large, and destined to be larger each year. Now, Dr. Hartzell has had us raising funds some time, with a promise to help to build, so let him come now and touch Alabama but once, and at this opportune time.

Important Notice.

Office Superintendent Public Schools, 142 Ohio street, New Orleans, La., June 13, 1891.—A competitive examination of applicants (white and colored), for teachers' certificates for high, grammar and primary grades, will be held at Boys' High School, 158 Callopie street, beginning June 29 and continuing to July 3. Each applicant must file in the office of Superintendent of Schools on or before Friday, June 26, her application, giving name, residence, reference and previous qualifications.

WARREN EASTON, Supt.

At the recent commencement of the Cincinnati Wesleyan College the degree A. M. in curia was conferred on Mrs. Mary L. Wells, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and on Mrs. Lillian L. Slack, of Springfield, O., both daughters of Dr. A. B. Leonard.

The directors of the Union Theological Seminary propose to stand by Dr. Briggs, notwithstanding the veto of the General Assembly to his election.

At the recent commencement of Wiley University, Marshall, Tex., the following degrees were conferred: In curia, M. S. upon the Rev. Wm. Wesley, B. S., Presiding Elder of Palestine district, of Texas Conference, and M. A. upon Professor Henry B. Pemberton, B. A., of this school; also causa honoris, D. D., upon the Rev. George M. Hamlen, president of Mallalieu Seminary, Kinsey, Ala., the Rev. Charles H. Phillip, M. D., Washington, D. C., and the Rev. John Wiley Knight, of Enreka, Kan. President George Whitaker has tendered his resignation.

Notes by the Way—Meridian Academy, Meridian, Miss.

It was my pleasure to be at the close of the session at Meridian Academy. This year was the most prosperous in its history. It had an enrollment of 210. The examinations showed thoroughness of instruction and mastery of the work. The literary exercises were very good and showed painstaking preparation.

There was a class of eleven graduates—four young ladies and seven young men. The graduates did credit to the academy, to themselves and all concerned. Diplomas were presented by Rev. A. M. Trotter, of Jackson, Miss.

Friday was a grand picnic day, at which time the Rev. A. M. Trotter delivered the annual oration to a very appreciative audience. Subject, "Man." He discussed his subject from five points of view—the physical, mental, spiritual; his duty and future. He did credit to himself and the occasion.

After the oration Professor J. W. Brook, A. M., principal, presented the plan of the new building, just received from Dr. J. C. Hartzell, which was hailed with much enthusiasm by the audience.

A new building is very much desired because the present building is very much dilapidated. It is very necessary.

If the Freedmen Aid and Southern Educational Society would make a good investment for the education of the needy and the deserving this is the time, place and opportunity. We pray the society, through Dr. Hartzell, to give diligence lest it should let this opportunity pass, and build and support a school with much larger facilities than the present one. I would appeal to the brethren of the Mississippi Conference and friends of education to give all possible aid, support and recognition to the Meridian Academy, forgetting not our other duties and relations. Also that the Meridian district be not shortcoming in its collections for the academy.

The great demand of the age is a Christian education—education of the hand, head and heart, according to the rules and principles laid down by the Teacher of teachers.

Jackson, Miss.

The Rev. A. M. Trotter will soon have his new brick church ready for entrance. Brother Trotter and his people should be congratulated on their success.

Bolton, Miss.

It was rally day on the fifth Sunday in May. Having been invited by the pastor to be with them, I met a very appreciative and benevolent congregation. Notwithstanding the scarcity of money because of the season of the year, the collection was $28.50.

Rev. L. J. S. Bell, of Edwards, preached a very good sermon at 3:30 o'clock. We had a blessed time all day.

Brother Brown, the pastor, has done a good work. He is much beloved by his people. Without any special revival services he has added forty-eight to the church. Brother Brown is a good man and preacher, but Sister Brown is the better half in the work. All unmarried preachers will do well to get such helpmates.

J. C. HIBBLER.

Teachers desiring schools to teach; and communities in need of teachers can find no better means of securing what they want than by advertising their wants through the SOUTHWESTERN. Forty thousand people read our paper every week. Write for terms.

Mrs. J. E. Seaman, Principal of the Southern Academic Institute, favored us with complimentary tickets to the commencement exercises of that excellent institution, which took place at the Grand Opera House, this city, last Tuesday night. There were nine graduates from the several departments.

Good News to Teachers.

You can make money during vacation canvassing for the SOUTHWESTERN, "The House of Bondage," and "The Colored Man in the M. E. Church." Write for terms to Hunt & Eaton, 139 Poydras street, New Orleans, La.

Church Polity.

Q. Why don't the Book Committee, or the proper authority, enlarge the Quarterly Conference Record? The whole duty of the pastor is not ruled off. Why don't the Church produce a printed Leaders' and Stewards' Record? It would be timely.

INQUIRER.

Ans. You can get in this line just what you want, from this office. Send for our price list.

Q. In Part Second, Chapter III of our Discipline, and paragraph 201, under the head, "Qualifications, Appointments, and Duties of Stewards," where it says, "to inform the preachers of any sick or disorderly persons; to tell the preachers what they think wrong in them," does the pronoun "them" refer to the preachers or to those that have been found by the stewards walking disorderly?

ITINERANT.

A. The context makes it quite evident that "them" refers to such "disorderly persons;" and not to "the preachers." The conduct, right or wrong, of "the preachers," is not here under discussion at all. While this is a fact, the stewards are the preacher's constitutional advisers, and as such he would be greatly benefitted, very often, if his stewards once in a while frankly told him, in a friendly and brotherly way, just what they thought wrong in him.

THE Colorado Conference has elected the following delegates to the General Conference: Ministerial—Earl Cranston, N. A. Chamberlain, S. W. Thornton. Alternates—J. H. Merritt, T. O. Iliff. Lay—Hon. John Evans, Denver; Horace T. DeLong, Grand Junction. Alternates—J. A. Clough, Denver; J. E. Downey, Pueblo. The vote on the change of the Second Restrictive Rule so that it shall read "And said delegates shall be men or women," stood; for, 52; against, 26. On the question whether women shall be eligible as delegates to the Lay Electoral and General Conferences, the vote was: yes, 63; nay 24.

J. L. Owens, Marshall, Tex.

My work is in a prospering condition. Easter services at Goodwill Church proved a success. Collection, $3.75. Owens Chapel observed Easter day. Prof. H. B. Pemberton was with us, and organized an Epworth League among the young people. We have four local preachers on this work, and each takes the SOUTHWESTERN.

Bro. Thomas preached a soul-reviving sermon on Sunday night, which was edifying to all who heard it. We are determined to raise all our benevolent collections.

W. H. Jackson, Paris, Tex.

Rev. Wade Hamilton, Presiding Elder Marshall district, paid Paris a welcome visit, and preached a soul-reviving sermon Sunday night, May 3. Six joined the church.

Rev. Hamilton is much loved by the people of Paris. The Sunday school here is the grandest in Northeast Texas. I have raised $66 for benevolences. Sunday's collection was $31.50. We have not forgotten the SOUTHWESTERN.

N. B. Blackmore, French Camp, Miss.

My first quarterly conference convened at St. Paul M. E. Church May 2, 3, with Rev. R. Sewell, Presiding Elder, in the chair. The conference was largely attended.

Reports showed the work progressing. The conference made no mistake in giving us Rev. R. Sewell as our Presiding Elder. He is the right man in the right place. He preached at 11 a. m. and 3 p. m. to a large congregation, after which he administered the Lord's Supper, assisted by the pastor. Four happy persons joined the church. I am doing all I can for the good old SOUTHWESTERN.

H. R. Smith, Hockley, Texas.

Our first quarterly conference convened April 11, 12. Rev. W. H. Logan, Presiding Elder, preached a soul-reviving sermon. Collection, $19.15. The Lord's Supper was administered by the Elder, assisted by the pastor. One hundred and seventeen partook of the same. Our Easter was observed. We had a grand time. Collection, $12.

P. R. Woodson, Murfreesboro, Tenn.

Spencer circuit is moving off nicely on the line of success. Our Sunday schools are getting along nicely. It has been several years since there has been such an outlook on this charge. I have organized all along on my work. The committees on the various benevolences will be able to make a good report at the third quarterly conference.

Julius Williams, Austin District, West Texas Conference.

Rev. Mack Henson, Presiding Elder, was with us April 25, 26, and held our first quarterly conference and preached a wonderful sermon, which was felt among the people. Collection for Presiding Elder, $16.25; for pastor, $20. We are moving along nicely. We have raised $50 for the erection of a church. We have not had any conversions this year, but the spiritual work of the church is very good.

G. C. Harden, Nolensville Circuit, Tenn.

The third quarterly conference passed off with great success. The Presiding Elder, Rev. J. P. Price, was on time. The brethren were present with written reports. The Presiding Elder was encouraged with their work. Paid Elder, $10.90; pastor, $30.50; raised for missions, $5. The Elder preached one of his soul-reviving sermons. One conversion in the meeting, and one addition. The sacrament was administered to eighty-five.

A. G. Glenn, Blount Springs, Ala.

After a two weeks session, we closed our protracted meeting with thirty-seven converts and three reclaimed. We had a glorious time. Among those converted were some of the worst people in the place, aged from 12 to 50 years.

J. N. C. Coggins, Holly Springs Circuit, Miss.

My first quarterly meeting was held in Calvin Chapel, May 9, 10, Rev. H. R. Revels, D.D., presiding. We had a pleasant time.

On Sunday the Doctor preached a soul-reviving sermon and administered the sacrament to 83. The pastor's salary was fixed at $360. Paid Elder, $13.05; pastor, $32.45. Total collection for all purposes, $52.50. The church is progressing.

I. G. Nun, Cedartown, Ga.

I came to my work in February and found nine members and nowhere to preach, but I went to work and got a hall over a blacksmith shop, and now we have forty members in town and thirty-two at New Hope. Our first quarterly conference convened May 16. Rev. J. J. Jackson was on hand and preached to the satisfaction of all. We paid the Presiding Elder his quarterage. Paid pastor, $51.80. Benevolent collections, $3.90. Total collected this quarter, $309.60. We are going to build an M. E. Church in Cedartown, 30x50 feet. We have 1000 feet of lumber on the ground. We are going to have a grand rally the first Sunday in July, and we hope to raise $50. Rev. H. R. Allen, our Presiding Elder, is doing a great work this year.

M. C. Buffington, Natchez, Miss.

May 10, I baptized five happy converts.

J. L. Augustus, Pineville, La.

Our revival lasted nearly three weeks, and resulted in eleven conversions and five accessions to the church. The church is alive spiritually and financially. We have been assisted by Rev. S. Lovett. I shall send in some cash subscribers soon.

J. B. Starkey, Arcola, Miss.

Our Quarter Centennial Day was celebrated May 10. It was grand. Collected $3.50, which was sent to Dr. J. C. Hartzell.

"Giving to promote the cause of Christ, when so frequent as to be a habit, becomes easy to the giver. The way to acquire the habit is to practice the giving. Practice, here as well as elsewhere, makes perfect. The more one gives the more he will be inclined to give."

It is estimated that the wealth of the United States reaches the sum of $60,000,000,000. We give about $4,000,000 to foreign missions; that is, a man who is worth $15,000 will give $1 for the spread of the Gospel in the lands back in heathen darkness. Is this enough?

General News Items.

General Henreaux, President of the Dominican Republic, has invited all American Negroes to settle in San Domingo. There is room for a million of them there. The island has a rich soil, fine climate, great resources, and a population of less than four hundred thousand.

While the colored people of the United States are no doubt grateful for this very kind invitation, we do not anticipate that many will be disposed to leave the United States for San Domingo, or any other foreign shore.

Their ancestors were brought here against their will; the present generation came, as all persons born here, without any will. This is their native land, and the probabilities are that they will remain here, and grow with the country until the end of time.

The Daily Equator-Democrat, of Key West, in speaking of the recent arrest of five Cubans suspected of murder, by Sheriff Charles Dupont, colored, says:

"Sheriff Chas. Dupont is to be congratulated on the cool and quiet manner in which he succeeded in making the five arrests last Tuesday afternoon. He did his work so quietly, coolly and quickly that all five of the suspected murderers of old man James Mira were in jail before they were aware that warrants had been issued for their arrest. When the trials have been concluded Sheriff Dupont and Justice Gwin should each receive a vote of thanks from the people."

Dr. J. H. Young, one of the leading doctors of Lawrence, Kan., and the only colored doctor of that city, has been selected city physician.

Strange enough the nominal rulers of the three European nations to-day are children. Spain has a baby king, Serbia a boy monarch, and Princess Wilhelmina, a little girl of ten, frail and delicate, now becomes the rightful sovereign of American Bible Society.

The stated meeting of the Board of Managers was held at the Bible House on Thursday, June 4, 1891. Theophilus A. Bronner, Esq., vice-president, in the chair.

Grants of books were made to the value of about $182. Appropriations of funds were also made amounting in the aggregate to $55,572.52, including a grant to the Board of the Reformed Church, for its Arcot Mission; to the American Board, for Bible work in Spain; to the Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, for Bible work in Germany and Switzerland; to the Russian Bible Society, for colportage work in Siberia; to the Evangelical Society of Geneva; to the Committee of Evangelization of the Waldensian Church; and to the Society's La Plata, Venezuela, Persia, China, and Russia Agencies.

The issues from the Bible House during the month of May were 72,348 volumes; issues since April 1st, 167,540 volumes.

Rev. Jacob Freshman has just baptized four converts from Judaism at the Hebrew-Christian Church in New York.

The Indian training school at Carlisle, Pa., has now enrolled 728 scholars. At the recent commencement there were eight graduates.

It is said that on the West African coast there are about 200 churches, 35,000 converts, 100,000 adherents, 275 schools, 30,000 pupils, 35 languages or dialects have been mastered, into which portions of the Scripture and religious books and tracts and general educational books, have been translated and printed, and some knowledge of the Gospel has reached about 8,000,000 of benighted Africans.

When Bishop Taylor visited Palestine he brought home water from the river Jordan, which is used for baptismal purposes in his sons' families, and with which he baptized his youngest son, a native born African.

Lost Friends.

We make no charge for publishing these letters from subscribers. All others will be charged fifty cents. Patrons will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report any case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.

Mr. Editor: I want to inquire for my brothers. Their names are Houston and Henderson. We were separated in 1855. We were brought from Louisville, Marshall county, Tenn. Brother Houston and I were brought to Mobile, Ala., and sold by a speculator named Black. We left brother Henderson in Louisville, and I have not heard from him since. There were only three of us. When last heard from brother Houston was in Mobile, Ala. He went by the name of Houston Johnson. Any information concerning their whereabouts will be thankfully received. Minerva Connor, Shubuta, Clark county, Miss.

Mr. Editor: I want to enquire for my husband. I have not seen him since 1870. His name was Phillip Lagau. He belonged to a man by the name of Lagan, he then lived in Yazoo county, Miss., near Lexington, Miss., on the Benton road. But since freedom he went by the name of James Canady. His brother's name was Morton Lagan, and he had two sister's Lucy Lagan and Harriet Lagan, and he had two children Willie Canady and Haden Canady. My name is Julieann Canady, I belonged to a man in Yazoo county, Miss., by the name of Dock Myandell. Any information would be thankfully received. Address Julieann Canady, 626 Openwood street, Vicksburg, Miss.

Mr. Editor: I want to inquire for my mother, sisters and brothers. Mother's name was Martha Jane Fields; sister's, Beekie and Sallie Fields. My other sisters and brothers I don't remember. Brothers were Gabe and Jack Fields. Brother Gabe was killed while on his way home during the war; at that time I was living eight miles from Sherman, Texas. My other brother I don't remember his name. I was brought to Texas a few years before the war by John Fields, Jr. At the time I left home all of the family lived about seven or eight miles from Louisville, Ky. My name was, at that time, Mary Anne Fields. Any information may be directed to Mary Anne Harris, 712 North Commerce street, Gainesville, Texas.

Science.

There are Pasture Institutes at Rio and Havana. Russia has five, Italy has five, and even Spain and Romania have not been behind hand. There are none in England, Belgium and Portugal.

A press dispatch from Paris says that an enormous reservoir of water 120 feet below the surface has been discovered at El Golea, a small caravan station in the midst of the Sahara desert. The reservoir was discovered while a number of workmen were sinking a well at El Golea. The shaft sunk already gives forty gallons of good, clear water per minute, and it is expected that this amount can readily be increased should it be found that a larger quantity is necessary. This is said to be the first time that water has been found at so slight a depth in the Sahara.

The Proctor steel tower at the World's Columbian Exposition, says the Engineering News, is to be 1,155 feet in height, and will resemble the Eiffel tower in its general appearance. It will be hexagonal in plan, instead of square, however, and will have a larger base and start at a smaller angle with the vertical than the Eiffel tower. The designer of the tower is David A. Proctor; the architects are Holabird & Roche, and the engineer is Corydon T. Purdy, all of Chicago. The contract for erection has been let to the Geo. A. Fuller Company. The steel, of which 75,000 tons will be required, will be furnished by Carnegie, Phipps & Co. The total cost of the tower is estimated at $3,000,000.

Books and Current Literature.

Prof. R. R. Wright's Emancipation Address delivered at Atlanta, Ga., last Jan. 1, and published by request is a masterpiece of English literature, and deserves a high place among the best of its class. The pamphlet is from the Sentinel, Augusta, Ga.

Among the best helps to the study of the Bible, that have recently been published by our Book Concern, is Studies in Old Testament History, by Rev. Jessie L. Hurlbut, D.D. Nowhere else can so much help be found in the study of the Bible, in such narrow compass as in this little book. Price in paper 25 cents. Cloth 40 cents. New York, Hunt & Eaton. Cincinnati, Cranston & Stowe.

Fun and Finance, is the name of a very interesting treatise by Rev. Newton Wray. It is a discussion of modern church novelties, in connection with the subject of church giving, church fairs, festivals, bazaars, pleasure parties, etc., given to raise church supplies are treated in this little volume with such candor, and hews so closely to the line of every one's experience that it becomes irresistible in its conclusion against these vampires that are feeding upon the vital powers of the church. Price 35 cents. Boston, McDonald, Gill & Co., 36 Bromfield street.

Fleming H. Revell Co., New York and Chicago, are publishers of some of the best books in our language. Among some of their excellent publications are, The First Thing in the World, or The Primacy of Faith, by A. J. Gordon, D.D., another is the message of Jesus to men of wealth, by Rev. Geo. D. Herron, with an introduction by Rev. Josiah Strong, D.D. One needs to read these booklets to appreciate the high commendation which we universally give them. Price 20 cents each.

Graded Studies, for the Sunday School, compiled by Henry A. Strong, with an introduction by J. L. Hurlbut, D.D. These studies form a perfect course for the Sunday school, covering the ground generally covered by a regular course on Christian Evidences. While not intended to supplant they will very materially and beneficially supplement the international system of Bible lesson. Every Sunday school should be supplied with the Graded Studies. The series puts the Bible with its teachings, its doctrines, its history, its prophecy, its life of Christ, in teachable form, into the hands of the pulpit. The series covers eight years work; four in the junior and four in the senior departments. Price Nos. 1 and 2 single, each 5 cents. Per dozen by mail 45 cents; per hundred postpaid $3.40. Nos. 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7 single, each 6 cents. Per dozen by mail 67 cents; per hundred by mail $4.60. No. 7 is a double number. New York, Hunt & Eaton. Cincinnati, Cranston & Stowe.

A. E. P. ALBERT, D. D., - Editor

Special paper for the following Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church: Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas, West Texas, Tennessee, East Tennessee, Little Rock, Central Alabama, Savannah, Florida, North Carolina and South Carolina.

A Quarter of a Century of Christian Education.

Our Jubilee!

Let every district conference be a jubilee celebration of the quarter-centennial of success of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society. This Society is the mightiest home missionary agency operating in the South for the common good of humanity; and deserves the most faithful support of all our people. The Society never collected so much money in the prosecution of its work, and never needed so much money as to-day. The continual prosperity of the work and the providential openings that God presents to it make it imperative that more money be devoted to this cause. In order to assist our pastors and presiding elders in presenting the facts to our people on this important subject, we propose to issue a special jubilee edition of the SOUTHWESTERN early in July, which will be full to the brim with just the kind of information our people need on the subject. Let every church order extra copies for general distribution. Send your orders at once, or you will not be able to get them at all. $3 per hundred; smaller or larger orders in proportion. Order with the cash, to Hunt & Eaton, 139 Poydras street, New Orleans.

THE Philadelphia Methodist, gives the following bit of advice, which we commend to our readers:

"Don't be too swift to take offense. Many times the shot is not aimed at you. Don't cry before you are hit."

WHENEVER you notice a long string of names published in the SOUTHWESTERN with the amounts they contributed to the church, you can take it for granted that those names went in as regularly paid advertisement. They are never admitted otherwise. We cannot afford it. Neither can we publish statistics and apportionments, unless paid for as advertisement.

HAVE you ordered extra copies of our Jubilee number of the SOUTHWESTERN to be published next month? Only a few days remain wherein you can order. We ought to get 20,000 copies of that very valuable issue out among our people. The smallest charge ought to order at least a dozen or more copies. In no way can a quarter, half a dollar or a dollar be more profitably spent. Rally brethren; rally. The paper is not Dr. Albert's, but yours.

THE Washington (D. C.) National Tribune of June 11 credits to us an article which reflects most shamefully upon the system pursued in the granting of pensions and upon the United States Pension Office in Washington. That article might have been published by some other paper published in the Southwest, but it certainly did not appear in the SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. We are not in that kind of business; neither do we belong to "the soldier hating class." We represent a loyal constituency, that believe in an open Bible and in the old flag, and in all that they represent. We are glad to learn from the Tribune that, after a thorough investigation, the senseless and malicious reflection upon the system and the officers in question has been found to be utterly devoid of any foundation.

Presiding Elders to the Front!

Last Tuesday the Presiding Elders of our colored conferences, met in convention in Chattanooga, Tenn. It is a grand body of men. They represent a membership of nearly a third of a million members, and a million and a half of adherents. They meet, we want it distinctly understood, not to discuss grievances of any kind whatever against the church. They have none. But rather to express their gratitude for what has been and is being done, and to prove their loyalty by planning for more aggressive work, and grander achievements in the future.

It is well that such a meeting is being held. There are questions affecting this department of our work, which no other body of men could undertake to solve. The devil of infidelity, alcohol and crime generally; the Roman Church, under pretenses of ecclesiastical equality; and the several race churches, by appeals to wicked race prejudices, which we condemn in others, are grabbing after our people, and our young people especially. And then there are questions touching the material, educational, and moral, as well as religious conditions of our people which call for special consideration. Under the circumstances it is of the highest importance that these sub-general superintendents of ours should thus meet and get the toning of inspiration and take counsel of each other, and formulate plans for the spread of the victories of the Cross and of our Methodism. Every phase of our church-work should and will be there considered; revival work, raising church supplies and benevolences, church building, mission work in outlying territories, Sunday school work and methods; educational work, etc.; and last but not least, the more vigorous circulation of the SOUTHWESTERN throughout our borders.

The hope is confidently entertained that this convention will result in many more conversions, churches built, Sunday schools organized, young people entering our higher schools of learning; in a general uplift of all our people, and in the realization of the 25,000 circulation which the SOUTHWESTERN has every reason to expect from the membership there represented. Let everybody pray for heaven's choicest blessings and direction upon the deliberation of these our sub-general superintendents!

Under Martial Law.

Is What Should Be Done to the Louisiana Cut-Throats

The people of Louisiana should not lay the flattering unction to their souls that because public sentiment of the country endorsed the action of the people of New Orleans in ridding themselves of Italian cut throats, it will sympathize with the horrible lynching that recently took place in Claiborne parish. Some time last year Timp Hampton, a Negro, was suspected by his neighbors of complicity in a hog stealing case. Though they had no positive knowledge of his guilt they went in a body to his house one night for the purpose of lynching him. He did what any man of courage would have done. He resisted them and in the resistance one of the mob was killed. The next day he was arrested. A second attempt was made to enter the jail and lynch him, but it was thwarted by the sheriff. The prisoner got a change of venue, stood his trial, and was acquitted on the charge of murder. He then was re-arrested for larceny, and, fearing he would be lynched if he remained in jail he pleaded guilty, and was sent to the penitentiary for a year. He served out his sentence, and upon returning to his native place was seized by the mob, hurried off into the woods and burned to death. An official report of these occurrences has been made to Governor Nichols. It now remains to be seen what he will do under the circumstances and whether he will bring these fiends to justice. If he fails in his duty it will have to be conceded that the functions of civil law in that state have been suspended by the mob, and that punishment is meted out by a gang of barbarians, who have not the ordinary instincts of humanity possessed by thugs or savages. The record that Louisiana is making for itself is one which would shock the sensitiveness of the most barbarous Indians. If the horrible murder of Timp Hampton is not avenged by law the state of Louisiana should be ostracized; or, what is still better, it should be placed under martial law until the civil laws can be executed. — Chicago Tribune.

The authorities have said and have, as yet done nothing in the premises; and the probabilities are that nothing, absolutely nothing will be done.

The Negroes of the South ask for no supremacy over the whites. All they ask is that they enjoy the rights guaranteed them under the national constitution, that the national flag shall not be to them a rag of disgrace but an ensign of protection; and that such savage brutalities against the race, in the South, shall not cry to high heaven in vain. How long, oh heaven how long, will the American people, and the good people of the South permit the commission of such heinous crimes without punishment?

ONE of the most shameful facts connected with the observance of National Decoration Day, May 30, throughout the South, is the unmanly, cringing disposition manifested by camp-followers of the Union army left down here, as rubbish behind the receding waves of Boys in Blue, that returned home at the close of the war, toward ex-rebels, in the observance of that day. Those people now call themselves the G. A. R. They are, a disgrace to their country. In order to ingratiate themselves into the favor of ex-rebels, they now refuse to affiliate with the colored soldiers that rescued them from the inevitable defeat that awaited the Union army but for their help. Two separate and distinct memorial services are observed in the national cemeteries in the South, where the colored are permitted to participate in such services at all. At Andersonville, Ga., and in many of the cemeteries colored veterans are not allowed at all. Shame upon the men that ignore and turn away black defenders of the flag, to embrace unrepenting, although pardoned rebels!

THE record of the Methodist Review during the present quadrennium, in respect to the growth of its circulation, the reorganization of its contents, its adaptation to the thinking of the age, its recognition of the necessities of the church, and its enlarged influence in the country, is indeed remarkable. The latest news concerning its progress is that for the first time since 1878 it has passed the line of self support and will return this year a surplus of more than one thousand dollars to the treasury of the church. So far as the books have been examined this has occurred but three times in the history of this periodical, and in each case the profits were but slight. The financial success this year is all the more gratifying since it has been a very expensive year, owing to increased compensation to contributors, an addition of about fifty pages to the volume, and the increase of general office expenses. There may be a limit to the success of the Review, and these surprises of growth may finally cease; but in the light of its recent history we are led to ask, What next?

PRESIDING Elders must bear in mind that lay delegates must be elected, in their fourth quarterly conferences this year, to attend the Lay Electoral conferences, to elect delegates to the next General Conference. It would be well too for them to begin at once to raise their apportionments for the entertainment of the next General Conference.

Political Review.

Political speculations continue as to what shall be the platforms and who the presidential candidates of the two great political parties.

The Charleston News and Courier, which expresses probably the general Democratic sentiment in the Southern States, says that "the next presidential fight must be by the Democratic party on the issue of tariff reform, or it will be a losing fight for that party. . . . If we make free silver the principal plank in our platform, we will be whipped in the fight, as we ought to be whipped." It holds, therefore, that Mr. Cleveland is the only Democrat who can lead the party to success. The expression of U. S. Senator Reagan, that Cleveland can only carry two States west of the Mississippi—Texas and Arkansas—is just so much nonsense. The Democratic party will count the Solid South for whoever may be the nominee of that party, whatever may be the platform adopted.

The People's Party, encouraged by the Democratic party of the South, in the West, is falling to pieces, and will not be the powerful disintegrator of Western Republicanism, as Southern Democrats hoped. Old-time Republicans have discovered the purpose of Farmers' Alliance Democrats to urge them on in their Third Party movement in the West, while they adhere strictly to the Democratic party, in the hope of throwing the election into the Democratic House of Representatives, which would insure the election of a Democratic President. They are not liable to thus be deluded.

Thus far, President Harrison's nomination seems quite probable; and his election almost certain.

The great event of the week was the Republican State Convention in Ohio, wherein Major McKinley was unanimously nominated for Governor by acclamation. Never was such enthusiasm aroused in a State Convention in Ohio since the lively war times. The indications are that the Republicans will sweep the State and that their whole ticket will be elected by a majority of 30,000. McKinley and the party is united as never before in years. The following is the ticket: Governor, Major McKinley; Lieutenant Governor, Andrew L. Harris; State Auditor, E. W. Poe; Treasurer, W. T. Cope; Attorney General, Gen. J. K. Richards; Supreme Judge, Marshall J. Williams; Board of Public Works, Charles E. Grace; School Commissioner, O. T. Carson; Dairy Commissioner F. B. McNeal. The candidate for Lieutenant Governor is a Farmers' Alliance man.

Among other things, the platform pronounced in favor of protection as against free trade and tariff reform heresies; in favor of gold and silver as the basis of all circulating mediums; opposes pauper and criminal immigration; favors liberal pensions to the defenders of the Union; indorses the administration of President Harrison; commends the faithful senatorial services of Hon. John Sherman; denounces the Democracy for its corrupt and incompetent administration of affairs, etc. On the right of franchise, it says: "We demand, and will continue to demand until finally and absolutely secured, the free exercise by every citizen of the supreme and sovereign right to cast one ballot at lawful elections and have it honestly counted." It is quite probable that Gov. Campbell, present incumbent, will be the Democratic nominee.

The Mississippi Democracy is all life with the present canvass for nominations for State offices and U. S. Senator.

In this State the Lottery and Anti-Lottery factions are quarreling over the question whether colored voters shall be permitted to vote on the lottery amendment or not. Neither faction is decided in its own ranks whether the Negro is to be permitted to take a hand in the fight. State Auditor O. B.

Steele, who was believed to be an Anti, is, if reports be true, to lead the Lotteryites in the fight for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

—Hon. Frederick Douglass, U. S. Minister to Hayti, is expected in Washington some time this month, on a sixty days leave of absence.

—Our types made us call Rev. Z. T. Gayden, Dr. Gayden, last week. The error was discovered too late for correction.

—Our friend and townsman, Major Andrew Hero, Assistant U. S. Treasurer, is to be congratulated upon the graduation of his son, Andrew Hero, Jr., from the U. S. Military Academy, West Point, N. Y. He graduated very near the head of a very large class.

—Rev. A. Gillespie, of the Upper Mississippi Conference, has returned from a ten days visit to St. Louis, Mo. He preached two edifying sermons for our people there. So says Bro. Sandy Morgan.

—An Omaha paper publishes the following: "Mrs. Newman will return to Omaha in the early autumn, where she is highly esteemed for her personal worth and Christian activity. She is at present at Round Lake, managing her Missionary Home for the summer guests. She is in excellent health and full of plans for future usefulness. Those newspaper reports as to her health were untrue and grieved her friends. She has been much engaged upon her books soon to be published, but since her return to the spring air and sunshine of Round Lake the bloom has come to her cheeks, and she telegraphs here that she is well and happy."

—A friend from Marshall, Tex., who signs himself "A Marshallite," has written us a letter full of the highest praise to the Rev. I. B. Scott, D.D., for his high Christian character and faithful and successful services. One hardly ever gets to read such an eulogy upon a living man; the like are generally reserved for the dead. In these days, when so many men are too jealous to accord to worthy men the honor due them, it is refreshing to get such a letter. Dr. Scott merits every word of praise which this appreciative young Marshallite accords him; and we heartily make his sentiments our own. Dr. Scott is indeed one of our grandest men.

—Mr. Edward Reed, representing the American Catholic Tribune, Cincinnati, Ohio, is on a visit to this city in the interest of that paper. He called last week. We regretted to learn that he was of Protestant parentage and raising, but had been inveigled into the Roman Church under the delusion that that church was less prejudiced against the colored people than other branches of the Christian church. The facts are just to the contrary; and will remain, so long as civilization can point to the fact that His Holiness, the Pope of Rome, was the only power that recognized the Southern Confederacy and slavery. In this connection too, it may well be remembered that Freetown with her massacre, Lafayette with her regicides, St. Martinsville and New Iberia, centres of terrorism against our people, are all centres of Romanism, in which scarcely a baker's dozen of white Protestants can be found. Our people must not be deluded by the occasional word of sympathy that now and then escapes from individual Roman Catholics, here and there, in the North. Slavery polluted the fountains of human equality and fraternity in all the churches in the South; and the Roman Catholic is no exception. We assure our people they have nothing to hope for from Romanism, North or South.

In the North that church is composed of Negro-hating Irish, and in the South she has her full proportion in the rank of lawless regulators.

—Rev. J. F. Marshall, of the Baton Rouge district, was in last week, and reports gratifying progress at every point on his district.

—Rev. E. Ford will remain at Groesbeck, Texas, for five or six weeks, where he will be glad to hear from pastors in need of his help at camp meetings, protracted meetings, etc. After that he goes to Waco, Texas. Having no church nor members where he was sent from last conference, he is free to help any needing his services.

—Rev. H. B. Hart, of Vidalia, La., was in the city last Friday. He reports a very encouraging outlook for his work in Vidalia. We had nothing there as late as last February, but now Bro. Hart has a Sunday school of over 50, a membership of 18, and many friends. He reports a church lot bought and prospects of building soon. For the present, services are held in the colored school house.

—Rev. Geo. A. Payne has been transferred from the Little Rock to the Louisiana Conference. His present postoffice address is Baton Rouge, La.

—Rev. B. J. Reddix, of Campt, La., spent a few days here last week, and called to see us. He reports something paid on the church debt, and a successful revival, in which many were converted and reclaimed.

—Rev. J. O. Price, D.D., President of Livingstone College, Salisbury, N. C., and Commissioner General in charge of the colored department at the Southern Interstate Exposition, to be held at Raleigh, N. C., this fall, reached this city last Monday, and addressed the colored citizens of New Orleans last Wednesday night, (last night), at Wesley Chapel, in the interest of the same. It is hoped that his visit will be quite successful in that direction, as it is proposed to transfer those exhibits to the World's Columbian Exposition, in Chicago, when that opens.

—Prof. S. R. Pinckney, class '84 Straight University, has just returned from Gonzales, Tex., where he has been teaching. He called and paid for two new subscribers, and for his own subscription to the SOUTHWESTERN. He says: "The SOUTHWESTERN grows more interesting the more I read it." He will be here for some weeks.

—The editor, in company with Rev. J. F. Marshall, Presiding Elder of the Baton Rouge District, left last Monday evening for Chattanooga, Tenn., to attend the Presiding Elders' Convention. They will probably return the last of this or the first of next week.

—Rev. Wm. P. McLaughlin, A. M., S. T. B., Presiding Elder of the Mission District, Louisiana Conference, has been honored with the degree of Doctor of Divinity by the Nebraska Wesleyan University. An honor deservedly bestowed. The same University also conferred the degree upon Rev. Geo. S. Davis, superintendent Bulgaria Mission; Rev. P. S. Merrill, Omaha; and Rev. J. O. Hartsock, of the Baltimore Conference.

—Chadlock College has conferred the degree of D. D. upon Rev. Thos. J. Wheat, pastor of Trinity Church, Quincy, Ill.; Rev. Peter DeClark, of Oakland, Neb.; and Rev. Bernard Kelly, Topeka, Kans. It also conferred the degree of A. M. pro merito upon Rev. David F. Howe, of Jacksonville, Ills.

DAILY BREAD.

That path with humble speed I'll seek,
In which my Saviour's footsteps shine,
Nor will I hear, nor will I speak,
Of any other love but Thine.
Nothing on earth do I desire
But Thy pure love within my breast;
This, only this, will I require,
And freely give up all the rest.
—Charles Wesley.

Make no engagements for those evenings when services are held in the church.

Be at church on time. Bow the head with reverence when you enter. Expect a blessing. Pray, meditate, consecrate for it.

Let nothing induce you to speak disparagingly of your church, your pastor, your family, your city, your leaders. Sustain them all.

The matter is short; all things in divine worship must be done decently and in order. Two must never pray at the same time, nor interrupt one another.—John Wesley.

My dear brother.—Always take advice or reproof as a favor; it is the surest mark of love.

I advised you once and you took it as an affront; nevertheless, I will do it once more.—John Wesley.

You do not understand my manner of life. Though I am always in haste, I am never in a hurry; because I never undertake any more than I can go through with perfect calmness of spirit.—John Wesley.

Taking opium is full as bad as taking drugs. It equally hurts the understanding, and is, if possible, more pernicious to health than even rum or brandy. None should touch it if they have the least regard either for their souls or bodies.—John Wesley.

O, ye lovers of money, hear the word of the Lord! Suppose ye, that money, though multiplied as the sands of the sea, can give you happiness? Then you are given up to a strong delusion, to believe a lie—a palpable lie—confuted daily by a thousand experiments.—John Wesley.

How happy a boy should be who finds a good habit of any kind growing stronger every day! It is easy for one to tell for himself just how he stands, if he will only look sharply at his goings and comings, and see with what feeling he goes about his daily duties. "He that hath clean hands shall be stronger." One cannot have his hands clean from sin unless the thoughts flow in the right channels. They do make channels for themselves in which they habitually flow just as surely the water courses.—Selected.

Bishop Weaver was the first one in a family of thirteen to seek Christ, but not finding peace he joined the church as a seeker. His father was at this time not a Christian, and he was not afraid to tell what he had done. As he himself tells the story: "One day we were in the barn together, and all of a sudden he said to me: 'Jonathan, I understand you joined the church.' It went through me like a knife, for I did not know what would come next. But to my surprise he said: 'Well, as you have started I want you to stick to it.' That gave me courage. I was at the mourners' bench seventeen times. It was six months after I started before I found peace. Sometimes I would get discouraged, but my father's words, 'Stick to it,' still rang in my ears. And I can still hear my father's words urging me to 'stick to it.'"—Selected.

The fabric of christian character has for its foundation-stones two great, living truths—holiness of heart and holiness of life. One can not exist without the other. There can be no shadow without the substance. Holiness of heart produces a holy living. The life is but the index of the heart. The world must judge the heart by the life. It looks at the shadow, and conjectures as to the nature of the substance. If Christ lives in the heart, his Spirit must have a manifestation in the life. By their fruit ye shall know them. The greatness of your influence for God and the church will ever run parallel to the greatness of your purity and holiness of life. And therefore you should "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven."—Selected.

Notice how many good things they have who believe in Jesus. They have everlasting life. The light of life. Hope toward God. A conscience void of offense. Peace with God. Access to this grace wherein they stand. Fruit unto holiness. The first fruits of the Spirit. The Holy Ghost within them. A building of God, a house not made with hands. All-sufficiency in all things. God's promises, exceeding great and precious. Redemption through Christ. Access by one Spirit unto the Father. A desire to depart and be with Christ, which is far better than to stay here. They have the same love. The promise of the life that now is, and also of that to come. A great high priest that has passed into the heavens. Hope as an anchor of the soul. A strong consolation. Boldness to enter into the holiness. Fellowship with Jesus. An advocate with the Father. Boldness in the day of judgment.—Selected.

Hymns 726, 733, 679.
Scripture Lesson, Hebrews 6.
Text, Heb. 6: 19: Which hope we have as an anchor of the soul, both sure and steadfast.

Introduction.—The apostle who wrote the text had made many journeys by sea and land.

In his sea voyages he had seen many storms and tempests.

He had become familiar with the use of anchors. He knew that they were of great service when near the shore.

When the winds threatened to drive the ship upon the sand-bars, or upon the rocks it was always the anchor that the sailors depended upon to save them.

Now the apostle says, that the hope of the christian serves the same purpose as the anchor of the sailor.

It saves him from making shipwreck.

It keeps him from being driven upon the rocks of destruction.

Hope is made up of expectation and desire.

We may expect things we do not desire.

We may expect to lose property or friends or health but do not desire it.

We may expect trials and persecutions but do not desire them.

We may desire things that we do not expect. We may desire many earthly things that we do not expect.

When we desire certain things and when we have good reason to expect that we shall secure them, then it may be said that we hope for them.

Only the real christian can have the christian's hope spoken of in the text.

I. What then does the christian desire and expect, or in other words, what does he hope for?

(a) He hopes for the gracious help of God in all the experiences of life.

He is already a christian and knows God in the pardon of his sins.

Hence he does not hope that God will forgive him, for by faith he knows that he does. He has the witness in himself. But he hopes for the help of God, and the comforts of his love in his soul.

(b) In trials, in his business life, in his family life, in his personal life.

Which come from his own friends and associates. From Satan.

(c) In afflictions. When dear ones are taken from us.

When property is lost.

(d) In prosperity. It often takes more of God's help to keep us in prosperity than adversity.

(e) In sickness and death. God will never forsake us if we are true to him.

II. This hope of the christian is sure and steadfast.

(a) Sometimes the sailor's anchor does not hold. The anchor itself may break. The cables sometimes break.

The christian's hope will never fail so long as his faith continues.

The christian's hope is as sure as the promises of Almighty God.

The promises of God cover every hour of need, cover every hour of temptation, cover every hour of sorrow. We ought to commit these promises to memory, in that we may always have them at hand.

III. Without the christian's hope the soul will be lost forever.

(a) We may have knowledge and education, but they will not save us.

(b) We may have friends and wealth but they cannot save us.

(d) Neither good men nor holy angels can save us.

It is the christian's hope that will cheer and sustain the soul in life and in death.

Finally the poorest, and weakest, and most wicked may have this blessed hope if they will only turn from sin and believe in the Lord Jesus Christ.

Obituary.

Pine Bluff, Ark.—Miss M. E. Tolbert was born in Mansfield, La., in 1849. She came with her mother, Mrs. Phillis Carolina, and settled near Rosedale, La., in 1870. She then became acquainted with Rev. G. W. Lacey. She was led by him to the altar May 23, 1873. She then traveled with him to all of his appointments in the State of Louisiana, and in 1888, when Rev. G. W. Lacey was transferred to the Little Rock Conference, she left her mother and friends and followed him to his new field of labor. She was confined to her bed six months, in the city of Pine Bluff. May 22, a. m., she fell asleep. Just before she died she shouted and said, "I am going home to rest from my labor." Her funeral was conducted by her pastor, Rev. John Qualls, assisted by Revs. C. H. Taylor, J. E. Toombs, G. N. Johnson, and A. J. Burrell of the A. M. E. Church.

John W. Stephenson, secretary, has furnished us with resolutions of condolence adopted by the Protective Association, expressive of their regret in their loss, by death, of their pastor and president, Rev. J. Thompson of Tennessee. Bro. Stephenson failed to state the name of the place from which he writes.

Gonzales, Tex.—Bro. Geo. Moore died May 23, aged 23 years. He leaves a wife, two children, mother, several sisters and brothers, and a host of friends to mourn. The funeral was attended by Rev. J. J. Collins.

Mrs. Collins.

Waynesboro, Miss.—Sister Mary Moore, a faithful and consistent Christian for 35 years, departed this life at the age of 59. Her last words were, "Don't grieve after me, but meet me in heaven." She leaves five children and a husband to mourn. Her funeral was attended by the writer.

A. Butler, P. C.

Alexandria, La.—Sister Georgia Garrett departed this life in full triumph May 12, after an illness of three weeks. She leaves a husband and many relatives to mourn her departure.

A. J. Ford, P. C.

Forest, Miss.—Sister Sophie Heslop departed this life April 24, in full triumph of faith, aged 70 years. She was a faithful servant of God.

P. R. Crump, P. C.

Little Beard, whose death was published as occurring at Lafayette, was at Camptie instead.

Oakland, Texas.—Sister Martha C. Cooper, wife of Rev. E. E. Cooper, was born near Memphis, Tenn., where she also professed religion and joined the C. M. E. Church. They were married Dec. 30, 1869. The moved to Texas in 1875, and joined the M. E. Church under the pastorate of Rev. A. R. Norris, at La-Grange. For more than 21 years she was his faithful helpmeet. She departed this life in triumph June 3. She lived a true Christian. She leaves a husband and eleven children to mourn her departure. She prayed and worked for the education of her children. It was her cherished desire that they might be educated. She bade us good-by, but we expect to meet her again. Her funeral was attended by the writer, and Revs. E. Cogswell, W. H. Stevens and P. Johnson. A great procession followed her to her last resting place.

A. M. Mason, P. C.

Victoria, Texas.—Sister Kittie Andrews departed this life June 8, aged 47 years. In 1871 she was converted under Rev. Allen, and was baptized the following year by Rev. J. G. Webster. From that time until her death she was a devoted Christian and member of the Webster M. E. Church. Her last words were, "Jesus can make a dying bed feel soft as downy pillows are." Her funeral was conducted by the pastor, assisted by Rev. H. Swann, Presiding Elder of the San Antonio District. She leaves a husband, several children, and a host of friends to mourn her loss.

B. F. Smith, P. C.

Paulding, Miss.—Sister Amanda McCouliant departed this life May 30, in full triumph of faith.

Sister Louise Anna Cook, a member of Spring Hill Church, departed this life June 6.

M. Cooper, P. C.

Belton, Texas.—Sister Fannie Crawford, wife of Rev. P. V. Crawford, departed this life April 19, in full triumph of faith, aged 38 years. She was a member of the M. E. Church 19 years. She rendered valuable aid in founding Mt. Zion M. E. Church at Belton, Texas. Her last words were, "My time has come. Thank God, I must go." She leaves a dear husband, five children, a kind father and mother, two sisters and a host of friends to mourn, while angels rejoice at heaven's gain. The funeral was conducted by the pastor.

J. H. Swann, P. C.

Why does this man stare so? He is simply listening to the marvelous cures effected by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

The following case illustrates:

February 14th, 1890.
WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N. Y.

Gentlemen—A remarkable case has occurred in our territory. J. N. Berry, a man about thirty years of age, was going down rapidly. He tried physician after physician, patent medicines, home receipts—in fact, everything. He went to a noted sanitarium and returned no better. He was thought to be dying with consumption, and only a few weeks of life were left for him.

He commenced "Golden Medical Discovery," and at the same time commenced to mend. He has used about two dozen bottles, and is still using it. He has gained in weight, color and strength, and is able to do light work. It is just such a case as we should have listened to rather auspiciously, but when we see it we must believe it.

It has trebled our sales of "Golden Medical Discovery."

City Church Notes.

[Brief items of news from the city churches will be welcome either handed us by pastors or laymen.]

Last Monday night an entertainment was given at Union Chapel, for the purpose of raising money to pay their organist. Mrs. O. Oglevie favored us with complimentary tickets.

Rev. F. T. Chinn, although now serving his fifth year at Wesley Chapel, is so fertile and original in his plans to interest and edify his people, that he is quite as influential in that very important charge as ever. Bro. A. A. Goins writes us of how Bro. Chinn infused extraordinary interest in his class meeting last week, in the adoption of one such plan. He expounded II King 10, ch. 15. Then he had one of the sisters to give her views of the words, which was followed by the singing of a suitable hymn. The same process was carried out through all the classes. The result was a shower of spiritual power which all enjoyed. Bro. Chinn is determined that no service and no church shall die in his hands. Go thou and do likewise.

The committee appointed from First Street Church on the Old Folks' Home, have raised $22.50, and paid it over to Rev. J. W. Hilton, President. T. G. Montgomery, P. C.

The second quarterly conference at First Street M. E. Church was held June 9. The Presiding Elder's address was very encouraging. Paid Presiding Elder, $20. The superintendent reported a new Sunday school with 48 scholars. The steward reported $450 collected this quarter. Paid the Rev. E. Lyon, Sunday School Agent, $10 for his services. Having been appointed Missionary Agent on the South New Orleans District, I hope the brethren will have all of their mission money by the district conference.

The financial rally at LaHarpe Street Church, Rev. A. J. Pickett pastor, next Sunday, promises to be the grandest ever held there. The following ministers and congregations are expected to assist: Revs. M. Brown, D. Greggs, Thos. Columbus, Garrison, D. J. Price, J. H. Holmes, Gedridge, Frank Walker, Turner, W. Brown, J. W. Hudson, S. Davage, I. H. Hall, E. Clark, T. A. Wilson, Page, Dunningham, Eaton and R. B. Baily.

a Presbyterian school for colored children, all the white professors, save one, have resigned, rather than serve under him. This is a most shameful spectacle. If able and cultured colored ladies and gentlemen can serve under white presidents, why can't white ones serve under, equally competent colored presidents? Shame upon such hateful personifications of wicked prejudices.

THE pseudo national convention of the American Citizen's Equal Rights Association at Cincinnati, Ohio, May 4th was anything but a success, and could lay no claim to a representative body. Very few, if any state organizations, participated in its deliberation. It is a great pity that such have been the facts in the case. And more than this it was a fatal blunder for the few accredited delegates who happened there to have added to their number every willing sojourner in Cincinnati into their convention (!) as a representative from his state; and with that unconstitutional quorum to proceed to onst all the national and state officials of the organization, and to substitute in their places, men that were not delegates to that body. Shame on such dishonest demagogery!

THE Patriotic Order Sons of America, and the American Benevolent and Mutual Aid Association, will formally celebrate our natal day at West End, July 4, by a concert, fireworks, amusements, etc. Wesley Chapel, Rev. F. T. Chinn, pastor, will observe it with a picnic at Loeper's Park.

The importance of purifying the blood cannot be overestimated, for without pure blood you cannot enjoy good health.

At this season nearly every one needs a good medicine to purify, vitalize, and enrich the blood, and we ask you to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. It strengthens and builds up the system, creates an appetite, and tones the digestion, while it cures disease. The peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation of the vegetable remedies used give to Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiar curative powers. No other medicine has such a record of wonderful cures. If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other instead. It is a Peculiar Medicine, and is worthy your confidence.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

AT REST.

In memory of Mrs. Mary McShup, wife of Rev. H. Heslop.

Beautiful toiler, thy work all done.
Beautiful soul into glory gone.
Beautiful life with its crown now won,
God giveth thee rest.
Rest from all sorrows, and watching,
and fears.
Rest from all possible sighing and tears.
Rest through God's endless wonderful years—
At home with the blest.

Beautiful spirit, free from all stain.
Ours the heartache, the sorrow and pain.
Thine is the glory and infinite gain—
Thy slumber is sweet.
Peace on the brow and the eyelids so calm.
Peace in the heart 'neath the white,
folded palms,
Peace dropping down like a wondrous balm,
From the head to the feet.

"It was so sudden," our white lips
said,
"How we shall miss her, the beautiful dead, Who'll take the place of the precious one fled?
But God knoweth best.
We know He watches the sparrows that fall,
Hears the sad cry of the grieved hearts that call,
Friends, husband, children. He loveth them all—
We can trust for the rest."

Drink.

Water was undoubtedly intended by the Creator as the drink of man. kind, but among the so-called civilized races many people seem to use as little of it as possible.

Notwithstanding the abundance of water the absolutely pure article is seldom seen outside of the laboratory of the chemist, but we can with a little care obtain that which is sufficiently pure for practical purposes. We obtain it from rivers, lakes, springs, wells, and from snow and rain.

If rain water is used for drinking or cooking purposes, cisterns that contain it should be well ventilated and thoroughly cleaned. River water, especially after heavy rains, contains a considerable amount of earthy matter which should be allowed to settle or the water filtered before using.

Spring water in the neighborhood of cities and villages, particularly in limestone regions, though attractive to the eye and taste holds in solution organic impurities that are injurious to the health, and water from such springs should be boiled before drinking, in order to destroy disease germs which it may contain.

Water from wells located near stables, vaults, barnyards or cemeteries, is liable to become contaminated and unfit for household use.
The bacteria that produces typhoid fever frequently enters the system by means of water taken from these polluted wells.

Hard water, unless it contains an excessive amount of mineral matter, is not particularly unwholesome, and it is considered by some writers more healthy than pure water, as it contains materials needed by the system, in building up certain structures of the body.

The use of tea and coffee is almost universal in this country. The inhabitants of the United States annually consume, over one pound of tea and six pounds of coffee for each person; in California, the average amount of coffee is twenty pounds.

Authorities are not yet agreed as to the exact physiological influence and value of tea and coffee.
They are supposed by some to retard excessive waste of tissue, while others entertain an exactly opposite opinion. If taken too often in excessive quantities, they have an injurious effect on the nervous system. Tea is said to act most on the brain, while coffee stimulates the spinal chord and nerve centers of organic life.

Dr. Buck, in his work on hygiene says: "That from their wide-spread use, it might be inferred that they supply some hidden want of our nature, and experience and experiments have confirmed such inference. The chief effects observed are, a feeling of refreshment especially after fatigue, and a capacity for further mental and physical effort." Dr. Hayes testifies as to their beneficial effects in enabling men to endure cold and hardship in arctic regions.

I HAVE been a sufferer from catarrh for years. Having tried a number of remedies advertised as "sure cures" without obtaining any relief, I had resolved never to take any other patent medicines, when a friend advised me to try Ely's Cream Balm. I did so with great reluctance, but can now testify that after using it for six weeks I believe myself cured. It is a most agreeable remedy—an invaluable balm.—Joseph Stewart, 624 Grand permitted to vote unless he is registered. To wait later is to run the risk of being deprived of the privilege.

LADIES

Feeding a tonic, or children that want building up, should take
BROWN'S IRON BITTERS.
It is pleasant to take, cures Malaria, Indigestion, and Biliousness. All dealers keep it.

Catarrh Cured.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease Catarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy, at last found a prescription which completely cured and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to Prof. J. A. Lawrence, 88 Warren street, New York, will receive the receipt free of charge.

Our Symposium.

New Orleans has been sowing to the wind all these years. Upon the merest pretext, inoffensive blacks and distasteful whites have been shot down or strung up, and the citizens have openly or tacitly approved. What was this but advertising the city as a rendezvous of assassins and inviting them thither? Louisiana is inoculated with the lottery virus; and through long years has made the law contemptible in the eyes of the people.
It was just the place for private detective agencies and "jury fixers."
The city was crucified between the corruptionists and the mob. It stands self confessed, impotent to enforce law and to prevent outrage.
We are no longer an isolated people. We are in the world-system of international affairs. We can not hide behind the unexploded dogma of state's rights. The United States must clothe itself with power sufficient to deal with nations as a nation, and to enforce its treaty obligations.—Northwestern.

The plot to Romanize this country goes bravely on. Having expelled the Bible from the public schools, in order that there might be a basis for the claim that those schools are "godless," having issued an order that Romanist parents shall place their children in parochial schools, and having secured Romanist teachers in the public schools to instruct Protestant children who remain in those schools, that church now proposes to practically annex large portions of the United States by colonization.—N. W. Christian Advocate.

The Supreme Court of the United States, May 25, sustained unanimously the constitutionality of the act of Congress passed last year to do away with the consequences of the decision of April, 1890, the effect of which was to legalize the sale of liquor manufactured in another state and brought in the original packages into a Prohibition state for sale.—Christian Advocate.

Young ministers must go to school.
Moaning, groaning and reading about in spots in the Bible are not an evidence of your fitness for the ministry.—Baptist Speaker.

The Republican party have not and could not have elected a single President since Grant without the colored vote, and unless they have that vote next year they will enter a hopeless contest. This may not be a pleasant bit of information for the white Republican bosses, but it is amply backed up by facts and figures, which some colored men are able to understand and analyze.—American Baptist.

Letters from the Laity.

P. H. Rembert, Brookhaven, Miss.

Sunday May 17th we had a grand basket meeting for the purpose of raising money to erect a shed for camp meeting purposes. Our camp meeting will convene here July 23.
We had a large attendance from the friends and members of the different churches, and Rev. A.
Davis, P. E., of our church at Crystal Springs was with us. Collection, $41.10. God bless our Sunday school for contributing $6.50 in this collection. I hope we will be able to have our dear editor Rev. A. E. P. Albert present during our camp meeting in July.

A note from the trustees of our church at Waycross, Ga., says:

The bishop sent us the proper man this year in the person of Rev.
J. H. Smith. When he arrived here things looked dark and gloomy.
Every time he preaches some soul comes to Christ. This is also told at Watertown. Both churches are well pleased with their pastor.
Sixty days ago our pastor announced that he wanted to build a new church at Waycross. He laid out his plans and named the fourth Sunday to raise the collection. We are happy to say the result was $259.60 raised for the purposes on that day. Many of our white friends gave $10 a piece. We were assisted in the services by Prof. Snelson, principal of the high school of this place and his students.

The following each contributed $10, viz: Pastor, J. R. White, W.
Thomas, Mitchell Blackston, Steer Roberts; contributing $5
each, pastor's wife, John Ellis,
Mrs. John Ellis, John Numa, Susan Smith, Anna Richardson, Chaney Numor $3, Lettie Richardson $2,
Dora Miller $1.50, Amanda Leneon
$1.50, Lucinda Scott $1.20, Mary Mays $1.25. The following each contributed $1, viz: Addeline Mays, Rebecca Wheeler, Frank Numor, Peggie Numor, Lucinda Hy. Smith,
Anna Butler, J. M. Ponder, Lela
Williams, Willie Brown, Willie
Anderson, J. C. Fowndry, W. H.
Skinner, Ed. Clayton, J. J. Mathis,
J. H. Leneon, Mary A. Beal, Rev.
F. Snelson, Charity McQueer, Ad-deline Incarterman.

Laura H. Allen, Dallas, Texas.

Our quarterly conference convened at St. Paul M. E. Church, Saturday and Sunday May 9 and 10. Presiding Elder Rev. A. Foster conducted the services. Our pastor Rev. A. Jackson is laboring very hard in building a new brick church here.

THE BEST
APERIENT

In modern pharmacy is, undoubtedly, Ayer's Cathartic Pills. Except in extreme cases, physicians have abandoned the use of drastic purgatives, and recommend a milder, but no less effective medicine. The favorite is Ayer's Pills, the superior medicinal virtues of which have been certified to under the official seals of state chemists, as well as by hosts of eminent doctors and pharmacists. No other pill so well supplies the demand of the general public for a safe, certain, and agreeable family medicine.

"Ayer's Pills are the best medicine I ever used; and in my judgment no better general remedy was."

Ever Devised

I have used them in my family and caused them to be used among my friends and employes for more than twenty years. To my certain knowledge many cases of the following complaints have been completely and permanently cured by the use of Ayer's Pills:
Third day chills, dumb ague, bilious fever, sick headache, rheumatism, flux, dyspepsia, constipation, and hard colic. I know that a moderate use of Ayer's Pills, continued for a few days or weeks, as the nature of the complaint required, would be found an absolute cure for the disorders I have named above.—J. O. Wilson, Contractor and Builder, Sulphur Springs, Texas.

"For eight years I was afflicted with constipation, which at last became so bad that the doctors could do no more for me. Then I began to take

Ayer's Pills

and soon the bowels recovered their natural regular action, so that now I am in excellent health."—Wm. H. McLaurett, Dorset, Ontario.

"Ayer's Pills are the best cathartic I ever used in my practice."—J. T. Sparks, M. D., Yeddo, Ind.

Our Children's Legion.

For Our Boys and Girls.

BY UNCLE CEPHAS.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I am a little girl 13 years of age. I go to Sunday school every Sunday. I am a member of the M. E. Church. I have no mother nor father. I live with my uncle. He takes the SOUTHWESTERN. I love to read it very much.

Your Niece,
AGNES GADSON.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I am a girl 12 years of age. I have not written to you before. I thought I would write. I attend Sunday school. I have to go to our blessed Sabbath school. My mama takes the SOUTHWESTERN. Mama and papa are members of the M. E. Church. I have three sisters.

Your Niece,
OLIVIA HEGLER.

Martin, Tenn.

Dear Uncle Cephas: This is my first letter to the Children's Legion. I go to every day school. My teacher is Mr. S. S. Riley, of Flatonia, Texas. In answer to W. Y. Bradford's question. The Old Bible contains 23,214 verses. I wish to ask my cousins a question. How many letters in the New Testament? Also how many chapters in the Old Testament? My teacher takes the good old SOUTHWESTERN, and I enjoy reading the letters from different ones. I am a girl 14 years old.

Your Niece,
LIZZIE SMALLS.

Stonewall, La.

Dear Uncle Cephas: I am a little girl 12 years old. Since I wrote to you last, mama has been sick with pneumonia, but she is up again. I have a very nice school teacher; her name is Mrs. A. M. Dunlop, also a nice Sunday school teacher; her name is Miss Malvina Parker. Mama takes the SOUTHWESTERN. It seems as if the boys and girls of our city are not brave enough to write. I like to see brave boys and girls.

Your Niece,
KATIE SIMPSON.

Louisville, Ky.

Books and Current Literature.

The American Law Register, and Current Comment on Legal Miscellany are two of the best legal publications in this country. We most cordially commend them to the legal fraternity, and to all interested in that direction. Per year, $1; single copy, 10c. D. B. Canfield Company, Philadelphia, Pa.

Harper & Brothers announce for publication in June, Unhappy Loves of Men of Genius, by Thomas Hitchcock.

Captain Charles King, U. S. A., contributed to Harper's Young People for June 2, a stirring story of adventure and Indian warfare, entitled Corporal Pops.

We have carefully scanned Mrs. Dr. O. V. R. Albert's book, entitled The House of Bondage, and pronounced it a valuable addition to the literature of Afro-Americans. It is natural, clear, concise and graphic. We found it indeed so fascinating as not to be able to lay it aside, until we had devoured the last line.

Mrs. Albert has gathered carefully some of the most striking incidents of slave times, and clothed them into such language as to charm the reader. We have witnessed many similar happenings, and can therefore add our affirmation that this is not fiction but fact.—Christian Recorder.

The seventh Biennial Report of the State Historical Society, 1888-1890 makes a splendid exhibit of the marvelous growth of that institution. It is doing for Kansas what few societies of like character have thus far succeeded in doing in any of the other states. The library now contains 12,231 bound volumes; 35,561 unbound volumes, and 10,134 bound newspaper files; in all 57,926 volumes.

An Unprecedented Offer!

We have made arrangements with the Chicago Manufacturing Company to supply one of their first-class Singer machines for only $14 cash. We will order a machine like the one here shown, and send the SOUTHWESTERN a full year besides! It is a handsome oil-polished walnut, of latest design. Gothic cover, with beautiful panels, four end drawers and a swing drawer, nickel-plated, and warranted five years.

Each Machine is furnished with the following equipment: One Foot Hemmer, One Oil Can with Oil, One Gauge, and Screw, One Extra Check Spring, One Package of Needles, Five Bobbins, One Ticker, One Foot Ruler, One Set of Plate Hemmers, four different widths up to seven-eighths of an inch, One Binder and One Thread Cutter, The Improved Tension and Thread Liberator is used on this Machine. The manufacturers offer to refund the money if purchaser is not fully satisfied with the machine.

We receive many letters inquiring about the sewing machine premium, and how to obtain it. In order that all may understand the matter, we state in addition to the announcement, that remittances should be made to Hunt & Eaton, 139 Poydras street, either by check, money order, or by express, naming the nearest or most convenient freight depot to which it is to be sent. Then we order the factory in Chicago to ship the machine. The company ships it, and receives from the railroad a bill of lading which, with the warranty, is sent to us, and which we send to the subscriber. This bill of lading is good and sufficient evidence that the machine has been forwarded, and holds the railroad company responsible for its safe delivery at the station named as its destination, and in due time, save unavoidable delays. In case of its loss the railroad which caused its loss is responsible, under the laws of the land. If not arriving in due time, show the bill of lading to the station agent and he will look it up. Don't give up the bill of lading, but it may be shown to the railroad agent. All orders are sent the same day as received, and the bill of lading is sent to the subscriber the same day we get it. We started this scheme with a view to helping our patrons, and shall carefully and faithfully carry out our part of the agreement in every case.

The New Orleans Picayune is one of the newest and most reliable papers published. Its Editorials are judicious and timely; it gives all the news without fear or favor; its Associated Press and Special Southern Telegrams cover all important Foreign and Domestic News; its Commercial and Market Reports are complete and are accepted standards; its Letters from New York and Paris, and the Special Contributions of Pearl Rivers, Catharine Cole, Mollie Moore Davis, Jennie Jones, Marie Points and others are unfailing sources of interest and information and are of a high order of literary merit. The Picayune is printed in clear, new type, of size sufficient to be read without straining the eye.

To keep abreast of the times and know all worth knowing that a newspaper should tell, send Three Dollars for three months' subscription to the Daily Picayune, or subscribe for its splendid Weekly Edition at One Dollar a year. The Weekly is sixteen pages, and is issued every Thursday morning to reach all subscribers before Sunday.

A LIFE SAVED!

READ THE TWO STATEMENTS.

An Extraordinary Case!

NEW ORLEANS, LA., Nov. 23, 1890.

Last April 1 was attacked with Chagres Fever in Spanish Honduras and was given up to die by two physicians. During that spell and since I have had a pound of quinine and quantities of other medicines without any benefit. From three to four days every week I have been down and have suffered untold agonies. Between these spells I could scarcely walk more than two blocks at a time. I did not expect to live through the coming winter. Ten days ago I commenced using Dr. King's Royal Remedy. I have had no fever since. All the symptoms have entirely disappeared. I have no pain or trouble of any kind. Am gaining strength very fast. Can walk miles at a time. My sudden and rapid improvement is simply wonderful. Germenier has been a God send to me. I can not say too much in its praise. Any who wish to do so may call on me.

DANIEL PAPPOU,
481 Jersey Street.

NEW ORLEANS, June 1, 1891.

My improvement continued, and soon after writing the above statement I was able to go to work and have been working ever since. My health is now perfect. I never felt better in my life. I give this testimony gladly, because I know that Germenier saved my life.

DANIEL PAPPOU.

Chagres Fever is known to be not only a most dangerous form of sickness, but also very difficult to cure. Germenier has been tried on a number of cases. In every known instance it has cured quickly and completely. It has a similar record as a remedy for Swamp Fever and Malarial troubles of all kinds. Properly used, it is the quickest and most infallible remedy for Fever of all kinds. Dyspepsia, Debility, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Diarrhea, Dysentery and all diseases of the Blood and Skin.

These claims are sustained by evidences from thousands of the best people in the country, and the evidences multiply in our midst every day.

For sale by druggists and country merchants, and at the Germenier office, 202 Canal street, New Orleans. For full information, circulars, etc., call on or address K. Williams, Agent, 202 Canal street. $1 bottle; six bottles for $5.

Cured After Thirty-two Years.

MILWAUKEE, May 25, 1891.

I am personally acquainted with a man who (in the year 1878, then forty-four years of age) commenced to take your medicine for epilepsy, which he had had for thirty-two years. The attacks which he had formerly every four weeks diminished as soon as he took your medicine and disappeared entirely after August, 1880. The man is so healthy now that he can attend to his business without fear. By this wonderful cure a large family has been made happy, and of this he is convinced and gladly testifies.

M. Isa. 28. 1-8. Th. Isa. 28. 9-18.
W. Eph. 2. 13-22. Th. 1 Cor. 3. 11-23. F. Hos. 6. 1-6. S. Matt. 24. 42-51. S. Rom. 8. 1-9.

GOLDEN TEXT.

Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? (1 Cor. 6-9.)

LESSON HYMN, S. M.

Mourn for the thousands slain,
The youthful and the strong;
Mourn for the wine-cup's fearful reign,
And the deluded throng.

Mourn for the lost,—but call,
Call to the strong, the free;
Rouse them to shun that dreadful fall,
And to the refuge flee.

Mourn for the lost,—but pray,
Pray to our God above,
To break the fell destroyer's sway,
And show his saving love.

THE LESSON CATECHISM.

[For the entire school.]

1. To what does God liken the drunken pleasures of those who "are overcome with wine?" To a fading flower.

2. To what does God liken the wisdom, rectitude, and strength which he offers his people? To a diadem of beauty.

3. What does the prophet hold forth as the chief cause of crime and error? Wine and strong drink.

4. In what way does he say children should be taught the principles of holiness and temperance? By precept upon precept, line upon line.

5. What awful question does Paul ask concerning those who indulge in wrong habits? Golden Text. "Know ye not," etc.

Doctrinal Suggestion.—The judgment of God.

There's a patent medicine which is not a patent medicine—paradoxical as that may sound. It's a discovery! the golden discovery of medical science! It's the medicine for you—tired, run-down, exhausted, nerve-wasted men and women; for you sufferers from diseases of skin or scalp, liver or lungs—its chance is with every one, its season always, because it aims to purify the fountain of life—the blood—upon which all such diseases depend. The medicine is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The makers of it have enough confidence in it to sell it on trial. That is—you can get it from your druggist, and if it doesn't do what it's claimed to do, you can get your money back, every cent of it.

That's what its makers call taking the risk of their words.

Tiny, little, sugar-coated granules, are what Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are. The best Liver Pills ever invented; active, yet mild in operation; cure sick and bilious headaches. One a dose.

PONDER the words of General Grant. He said: "I never dared seek promotion. I was afraid if I did I might get into a position whose responsibilities I could not meet."

General Grant, who feared not the face of clay, was afraid of something, then. No greater calamity can befall a man—save utter moral wreck—than to succeed in hoisting himself into a position whose responsibilities he can not meet, and where he will be a perpetual disappointment to the allies who helped to place him there. Such men can not avoid the destiny that awaits them. History will sternly point them to the "lowest place at last." Thither they must go. Men of all professions will do well to remember the words of General Grant: "I was afraid if I sought promotion I might get into a position whose responsibilities I could not meet."—World Wide Missions.

No one who reads the Michigan Christian Advocate week after week, can help from being impressed with the deep interest that it takes in the education of our people in the South. The result of Dr. Pott's visit to our section is shown in the deep interest that has been inspired in our behalf through his paper. Let others of our editors visit our Southern work. We are sure it will redound to the general good. Dr. Parkhurst's visit did worlds of good throughout New England, through Zions' Herald.

THE Sixth Annual Session of the Lone Star Medical Association will be held in the City of Victoria, Texas, July 1, and continue in session until the 3d. The program is very interesting, and the session promises to be an excellent one. Officers of the association: President, Dr. G. R. Townsend, Victoria. Vice-president, Dr. L. M. Wilkins, Galveston. Secretary, Dr. M. J. Snowden, Marshall. Treasurer, Dr. G. J. Starnes, San Antonio.

THE Presiding Elders' Convention is not a Colored Presiding Elders' Convention, but a convention of Presiding Elders of the colored work, and all others who may attend. I approve of it, for I think it will bring about a unification in our work and be productive of much good for Methodism. Success to the convention.—A. S. Amos, pastor of Friendship M. E. Church, Wattsville, Va., D. laware Annual Conference.

What Does It Mean?

"100 Doses One Dollar" means simply that Hood's Sarsaparilla is the most economical medicine to buy, because it gives more for the money than any other preparation. Each bottle contains 100 doses and will average to last a month, while other preparations, taken according to directions, are gone in a week. Therefore, be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla, the best blood purifier.

Camp Meeting and District Conference.

There will be a grand camp meeting and district conference on the Marlins Circuit, Texas, at St. Paul M. E. Church, on Deer Creek. The camp meeting begins July 30, and the district conference August 4, at the same place. All the preachers of the district are invited to attend the camp meeting. Come to Waco and take the Arranhs Pass Railway, and that will bring you to the De-range crossing, one mile below the station of Chilton. This crossing is near the church where the meeting will be held. If any propose coming by the way of Marlin, they will please write in time, so that I may have conveyance there for them. Marlin is about ten miles from where the conference will be held, and all that come that way must be at Marlin on August 3 for that will be the day that I will send for them. Address me, 603 South 7th street, Waco, Texas.

G. NORMAN, P. C.

Editorial Notes.

That path with limbo speed I'll seek,
In which my Saviour's footsteps shine,
Nor will I hear, nor will I speak,
Of any other love but Thine.
Nothing on earth do I desire
But Thy pure love within my breast;
This, only this, will I require,
And freely give up all the rest.
—Charles Wesley.

THE dance, the theatre, the card table and the saloon, are among the devil's most effective weapons, for the destruction of vital religion and the church. No christian can countenance them without sin.

In his excellent article in Zion's Herald, on "The Reconstruction of Methodist Theology," Dr. Meuden hall advocates such reconstruction. Nevertheless, "Methodist theology needs less reconstruction than any other and is workable and preachable."

WE will send the SOUTHWESTERN to any address, the balance of the year for 75 cents. Now is the time for our pastors to make a special rally for six months subscribers. Come now, brethren, push your paper to the largest possible circulation on your charge

THERE is a Presiding Elder down South who brings to the attention of the quarterly conferences the Advocate and its circulation. Send that Elder up here. We will give him a district.—Michigan Christian Advocate.

That's the only kind we have down here; and we can't spare them either.

PRESIDING Elders must bear in mind that lay delegates must be elected, in their fourth quarterly conferences this year, to attend the Lay Electoral conferences, to elect delegates to the next General Conference. It would be well too for them to begin at once to raise their apportionments for the entertainment of the next General Conference.

QUOTING our article in which we criticized the action of nearly all the Southern States in refusing the Congressional appropriation for agricultural and mechanical colleges, rather than submit to let colored students share equally in the appropriation, Dr. Moore, in his paper, the Western, says:

"Northmen who wish to have a reliable representation of the condition of the colored man in the Gulf States, can not do better than to subscribe for the SOUTHWESTERN, published at New Orleans, by Hunt & Eaton, at $2 per year, and edited by Rev. A. E. P. Albert, D. D., one of our best educated, most careful and fearless colored ministers."

Thanks. The paper is only $1.50 in advance.

Schools and Colleges.

Anniversary of the Gammon Alumni Association.

The first regular reunion and banquet of the Gammon Alumni Association was held in the Butler Street C. M. E. Church, Atlanta, Tuesday, May 12, 8 o'clock p. m., President J. R. Howard in the chair.

Rev. R. E. Hart, '89, gave the address of welcome. He is pastor of the church in which the exercises were held. His theme was the "Macedonian Cry," and it was well handled. Rev. J. W. Walker, '90, read an original poem, "The Man of God." A beautiful solo, "Thou art so near and yet so far," was sung by Miss Mary E. Moore, of the choir.

The Alumni orator, Prof. J. D. Chavis, A. M., B. D., '89, of Bennett College, delivered an address on "The Gospel of the World's only Civilizing and Elevating Agency." He handled his subject in a masterly manner. At the close of his speech, remarks were made by the Rev. C. B. Wilson, B. D., of Murfreesboro, Tenn., and also by President Thirkield.

In the regular business meeting of the Association, the class of twelve just graduated was received into membership.

The newly elected officers are: President, R. E. Hart; vice-president, R. Graham; secretary, J. R. Howard; treasurer, M. O. B. Mason, B. D.

One of the most important features of the meeting was the organization of an Alumni Endowment Scholarship, the purpose of which is to create a fund to aid worthy students in school who are in need of it. It was agreed that every member be assessed one dollar, and as much more as he can give, for this purpose. Those who have not paid are requested to send it as soon as possible to Rev. M. C. B. Mason, 54 Rawson street, Atlanta, Ga. The importance of this was impressed upon all members present. Brethren of Gammon, stand by the Association and its worthy object. Any further information can be had by addressing the secretary at Stockbridge, Ga. The Association closed the best meeting ever held in its history.

J. R. HOWARD, Sec'y.

WARREN EASTON, Supt.

Commencement at Central Tennessee College.

The commencement exercises of this institution began by the written examinations on May 18, and continued through the week.

On Sunday, the 24th, the annual college love feast took place at 9 o'clock, and was a season of very great spiritual profit; at 11 o'clock the baccalaureate sermon was preached by Prof. Sedgwick, from the text, "If thou knewest the gift of God, and who it is that sayest to thee, Give me to drink; thou wouldst ask of him and he would give thee living water." The leading thought of the speaker was, that we are often ignorant of the Divine presence, just as this woman was ignorant of the presence of the Messiah.

In the afternoon the usual Sunday school was held.

At night, the annual sermon was preached by Rev. C. B. Wilson, of Murfreesboro, from the text, "Why hast thou made me thus?" The leading thought was that God fits men for the places which they occupy, or which they should occupy, and was forcibly impressed upon the minds of the interested audience.

The public oral examinations took place Monday and Tuesday. On Monday night the Students' Endowment Association held its annual meeting, which was addressed by Rev. H. S. Berry, M. D., and H. Young, Esq.

On Tuesday night the graduating exercises of the law class took place. The addresses of the graduates, Mr. N. W. Parden and Mr. D. Gray, were quite superior, and were delivered in a style which indicated the ability of the speakers to command language. An address to the class was delivered by the Hon. S. A. McElwee, and was an excellent practical address. The degree of Bachelor of Law was conferred upon Mr. Parden. Mr. Gray not having completed the English studies, the degree was deferred.

On Wednesday night the addresses of the normal class were delivered, twelve in number: Lula E. Truman, Mattie Sharber, Sallie Rucker, James A. Price, Nannie E. Perkins, May Lizzie Green, William H. Cullum, Geo. W. Connel, Henry B. Oheairs, Sarah Butler, Wm. H. Buford, and Addie Bell.

On Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, the College Chapel was crowded with a deeply interested audience, who listened to the addresses of Mr. J. C. Lyte of the senior normal class, Miss Ida B. Evans of the philosophical class, and Mr. J. F. K. Moreland of the classical course. The addresses of these graduates were all of a high order, and commanded the attention of the audience, and were indicative of the most thorough preparation for the exercises of the day.

The president presented the diplomas to the normal class and conferred the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy on Miss Ida B. Evans, Bachelor of Liberal Arts on Mr. Moreland, and the degree of Master of Arts, pro merito, was conferred upon R. F. Boyd, A. B., M. D. The degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon Rev. Daniel Jones, of Lexington, Ky., and Rev. J. P. Hale, of Chicago, Ill.

The Alumni dinner in the afternoon was a most enjoyable occasion. There was a feast of good things, and after the repast there were speeches by the members of the Alumni Association and visitors, looking toward securing additional property for college purposes, and subscriptions amounting to several hundred dollars were secured. The Alumni Association met at night and was addressed by Rev. E. Tyree, Mr. G. T. Abbott of Nashville, and Rev. J. F. Moreland of Cincinnati.

The Committee on Memoirs reported the death of three of the members of the Association, Drs. E. M. Blakely, Daniel L. Gray, and Geo. Henderson. Appropriate remarks on the deceased members were made by a number of the members of the Association.

The exercises during commencement were attended by an audience that was packed into the chapel to an uncomfortable degree.

The past year has been one of unusual prosperity. All departments have been well attended, and the enrollment is 613. At the close of the exercises on Thursday, the graduates, students and visitors paid their visits to the industrial department, and found on exhibition work in all the departments; the mechanical shop was the special point of attraction, where the work on the telescope and engine was specially attractive. The next session of the school opens September 21.

Teachers desiring schools to teach; and communities in need of teachers can find no better means of securing what they want than by advertising their wants through the SOUTHWESTERN. Forty thousand people read our paper every week. Write for terms.

Clark University Commencement, May 17-20, 1891.

On Friday, May 15, Mr. R. S. Lovinggood, of the class of '90, addressed the literary societies. The address was able and well received by all who heard it.

The baccalaureate sermon, by Dr. W. H. Hickman, president, was able and forcible.

Rev. George Standing delivered a very interesting and practical lecture to the Epworth League.

Rev. G. W. Arnold, of Savannah, delivered the annual address; subject, "The imperative necessity of the South." The address was thoughtful, practical, and well delivered.

Mr. A. A. Murphy delivered a very able address on Prohibition.

The Hickman Prize was contested for by Sarah A. Stark, Marion Gaither, Ida R. Marshall, Janice O. Crane, Darthula D. Lawson, Richard A. Crolley, and Edward L. Simon. The speakers all acquitted themselves well, but Mr. Richard A. Crolley and Miss Ida Marshall carried off the laurels.

The commencement exercises came off at Loyd Street Church. On the platform were Dr. W. H. Hickman, Prof. W. H. Orogman, Prof. J. O. Murray, Mr. J. W. Price, Dr. W. P. Thirkield, Dr. C. O. Fisher, Dr. E. L. Parks, Rev. G. W. Arnold, Rev. S. C. Upshaw, Dr. Holmes of Chicago, Rev. Geo. Standing, Rev. R. E. Hart, and Dr. James Mitchell.

The program was a rich one, and the speakers all did well. Miss Rosa Duncan and Mr. W. H. Brinson deserve special mention for the excellent manner in which they handled their subjects.

Prof. W. H. Orogman presented the first prize of $10, in the declamation contest, to Mr. Richard Crolley, and the second of $5 to Miss Ida Marshall.

A watch, from his friends and classes, was presented to Mr. E. L. Simon.

A prize, given by Rev. George Standing, was presented by Dr. Hickman to Miss Lillie Turner, for the best cooking.

The degree of A. M. was conferred upon Mr. John Leake, of Rome, Ga., and D. D. upon Rev. J. R. Oughton and Rev. D. W. Parr.

Certificates were awarded the following young men in the industrial department: blacksmith department, S. O. Conyers, W. A.

Spivia; wheelwright department, B. R. Wheat; harness department, L. T. Powers; paint department, J. C. Green.

After presenting diplomas, Dr. W. H. Hickman made some encouraging remarks relative to the success of the University.

The Alumni Association elected officers as follows: Rev. E. W. Lee, president; R. S. Lovinggood, secretary, and Miss Marie I. Hardwick, treasurer.

By a Savannah Conference visitor.

The Lake Mohonk Convention drew together a large number of prominent people who are interested in the intellectual and moral improvement of the colored people. We append below the nine recommendations which were adopted as expressive of the sense of the Convention.

1. The accomplishing of the education of the Negro by the States themselves and the further development of means and methods to this end until all Negroes are creditably trained in primary schools.

2. Largely increased support of schools, aided by private benevolence, which shall supply teachers and preachers for the Negro race.

3. The grounding of teachers and preachers in the common English studies and in the English Bible, with the further opportunity for any of them to carry on any of the studies as far as they may desire.

4. The greatest extension of industrial education for both men and women.

5. The encouragement of secondary schools established, maintained, and conducted by Negroes.

6. The purchase of homesteads by as many Negro householders as possible, with an increase in the number of decent houses to replace the old, one-room cabin.

7. The establishment by the government of postal savings banks, by which Negroes can be encouraged to save their earnings until they can purchase homes.

8. The aid of public education by the national government for the especial benefit of those sections in which illiteracy most prevailed.

9. The removal of all the disabilities under which Negroes labor by the sure forces of education, thrift and religion.

Letters from the Districts.

Jacksonville (Fla.) District Conference.

The thirteenth session of the Jacksonville District Conference of the M. E. Church assembled in Trinity M. E. Church, St. Augustine, Fla., May 28, 1891. Rev. J. P. Patterson, pastor.

The Presiding Elder, B. Dilworth, opened the session. J. M. Deas was elected secretary, and James J. Elliott assistant. Thirty-three members present.

Rev. J. Jenkins, fraternal delegate from the Gainesville District, was introduced.

Rev. J. B. L. Williams, formerly of the Savannah, Ga., Conference, now pastor of Ebenezer, at Jacksonville, was next introduced. The Presiding Elder in his report spoke very encouragingly of the spread and development of the work under his charge.

The reports of the pastors gave much delight to all. Cookman Institute was well represented by its worthy president, Rev. S. B. Darrell, with remarks that show that Cookman Institute is the leading school of the State and is thoroughly equipped with efficient and competent teachers.

Rev. Jeffrey Grant, fraternal delegate from the Palatka District, was introduced and ably represented the work. Amidst his remarks he informed the conference that over 100 members have been added, new fields have been opened, and many young men had consented to go into the work.

The reports of local preachers, exhorters and district stewards were received, after which remarks were made by Rev. C. C. Manigault. His subject was, "How to increase attendance in the Sunday school." Rev. J. P. Patterson spoke on "The duty of the Church to superannuated ministers." Rev. K. Drake spoke on "Punctuality." Rev. R. B. Pinckney preached the opening sermon on Thursday night. An essay was read by Miss Anita Reeves, "Woman a dress maker."

The character of each local preacher was examined and passed.

Rev. James F. Elliott, pastor in charge at Fernandina, preached on Sunday morning in Trinity M. E. Church. He was eloquent and to the point, and his thoughts showed that education is power.

Rev. J. B. L. Williams preached at night to a very large and interesting congregation. He made a favorable and lasting impression on the congregation.

J. W. Davis, Greenville, Miss.

Dear Brethren: Let us not rest satisfied until we shall have raised every cent of our apportionments for benevolent purposes. This is very important. I have arranged, as many of you requested, to hold in connection with each of your quarterly conferences a quarterly centennial jubilee service, which will be a source of strength to each charge, and you that failed to raise your full apportionment, will be helped greatly by these services in securing the amount. If you have raised your full apportionment for Freedmen's Aid, these services can be varied, and you can take a collection for other benevolent purposes. The topic for the services will be the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society:

1. Its organization.
2. Its purpose.
3. Its work among both races.
4. The result of its twenty-five years work.
5. The needs of the Society to carry on its glorious work.
6. A collection to supply the needs of the Society.

Revs. N. H. Williams, W. H. H. Gallion, E. D. Cameron, P. S. Bowie, and others, have kindly consented to give several lectures on the district. Let every pastor, local preacher, and layman, labor earnestly to make these services a success.

Austin District, West Texas Conference.

M. HENSON, P. E.

We began our first tour of the Austin District immediately after adjournment of the Annual Conference. Our first was held at West Point, Feb. 14, 15. Bro. N. W. Reed had returned to this charge, to the great satisfaction of his people, whom he had served faithfully two years.

We have held all the quarterly conferences in person, except two. On account of a misunderstanding we failed to reach Cedar Creek March 7, 8; however, the pastor, Bro. Joseph Harriford, held that conference, and reports the work as being in good condition, with bright prospects for the future.

On account of the serious illness of my father, whom I have not seen in thirty two years, Bro. P. M. Carmichael held the Simpson and Mt. Salem first quarterly conference, March 21, 22. He reported that Bro. B. F. Whitaker, the new pastor, was succeeding.

My dear old father went to his glorious reward March 23, 8:25 a. m., being 72 years old. Father was a Christian man as far back as I can remember. The big tears which I saw course down his face, were the first I ever noticed, while sitting on his knees in church, when I was about four years old. He was the first man I remember of ever seeing upon his knees with closed eyes, praying to our Father in heaven. I don't remember a single word he then said, except "O, Lord have mercy!" When I was in my 11th year I began my first prayer by using these same words, not knowing any other, until the Lord added a few more words to this first prayer. Mother is the first woman I ever saw shont, with her face bathed in tears, saying, as she would wring her hands, "Glory to God and the Lamb forever!" She still lives, at Troy, Pike county, Ala., in her 69th year. I am going to see her in June; the Lord willing. It was January 1, 1854, when the separation took place. There are three married brothers there, with increasing families. They were born since the separation. I have done something in the line of trying to discover their whereabouts for 26 years, and succeeded by offering a reward of $25 and advertising in an Alliance paper. They being Missionary Baptists, may account for my not succeeding to find them through the grand old SOUTHWESTERN. My brother, next in age to me, has forwarded to me his church letter. I will find out what it means when I see him. As we intend to say more about our family in another form in future, I linger only to say that our friends, in all places where we are known, have greatly assuaged our grief, caused by the unexpected transplanting of one so dear, by their consoling words; and especially did Wesley Chapel do a great and noble part, being led by the most holy impulse. The pastor, Rev. P. M. Carmichael, will never know until he reaches the glory shores, how much comfort he rendered my grief stricken family.

After throwing in these sparks of divine and providential dealings, we conclude with the subsequent actions had on the district. The brethren on the Austin district are doing their best to win. The failures of the past seem to spur them to go forward with increased zeal, and perfect love for the Redeemer's kingdom, and to succeed this year.

We finished this tour at San Saba. Here we organized an M. E. Church, May 9, 10, with thirteen full members and twenty Sunday school scholars. The name of this new church will be Pickett Chapel—keeping fresh the name of Rev. James Pickett, a local preacher, through whose labor our success was made possible. The entire circuit is known as Brownwood and San Saba. It includes San Saba, Brown and Mills counties. Bro. Alfred Merida, an ordained local preacher, is used as a supply on this lengthy circuit, and has visited and preached at every point of prominence within the bounds of this large new territory. His report shows the population of San Saba to be about 700; the colored are less than 100. At Williams Ranch, Mills county, there are only five colored families, and about thirty-three colored persons; and three denominations, only one a member of the M. E. Church. At Brownwood there are seven colored families and about twenty-five colored persons, and three denominations without us: A. M. E., C. M. E., and Baptist. Here we have one female member, a widow. The A. M. E. Church minister being a widower, he has succeeded in drawing away this woman by promising to marry her. This we fear is a decoy employed by that preacher occasionally. He used it on another charge and drew away three widows, by making the same promises to each respectively. We wonder if this zealous widower has read the 14th verse of the 23d chapter of St. Matthew. We leave the matter with him and the like minded, believing the Scripture declaration, that, "they that soweth to the flesh, shall reap corruption." But "he that soweth beside the still waters, going forth bearing precious seed, shall doubtless come to Zion, bearing his sheaves, with rejoicing and everlasting blessing upon his head." How different the reward! The colored population is very sparse throughout these counties. The crops are abundant and looking splendid.

Yazoo River District Conference.

J. W. WINBUSH, SEC'Y.

Convened at Kosciusko, Miss., May 21, with Rev. W. McDonald, Presiding Elder, in the chair.

J. W. Winbush was elected secretary, with R. W. Jackson and D. Green assistants. S. H. Nevils was elected statistical secretary, with G. F. Leatherwood assistant.

Prof. A. B. Poston was introduced to the conference.

There were several candidates for license, but only one was licensed. We believe in an educated ministry.

Committee on the SOUTHWESTERN made an interesting report, which was indorsed by the whole conference.

The report of the Presiding Elder showed his district to be on the boom in every respect. Many precious souls have been converted and joined the church. The reports of the pastors showed progress.

The following brethren preached to very large congregations during conference: E. C. Cole, A. W. Wright, A. McBeth, R. W. Jackson, G. F. Leatherwood, F. G. Wilbon, D. L. Tibbs, W. T. Wright, and D. Green.

The following shows, as far as reported, the work done in the way of benevolences: for missions, $60.75; Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education, Society, $117.30; additional, 155; for building and improving, $466.90.

Our conference was a season of great joy. Too much praise cannot be rendered to Bro. J. M. Nevils and his kind people for their generous entertainment. Our religious and literary program was a rare treat. Conference adjourned to meet at Crawford, Miss.

S. E. H. Morant, Alexandria, La.

Bro. H. W. Welsh has succeeded in establishing our church at Cottonport. He has erected with his own hands a nice temporary building, 20x30 feet. Bro. Abbott and myself spent the greater part of week helping Bro. Welsh. So count one new church for Alexandria district.

The Great Benefit

Which people in run down state of health derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla, conclusively proves that this medicine "makes the weak strong." It does not act like a stimulant, imparting fictitious strength, but Hood's Sarsaparilla builds up in a perfectly natural way all the weakened parts, purifies the blood, and assists to healthy action those important organs, the kidneys and liver.

Letters from the Pastors.

SPECIAL TO CORRESPONDENTS.—Please take notice, 1st. That all anonymous letters go directly to our waste basket; 2d. Letters must be written on only one side of the paper; 3d. No frivolous questions will be noticed; 4th. Abbreviations should not be used; 5th. Names and items must be condensed so as to insure brevity; 6th. We return no manuscript.

T. F. Robinson, Osyka, Miss.

We have bought a lot in the most desirable part of the city, and paid for it, less $15. The foundation of the church is laid, and the lumber on the ground. We are erecting a nice parsonage on a part of the ground. We have had no church here at all, but the good people of the city opened the court house doors to us and made us welcome, until we shall have built a house of our own. We have a nice Sabbath school, numbering forty. The corner stone of our church has not been laid. We want every member of this conference to be with us on that day, that the people may learn what Methodism means.

S. Green, Robeline, La.

On the 9th of April, the people of our town and members of the church gave me a surprise party. The party was composed of our best people. They brought many good things. May God bless the brothers and sisters of St. Paul Church, and the many friends.

D. Shelby, Shreveport, La.

We have closed our revival with seven converts and fifteen on probation; two from the Baptist and one from the C. M. E. Church. We are going to build a new church at Fairfield. Our Elder, Rev. S. Duncan, is a great credit to our work. We expect to organize a church on Red River soon.

J. J. Parker, Centerville, La.

We gave a basket picnic in Centerville, Sunday, May 10, and raised $68. The young people in Verdenville are going to buy a lot to erect one of our churches. We had a meeting on Saturday night, and were addressed by Mr. Walker, a white gentleman. He will give $5. Collected on the new church, $13.25.

S. H. Nevils, Greenwood, Miss.

We are preparing to build a church where one has been so long needed. We hope to have the editor of our SOUTHWESTERN to help lay the corner stone. The persons that contributed are: L. Bradley, $5; G. H. Hubbard, $2; W. M. Butler, $5; John McCane, $2; J. W. Dunn, $5; C. S. McCane, $5; C. S. Jones, $2; Fred Doby, $1; Harry Harris, $1; Ben Everett, $2.50; Henry Moore, $2; O. Everett, $2; E. C. Clark, $1; W. Nero, $4; S. J. Leonard, $2; E. B. Browlee, $2; E. James, $5; U. Jemison, $1. Ladies: E. Holman, $4; M. A. Nolley, $2; Bell McCane, $4; Martha Bradley, $3; G. Roberts, $1; Bettie Sykes, $1.25; Nancy Davis, $2; Catherine Hardeson, $2; Ailsia Moore, $1; Hettie Marshall, $1.25; Perlina Staueel, $1; Rachel Adams, $2; Amanda Steel, $1.50; E. Waits, $5; R. Nero, $1. Total, $91.

L. D. Thompson, San Felipe, Texas.

Presiding Elder W. H. Logan held our conference April 25, 26. Received one in the church and administered the sacrament to 75 souls. Collection for the day, $22.25. Paid Presiding Elder, $20; pastor, $2.25. The work is prospering and the cause of God is advancing. I am taking an active part in getting the members to take and read the SOUTHWESTERN.

T. S. McMorris, Bryan, Tex.

We had decided after Easter to preach the resurrection to the people. For four long weeks we kept the resurrection on the minds of the people, until the result was 55 added to the church, with 45 conversions. Many distinguished ministers assisted us in our revival.

Rev. J. W. Richmond, pastor at McMinville, sends a cash subscriber and says he is working religiously to circulate our paper among his people, and he knows that if he could get it taken in more families, it would help the church—the young people at any rate.

Rev. T. Larkins, Morgan City, La., will baptize 32 candidates on the first Sunday in July.

Alfred Gray, Lake Providence, La.

I am meeting with great success at this point. Our first quarter was a blessing to this work. I found everything in good trim. The high water has affected a small portion of my work, but has gone down, and we expect to have a new church for the conference. The Presiding Elder is with us for the second time to hold the quarterly conference, and helping to raise our apportionments for benevolent purposes. When we go to the district conference we will have our Freedmen's Aid money on hand. I am much pleased with the work, and am doing my best to make a good year's work.

P. S. Bowie, Clarksdale, Miss.

My first quarterly conference convened April 11, 12, Rev. J. W. Davis, Presiding Elder, in the chair. The Elder gave a grand lecture and preached a soul-stirring sermon. Eighteen came forward for prayer. Collection, $7.50.

Charles Hart, Smithville, Tex.

My second quarterly conference was held May 9, 10. In the absence of the Presiding Elder, Rev. W. M. Reed presided. Had love feast Sunday morning, and at 11 he preached and administered the Lord's Supper to about 40 or 50. Collection for Elder, $5.20. Several came forward for prayer.

F. J. Yeargin, Friendship, Tenn.

The quarterly conference convened at Hardou Grove, Friendship, Tenn., May 33. Elder B. F. Anderson preached a wonderful sermon at 11 o'clock Sunday. The Lord's Supper was administered to 60. Two received on probation and six received in full membership. Paid Presiding Elder, $17, and $1 to help him to the Elders' Convention at Chattanooga. Paid pastor, $55.65. Total for benevolent purposes this quarter, $14.10; for Sunday school, $1.50; for repairs on church building, $5.

A. Martin, Knoxville Circuit, Tenn.

My third quarterly conference was held May 23, 24, by Rev. E. Provine. The Elder preached at 11 o'clock Saturday; also Sunday. Paid pastor this quarter, $29.22; Presiding Elder, $10. Ten joined the church this quarter. Benevolent money raised, $20.

G. W. White, Guntersville, Ala.

In consequence of the high water, we have not been able to do much, though we have succeeded in getting the church organized. Our people here are very poor, but the outlook is good. The second Sunday in May was observed for Freedmen's Aid. Collection, $6, which was forwarded to Dr. Hartzell. I have not succeeded in getting any cash subscribers for the paper yet, but hope to get some soon.

A. D. Payne, Meridian, Miss.

May 23, 24, were the days of the second quarterly conference for Meridian charge. The reports of pastor and leaders showed the work to be in a prosperous condition. Paid pastor, $155; Presiding Elder, $18.75. On Sunday, at 11 o'clock, we had the quarterly love feast, which was one of the most spiritual and enjoyable that it was ever our privilege to witness anywhere. At 3 o'clock the Presiding Elder preached with his usual power, to a large congregation, and at night the writer preached to a full house, some of whom were standing for want of seats; at which time the Presiding Elder administered the sacrament to 175 persons. The next session of the Mississippi Annual Conference meets here, and the people and pastor are preparing to make all things pleasant for the brethren, and to give them the best entertainment that they ever enjoyed.

G. A. Shanklin, Lampasas, Tex.

I was well received on my return to this charge. There have been many sinners converted, and some additions to the church. March 28, 29, our Presiding Elder held our first quarterly conference. We had a very nice time. The Elder preached to the delight of all that heard him. Collection for Elder, $13; for pastor, $29.

J. E. Bryant, Yarbrough, Tex.

The second quarterly conference of the Yarbrough circuit convened May 16, 17. On Sunday we enjoyed three noble sermons. At 11 a. m., Rev. W. H. Logan, Presiding Elder, preached a strengthening and eloquent sermon to a crowded house, after which he administered the Lord's Supper to 136. At 3 p. m. Prof. Robt. Smith delivered an intelligent and impressive sermon. At 8:30 p. m., the Presiding Elder preached the closing sermon for the day. Collection, $34.50. On Monday night we closed our revival at the love feast with 38 conversions and 46 additions to the church this quarter. Myself and officers who subscribed for the SOUTHWESTERN, are much pleased with our grand church paper, the interesting and lovely weekly messenger to our homes. We wish it abundant success.

W. A. Fortson, San Augustine, Tex.

Our first quarterly conference was held at Shelby, May 16, 17. Our Presiding Elder did not get there. The pastor called the conference to order. He reported ten received into full membership, two baptized, one conversion, and $3 raised for missions. The Lord blessed us in our love feast, and we enjoyed a day of soul feasting.

Missionary Conventions.

Letter From Bishop Newman.

Bishop Newman has been holding missionary conventions since he came from his conference work in the South. He writes a letter to the Missionary Office which is too good to keep. We hope everybody will read it.

"To the Missionary Secretaries: I have just attended six missionary conventions in six days on six districts in the Des Moines Conference. They have been to me occasions of immense profit and enjoyment. I have met the preachers face to face, and mingled with the people as a friend with friends. At these gatherings I spoke twice each day from an hour to an hour and a half at each session. The great theme was the conversion of the world. In the afternoon I held conversations with the ministry and the laity, asking and answering questions; stimulating inquiries on all aspects of the great work; explaining this, defending that; resolving doubts, sweeping away objections, and suggesting methods to arouse the inactive, to corner the stings, to silence the critic, cheer the loyal, and strengthen the hopeful. Sometimes I had to put a question and then answered it; but more frequently the questions came thick and fast. By this method I came near the heart of our people—why they did so little, why they did not do more, and how more could be done. I met few cranks. Occasionally I met a hobbyist, some man who constituted a Missionary Society of one, who struck a tangent. Such cases gave me a chance to plead for the regular channel. But I found the great mass of the people sound to the core, alert, intelligent, full of hope.

"In the evening I gave the formal address, and to avoid speaking my little piece night after night, I found it best for myself to speak on these topics severally:

"1. The uplifting power of a great thought—the conversion of the world.

"2. Why does the missionary cause move so tardily?

"3. Why send the Gospel to the heathen?

"4. The entire sanctification of the believer the sure guarantee of the world's speedy conversion.

"5. Goodness, intellect, and wealth, the three elements of conquest; but the greatest of these is goodness.

"6. Indications of progress in a hundred years.

"7. Christ the great need of humanity, and the only remedy for our world's sin and misery.

"And now that these gatherings have passed into history, let me give you my conclusions:

"1. If missionary conventions were held in each district in every conference, we would get this year $2,000,000 for missions.

"2. We need a simple, all-pervading financial system, whereby every member will lay aside two cents upon the first day of the week for the conversion of the world, and call upon 20,000 holy women to consecrate themselves to the cause of missions, to collect these funds, and remit through the pastor to the treasurer quarterly. On every charge in the connection there is some holy woman who would thus gladly join the ranks of the Missionaries of the Cross. Let the rich continue to give their thousands; let us have the monthly concert of prayer and the grand missionary Sabbath; but let us see to it that each member of the church makes annual contribution. I know one Presiding Elder who is asking from each church member a postage-stamp a week for Christ. Wesley looked after an English penny; we have neglected the dimes that make the dollar. The givers are too few. If a father with ten in his family can give only a dollar, let him have the generous humility to allow each one to give a dime.

"3. We must deluge the church with missionary intelligence. Let in the light, give the people pictures and figures and facts. There is no reading more thrillingly interesting than intelligence about the customs, habits, and countries where our missionaries are living. Rely upon it, you can stir the great church of our choice by these missives from afar.

"4. Presiding Elders should be chosen with special reference to their fitness to stimulate preachers and people to give to all the benevolences of the church. They are not to be collectors, but they are to devise methods to excite in all a lively zeal for the world's salvation. Happily, the six Presiding Elders in Des Moines Conference are the men for the times, and they represent hundreds of others who are just as active. Let us have more of the right stamp. We have the men; let us appoint them to the districts.

"5. The preacher in charge who gets the most money for all the authorized collections is the best paid man in the connection; while he who worries about his salary and fears that he will fall short if he is active for missions does fall short, and he should. Look at the facts. Study the statistics. He who looks after God's cause God looks after him. O, for faith, for trust, for courage! 'Seek first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you.' I sympathize with a preacher who has a family to provide for and educate in his solicitude for his salary; but his solicitude may be his poverty, while interest, burning, shining interest, for the universal cause of God will be riches to him. Our weakness is, we have no financial system. As a church, we are thrifty. Many of our people are rich. We have the means to take the world for Christ. Were each pastor, at the beginning of each conference year, to estimate how much is needed for all objects, and apportion the sum, according to ability, among all the members of the church and congregation, and then assign to each official member persons from whom the apportionment is to be collected, two results would follow: the official members would have a chance to do something officially for the church, and there would be no lack for any lawful object. Activity in our official boards would be an increase in the revenues of the church. Our people are willing to give, and will give largely, when invited in the name of Christ. O for a divine baptism of sympathy with Jesus for the conquest of this world in his glorious name!"

Address Mrs. Caroline Parker, Gloster, Miss.

Mr. Editor: I wish to inquire for my sisters. The oldest one is named Elizabeth and the youngest Minerva Benton. My mother's name was Judy, she lived in Sabine parish, La. We belonged to a man named Wright. The last time I heard from them they were in Western Texas. Any information of them please address Jane Wright, Columbus, La.

Mr. Editor: I want to inquire for my father, mother, and two brother's which I left in Burkinham county, Va. Brother Nelson went by the name of Pools. Brother Charley Abbit belonged to Mr. George Abbit who lived in Alamader county, Va. Anyone knowing his whereabouts will do a favor by writing to me at Jacksonville, Cherokee county, Texas. Thomas Scott.

Letters from the Laity.

G. C. Bryant, Thibodaux, La.

Our church is in a good spiritual condition. Several have joined the church since conference. We have a large attendance each Sabbath. We have the best Sabbath school of any previous year. Our pastor Rev. Wm. Smith found our church largely encumbered with debt, but by his heroic efforts is doing much towards raising it. He is making monthly payments on the church debt. We had a grand rally on second Sunday and raised $85.50 which has been paid out on church debt. We raised our collection $12, for the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society. Our pastor is a christian gentleman and is beloved by all. And the best of all he has no pets in his church. This is the first time for years that we can boast of such a state of affairs. Bro. Smith and his amiable and accomplished wife were tendered a surprise by the members and friends of his church recently.

J. G. Walker, Wabbasecka, Ark.

The members of Walker's M. E. Church had a grand basket meeting May 17. Rev. John Qualls of Pine Bluff, Ark., Rev. Turner of the Baptist Church, Rev. B. Jarriet of the A. M. E. Church, and Rev. Young of the C. M. E. Church were with us. Our pastor Rev. W. Brooks came from the Louisiana Conference. May the Lord send over from Louisiana more men like Bro. Brooks. Collection $27.70.

A correspondent from Grenada, Miss., who does not sign his name has written us words of commendation in reference to Rev. Parks and his work. We ask that the brother will give us his name in the future.

J. B. Lane, Memphis, Tennessee.

Our pastor Rev. C. L. Fields is doing a great work this year. We had a grand rally May 10, for the benefit of erecting a parsonage. Collection $215. We have a fine Sabbath school under superintendent Dr. D. W. Fields. Membership 70. The choir gave a grand musical concert on the 18th for the benefit of the parsonage, $20 was raised. Jubilee day was celebrated.

F. M. Spicer, Sharke, Fla.

The Gainesville district Conference convened at Sharke, Fla., May 7. Reports showed a decided progress all along the line. Rev. A. Debose our Presiding Elder reported very encouragingly the work of the district. Rev. Peter Swearingen ex Presiding Elder of the Palatka district added much to the working force of this district. Rev. J. Grant pastor at Ocala, Palatka district and Rev. W. J. Salmond ex-Presiding Elder of Gainesville district was with us, and the sessions was with much spiritual interest.

F. M. Standford, Paris, Texas.

Rev. P. Morgan, P. E., held the second quarterly conference for Mt. Zion M. E. Church May 17, 18. It was a grand session. Reports showed success. The pastors report showed $66 for benevolence, $64.80 for pastor, $20 for Presiding Elder, and $245 for other purposes. Sunday was a grand day, the P. E., and H. O. Griffin of Rockston, Tex., lectured to the Sunday school. Collection for Sunday school during the quarter $42. This Sunday school pays $44.80 per year for literature. Numbers 300 scholars, average attendance 180. On last Sunday 103 communed. Collection $32.90. The Presiding Elder preached two soul-stirring sermons.

D. H. Young, Alexandria, La.

The Lord has blessed us spiritually and financially. We are going forward in the work of the Lord. Quite a number of souls have been added to the church. We are making preparations for Children's Day. A grand time is anticipated. Our worthy P. E., Rev. S. E. H. Morant, held the second quarterly conference May 17th. We had a pleasant session. The Blue Ribbon Church under the leadership of Rev. A. J. Ford has taken the wings of the morning.

B. J. Jackson, Schnever, La.

The church here is spiritually alive under Rev. C. Monroe. The second quarterly conference convened on the 14th of May. Thirteen back sliders and 11 converts joined the church. Collection for missions $10. Paid the pastor $92, Presiding Elder $19.10. Total $150.

THURSDAY, JULY 2, 1891.

A Quarter of a Century of Christian Education.

Our Jubilee!

Let every district conference be a jubilee celebration of the quarter-centennial of success of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society. This Society is the mightiest home missionary agency operating in the South for the common good of humanity; and deserves the most faithful support of all our people. The Society never collected so much money in the prosecution of its work, and never needed so much money as to-day. The continual prosperity of the work and the providential openings that God presents to it make it imperative that more money be devoted to this cause. In order to assist our pastors and presiding elders in presenting the facts to our people on this important subject, we propose to issue a special jubilee edition of the SOUTHWESTERN early in July, which will be full to the brim with just the kind of information our people need on the subject. Let every church order extra copies for general distribution. Send your orders at once, or you will not be able to get them at all. $3 per hundred; smaller or larger orders in proportion. Order with the cash, to Hunt & Eaton, 139 Poydras street, New Orleans.

We have had some shocking revelations in the courts lately of rascality and stupidity among families of the ancien regime in this city. These Godless, Christless homes, what skeletons in their closets!

WHENEVER you notice a long string of names published in the SOUTHWESTERN with the amounts they contributed to the church, you can take it for granted that those names went in as regularly paid advertisement. They are never admitted otherwise. We cannot afford it. Neither can we publish statistics and apportionments, unless paid for as advertisement.

WHY do you persist in writing on both sides of a sheet paper, and with lead pencil, when writing for publication. Is it because paper and ink are so dear in your neighborhood? Why not follow our directions, and write on only one side? Unless you follow our advice, in this matter, we will have to decline to give any notice to your contributions.

THE Epworth Hymnal has been of great value to the church. It contained a large number of excellent hymns, and has been very generally used. We are glad to note that another number is soon to be issued—early in June the agents say. It will be No. 2. This is the wise policy. Our people can thus have in convenient form new and suitable music whenever needed.

"THE meanest man that I know of, is the man that would pull his brother down, in order to elevate himself. Don't you know that when you throw a man down, and get on top of him you have raised yourself only six inches, and on a very poor foundation at that. (?) The true way to get up higher yourself is to push forward the man that is just ahead of you."—Bishop Wiley, to the Mississippi Conference.

Some of our impatient upstarts would do well to read, reflect upon, and inwardly digest these words of inspiration from our sainted bishop.

The Presiding Elders' Convention

which convened at Chattanooga, Tenn., June 23 25 was a grand success. Bishop Joyce, whose intense interest in every department of our work, is proverbial, was president ex-officio, and gave inspiration, and a mighty uplift to the convention. Every colored conference in this country was represented, by one or more Presiding Elders, except the Little Rock. It was a season of special blessing, to meet those leaders of our host from every part of this work. Every interest of the church was carefully considered and given a powerful stimulus upon the most approved lines. The different conferences were represented as follows:

Central Alabama—W. F. Smith, Wesley Prettyman.
Central Missouri—J. W. Brown.
Delaware—W. H. Coffee, I. H. White, T. H. Johnson, L. M. Cox.
East Tennessee—E. Province, D. W. Hays.
Florida—J. D. Dilworth.
Lexington—E. W. S. Hammond, L. M. Hagood.
Louisiana—J. F. Marshall.
Mississippi—J. M. Shumpert.
North Carolina—L. M. Collett.
Savannah—A. P. Melton, M. M. Allston, E. L. Hammitt, H. R. Allen.

South Carolina—J. E. Wilson, D. M. Minus, E. C. Brown, I. E. Lowry.
Tennessee—J. P. Price.
Texas—W. H. Logan, Peter Morgan, Wade Hamilton.
Upper Mississippi—H. R. Revels, W. McDonald, J. W. Davis, J. C. Eckles.

Washington—W. P. Ryder.
West Texas—Mack Henson.

By a vote of the conference all the members of our church present were constituted members of the body. This included both white and colored and entitled the following to membership: F. M. Gordon, M. C. B. Mason, S. O. Upshaw, Savannah Conference; J. G. Dinsmore, East Tennessee Conference; J. F. Moreland, Lexington; A. E. P. Albert, editor of the SOUTHWESTERN, J. W. Eckles, Des Moines Conference; A. B. Riker, L. E. Prentiss and T. C. Carter, Holston Conference; C. B. Wilson, J. Braden, president Central Tennessee College, Nashville, Tenn.; J. C. Hartzell, corresponding secretary of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society, A. W. McKinney, Central Alabama Conference, W. H. Hickman, president Clark University, Atlanta, Ga., and W. W. Hooper, of U. S. Grant University.

The conference organized with Bishop I. W. Joyce, D.D., president ex-officio, D. W. Hays, president, W. H. Logan, vice-president, I. E. Lowry, secretary, and E. W. S. Hammond, assistant secretary.

Important papers were read by Rev. H. R. Revels, D.D., D. M. Minus, A.M., J. P. Price, W. H. Hickman, D.D., J. F. Marshall, John Braden, D.D., J. H. White, E. Province, I. E. Lowry, A.M., A. P. Melton, J. M. Shumpert, Mack Henson, J. C. Eckles, E. W. S. Hammond, D.D., L. M. Hagood, M.D., Wesley Prettyman, D.D., E. C. Brown, and others. Doctrinal preaching, our colored work in the South, self-support, our white work, and colored work in the North, Presiding Elders' work, Africa as a mission field, Christian education, the circulation of our publications in general and of the SOUTHWESTERN in particular were among some of the topics that elicited the most interesting discussion.

Rev. J. F. Marshall made a strong and manly plea in behalf of the SOUTHWESTERN, and was supplemented with impressive addresses by Revs. J. M. Shumpert, Mack Henson, W. McDonald, F. M. Gordon, L. M. Hagood, M.D., J. C. Hartzell, D.D., A. E. P. Albert, D.D., editor, M. C. B. Mason, B.D., and others. On Bro. Mason's motion the convention in a rising vote, unanimously and with remarkable enthusiasm, resolved to push the paper as never before, and to see to it that the paper passes away beyond a cash circulation of 10,000 before the General Conference of next year.

Dr. Prentiss addressed the Convention in behalf of the Epworth League.

Addresses were delivered upon several important topics by Revs. W. H. Ryder, T. C. Carter, D. D., D. O. Phillips, and others.

On Tuesday night a reception was tendered the Convention at Wiley Memorial Church, where the Convention held its session.

A large congregation of both colored and white people were present, among them Mayor Merriam, Col. Fort, Major Shipp, of Chattanooga; Messrs. White, president, and Willis, cashier, of the Penny Savings Bank.

Rev. S. J. Harris, pastor of the church, introduced Mayor Merriam, who delivered a short address of welcome to the visiting delegates. Bishop Joyce and the above named gentlemen made appropriate speeches, after which the ladies treated the Convention to a very elaborate and inviting luncheon.

The educational address by Dr. Hartzell inspired every one in that direction. Dr. L. M. Hagood furnished the following important facts and figures in his excellent address. They cover the entire number of colored conferences.

Total number members, preachers, officers and teachers.....	500,000
Number of churches.....	2,786
Number of parsonages.....	647
Children baptized.....	15,603
Adults baptized.....	13,345

The following statistics in regard to the amount of money raised during the year were given:

On old indebtedness.....	$ 93,448
On new church and improvements.....	204,739
Raised for missions.....	17,090
Raised for church extension.....	3,753
Raised for Freedmen's Aid Society.....	8,744
Raised for Educational Society.....	2,382
Paid for pastors' salary.....	492,105
Paid conference claimants.....	2,449
Current expenses.....	60,424

Total during year.....$835,943
The value of the churches now standing is estimated at $1,103,348, and the value of parsonages at $647,000.

The Penny Saving Bank, an institution operated by our people in Chattanooga, and of which we will have more to say hereafter, treated the Convention to an excursion to Lookout Mountain, where an enjoyable picnic and an edifying session of the Convention was held, on historic grounds.

Rev. A. E. P. Albert, D.D., J. F. Marshall, D. W. Hays, D.D., and the secretaries were appointed to publish the proceedings in pamphlet form. The next session will be held in 1893.

Among resolutions passed, was one against the outrageous separate car laws of the South. It denounces especially the fact that the colored coach is also the smoker and bar room for white men, while colored ladies dare not enter the white coach.

After passing appropriate resolutions of thanks and otherwise, especially to Bishop Joyce for his fatherly interest, and to the good people of Chattanooga for generous entertainment, the Convention, a complete success in every way, closed with a glorious love feast.

Christianity and Women.

CARDINAL Gibbons preached a sermon on marriage and divorce in Baltimore recently in which he gave utterance to the following Evangelical truths:

Christian wives and mothers, what an immense debt of gratitude you owe to Christ and his church for your emancipation. If you are no longer the slave of man's passion, like the women of Asia, but his peer and his equal; if you are no longer a tenant at will, like the wives of pagan Greece and Rome, but the mistress of your household; if you are no longer confronted by uprisings rivals, like Mohammedan and Mormon wives, but if you are the queen of the domestic kingdom, you are indebted for this position to the church.

After paying a tribute to the popes, he says:

I said, you are the queen of the domestic kingdom. If you would retain that empire, shun the political arena, avoid the rostrum. If you become embroiled in political agitation, the queenly aureole that encircles your brow will fade away, and the reverence that is paid to you will disappear. If you have the vain ambition of reigning in public life, your domestic empire will be at an end.

This we believe to be truth of solemn import. We do not generally consult the Cardinal as an oracle, but when he gives us such sublime truths, we cheerfully accept and commend them.

Political Review.

The national political managers overcome by the heat and perplexed with the political outlook, have hied to the mountain, seaside, or across the waters; consequently there is very little political news, to record. The Democrats in Mississippi, regardless of the intense heat are pushing a vigorous campaign for party nominations. That is the real campaign as who ever gets the Democratic nominations are counted in at the general farce, outrageously called election.

The lottery and anti-lottery folks in this State continue to growl at each other. Dr. Palmer flaunted the red flag of "revolution" in the face of the lottery bull last week, and now he is making the dust fly from its subsidized press all over this State. The Doctor says that the monster must not be permitted to fasten itself in our constitution for the next quarter century, even if resort must be had to revolution. This declaration finds echo from the friends of honesty and morality throughout this State. With the spirit of mutual antagonism even now apparent it is hard to conjecture what the outcome of this campaign will be. There is certainly, "blood on the moon" in this connection. The election comes off next April.

Personal.

Birthday Greeting of Bishop Taylor, from Dondo, on the Leonax River, Angola, Africa.

This is the memorial of my birth, on May 23, 1821, so to-day I finish my "three score and ten." One score more, by the will of my gracious God and Father, will round out my term of service in this world nicely. His will not mine, be done. He hath said in my hearing, "With long life will I satisfy him and show him my salvation." Possibly that may carry me twenty years and save a hundred thousand souls in Africa.

WILLIAM TAYLOR.

God bless Bishop Taylor, and grant him the realization of his highest ambition in his missionary zeal; and may his zeal multiply many workers for the same work.

A note from Presiding Elder Stephen Priestly, Monroe Dist., in which he expresses regret that he could not attend the Presiding Elder's Convention, tells us that he is busy in the midst of his work, and meeting with gratifying success.

—Rev. H. S. Hilton, of the Iowa Conference, has withdrawn from the Methodist Advocate, Chattanooga, Tenn., and is now residing at Minden, Nebraska.

—Mrs. Jennie Fowler Willing, sister of Bishop Fowler, will conduct a convention of women evangelists at Mountain Lake Park, July 13th and 14th.

—The Judicial Conference, which recently met at Kansas City, Bishop Nindé presiding, reversed the finding of the Missouri Conference in the case of Rev. P. H. Cox, and remanded for a new trial the case of Rev. John W. Thomas, of the Central Missouri Conference.

—Prof. R. R. Wright, A. M., editor of the Weekly Sentinel, having accepted the Presidency of the Colored State Normal School, at Athens, Ga., has resigned the editorship of that paper and the principality of the Ware High School, Augusta, Ga. Rev. E. K. Love and Mr. S. X. Floyd, succeeded him. We welcome the new editors and bespeak for the retiring editor the success which his eminent qualification entitle him in his new and important station.

THE former students and friends of Atlanta, (Ga.) University are soliciting subscriptions to erect a monument to the precious memory of the late president Edmund Asa Ware, the father and first president of that institution. Prof. S. B. Morse, of the class of '76, in a circular letter soliciting subscriptions says:

Of that army of teachers, in those trying times, defying the contempt and scorn of their own race that Promethens-like he might give light, hope and intelligence to the Negro staggering under the burden of ignorance of centuries, Edmund Asa Ware stands, facile princeps. In the empire state of the South, and indeed the South, he is recognized by all as the father of higher education for the Negro. Atlanta University was his plant, and with more than a father's affection he tenderly watched his nursing, and finally upon its campus returned that well spent life to the God who gave it.

Edmund Asa Ware, lives in every hamlet, every town, and every county of Georgia. He lives in the Carolinas, in Alabama, in Florida, in Tennessee, Louisiana, Texas, at the bar in Boston, in the departments in Washington, in the colleges, in the learned professions—in truth, in all this Southland Edmund A. Ware lives and is known.

But living as he ever will, in the hearts of his contemporaries and friends, we ought not only to know the value of his work for us, and to admire the man and his legacy—Atlanta University, but we should at once mark, by a fitting testimonial of stone or of bronze, the spot where love and affection performed for him their last earthly duty. It seems that no one has been deputized to do this work, and so nothing has been done.

At the last Alumni meeting of Atlanta University, I was appointed to solicit funds for the erection of a suitable monument. I accordingly ask that you and your friends, as God has prospered you, will contribute something to this fund to which we are all indebted. We shall refuse no amount, that is given freely and with love. We want to begin the work at once. Send donations to me, or to Prof. C. W. Francis, at Atlanta, Ga. S. B. MORSE, of the class of '76." Savannah, Ga.

REV. J. H. Pierre, of Martha-ville, La., has written us a splendid letter, in which he says: "As pastors have a more intimate and perfect knowledge of the needs of the work, I would suggest that the delegates be selected from among the pastors themselves. Now, brethren, let us weigh the matter well, not only in this conference, but in all our conferences." Bro. Pierre seems to forget that every one who has made his way to the presiding eldership, or to any other station in our ministry, has had to first show his royal mettle in the pastorate. We should not array one class in our ministry against the other. Such a course is in keeping with the same spirit which says: that the Negro must not be treated as a man and an equal, not because he is unworthy, but because he is a Negro. That is wrong, and we always condemn it in the white people. Clear the track, and let the best man succeed, whatever may be the work the church has given him to do. To encourage class distinction is always wrong, and we should not indulge in it. Send the best men, whether they are pastors, presiding elders, college presidents, professors, or General Conference officers. It is "wicked, and desperately wicked," to do otherwise.

I WANT to commend your article in the SOUTHWESTERN of June 3, on the General Conference delegates. It is just the thing. I am sure that you described the character of the men that should be the delegates to the General Conference. I hope that all the brethren will read, cut out, and adopt it as their sentiment.—Rev. S. B. Danley, Franklin, Tenn.

I NOTICE that you have made three very helpful additions to the SOUTHWESTERN recently, "Homiletics," "Hygiene," and "Daily Bread." Your "Homiletics" will give the young preacher an idea of systematic sermonizing. The study and practice of the hygienic laws, as given weekly, will save many from premature death. Your "Daily Bread," it well digested, will fatten thousands. I am so profoundly impressed with the importance of this paper and its adaptedness to the needs, not only of our people, but to all people, until I would if possible put it into the hands of every American. Send me a few sample copies of this or last week's issue, and let me see if I can't raise my list of subscribers.—J. C. Honston, Yazoo City, Miss.

THE heartless brutalities visited upon the Russian Jews, should make the Jews of this country the most sympathetic race towards the persecuted negroes in this country.

No BISHOP in our church is more careful and exact in his statements of facts and observance of details than is Bishop Walden. He believes in the absolute accuracy of history.

WHAT a commentary on riches is now presented to us in the case of a recently deceased milkman of New Orleans. His estate is now about to be used up in litigation. Had he administered on it in his lifetime as the Master's steward for God and for humanity how his own name and soul would have been forever glorified. How pitiable the actual spectacle that now presents itself.

THE most tragical Sunday explosion of recent times has just occurred in Switzerland. A great train loaded with the leading citizens of Bale was on its way to a musical festival in the neighboring town of Moenchenstein. Suddenly an iron bridge over a swift river gave way and the load of humanity was hurled headlong into the awful gulf. We shall not moralize upon the Sunday tragedy, but we are certain that thousands in our own country are being hurled down to the gulf of eternal death by their profanation and blasphemous desecration of the Lord's day.

A TERRIBLE railroad disaster on the I. C. R. R., occurred within five miles of this city Friday week ago; whereby six men lost their lives, and several others were more or less seriously wounded. An open switch tells the story.

PENSACOLA, Fla., and Jackson, Miss., have recently unveiled Confederate monuments. A concerted plan has been adopted throughout the South to erect a monument to Jefferson Davis. Harper's Weekly and other loyal papers say that while such a monument goes up, the proper thing to do will be to demolish the Washington, Lincoln and Grant monuments. That's so.

REV. C. D. Shallowhorne, of Shreveport, La., has issued a call for a convention of preachers in charge of the Louisiana Conference, to meet at Baton Rouge, La., July 15, 16 and 17, at Wesley Chapel, M. E. Church, at 9 o'clock a. m. He has addressed a circular letter to every pastor setting forth the purpose of the call.

THE Epworth League of the St. Louis district, Central Missouri Conference, will hold its first annual session in the Methodist Episcopal Church, Crystal City, Mo., July 3rd, 4th and 5th, 1891. The following brethren will take part in the exercises: Revs. W. H. Smith, B. McCain, D. J. Kenoly, J. W. Brown, Presiding Elder of the St. Louis district, J. W. Hill, pastor Elliott Avenue Church, St. Louis; Miss Mary Hill, of Farmington, Miss; Ora Hannah, of Springfield, Miss; Emma Cloddy, of Fredericktown, J. M. Arbuckle of St. Louis, and Revs. W. H. DAILY BREAD.

Happy they whose joys abound
Like Jordan's swelling stream;
Who their heaven in Christ have found,
And give the praise to Him.
Meanest follower of the Lamb,
His steps I at a distance see;
I the chief of sinners am,
But Jesus died for me.

—Charles Wesley.

Temporal business need not interrupt your communion with God, though it varies the manner of it. —John Wesley.

Repentance is a state, and not a transient act; and this state begins in a change of the whole mind from evil to good, and contains in one sense all the parts of a holy life. —John Wesley.

How shall we expect that a man shall be able to comprehend the ways of God? Can a worm comprehend a worm? How much less may it be supposed that a man can comprehend God! —John Wesley.

Be exceedingly wary in your conversation, that it may be worthy of the Gospel of Christ. Let not the liveliness of your spirit lead you into levity; cheerful seriousness is the point you are to aim at. —John Wesley.

I would not advise to preach the law without the Gospel, any more than the Gospel without the law. Undoubtedly, both should be preached in their turn; yea, both at once or both in one. All the conditional promises are instances of this. They are law and Gospel mixed together. —John Wesley.

Have those the largest share of content who have the largest possessions? Is not the very reverse true? If you are increased in goods, are you proportionately increased in happiness? You know the contrary. You know that in seeking happiness from riches you are only striving to drink out of empty cups. And let them be painted and gilded ever so finely, they are empty still. —John Wesley.

Beware of things that put you on the defensive and explanatory side. Are you reverent in the pulpit and the reverse outside of it? Is there just a little fear sometimes that your good cheer has degenerated into levity? Do your jokes correspond with your most serious services and sermons? Are you "all of a piece" on duty and off? Do you sometimes meet a sad and surprised eye watching your movements? Does your conscience ever check you just a little? Are you too much attracted and influenced by certain pet persons? These are merely suggestive questions. Perhaps the Holy Ghost will go on and put a few more to you while you are in a thoughtful and tender mood. —Christian Standard.

Lift up. "No man knows the worth of a soul till he knows the worth of his own soul, and no man knows the worth of his own soul until the Holy Ghost has entered him. And even if a man could know how immensely worth saving souls are, without this inward experience of his own, what courage would he have to work for their salvation? A man not saved himself work for the salvation of others with any zest and push! Is that likely? How does he know that they can be saved? He has had some hearsay upon the point, but he cannot feel it in a way to make him take hold and work. No one was ever effectually notified of the salvability of men, or of any man, except by the kingdom of God being set up in his own heart. When we are ourselves most saved, are in our highest state of grace, are most conscious of God's victory in us, everything seems possible in the way of conversion and salvation for others." —Burton.

Your conversation in the home. What is its tone? Do you give quarter to criticism and censoriousness? Do you say harsh things about people? Do you impathemotives and discount the doings of the prominent an active people in your community? Have you unkind things to say of the minister, the doctor, the teacher, the judge, the grocer, the next-door neighbor? Look out. The measure of injustice and real cruelty which enters into the conversation in some homes is verily astonishing. The habit grows insidiously, and does not willingly loosen its hold. What an atmosphere in which to live! What chance is there for the growth of respect and confidence toward society and the church. That boy has wide open eyes and ears. That girl is amazingly susceptible to impressions just now. You do not want them to grow up to distrust everybody and everything, and to look upon the world as a hollow, painted mockery. There is much goodness, realness, grandness all about you. Talk about that. Quote the good words people speak, the good deeds they perform. Let the conversation of the home inspire confidence in virtue, manliness, righteousness, and all things that are of good report. —Selected.

"Sanctify them through thy truth; thy word is truth," was one breathing of the Saviour's prayer for his disciples. Biblical piety makes strong character. It is not a piety, though, that touches the rock in points, making a contact with it in isolated places. It is not Sunday piety, or week of prayer piety, or watch night piety. It is piety where the truths of the Bible are taken up into the soul, received thoughtfully, sincerely, appreciatively, and then embodied in character. It is piety in which there is the closest union with the word all through the length and breadth of its obligations and resources. Years ago, at Minot's Ledge, off Boston harbor, was a lighthouse resting on iron piles driven into the rock. A storm hurled its billows at that pipe-stem foundation, snapping it off and sweeping everything down into the sea. Then they went to work again, and slowly, solidly, patiently covering all the bed of the foundation, they built up a strong mass of rock. That stood. It stands to-day, a tower defying all the Atlantic waves. It is a like work we want in establishing character on the word of God; character coming close down to the rock, joined to it in most intimate, broad, far-reaching, enduring union. The storms of earth, the assaults of hell, will break upon such character in vain. —Selected.

Hymns 83, 279, 347.
Scripture Lesson, John 15.
Text, Eph. 4:30: And grieve not the Holy Spirit of God, whereby ye are sealed unto the day of redemption.

Introduction.—The Father, Son, and Holy Spirit are equally, harmoniously, and eternally interested in the salvation of human souls.

God the Father so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son.

God the Son, came into the world not to condemn the world but to save the world. By the grace of God he tasted death for every man.

God the Holy Spirit, makes effectual the compassion, love and work of the Father and Son in the redemption and salvation of the human race.

I. Let us consider the office work of the Holy Spirit.

(a) He enlightens. The Holy Spirit shows every soul the difference between right and wrong. He shows the paths of duty.

(b) He convicts or convicts of sin, Jesus said: He will reprove the world of sin. He troubles the soul of the sinner.

(c) He witnesses to the conversion of the soul. The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God. He tells us when our peace is made with God.

(d) He is the helper and comforter. Jesus said, I shall pray the Father and he shall give you another comforter. It is the Holy Ghost.

(e) He is the divine teacher.

He leads us into all truth. If we do not listen to his voice we shall go astray.

(f) He testifies concerning Christ. Concerning his divinity, concerning his redemptive work, concerning his resurrection, concerning his ascension and mediation.

II. It is possible for any soul to grieve the Holy Spirit and so to hinder him in his work, and it may be drive him forever away.

The Spirit is grieved.

(a) When the soul rejects his light.

(b) When the soul refuses to yield to conviction.

(c) When the soul rejects the invitation and pleadings of the Spirit.

Again the Spirit is grieved.

(a) When the Christian indulges in wrong thoughts and tempers.

(b) When he indulges in wrong words.

(c) When he commits wrong actions.

III. Consequences of grieving the Holy Spirit.

(a) It will bring darkness upon the soul.

(b) It will result in the loss of the favor of God, and the separation of the soul from God.

(c) If persisted in, the Spirit will take his departure, God will turn away his face in wrath, and the sinner left to himself will go down to death and be lost forever.

W. H. Higgins, P. C.

Mrs. Mary Ann Hall.

Mrs. Mary Ann Hall, wife of James H. Hall, was born in New Orleans, Dec. 25, 1831, and died at her home in this city, 430 Laurel street, at the age of 60 years. Converted at First Street Church during the pastorate of Rev. James Hayward, in 1870. During all these years she continued a faithful, enthusiastic, consistent Christian. Sister Hall removed her membership to Mt. Zion, and she, with mothers Susan Carter, Ramsey and others, became the early support of that growing church. Mrs. Hall was also connected with our educational work in this city, and matron at New Orleans University during the presidency of Isaac S. Leavitt and Dr. W. D. Godman. While in this capacity her Christian influence was very manifest on the lives of those she came in constant contact with. Mrs. Hall adopted George W. Wells, an orphan boy, in 1866, and through much sacrifice, toil, and privation, educated him in our New Orleans University. A husband, brother, adopted son, and a host of warm friends mourn her departure.

Franklin, Tenn.—Rev. Moses Young, of the A. M. E. Church, who was converted while attending Central Tennessee College in 1871, died in New York May 18. He was found dead in bed with his Bible in his hand. Age, 39 years. His body was forwarded to Franklin for interment. A host of friends followed him to his last resting place.

J. K. Comfort, P. C.

Let every enfeebled woman know it! There's a medicine that'll cure her, and the proof's positive!

Here's the proof—if it doesn't do you good within reasonable time, report the fact to its makers and get your money back without a word—but you won't do it!

The remedy is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—and it has proved itself the right remedy in nearly every case of female weakness.

It is not a miracle. It won't cure everything—but it has done more to build-up tired, enfeebled and broken-down women than any other medicine known.

Where's the woman who's not ready for it? All that we've to do is to get the news to her. The medicine will do the rest.

Wanted—Woman. First to know it. Second to use it. Third to be cured by it. The one comes of the other.

The seat of sick headache is not in the brain. Regulate the stomach and you cure it. Dr. Pierce's Pellets are the little regulators.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—U. S. Gov't Report, Aug. 17, 1884.
